FRENCH PARTY IN TRAIN WRECK

Engine Tender and Three Cars Leave the Rails.

JOFFRE CAR KEEPS ON TRACK

Double Header Train Gets Into Smash Up With Itself in Cornfield Near Arcola, Ill.—Investigation Leads to Belief Wreck Was Accidental—No One Is Hurt.

ARCOLA, ILL. — The special train bearing General Joffre, Vice Premier Viviani and other members of the French mission eastward after a tour of the middle west was wrecked in the middle of a cornfield, midway between Arcola and Pilson, Ill., at 7:30 Monday night.

Several persons suffered slight bruises but none of the members of the French party was injured.

The cause of the wreck is not yet known. Pennsylvania railway employes, who made an examination of the wreck by lantern light expressed the opinion that the cars were derailed accidentally. Secret service men, headed by William Nye, began an immediate investigation.

Tender and Three Cars Derailed.

The tender of the second locomotive of the "double header" first suddenly left the rails. The baggage car, immediately behind, lunged over on its side and fell crosswise on the rails, a tangled mass.

The Pullman car, bearing newspaper correspondents, immediately behind the baggage car, smashed into the baggage car and left the rails but did not turn over. The dining car, next behind, left the tracks with a crash, but the compartment car in which the secret service men were riding and the observation car quartering General Joffre and Vice Premier Viviani remained on the rails.

General Joffre and R. Viviani were at dinner when the crash came. The dishes on the table before them were hurled into their laps.

General Joffre was thrown back in his seat but recovered his poise in a moment and rising, peered out the window into the gathering darkness. Neither he nor Viviani betrayed the slightest trace of excitement.

Think Wreck Accident.

The secret service, scenting a plot, rushed into the dining car and escorted General Joffre and M. Viviani into the observation car in the rear. Then they leaped from the observation platform and ran down the track to see what had happened, after first advising Joffre and Viviani to remain in the car.

Curiosity got the better of the hero of the Marne, however. He swung down the steps and accompanied by Viviani picked his way along the muddy track to the spot where the wrecked dining car lay on its side. He watched while the secret service men, with members of the train crew, examined by lantern light every section of the 300 feet of rails ripped up and twisted.

The preliminary investigation led members of the train crew to believe that a pin or heavy bolt had worked itself loose from the bottom of the tender of the second locomotive and had dragged along until it finally caught in a rail joint, wrenching the rail loose as the train sped on.

Winged Creatures.

"Is your wife trying to make a social butterfly of you?"

"No," replied Mr. Cumrox. "I don't stand any chance of being a winged creature of airy grace. If you want to classify me you'll have to get away from the insects and try the birds. I'm the goose that lays the golden eggs."—Washington Star.

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

May 11, 1882

This cold weather is discouraging for spring crops, but the farmers say it is excellent for wheat.

Our merchants wear smiling countenances now-a-days and the people are tickled to death because butter and eggs are down where they can afford to buy.

Gracie Heck, a little daughter of Mr. James Heck, while chasing a horse in the pasture last Monday, received a kick from the horse which broke her right arm. It was a severe hurt, but luckily not a dangerous one.

W. H. Keyser says the prospects are good for extending the farmer's telegraph line into the village.

Horatio Keyser and Jehiel Davidson have been appointed by the town board as the two extra members of the Board of Review.

David Woodward of Clinton has set out over 1000 fruit trees on his farm this spring.

Last Tuesday the boy in Wright's drug store went down cellar to draw some dryer. The cellar was quite dark and he lighted a match to see how full the measure was, but never found out. A spark dropped into the measure and in a second the whole business was ablaze. The boy threw on a pail of water which only made a bad matter worse, spreading the fire. Had it not been for the prompt action of John Orr, a bad fire would have been unavoidable.

Note—That same boy is in town today. Wonder if he remembers how he felt at that time.

GERMAN SHIP OWNERS WIN

Not Liable for Failure to Deliver When War Intervened.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—New York banks lost their litigation in the supreme court against the North German Lloyd liner, Kronprinzessin Cecilie, at Boston, in which they claimed $2,240,000 damages for failure of the vessel to deliver gold bullion worth $11,000,000 shipped to England and France just at the outbreak of the war.

The Cecilie, the supreme court decided, it not liable in damages to the shippers for turning back to America in midocean and abandoning her voyage. The decision determines large similar claims against a score of other German vessels in American ports. Justice Holmes delivered the decision. Justices Pitney and Clark dissented.

TURKS DRIVE 8,000 JEWS OUT OF JAFFA

All Are Compelled to Leave Their Homes and Flee.

NEW YORK, N. Y.—The entire Jewish population of Jaffa, Palestine, about 8,000 men, women and children of many nationalities, were forced by the Turks on April 1 to evacuate their homes and flee from the city, according to a cablegram received here by the provisional executive committee for general Zionist affairs. The roads leading from Jaffa were thronged with starving people, some dying by the roadside, and mutilated bodies of rich Jews were found on the sand dunes, the message said.

Two Jews were hanged "as an indication of the fate in store for any Jews who might be so foolhardy" as to oppose looters. Bedouin Turks and women sacked the Jewish homes while the dwellers were departing and all valuables were stolen.

Mohammedans and Christians were allowed to remain if they had individual permits, the cablegram said, but all Jews, even those who were Austrian, Hungarian, Bulgarian and German, were ordered out.

The committee in charge of the Decoration Day exercises are planning a splendid program and have asked our people to help in observing the day.

Washington Gardner, one of our best known Michigan men, a man who has served several terms in Congress, who is Past Commander of the National G. A. R., and who made a strong run for the nomination for governor of Michigan, will be the speaker of the day. He will give us a splendid talk and the opera house should be crowded to the doors to hear him.

This year of all years we should strive to give full honor to the men who gave their lives to the cause of freedom. We have entered a war now that outshadows any war that history records. Some of our boys have already left and others will soon answer the call and, before many months roll round, we will realize full well that we are at war.

This war we have entered is like former ones, in the cause of freedom, to liberate a troubled people from the tyranny and oppression forced upon them by a despotic monarchy. We expect to win, we are planning to win, but it will probably mean months of terrific struggle and sacrifice of life and the manhood of our country.

Then let us honor those who have already given their lives that we might enjoy the blessings of liberty, happiness and prosperity. Tecumseh people have always been patriotic and have never let the day pass by without paying due honor to our departed soldiers and we feel sure that no exception will be made in the coming Decoration Day which will be fittingly observed here in Tecumseh.

Let the various organizations take part in the parade and march to the cemetery. The Red Cross who now has a membership of over 700 could make a good showing and the local officers should be represented, also the Navy League, fraternal societies, etc. The parade could be made very impressive.

Recruiting points for the regiments will be New York city, St. Louis, Chicago, Boston, Pittsburgh, Detroit, Atlanta, San Francisco and Philadelphia.

Text of Department Order.

The department's statement follows: "The war department has sent out orders for the raising as rapidly as possible of nine additional regiments of engineers which are destined to proceed to France at the earliest possible moment for work in lines of communication. It is requested of the press that no speculation or rumors regarding this force be carried other than that given out. All details regarding the force will be given out as fast as compatible with the best public interests."

It was explained that these engineer forces were not in any way connected with the army organization planned by the war department and already made known. They represent an addition to the total military preparedness program upon which the country is now engaged.

Will Be Additional Units.

In effect the regiments will be additional technical units of the army which the administration bill authorizes the President to organize in whatever numbers and on whatever plans he deems best. The strength of an engineer regiment is approximately 2,000 men, which would make a total of 18,000 men to be assembled in the new force. As it is specified the troops are for use on communicated lines, presumably on railways, highways and telephone and telegraph lines, it is assumed that the men will be drawn as far as possible from railway employes and the forces of the telegraph and telephone companies.

RETAIL SERVICE DEPARTMENT

Maintained by the Lenawee Lumber and Supply Company which is Placed at the Disposal of the Public

The Lenawee Lumber and Supply Company are calling the attention of the people of this community to their Service Department. For some time past they have maintained such a department in connection with their lumber business. The object of this department is to give expert advice to those who contemplate building.

A room at their office is set aside for this purpose and any farmer or townsman is invited to make free use of it. If one is contemplating building and has his plan already worked out, they are prepared to go over them and make suggestions as to the kind of material best suited for the construction of the proposed building, what woods are best suited for rough work, outside finish, wood for the interior, etc. It is their business to know what is needed and often to save the purchaser money by suggesting the proper kind of material to use.

If plans have not been worked out and the builder is undecided what and how he wants to build they can help him. All kinds of plans are at the consumer's disposal from a barn or house on the farm to a hog house or a tool shed. These plans are worked out in detail. You do not have to employ the services of a man to draw up plans and estimate the cost of construction. They save you this expense.

The man who builds needs help in planning and in selecting his material. If he builds wisely and well his structure will last and give satisfaction. The average consumer does not have an intimate knowledge of building materials. The yard dealer does have this knowledge and the Service Department idea is simply that he makes it available in attractive form.

The Portland Cement Association maintains 150 men on the road to teach the proper use of its product. Ten thousand retail lumber dealers have the knowledge and experience to teach the proper use of wood.

The Lenawee Lumber and Supply Company is prepared to give this service and to let the people know that their office is a forum for all that is good and helpful in "building wisely with wood."

Their Service Department includes samples of building materials they handle, literature regarding their characteristics and proper use, plan books and pictures, samples of wood in the natural finish, stained wood panels, models of practical and desirable buildings, reference books on modern, up-to-date buildings of all kinds and of the materials with which they should be built.

In connection with this Department, they have desided to run a series of advertisements in this paper, the first of which appears in this issue. Every person who is contemplating building will be interested in this series and should read them carefully.

That Dr. August O. H. Degoenega, a Gobleville dentist, on trial in Kalamazoo on a statutory charge, escaped from the third story of one of the large hotels by means of a sheet, was the testimony of the hotel proprietor who sought admittance to the room which it is alleged Degoenega and the woman named with him in the case occupied.

"INTOLERANCE"

In "Intolerance" Mr. Griffith has departed from the old-fashioned and stereotyped drama. He has created an absolutely new form of art expression, whose reach is boundless. He takes you from the plain, home-like scenes of the present day to those in Judea, in the time of Christ. He carries you from Judea to the glories of medieval France, from France you go easily into the pomp and magnificence of ancient Babylon. In a hall, a mile in length, and built at a cost exceeding that of the entire expense of any motion picture ever produced, including Mr. Griffith's other big production, "The Birth of a Nation," you will marvel at the almost incredible luxury of a long-vanished civilization.

From Babylon back to the present time, easily and clearly as thoughts flash across the mind. Before you have time to tire of one story you are flashed to another. In this amazing tale you will live in the crowded streets and palace halls of the once mighty Babylon, the most magnificent city of the world. You will see her splendor destroyed by Cyrus and his hordes. Four parallel stories in one. The most unique art-form invented by the brain of man in the last two thousand years.

"Intolerance" will be presented at the Bradley Opera House, Tecumseh, Friday afternoon and evening, May 5th. Afternoon at 2:05, evening at 8:05. A symphony orchestra and chorus of 25 is carried for the production as well as a special 60 foot baggage car for stage settings, special effects and machines for the production. Patrons of the Bradley can look forward to the greatest entertainment ever presented in Tecumseh and will not be disappointed.

MACCABEES ENTERTAIN

Tecumseh Tent, No 142, The Maccabees, held one of the old fashioned kind of meetings Monday evening About 125 were present Mrs. Hardy requested permission to speak a few words in behalf of the starving Belgian children. She was admitted and made a most touching plea

The Tent got down to business and two candidates traveled over the mountains, assisted by the local degree team After the work all adjourned to the dining room for the benefit of the inner man

After the supper the final session was held in the main hall. The principal speaker, Gt Com Geo S. Lovelace, telegraphed he had missed his train and our local Deputy Gt. Commander, Leo L White of Adrian, gave a fine talk explaining the Home Guard movement by the Maccabees to fill the place of the National Guard who leave the state.

Mr. White was followed by members from the visiting delegations from Adrian, Britton, Holloway and Clinton.

Not the least enjoyable part of the evening's entertainment was the concert by a new Edison diamond disc phonograph, re-creating the humorous sketch or beautiful song to perfection. The machine was used by the kindness of Sir Knight Rude. This was a patriotic bunch all right As the last selection was "The Star Spangled Banner" was being sung, a concealed flag was unfurled and dropped from the ceiling, bringing a storm of applause. The evening was one long to be remembered as like the old times.

"Kie-Yie-Yie! Get Me 'Gets-It' Quick!"

2 Drops Make Corn "Fall" Off!

"I've Joined the Never-Again Club. Never again will I use anything for corns but 'Gets-It.' Put 2 drops of 'Gets-It' on, and from that second the corn begins to shrivel,

"Oh, Don't Touch It! It's So Sore!" Use "Gets-It" and It Will Never Be Sore!

instead of swelling up like a little white sponge. Then it loosens from your toe—and, glory hallelujah! the corn comes off as though you'd take a glove off your hand!"

Yes, "Gets-It" is the corn discovery of the age. More "Gets-It" is sold by many times than any other corn remedy in existence. Try it and you'll know the reason why. It takes two seconds to apply it, and it dries at once. That's all. Don't experiment—follow the experience of millions and use "Gets-It."

"Gets-It" is sold everywhere, 25c a bottle, or sent on receipt of price by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill.

They work night and day.

Well kidneys remove impurities.

Weak kidneys allow impurities to multiply.

No kidney ill should be neglected.

A GENERAL SURVEY OF THE WAR.

Wednesday, May 2.—A report received from General Maude, in charge of the British operations against the Turks, states that the Thirteenth Turkish army corps has been driven from its position in Mesopotamia on both banks of the Shatt-el-Ashem. The British cavalry is reported pursuing the Turks into the Jebel Hamrin hills and making many captures.

Two enemy guns, an artillery observation station and an ammunition dump were destroyed by the British near Gaza in Palestine. Infantry and cavalry patrols are reported successful.

Thursday, May 3.—The British have pierced the Oppy line. Sir Douglas Haig's infantry smashed ahead on a twelve mile front between the region south of Lens and Creselles in the most crushing drive recorded this year. The Canadians were in the fore when they broke through the wall of flesh and steel.

A network of formidable trenches, field works, hills and dugouts fell to their onslaught and late in the evening the Canadians were firmly established in the village of Fresnoy, to the southeast of Lens and a mile beyond Arleux, where the last British thrust had been checked.

Friday, May. 4. — Northwest of Rheims French troops have taken the first German line, on a front of about two and one half miles, capturing 600 prisoners in the operation.

On the eastern end of the Vauciere plateau, the statement from the war office adds, the village of Craonne has been captured by the French. More than 150 prisoners as well as several points of support east and north of Craonne also fell into the hands of the French forces.

Saturday, May 5.—An important French advance has been made against powerful opposition along the road from Soissons to Laon, over an extent of nearly four miles. French troops have captured all the plateau in the neighborhood of Cerny and Craonne and the hills dominating the valley of the Ailette river. The number of prisoners captured was 4,300 in addition to the 1,000 taken Friday.

Sunday, May 6.—Heavy counter attacks by the Germans against the positions wrested from them by Niville's thrust east of Soissons, on the road to Laon, and against the British in their newly won positions east of Arras, were completely repulsed.

The Allied armies have consolidated their gains. The French report claims 6,100 prisoners captured in two days.

SHIPS PROTECTED BY PACT

Transfer of Danish Islands Contains Clause Favorable to Interned Ships.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Existence of secret provisions in the recent United States-Danish treaty transferring the Virgin Islands (Danish West Indies), were revealed on the house floor when Representatives Alexander, speaking for the German ship seizure bill, disclosed that the administration has a "special arrangement" not to seize German or other ships in Virgin Island ports.

This proviso, Alexander said, was revealed to him by Attorney General Gregory, and is not contained in the published treaty.

IMPORTANT STEPS IN DRAFT LEGISLATION

T. R. on Again, Censorship Out, Ban on Booze.

Washington, May 14.—The house of Representatives by a vote of 215 to 178, returned the army conscription bill to conference with instructions to include the amendment which would allow Colonel Roosevelt to take a division to France.

With inclusion of the amendment in the bill as it will go to President Wilson for his signature, almost certain the questio nwhether the colonel will lead a division to France now rests with the President, who can take one of several courses, including even accepting the Roosevelt division and then keeping it in the United States.

Under the terms of the bill President Wilson would be only authorized, not required, to accept the division.

The senate adopted an amendment to the espionage bill to prohibit the use of cereals or grain for the manufacture of intoxicating liquor during the war. Other amendments dealing with the liquor question, including one to prohibit the sale of liquor during the war, were rejected.

And those who were too far away to make the trip overcame their disadvantage by overwhelming headquarters with hundreds of telegraph.

Both the telegrams and visitors began to arrive about noon just when the recruits were beginning to "limber up" to the work that had been mapped out for them, but no complaint on the conditions came from the recruits. Only the officers in charge expressed disappointment.

A good many reports are coming to us that flowers are being stolen from the dooryards of different people in town. Tecumseh people have taken much pride in making the grounds around their property attractive. It takes a good deal of time and care to grow flowers and it is very annoying to have these flowers ransacked and taken. We understand that not only are the flowers taken but the plants pulled up by the roots. This practice of making free use of other people's property should be stopped and an example made of the offenders.

Hunting Happiness.

In the American Magazine a writer says:

"Men have been living on this world for many centuries. They have traded in their lives for many different things—fame, money, power. But the consensus of opinion through the ages is that the thing most to be desired is happiness. No man can be really happy unless his conscience is clear. Therefore it pays to be honest and to treat the other fellow as one would like to be treated. No one can be happy who sacrifices his health. Therefore fame and too much money, either of which usually demand health in exchange, are not to be desired. No man can have the highest happiness unless he can feel that he is doing a little good by living, that he is going to leave the world a bit better after he has gone. Therefore it pays to bring children into the world and care for them. It pays to be a good neighbor and a good employer and a good friend."

The Man Who Thinks.

A man with dirty face and hands, shirt soaked with perspiration, stopped, laid down his dinner bucket, rolled a broken knuckle out of the pathway between the tracks, put it close up against the ends of the ties, where no one could stumble over it, picked up his dinner bucket and plodded home.

More than fifty other employees had preceded this man, each one carefully picking his way around the obstruction.

I asked this man why he took the trouble to roll the knuckle out of the pathway. He seemed surprised at such a question and said, "Why, some of the boys might get a bad fall if that knuckle was there after dark." I said, "All the other men passed it by," and he replied: "Oh, they're all good boys. They'd have done the same thing if they'd thought about it."

He said something, didn't he?

"If they'd thought about it." Ah, yes, "If they'd thought about it."—Erie Railroad Magazine.

Insects Are Curious.

In many ways the structure of insects is wonderful. They are gifted with muscles of extraordinary strength and are yet destitute of bones to which those muscles can be attached. They possess a circulatory system and are without a heart. They perform acts involving the exercise of certain mental qualities and are without a brain. But more remarkable still, they breathe atmospheric air without the aid of lungs. If we take any moderately large insect, say a wasp or a hornet, we can see even with the naked eye that a series of small spotlike marks run along either side of the body. These apparent spots, which are generally eighteen or twenty in number, are in fact the apertures through which the air is admitted into the system and are usually formed in such a manner that no extraneous matter can by any possiblity find entrance.

A Painter's Retort.

Shortly after Franz Lenbach had painted the portrait of Emperor William I. a privy councilor called on him to express the emperor's satisfaction. There was only one criticism to make—would the professor be so kind as to paint more distinctly the buttons on the uniform, which were only indicated vaguely? Lenbach looked at him a moment over his glasses and said, "Look here, Mr. Councilor, I paint heads, not buttons (ich mal' nur koepfe, aber keine knoepfe). Tell his majesty that!" The emperor when this answer was brought to him laughed heartily.

Brevity of a Dream.

One evening Victor Hugo was dictating letters to his secretary. Overcome by fatigue, the great man dropped into a slumber. A few moments afterward he awoke, haunted by a dream which, as he thought, had extended over several hours, and he blamed his secretary for sitting there waiting for him instead of wakening him or else going away. What was his surprise when the bewildered secretary told him that he had only just finished writing the last sentence dictated to him and that Hugo could have been dozing only for a few seconds.

Early Rising.

John Wesley was a strong advocate of early rising, which he asserted was beneficial to weak eyes. "When I was young," he stated in a sermon on "The Duty and Advantage of Early Rising," "my sight was very weak, but it is stronger now than forty years ago. I impute this principally to the blessing of God, who fits us for whatever he calls us to do," but undoubtedly the outward means which he blessed was rising early every morning.—Exchange.

To Break Large Bottles.

The method of breaking small bottles without splintering the glass by burning an oil soaked string tied about them is well known, but this method does not work well with large bottles. Following is a method by which any sized glass vessel can be broken—as, for example, a glass tub to be made out of a carboy:

Fill the vessel with cold water up to the point at which it is to be broken. Pour enough boiling oil over the water to make a good coat on the surface and before the oil has time to cool dash cold water on the outside of the vessel. A clean break at the contact point of oil and water will be the result.—Exchange.

HOW

To Cure an Incipient Cold and to Relieve a Cough

WHAT should we do if we are catching cold? That means if we start with sneezing and chills. Promptly empty the bowels, either by taking a strong laxative, as epsom salts or castor oil or soap enemas, the latter several times, so as to make them thoroughly effective. The second action should be to take a boiling hot bath or a blanket wrap. The latter is made by dipping a sheet into very hot water, which is then wrapped around the patient and followed by at least two blankets and as many hot lids or bottles as the house affords. Give the patient plenty of hot lemonade to drink, and when a copious sweat is produced take care not to chill the patient by carefully rubbing each part of the body with cold water, while the rest of the body is well covered. But do not omit the cold rub afterward. Remember to have the head well covered with cold compresses.

Light diet, consisting of fruit juices with little sweetening, should be given. All solid food should be avoided. This will assist greatly in fighting the cold. Fasting is like housecleaning—giving the bodily machinery time to get rid of all waste. If throat and nose begin to feel dry, so as to be uncomfortable, do not neglect to moisten these parts.

Oil of eucalyptus, twenty drops.
Menthol, ten grains.
Liquid paraffin, two ounces.
Dissolve and mix. Use in atomizer.

If chilliness prevails the patient should spend a day in bed. It is both cheaper and more comfortable to do this, for it avoids complications. Once the cold toxins have got into your system you must expect serious discomfort for some time. Nervous diseases, heart trouble and kidney diseases have often been started by one of these apparently harmless colds.

If your nostrils are particularly sore and the secretions very profuse salt water ought to be snuffed up the nose, but never if the cold is in a very severe stage for fear of infecting the ears. If you use the douche glass always keep the mouth open. This does away with the danger of having the solution run to the ears. A disinfectant and soothing solution follows:

Menthol, twenty grains.
Camphor, twenty grains.
Liquid vaseline, two ounces.
Mix and label. Use in atomizer as nasal douche.

ABOUT BILLIARD BALLS.

Why They Click When They Strike One Another.

What makes the "click" when two billiard balls or other spheres of any solid material strike each other? Professor Banerji has found that the distribution of the intensity of the sound in various directions around the line of impact is very remarkable, and he has found methods of measuring the force of these sounds so exactly that he is able to set down the following conclusions:

The sound, he explains, is not due, as has been hitherto thought, to the vibrations of the spheres, which in any ordinary material, such as ivory, wood or metal, are both too high in pitch to be audible and too faint in intensity to be heard. The click is due to air vibrations caused by the reversal of the motion of the spheres as a whole.

He has ascertained that the intensity is at its highest or maximum in a line joining the centers of the spheres. It gradually diminishes almost to zero at an angle of about sixty-seven degrees with a line joining the centers, when it again increases to a second maximum at an angle of ninety degrees. In other words, the click is loudest at the very point of contact of the spheres, which is what we would naturally expect.

How to Make a Lamp Shade For Parlor or Bedroom.

Begin by cutting a strip of silk an inch wider than the depth of the wire lamp shade frame and two or three times as long as the circumference of the lower part of the shade. Turn under top and bottom of the silk so that a strip just the width of the depth of the lamp shade results and shir both edges twice. Make a small French seam to join the two ends of the material and then slip it on the frame. Pull up the shirring threads and distribute the gathers evenly. Tack into place and cover the raw edges with braid. Use a narrow gilt braid for the top and for the bottom fringe on braid. For a bedroom, if light blue or rose silk is used, a cotton two colored braid and fringe may be used instead of the gilt.

Why a Duck Doesn't Get Wet by Water

The answer is a simple one: Because a duck greases its feathers to turn away water, obtaining the original waterproof coat and setting an example for man. There is a gland on the back of a duck, near the tail, which emits oil from the creature's body. The duck flirts this oil over its thick, smooth plumage, which then is almost waterproof, and its body is kept dry and warm, though the water in which it lives be cold and the weather severe.

From Emeric to America.

The transformations that take place in a name as it passes through different languages can only be accounted for by carelessness in transmission. One would scarcely expect the name of Emeric, the name of a pious Hungarian prince of the eleventh century, who was made a saint, to take the form of Amerigo in Italian and of Amory and Emery in English. The name in German, but little changed from the original, is Emmerich. This obscure Hungarian saint has been a person of consequence in this world, for from his name has come that of this great continent. In the fifteenth century the Italian form of Amerigo it was bestowed upon an Italian navigator named Vespucci, and this continent, by a still further mutilation of the name, came to be known as America. When King Stephen of Hungary was choosing a name for his son he could scarcely have imagined that the name chosen was to be the parent of the word America and that poor old Christopher Columbus was thereby to be despoiled of a recognition that is far from being compensated for by the form Columbia.—Indianapolis News.

FOUR THRILLING THEMES, VIVID IN THEIR REALITY

Love's pilgrimage in search of happiness throughout the ages. In "Intolerance" G. W. Griffith's impressive spectacle and known as 'the world's greatest show', which comes to the Bradley Opera House for a matinee and night performance, Friday May 25th, contains four complete and thrilling stories with the scenes laid in our own present time, in the time of medieval France (1572 A. D.), in Judea and Babylon. The four stories alternate one with another, until, in the climax of the last act, they seem to flow together in one common flood of humanity.

Ancient Babylon as it was in the days of its splendor-its mighty walls, its massive towers shattered by the vengeful battle hordes of the victorious Cyrus-the feast of Belshazzar alive in its prodigal luxury, the most famous revel of all history-the Perfumed Passion of Prince Belshazzar and his Princess Beloved.

The world's first great example of "Intolerance"—His trials in Golden Judea. A Romeo and Juliet love in Paris, the Beautiful, under the Scourage of Catherine de Medici and finally a modern romance of a sweet young girl of our own times who battles successfully against the odds of adversity, temptations and harrowing underworld opposition in a tense drama full of striking and thrilling episodes.

"Intolerance" is the most magnificent production of all time, it is G. W. Griffith's first production since his famous "Birth of a Nation" and may well be called "The greatest show in the world"—"Intolerance" is presented with an orchestra and chorus of 30. A special car is carried for the stage settings, effects, machines etc. "Intolerance" is presented on the same elaborate plan as Mr. Griffith's form r big production "The Birth of a Nation" and will play at the same scale of prices.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Hot Applications For Pain.

Pain and a tight feeling in the chest are greatly relieved by an application of turpentine—spirits of turpentine—a few drops sprinkled on a piece of hot flannel which has been wrung out of hot water. It is difficult, however, to wring flannel out of boiling water without scalding the fingers. The best plan, therefore, is to hold the flannel by the corner, drain for an instant, then put it in a towel lengthwise. Take each end of the towel in the hands and twist in opposite directions. This will wring the flannel almost dry, yet leave it very warm. The turpentine application is also an excellent remedy for pain in the abdomen, especially the colicky kind of pain caused by catching cold.

RECEPTION

Juniors Entertain Seniors of Tecumseh High School.

Friday Evening, May 11, 1917.

A very pleasant reception was tendered the Seniors of the T. H. S. by the Juniors, Friday evening, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pratt just north of town. The members of the two classes met at the home of Mrs. McNeil where autos were in waiting to convey them to their place of meeting.

The home was very prettily decorated in the class colors of the two classes, blue and white for the Seniors and green and white for the Juniors. The porch was enclosed with flags drapped on the sides, couches, easy chairs and pillows being provided for the comfort of the guests.

A three course banquet was served by four each of the freshmen, Marjorie Rosacrans, Margaret VanWinkle, Helen McIntyre and Cecil Clark, and of the Sophomores Alice Hardenburg, Muriel Halliday, Vera Sisson and Elizabeth Comfort. They were all in white and made very pleasant waiters.

The banquet was served at small tables lighted with white candles in class candelabra. The place cards were quite unique, being in blue and white the Senior colors. They contained the program and menu and had a fine picture of the old High school on the front page. The menu was:

Salade Ananas
Poulet Petite Pate
Crmese Pommes de terre
Petit Pain Tromage
Olives and Petit Polisson ..
Cafe
Creme Glace Getean

President Joseph Satterthwaite of the Junior class gave the welcoming address, President Ralph Cuthbert of the Senior class responding. Pres. Satterthwaite then introduced the toast master, Neal Rentschler who proved the right man in the right place being full of wit and humor. He then announced the following program:

Duet, "Lovely night"—Misses Kennedy and Kloffenstein.
"Comedy of Errors"—Mrs. Palmer
"Much Ado about nothing"—Miss Howard.
Music (a) "Rustling of Spring"
(b) "To a Water Lily" Miss Haydep
"As you like it"—Miss Rood.
"All's well that ends well"—Mr. Best.
Vocal solo, "The Vale of Dreams at Dawning"—Mr. Lowry.
"The Taming of the Shrew"—Miss Rice.
Contralto Solo—Mrs. Jones.

As the hour of parting came the Seniors all declared that they had been most royally entertained.

FROM WAR PREPAREDNESS BOARD

Lansing, Mich., May 12.

Through the new War Preparedness act passed by the Michigan legislature at the session just closed, provision has been made for caring for the dependents of soldiers and sailors who enlist from this state for Federal service.

This act makes available any necessary part of the $5,000,000 fund which is being administered by the War Preparedness Board, and the board insists that it be made clear that the payment of dependents is not charity. It is, instead, part of the wages of the man who has volunteered to defend his country.

It is his right and due, and goes to his family not as a gift, but as the state's part of his compensation.

"We are going to strip the administration of his fund of its unessentials," said Auditor General Fuller, in discussing it recently. "The state already has the machinery in its probate courts, for collecting the information which we must have in proving the identity of dependents. The dependent simply satisfies the probate judge of his or her country, that he or she is the person entitled to participate in the fund, sends the statement on to us and the relief is immediately forthcoming.

"The heartbreaking feature of relief measures in the past has been the delays in payment, and the vexatious formalities to be observed. We intend mailing the checks twice a month without a moment's avoidable delay, and we also propose to cut out every formality that can be spared. The Red Cross which has volunteered its services, will doubtless be of great assistance in collecting, quietly and efficiently, the needed data.

"Application blanks will be put in the hands of every soldier and sailor leaving the state hereafter; in the hands of probate judges and of the Red Cross."

Not Drastic.

Of the unconscious humor of witnesses the following is not a bad example:

Magistrate—I understand, then, that after heckling the candidate the defendant became very violent and abusive?

Constable—Yes, sir.

"And so," continued the magistrate, "you used drastic measures to remove him?"

Constable—No, sir; I used my club.

Creased Ribbons.

Crushed ribbons should not be ironed; it makes them shiny. Dampen them and then fold them smoothly and tightly around a rolling pin or empty bottle. This will remove slight creases. There is nothing for very bad creases but to iron them.

The Difference In Dogs.

You can keep a real fine dog in food at an expense of about $10 a month, while a real sorry dog can get out and make a living for himself.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

No Initiative Wanted.

Rich Man—My daughter, sir, has never wanted for anything. Poor Suitor—Then for heaven's sake don't make her begin now! She wants me!—Philadelphia Bulletin.

WIT AND WISDOM BANQUET

The annual banquet of the Wit and Wisdom Club was held Friday evening in the parlors of the Baptist church. A three course banquet was served to about forty. The table was in U shape and was decorated with boquets of yellow daffodils and cowslips, with place cards bearing the names of the members. A large American flag was draped over the piano.

After a short business session the president, Mrs. F. S Turner, introduced the toastmaster, Dr W. B. Hartzog, who announced the following program:

Piano duet—Mrs. Hodges, Mrs Turner
"Topsy Turvy or the Land of Upside Down"—Rev. W. A. Rex
"Our Future Selves"—F. S. Turner
Trio, cornet, trombone, piano Ed ward Harper, Mr. and Mrs Wilfred Waldron
"Here's Hoping"—Mrs. A. O Howard
'Every Little Ford in Town"—Dr. L. G. North
Piano duet—Mrs. Hodges and Mrs. Turner
"A Fellow's Friends"—C. A. Slayton
Vocal solo—Mrs Eugene Rosacrans

The club voted to give to the local branch of the Red Cross the sum of $15 00.

OF INTEREST TO OUR SOLDIERS

Lansing, Michigan, May 14,—"In urging the enlistment of Michigan young men in the Federal service, there is one important point that the War Preparedness Board wishes to emphasize," said Secretary of State Coleman C. Vaughan in a recent interview. "The man who takes the oath is obliged to serve only during the duration of the war. There will be no monotony and drudgery of barrack life for him after hostilities have ceased. He returns immediately to the walks of civil life.

"There seems to be some misunderstanding as to the rates of pay. The enlisted soldier is furnished uniforms arms and equipment. The allowance for uniforms is about 28 cents a day and what is not expended in clothing may be drawn in cash at the end of the enlistment period. It is possible to save, roughly, more than half of the clothing allowance. Subsistence is furnished free.

"The private gets $15 a month, first class private $18, corporal $21, sergeant $30, and higher sergeants up to $45. The second lieutenant is paid $1,700 annually, the first lieutenant $2,000 and the captain $2,400. There are bonuses for foreign services which increas the pay of all grades twenty per cent.

"It must be remembered that the state, through the War Preparedness Board, supplements the pay of the enlisted man with a pledge to take care of his family with additional funds which the legislature voted to $20 per month for dependent wife or mother, and $7.50 per month for each child. Then the Red Cross is also collecting funds for disbursement where needed.

"I believe that the man with dependents who enlists today can be surer that those whom he leaves behind will be more comfortable than has been the case in any other war in our history."

Has a Heavy Touch.

Jones—Does my daughter's piano practice annoy you? Neighbor—Not at all. But, tell me, what does she wear—mittens or boxing gloves?—Life.

"SKY PILOT" BRINGS MESSAGE FROM WILDS

The Detroit Journal of last Saturday had the following to say about Rev. W. G. Puddefoot who lectures at the M. E. church tonight:

The pulpit supply committee of the First Congregational church at Woodward and Forest avenues, has secured Rev. W. G. Puddefoot, D. D., for the evening service of Sunday, May 13.

Dr. Puddefoot was one of the men who made early history in the upper part of this state. His "Sky Pilot" days were full of the picturesque and heroic. Intimations of his remarkable work reached the outer world and resulted in an invitation to address a great national religious gathering.

Dr. Puddefoot appeared on the platform, a most striking figure, with long flowing beard and high rubber boots. He fully met the amazement of the audience with his first explosive sentence, "You can't tell the quality of the tomatoes in the can by the label on the outside."

In his long career as a pioneer missionary pastor and preacher and during the past few years as a noted speaker he has fully lived up to this motto.

HANDICAPPED

This is the Case With Many Tecumseh People.

Too many Tecumseh citizens are handicapped with bad backs. The unceasing pain causes constant misery, making work a burden and stooping or lifting an impossibility. The back aches at night, preventing refreshing rest and in the morning is stiff and lame. Plasters and liniments may give relief but cannot reach the cause if the kidneys are weak. To eliminate the pains and aches of kidney backache you must cure the kidneys.

Mrs. W. Service, E. Logan St., Tecumseh, says: "My kidneys were out of order and I had weakness and soreness across my back. I felt run down and tired out and could hardly keep going. I had frequent headaches, too, and my kidneys acted irregularly. I used Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from Wright & Son's Drug Store, and they helped me right away. They strengthened my back and put my kidneys in good order."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Service had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. adv

This is not only the age of electricity, but also the age of the gas burning cook stove.

THE FRUIT EVE ATE

Modern Research Seems to Place It as the Cassia.

HOW THE APPLE GOT BLAMED

Some Translator Used the Latin Word "Pomum," Which Means Either "Fruit" or "Apple," Instead of "Fructum," Meaning Simply "Fruit."

A correspondent asks how the apple came to be named as the fruit of the temptation in the garden of Eden when the original Hebrew text and all of the translations speak only of the fruit of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil. It seemed that none of the Biblical authorities had offered any answer so far as he was able to learn.

There is an answer, however, and that a very simple one, which will probably satisfy this inquirer and many others who might ask the same question.

It is true that in the Hebrew the words are "etz peri," the fruit of the tree, and the Greek and Latin versions so translate them. The Vulgate uses the word "fructum" for fruit, and this could not in any way be mistaken for the specific fruit apple. It is further admitted by scholars who hold that the paradise of the Bible, which is also described upon clay tablets of Babylonian literature, was located near the Euphrates and the Tigris, or in a tropical country, where no apples could possibly grow, so that the fruit of this tree could not have been an apple.

In a tablet lately translated, which originated in Nippur and is now in the museum of the University of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia, the fruit is described as the fruit of the cassia plant according to Dr Landon. This is possible, for that plant is well known in the region.

But the question of how the apple came into the story is still unanswered, and no tablet will answer it, for none could mention a fruit unknown to the Babylonians, not growing in their country.

We have to go far afield to ascertain the origin of the error, for the use of the word apple is an error. It came about from the confusion of two words in the Latin. "Fructum" means fruit, and so does "pomum." But "pomum" also means apple, and some ancient scholar filled with Latin words wrote "pomum" instead of "fructum" in translating this passage, and it was interpreted as specific—namely, apple—instead of general—that is, fruit.

There is, however, another reason for this confusion, and the persistence of the idea is shown in many of the paintings by the old masters, who sometimes depict a tree laden with apples from which Eve has just picked one and is handing it to Adam.

The apple plays a great part in the mythology of the Greeks and Romans, where we find the apples of Hesperides and the golden apple offered to the most beautiful of the goddesses, which started all that famous trouble for Paris, ending in the siege and destruction of Troy.

The confusion of ideas probably arose from the association of the apple with critical turns in the affairs of men and suggested at least the specific interpretation or translation of "fructum" or "pomum" by "apple."

The fact is that, so far as the Bible itself goes, no specific fruit is mentioned, and it is spoken of only as the tree of the knowledge of good and evil. But there is another fruit tree mentioned, and this is the fig tree, for in Genesis iii, 7, it is said, "And they sewed fig leaves together and made themselves aprons." Possibly on this account it is a Hebrew tradition that Eve ate of the fig tree, but that has never been introduced into Biblical text.

The fig tree plays a very important part in the myths of many ancient nations. In legend the holy family rested under a fig tree on their journey to Egypt. The fruitless fig tree of Jesus is one of the important elements in that parable.

The Ficus religiosa, or religious fig tree of India is sacred, and none is allowed to fell it. It is consulted as an oracle, and it is believed that when Brahma assumed human form a blossom of the fig tree was dropped from heaven to tempt him.

The idea of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, or wisdom tree, as it has been called, has been termed a moon myth by some scholars. According to the Scandinavian mythology, the great ash tree Ygdrasil runs down to the well of wisdom and knowledge. On this wisdom tree, the pillar of the new moon, old Odin, chief god of the Scandinavians, hung head downward to extract the words of wisdom.

In India the bo tree of knowledge was the shelter of Buddha for twenty-eight days (the length of the lunar month) until he received his illumination of wisdom.

It is therefore plain that the tree of knowledge of good and evil has many parallels in the faiths of all ancient nations and that it was an error ever to think that it could have been an apple tree or that the fruit of the temptation was an apple.—New York Sun.

Vinegar.

The ancients accredited great antiseptic power to vinegar and used it to a large extent for this purpose notwithstanding its high cost. This quality was greatly overrated.

It is the enemy whom we do not suspect who is the most dangerous.—Rojas.

How Byron Fought Fat.

Poetry and a too pronounced plumpness do not harmonize well, and no one was more widely awake to this fact than Lord Byron. Many were the means he adopted for ridding himself of his unwelcome "adipose deposit."

In a letter to his solicitor he says:

"I wear seven waistcoats and a greatcoat, run and play cricket in this dress till quite exhausted by excessive perspiration, use the bath daily, eat only a quarter of a pound of butcher's meat in twenty-four hours. By these means my ribs display skin of no great thickness and my clothes have all been taken in nearly half a yard."—London Telegraph.

Thoroughness.

"When I take up an idea," said the egoist, "I cover it completely."

"You do more than that," replied the satirist; "you bury it."—Exchange.

Wise Woman.

"It was Cervantes, was it not, who said, 'No man is born wise?'"

"Perhaps it was, but women found it out long before Cervantes did."

PASTOR AND WOMAN ELOPE

Spartansburg Minister Leaves Sermon on Significant Topic Unpreached.

Richmond, Ind., May 14.—The Rev. W. R. Motley, pastor of the Christian church at Spartansburg, fifteen miles north of here, announced to his congregation that he would preach on "Thou Shalt Not Commit Adultery." He did not preach the sermon. This is what has taken place in the interim:

Last Wednesday the Rev. Mr. Motley left the village. With him went Mrs. William Mann wife of one of the most prosperous farmers in this section. They drove away with a horse and carriage provided by the congregation for pastoral work. The rig was abandoned at Greenville, O., and Thursday the minister's wife received a note from her husband, mailed at Dayton, O., in which he said he "was gone for good." No trace of the couple has been found since. Before he left, Mrs. Mann told her husband that she intended to take a trip with the Rev. Mr. Motley.

Madrid Is Not So Ancient.

Madrid is not a city of great antiquity. Many efforts, it is true, have been made to trace its history back into classical times and even beyond, but the first authentic mention of the town occurs in the Arab chronicles, and this does not carry one back farther than the first half of the tenth century. The place was, of course, occupied by the Moors when they were the dominant power of Spain, but was finally taken from them by Alfonso VI. in 1083. Henry IV. used it as a hunting seat, but it did not attain any importance until the reign of Charles V., who made it a place of residence and was wont to visit it occasionally. It was in the reign of Philip II. that at last it attained to the dignity of a capital city. He created it his capital and unica corte, or only court, in 1560, and it has remained the capital of Spain ever since in spite of occasional efforts on the part of sundry kings to transfer the government to Valladolid and Seville.—National Geographic Society Bulletin.

Her "Hope Box."

Miss Helen, the daughter of the family in which jet black Maria Jackson occasionally worked by the day, had been given a beautiful cup and saucer of rare china. She showed it to Maria and said:

"I mean to put it away in my hope box. You know what that is, Aunt Maria? It's the box a girl puts things into in the hope that she will some day need them as a bride."

"Lawzy, chile, I knows all about dem hope boxes. I got one of my own, chile."

"Why, I thought you were already married."

"I is, chile, an' my hope box is one I is puttin' money into fas' as I kin until I has enough to pay fo' a divorcement from Pete Jackson. More'n one kind of hope box is mixed up with matrimony, Miss Helen."—New York Times.

Easy Jail Methods.

The greatest leniency is shown to criminals in New Zealand. Thus in one jail at the end of the South island a prisoner may keep a race horse and is permitted to transact business concerning it. In the same jail well behaved prisoners are allowed an afternoon out occasionally.

Prison authorities in New Zealand are believers in the moral effects of open air. In one of their institutions the newly arrived misdemeanant is allowed the choice of living in jail or outside it, tents being erected at the back. This system of sending people to jail by letting them live outside has, however, its disadvantages. In one case the "prisoners," resenting harsh treatment in the way of a "lockout," lifted up the "jail" and deposited it far away in the bush.

Kilted Troops.

The Greek kilted troops, the Evzones, bear a variant of a name which was given to troops in the days of ancient Greece. Euzonoi, meaning well girdled and so girt up for exercise as kilted men are, were light troops or even the heavily armed hoplitai, but without their weighty shields. At first, however, the term, as in Homer, was used only regarding women, the "zone" being the lower girdle worn by them about the waist, but by an easy and natural transition this came to mean a man's belt. Then, as the belt supported the short skirts, kilted men were called well belted.

Making the Best of It.

"What would you do if a situation arose which compelled you to fire a gun?"

"I'd be nervous," confessed Mr. Biggings, "and yet I'd be exceedingly thankful I was the man with the gun and not an innocent bystander."—Washington Star.

Reversed.

"What about him?"

"I see he has had his case reopened and his sentence reversed."

Maxwell

Your pocketbook says buy the Maxwell!

Suppose you just forget how good looking the Maxwell is — how comfortable—how convenient. Forget that it is the world's champion endurance car. Forget that it will run twenty five miles per gallon of gasoline.

Go out to buy a car for the very lowest price. Figure up the equipment of the Maxwell—put it on a basis of comparing with the "cheap" cars—that is, take the price on the car without any equipment.

You'll find that it is lower than any other established car on the market today. Allowing for a quoted price on the accessories (which Maxwell owners consider necessary) you have a price left for $395. The Maxwell equipment lists at $239.70.

This is talking dollars and cents. And if Maxwell without the equipment is not worth more than any other car within one hundred and fifty dollars of the price we do not know anything at all about motor cars.

Let's talk it over.

RUSS WAR MINISTER QUITS CABINET POST

Too Many Irresponsibles Trying to Run Things.

PETROGRAD — General Guchkoff, minister of war, has resigned.

The resignation of General Guchkoff follows that of General Korniloff, commander of the Petrograd garrison, and probably is due to similar reasons. General Korniloff said his position had become impossible on account of the efforts of various organizations to control the garrison, the last straw which led to his resignation having been a demand by the executive committee of the council of workmen and soldiers delegates that all his orders be presented to the committee for its indorsement.

General Guchkoff has been a leading figure in the Octoberist party for years, but during the war little was heard of him until the time of the revolution, when he was appointed minister of war and navy ad interim. Since that time he has issued many appeals to the troops and the workmen to support the government and continue the war vigorously.

RUSSIAN FRONT IS STRIPPED BY KAISER

Pours Vast Armies onto West Front to Halt Allies.

LONDON, ENG.—Official news came from Petrograd that Hindenburg already has sent forty divisions—800,000 men—from the eastern front to the west to check the Entente drive.

Upon the heels of this news came dispatches from the front giving authoritative figures as to German losses in the vain counter thrusts against the French and British. Correspondents at British headquarters, taking advantage of a new lull in the fighting, telegraphed totals compiled from authoritative quarters, showing unprecedented casualties on the German side.

Between April 16 and May 1 these figures show, the Teutons lost in killed, wounded and captured 200,000 men on the French front alone. This makes an average of more than 500 men killed every hour in sixteen days. In the last two weeks, it is asserted, the German losses were even greater.

Nearly 50,000 prisoners were taken by the French and British between April 9 and May 13, the exact figure being 49,579, including 976 officers.

GRAIN FUTURE TRADE HALTED

Chicago Board of Trade Takes Drastic Action.

BIG DEALERS IN CONFERENCE

Senate Votes Down Amendment to Espionage Bill to Close Boards of Trade—Senator Thomas Declares Nation-wide Demand Is Made for Drastic Federal Action.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—By a vote of 49 to 24 the senate rejected an amendment to Gregory espionage bill, which would close down boards of trade, chambers of commerce, stock exchanges or other bodies "engaged in, or permitting speculation in food products." The amendment was offered by Senator Thomas, Colorado, and will be taken up as a separate measure later.

Suspension during the war of all stock exchanges, boards of trade and chambers of commerce which permit speculation in futures on foodstuffs, was proposed by the Thomas amendment.

Senator Thomas said he had received scores of demands from the general public that gambling in necessities of life during the war be stopped by congress. He cited the recent soaring of May and July wheat futures in the Chicago market to show the need of immediate action by congress to stop "food gambling."

Allies Ask 600,000 Bushels.

During the food debate Senator Gronna declared the allies had called on the United States to furnish 600,000 bushels of grain this year. He did not state the source of his information on the senate floor, but privately to senators he established its authenticity.

Chicago Board Halts Grain Trading.

CHICAGO, ILL. — The Chicago Board of Trade took drastic action to put a stop to rising grain prices by adopting resolutions forbidding further trading in May corn and May oats and new deals for two days in July or September wheat.

Following the action of the board of trade in putting a temporary curb on speculation in grain futures, representatives of the council of grain exchanges from the leading cities of the middle west met in Chicago to frame uniform action by the different exchanges throughout the country.

According to reports it is likely that actual prohibition of the trading in grain futures which at present applies for only two days will be ordered and that it will remain in force "until further notice."

Among the cities which are represented at the meeting of the council of grain exchanges are Chicago, Minneapolis, Duluth, Toledo, Detroit, St. Louis, Kansas City and Omaha.

Grain Prices Drop.

The result of the board's action was to put a stop, at least for two days, to all speculative trading in grain on the board, except in July and September corn and oats.

July and September wheat fell off sharply, losing 20 and 18 cents from Saturday's closing price, up to noon, July rallying slightly at the close. Both corn and oats, July and September, gained, the former approximately 8 cents, the latter 2 cents.

July Wheat Drops to $2.55.

July wheat closed Saturday at $2.76, opened Monday at $2.72, dropped to $2.55 at noon, and rallied to $2.59 at the close. September closed Saturday at $2.16, opened 2 cents lower, and closed at $2.28, the low mark of the day.

July corn closed at $1.63½ and [illegible] against a Saturday closing of [illegible]. September closed at $1.50 and $1.50⅛, against $1.52 Saturday.

Oats, for July futures, closed at 68¾ cents, against a 67½ cent closing Saturday. September closed at 60⅛@60 cents against 58 cents Saturday.

ZEPPELIN SHIP DESTROYED

Naval Forces Bring Down L-22 in the North Sea.

LONDON, ENG. — British naval forces destroyed Zeppelin L-22 in the North Sea, according to an official statement issued by the admiralty.

A Zeppelin with three gondolas enveloped in heavy smoke was sighted at Terschelling, Holland, a Reuter dispatch from Harlingen, Holland, reports. When the smoke disappeared fifteen minutes later the Zeppelin was no longer to be seen.

The destruction of the L-22 marks the fourth attempt at Zeppelin raids within the last year which has ended in disaster. Two of the mammoth airships were shot down during a raid on London on Sept. 23, 1916, and two months later two more Zeppelins were destroyed off the English coast. On March 17 French artillerymen shot down a Zeppelin behind the French lines while it was endeavoring to reach Paris.

No lives were lost on either ship, but valuable cargoes went down. On the Medina were more than 300 persons, passengers and crew.

PREACHER HELD FOR AX MURDERS

Rev. Lynn G. J. Kelly Indicted for Slaying Seven.

CRIME HORRIFIED ALL IOWA

Prominent Politician Had Been Accused by Burns Detectives of Instigating Deaths of Family of Joe Moore and Two Guests at Villisca, Iowa—Chopped as They Slept.

DES MOINES, IOWA — The Rev. Lynn George J. Kelly, itinerant Presbyterian minister, surrendered to the authorities at Red Oak, Ia., where he is under indictment on the charge of murder in the first degree.

Kelly is accused of killing Joe Moore, of Villisca, Ia., Mrs. Joe Moore, three children of the Moore family and two young women guests of the household on the night of May 9, 1912, at Villisca.

The Moore family and the guests were hacked to death with an ax while they slept. Kelly, it is charged, was a guest of the family on the night of the murder and left town at 3:30 a. m. He is alleged to have told details of the murder at Macedonia, Ia., where he was then preaching, before the bodies had been discovered in Villisca, fifty miles away.

Kept on Preaching After Crime.

Kelly left Macedonia shortly after the murder, and preached at Carroll, Ia., for some time. He then went to Sioux Falls, S. D., where he preached and was arrested by the federal authorities on a charge of sending obscene matter through the mails to women acquaintances. He was found guilty but was consigned to the federal hospital for detention of criminally insane at Washington, where he spent some time and was later released.

Since that time he has held charges in Sutton, Neb., and lately has been located at Alto Pass, Ill., and St. Louis.

Kept Iowa in Turmoil.

The Moore ax murder has kept Iowa in turmoil for two years because of efforts of Burns detectives to prove that ex-Senator F. E. Jones, a member of the state board of education, instigated the crime.

Attorney General H. M. Havner gave out a statement in connection with the arrest, including the following statement:

"Witnesses testify that shortly after Kelly went to Carroll, Ia., he advertised for a class in stenography and tried to get young girls to pose in the nude. After he left Carroll, sometime in 1913, he went to Winners, S. D. While at at Winners he did preaching and evangelistic work and also stenographic work.

Sought Ruin of Girls.

"He then ran an ad in the Omaha World Herald seeking to employ a stenographer to act as a model for pictures to be used in a book which he was writing. A young lady in Council Bluffs answered the ad and Kelly answered her letter. He told her that whatever transpired between them should be absolutely secret. He sought to have her pose in the nude for him and asked her whether she would be willing to try it out all the way through, saying whoever he got to work for him would have to be willing to take any pose he desired and do it exactly as he wished."

The young woman turned this letter over to her pastor, who reported the matter to federal authorities. Other letters of a similar nature were obtained in decoys and Kelly was arrested.

Tried Revolting Crimes on Men.

Havner's statement continues: "Kelly was taken from Winner to Sioux Falls, where he was placed in jail. While in jail in Sioux Falls he was guilty of a number of revoltingly immoral acts attempted on fellow prisoners."

CO-OPERATIVE ASSOCIATION ENLARGE THEIR OFFICE

The Co-Operative Association have just completed improvements which give them double the office space which they formerly occupied. Their rapidly increasing business has made it necessary to provide more office space so a room 30 x 12 directly over the present office has been finished off.

A stairway connects the two offices and an entrance has been cut through from the new office to the directors' room. A dummy connects the two offices and will be used for carrying books and supplies. Cupboards and drawers have been provided for storage purposes, a skylight has been put in the ceiling which provides plenty of light and the room will be connected by telephone. It will be used for a private office and relieves the crowded condition of the down stairs office.

COMMITTEE COMPLETES INSPECTION OF SOLDIERS HOME AT GRAND RAPIDS

H. W. Stevens of Tecumseh, One of the Committee.

H. W. Stevens has just returned from Grand Rapids where he in company with three others made an inspection of the Michigan Soldier's Home. The committee had been appointed by the officers of the Department of Michigan and will make their annual report at the State Encampment which meets at Battle Creek June 19, 20 and 21.

The inspection shows the home in excellent condition with a total membership, both men and women, of 1296. Total male membership 1040, women 256. Out of the total number 217 were confined in the hospital. From May 1, 1916, to May 1, 1917, 170 men and 35 women have died; 172 new members have been received from May 1, 1916, to May 1, 1917. Total received to date since the home was established, 7172.

In receiving this appointment Mr Stevens has the honor of being one in four out of the whole state to be placed on this committee.

He expressed himself as being much pleased with the conditions as found in the home and the manner in which the old soldiers are cared for.

FROM WAR PREPAREDNESS BOARD

Lansing, Mich., May 16,—"In enlisting for active service with a national Guard unit," said Fred L. Keeler, state superintendent of public instruction, and a member of the War Preparedness Board of Michigan, "the recruit is asked his occupation. I think it would be a good idea if his enlistment papers showed his special training in addition to his occupation. Almost every sort of knowledge can be employed to advantage in wartime.

"For instance, the men who are in our army and can speak German or French or Spanish or Italian; men who have knowledge of railroading; who understand the theory and practice of the wireless or who can understand the Morse code sufficiently to send or receive a message even if they are not experts; who have had experience as hunters and so can track and scout:; who can build a house or lay a wall are undoubtedly of more value to their country at certain times in exercising this special knowledge than actually in the trenches.

"The value of a sewer contractor, who knows the nature of soils, and can warn his superiors what earth is unsafe to dig in without bracing, can be seen at a glance. The man with electrical experience and the machinist in this war of machinery, are assets. Yet to be an asset one hundred per cent efficient, he must not only have the knowledge, but his superiors should know he has it."

QUARTERLY MEETING OF CO-OPERATIVE ASSOCIATION

Reports for Quarter Show Large Increase in the Business

The regular quarterly meeting of held Wednesday at 1:30 p. m. The report for the quarter was read and proved to be very flattering.

The total volume of business transacted the first four months of this year was $168,678.69 as compared with $95,315.44 for the same period in 1916; $96,620.90 of this amount represents live stock shipments, which is an increase in this department of 58 per cent. over 1916. After deducting the amount of live stock shipments a balance of $52,057.89 was left representing the amount of merchandise sales and other business transacted. This shows an increase of 52 per cent. over the same period of 1916.

Owing to the busy season on the farm, it was impossible for a quorum to be represented at this meeting and, as business of importance was up for consideration, a recess was taken until Saturday, June 16th.

"INTOLERANCE

G. W. Griffith's latest great spectacle "Intolerance" which has been critically acknowledged the current season's biggest hit in New York, Chicago, Philaedlphia, San Francisco and other large cities, will be presented at the Bradley for matinee and night, Friday, May 25th.

In this said-to-be the most magnificent production of all time, Mr. Griffith gives visual presentation of four different decades - - mighty Babylon in the days of Belshazzar, Judea at the time of the Nazarene, Medieval France when Catherine de Medici dictated to her son Charles IX and the present - - and throughout them all he sustains most interesting ly the motive of the play - - love's sruggle throughout the ages.

Possibly the most stupendously magnificent scenes are those which, representing Belshazzar's feast, disclose a panoramic view of over a mile of ancient world splendors and architectural wonders against which diaphanously attired women and picturesquely clad men stand out in steroscoptic relief.

Such battle scenes as those revealing the clash of Belshazzar's forces and hordes of Cyrus, the Persian, on and about the mighty walls of Babylon are breath-taking. You see catapults and battering rams, crossbows and flaming engines in action. You see huge moving seige towers with their compliment of gladiators crash to the ground; you see mighty men in hand to hand conflict - - ancient warfare thrilling, inspiring, so real that you cannot believe it mimic.

Seeing "Intolerance" is like living four lives in one. This thrilling drama tears the veil from the past and unleashes the imagination to run rampant down the ages in the most romantic periods of history. To tell of all the wonders of what has been called "the greatest show in the world" is an impossiblity in a limited amount of space.

In place of the one love story "Intolerance" has three - - in place of one set of characters, this fourfold drama of daring surprises has four. The principal players of the largest cast ever assembled for a stage production numbers among other screen celebrities Mae Marsh, Lillian Gish, Miriam Cooper, Constance Talmadge, Bessie Love, Seena Owen, Margery Wilsin, Robert Harron, Albert Paget, Elmer Clifton, Tully Marshall and Walter Long.

Until "Intolerance" was presented Mr. Griffith's "Birth of a Nation" was considered the mightiest spectacle ever produced but when one realizes that 125,000 people, 7500 horses and 1500 chariots were used in the creation of this masterpiece, that it took three years to make it, and finally, that os much time was spent by expert reseach men acquiring the information necessary to make "Intolerance" historically correct, as was used in staging the "Birth of a Nation", some idea of the immensity of the new spectacle may be had. A symphony orchestra and chorus of voices are features of the play's presentation.

Attorney G. A. Rathbun was one of the speakers at the Lawyers banquet in Adrian Monday night. They do say that he was exceedingly funny in his handling of the Rule in Shelloys case.

DREAMS OF CHILDHOOD

How pleasant to think of our childhood,
And the place where we lived when quite young,
Of our roaming about in the wildwood
With our hook and our rod or our gun.
Great honors, position or wealth,
We may reach with hard work and much strifs,
But for joy and for pleasure and health,
Give us back the young days of our life.
We remember the old swimming hole—
Evans Creek seemed to us quite a stream—
What delight as we often would stroll
On its banks with the birds and our dream.
We wanted to grow to our manhood,
To travel and view the great earth,
Then return to the friends of our childhood,
And our stories relate at the hearth.
I am thinking today of the plans at that time,
And wonder if many or few
Of the boys of those days had visions like mine.
Maybe so — perhaps not—had you? A. O. C.

One of our old Tecumseh boys still has pleasant memories of the days of long ago and sends us the above.

Corns Peel Right Off With "Gets-It"

2 Drops, and the Corn is a "Goner!"

When you've got to walk on the sides of your shoe to get away from those awful corn-pains, there's only one common-sense thing to do.

Use "Gets-It" Your Corns Won't Swell in Water. Besides, They'll Shrivel, Loosen and Peel Off!

Put 2 or 3 drops of "Gets-It" on the corn right away. Pain and inflammation will disappear, the corn will begin to shrivel from that instant—then it loosens and falls right off.

There's no other corn-remover in the world that acts like "Gets-It." No new discovery has been made in corn-removers since "Gets-It" was born. Don't forget that fact. "Gets-It" does away forever with the use of salves that irritate, bandages that make a bundle of your toe, plasters that half do the work, knives and scissors that draw blood. Use "Gets-It"—no more digging or cutting.

"Gets-It" is sold everywhere, 25c a bottle, or sent on receipt of price by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was suppsed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. is shown by the farmer who raises more stock or dairy products. Many farmers are now planting for next winter's feeding, planning for feeding more silage; planning to have less pasture and more fields for grain raising.

The best way to produce more feed is to erect a SAGINAW RED-WOOD FRAME SILO.

New financial arrangements have been recently made so every farmer can erect a Saginaw Silo and pay for it out of its savings, and so produce one third more feed.

We drove King George away,
And drive away you we may.
This is our good U. S. A.
The men over there,
A good many million lay,
The way you are fighting now,
Is more than we can see how."

HANDICAPPED

This is the Case With Many Tecumseh People.

Too many Tecumseh citizens are handicapped with bad backs. The unceasing pain causes constant misery, making work a burden and stooping or lifting an impossibility. The back aches at night, preventing refreshing rest and in the morning is stiff and lame. Plasters and liniments may give relief but cannot reach the cause if the kidneys are weak. To eliminate the pains and aches of kidney backache you must cure the kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys—thousands testify to their merit. Can you doubt Tecumseh evidence?

Mrs. W. Service, E. Logan St., Tecumseh, says: "My kidneys were out of order and I had weakness and soreness across my back. I felt run down and tired out and could hardly keep going. I had frequent headaches, too, and my kidneys acted irregularly. I used Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from Wright & Son's Drug Store, and they helped me right away. They strengthened my back and put my kidneys in good order."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Service had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y. adv

BALFOUR IN GOTHAM

British Envoy Is Given a Notable Reception.

The welcome accorded to the member of the British war commission in New York was hardly less enthusiastic than that to the French envoys, although the personal note so marked in the Joffre greeting was lacking. Minister Balfour is shown entering the city hall to receive the formal welcome of the city officials.

A GENERAL SURVEY OF THE WAR.

Wednesday, May 9.—The British war office asserts that Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria's men met with reverses west of Fresnoy Tuesday night during a counter attack, while unofficial advices are to the effect that they have been expelled from a greater portion of the village. On the other hand, Berlin asserts, the Germans have held the village against fresh British attacks.

Northwest of Rheims the French captured German positions on a front of more than 400 yards.

Thursday, May 10.—The London war office statement reports a slight advance by the British on the south bank of the Scarpe river in France and the repulse of German attacks against the new British positions on the Hindenburg line east of Bullecourt and near Fresnoy.

A statement received from Saloniki reports that, attacking on a front of about four miles in the Lake Doiran region, British troops on one wing took Teutonic allied trenches on a front of two miles and on the other flank advanced on a front of about a mile.

Friday, May 11.—On the Macedonian theater of war General Serrail commander in chief of the Entente's Saloniki expedition, has opened a concerted drive along the whole 100-mile front.

The Germans, returning to the attack against the new British position south of the Souchez river, and employing liquid fire in their operations forced the British to give ground and withdraw from a portion of the front Later, however, in a counter attack the British regained all their old positions, the Germans suffering heavy casualties.

Saturday, May 12.—Storming the German line east of Arras along a twelve-mile front, British troops have forced back the Germans at two important points and have established themselves in Bullecourt. Heavy losses were inflicted on the Germans and more than 700 prisoners were taken.

Without giving the armies of Crown Prince Rupprecht time to recover after the repulse of their ineffectual counter attacks, Field Marshal Haig threw his forces against three vital points in the line protecting Douai, and in each place gained his objective.

Sunday, May 13.—Most of the village of Bullecourt, in the Hindenburg line, is now in the hands of the British, who also occupied the western section of Roeux.

Troops commanded by the German crown prince launched several violent attacks against the French lines on the Champagne front north of Rheims, on the plateau south of Craonne and in the region of Maisons De Champagne. All the German attacks were smashed by the French artillery and rifle fire, the Teutons suffering heavy losses.

PLEDGED TO MURDER ARMY DRAFT HEADS

They Belong to Organization Numbering 400.

Dallas, Tex., May 21.—Seven of eight men arrested at Snyder, Tex., Friday under federal indictments charging seditious uprising are being brought to Dallas for safekeeping, federal authorities have announced.

Twelve men were arrested at Rotan, Tex., in the same connection, according to advices here. The eight men under indictment and known to be under arrest are said by federal authorities to be members of a vigilance committee of the "Farmers' and Laborers' Protective Association of America," whose membership was sworn, on pain of death, to oppose military laws, to kill officers who might cause the arrest of association members and to kill any conscription or army officer who should give members a gun with which to fight in the war.

The association was organized, it is said, after it became apparent that the United States would be drawn into the world war and became more active after the declaration of a state of war with Germany. Its present membership is given as about 400.

THIRTY-FIRST WILL GAIN WAR STRENGTH

Representative Wood Will Bear Recruiting Expense.

DETROIT, May 21.

Following advices from Washington that all guard units are to be recruited to war strenght at once, two line officers, a medical officer, one sergeant and a corps of clerks will be detailed at once to fill the depleted ranks of the Thirty-first infantry.

Failing to secure a portion of the $5,000,000 appropriated by the state of Michigan, and turned over to the war preparedness board, the expenses of this work, up to $1,000 a month, will be guaranteed by State Representative Arthur E. Wood.

Captain Warren E. Bow has selected a tentative list of officers to serve, but has announced only one—First Lieutenant John DeVail of Company H. Plans for recruiting are incomplete but will be completed at a conference.

Preliminary outlines include the establishment of a tent at some prominent place in the center of the city, where speakers of note will make addresses. If this is done one of the line officers and sergeants will remain at the tent, the medical and second line officer making headquarters at the armory, where final papers will be signed.

Petersburg, Ind., May 21.—The jury after being out a few hours returned a verdict against the Ingle Coal and Supply company in favor of Gilbert Corn for $6,000. Corn had sued the coal company for $30,000 for loss of a foot while in its employ.

If a regiment of 1,000 men, with equipment of 00,000 pounds, marches ten miles it does as much work as laborers raising a weight of 200,000 tons a distance of one foot.

It is not our wrong actions which it requires courage to confess so much as those that are ridiculous and foolish.—Rousseau.

BIG U. S. ARMY GOING ABROAD

Huge Drive Is On to Recruit Nation's Forces.

400,000 SOON TO BE NEEDED

Pershing Expedition to Start Almost Immediately Is to Be Followed Rapidly by Increments—500,000 Men for West Front Within Year.

Washington, May 21.—The United States will be represented on the fighting fronts of Europe by land and sea by an army of perhaps 500,000 men and a powerful force of naval vessels, within a year.

The Pershing expedition to France and the flotilla of destroyers now hunting down submarines in the war zone, are but the beginning. This is indicated in official circles. Ample proof is found in the preparations which the government is making.

The "big push" for volunteers for the military service has begun. The regular army needs more than 100,000 men to bring it to war strength and the national guard requires 170,000 additional. Besides these a volunteer force of 100,000 to fill the places of regulars withdrawn to train the volunteers and the 500,000 selective conscripts are wanted.

400,000 Recruits Needed.

With recruiting officers shooting at a total of more than 400,000, and this is regarded in war department circles as the real test of volunteer methods every ounce of machinery is to be brought to bear to fill these places before the draft goes into operation, probably late in August.

The general staff plans call for an army of approximately 1,200,000 within a year. Indeed, the total will be swelled to probably 1,700,000 in that period, as the second increment under the conscription bill probably will be ordered to the colors before more than nine months have elapsed.

Out of these forces a division is to be sent to France "as soon as practicable," according to Secretary of War Baker's announcement. This means almost immediately. But there is no concealment that this is only the beginning. The earlier reinforcements of the Pershing expedition will be drawn, it is believed, from the regular army and national guard, then in the federal service.

The army war college is working on plans for the employment of these troops. These plans are still incomplete.

6,641,000 TONNAGE IS LOST

German Expert Calculates Loss Sustained Since War Began.

New York, May 21.—The total tonnage of merchant ships destroyed by Germany from the beginning of the war t oApril 1 is put at 6,641,000 by Captain L. Persius in the Berliner Tageblatt just before Dr. Karl Helfferich, German secretary of the interior, on April 28 told the reichstag that the ships sunk in the first two months of unrestricted submarine warfare had a tonnage of more than 1,600,000.

Of the total sunk up to April 1, 6,000,000 tons were enemy shipping, according to Captain Persius. Of the total, 4,998,500 tons are said to have been sunk before the opening of unrestricted submarine warfare on Feb. 1. A total of 1,642,500 tons was destroyed in February and March.

FRENCH DESTROYER HITS MINE

Norwegian Ship Is Sunk by German U-Boat While in Norwegian Waters. Protest Is Accompanied With Warlike Words—Breaking of Relations May Result.

Paris, May 21.—The French steamship Colbert, carrying a number of French military passengers, was torpedoed and sunk in the Mediterranean, April 30, by a Teuton submarine. Fifty-one persons, including the commander of the vessel, lost their lives. Announcement of the sinking of the Colbert was made by the French admiralty.

The official statement says:

"The steamer Colbert, in the service of the admiralty and having on board a certain umber of military passengers, was torpedoed in the Mediterranean on the morning of April 30 by a submarine.

"Fifty-one persons were killed, among them being Auxiliary Naval Lieutenant Commelin, who was in command of the ship and who had been turned over to the army. He was made a chevalier of the Legion of Honor for defeating a submarine attack on the same day, April 30, a year ago.

The Colbert was a passenger vessel of 5,394 tons gross. She was 377 feet long and had a beam of 47 feet. In April, 1916, the vessel was attacked by a submarine in the Mediterranean, but escaped her aggressor by superior speed. At that time she was shelled by a U-boat without preliminary warning.

Four Norse Ships Sunk.

DAUGHTER MADE SACRIFICE

Kansas Fanatic Emulates Abraham by Killing 6 Year Old Girl.

Kansas City, May 21.—A story of fanaticism which led to the slaying as a sacrifice of six year old Helena Bentz by her father, Jacob Bentz, was announced by the police of Kansas City, Kan., who have Bentz in custody.

Bentz, when found, was kneeling beside the body of his daughter, who had been beaten to death, clasping his Bible and praying. "It was God's will," Bentz told the officers making the arrest. The police, after questing Bentz, sadi he constantly referred to the passage in the Bible narrating Abraham's preparation to sacrifice his son, Isaac.

BAN IS PUT ON ALL IDLERS

Citizens Between 16 and 60 Must Work in West Virginia.

Charleston, W. V., May 21.—Every able-bodied citizen of West Virginia between the ages of sixteen and sixty must work at least thirty-six hours a week under a law passed by both houses of the legislature. The measuse includes persons having incomes and who have no specified employment. It is to become operative in thirty days. The penalty for violation is forced employment by counties or municipalities.

The bill was urged by Governor Cornwell as a war measure.

FIVE KILLED, FIFTEEN HURT

Engine Explodes at Steel Plant at Youngstown, Ohio.

Youngstown, O., May 22.—Five men were killed and fifteen injured, several of them probably fatally, when a turbine engine exploded at the Bessemer plant of the Republican Iron and Steel company.

Officers who have started an investigation, say they are unable to assign a reason for the accident. A majority of the men killed were American steel workers.

Seizure Rouses Norse.

Christiania, May 21.—The Norwegian steamship Thorum has been seized by a German submarine inside Norwegian territorial waters, and a serious diplomatic conflict may result. The Thorum was chartered by the government to carry forage to northern Norway, where there is a famine.

HOOVER IS FOOD DICTATOR

President Announces Acceptance of Plan Proposed by Feeder of Belgium.

Washington, May 21.—President Wilson announces that Herbert C. Hoover, who won international fame by feeding Belgium, has accepted the all-important task of "food administration."

Moreover, the President has abandoned the food control measure devised by Secretary of Agriculture Houston and has come out squarely behind the views of Mr. Hoover. The President says that Mr. Hoover has expressed his willingness to serve his country without payment for his services and that the whole force under him, exclusive of clerical assistance, probably will be employed on the same volunteer basis.

What "Barrage Fire" Is.

An interesting feature of artillery fire is the "curtain" of "barrage" fire. This means simply keeping up such a terrific fire on a certain area that an enemy cannot or will not cross it. When an infantry attack is launched a barrage on the ground beyond the enemy's front line prevents his re-enforcements coming up while the attacking infantry are having it out with the defenders of the trench. If the attack carries beyond the first line the artillery of the defense promptly interposes a barrage to prevent its reaching the second line. If the attack on the first line fails the defending artillery puts a barrage behind the attacker's line to prevent re-enforcements coming up to it and to enable the victorious defenders to counterattack and destroy the enemy in his own trenches. It is merely a wholesale development of a long established method of supporting the infantry.—Major E. D. Scott in National Service Magazine.

Mystery of a Fish.

In the economy of nature nothing is more remarkable than the metamorphosis of the flounder, which when young swims in an upright position, as do all other fish, but when maturity develops it becomes topheavy, falls over on its side and its existence is passed as a flat fish.

That nature moves in a mysterious way is here freely illustrated, for when the flounder falls flat the two eyes, which originally were on either side of the head, are transposed to the upper side of the fish, where they always face the light.

The process by which this strange change is accomplished has never been discovered by scientists and is a marvelous instance of nature's operations, for while the fish usually rests upon bottom it can readily swim about in any depth of water.—New York Sun.

A Short Business Talk.

In a certain store the merchandise manager sent for the ready to wear and millinery buyers and said to them:

"You men are getting a bad accumulation of stock that is hard to move. Hereafter you will make a daily and weekly inventory and send the report to this office."

Both buyers declared this to be impossible, but the merchandise man told them to go and do it. Especially he wanted them to show the age of the goods in stock, the sizes and the colors.

After attempting to take some of these daily inventories the buyers decided that an easier way would be to get busy and sell the goods faster. This same plan has been used in many departments with fine results.

There is nothing like the spot light to engender selling activity in a store.—Philadelphia Record.

All In the Dialect.

A New Zealand man vouches for the truth of the following story:

Dick Seddon was of Lancashire origin, and when he died the Lancastrian society in New Zealand sent a wreath with the following inscription: "I have gone whoam." The journalist who reported the funeral evidently did not come from Lancashire and consequently was somewhat puzzled by the wording and, after thinking hard, concluded that some one had blundered. His report read:

"The Lancastrian society sent a beautiful wreath bearing the inscription: 'I have gone. Who am I?'"

Destroying an Idol.

"Charley, dear," said young Mrs. Torkins, "you can say anything you like nowadays about George Washington, can't you?"

"Yes. The lid seems to be off."

"Well, I never liked to mention it before, but I have my doubts about his being incapable of an effort to deceive. His pictures look to me as if the old gentleman wore a wig."—Washington Star.

Luxury and Labor.

Alexander the Great, reflecting on his friends degenerating into sloth and luxury, told them that it was a most slavish thing to luxuriate and a most royal thing to labor.—Barrow.

Happiness.

Happiness rarely is absent. It is that we know not of its presence. The greatest felicity avails us nothing if we know not that we are happy.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

Diet and Health.

In an article on "Taming the Liver" World's Work says that the daily meal of the average business man consisting of meat and potatoes and white bread is ideal for inducing constipation. Most of us should not eat more than once a day. Eat the shells of your baked potatoes and eat whole wheat bread or graham for the help that what we call "roughage" has in stimulating bowel action. And see to it that you take liberal portions of at least two kinds of vegetables at both luncheon and dinner, such vegetables as peas, beans, lettuce, parsnips, carrots, turnips, celery, oyster plant, cabbage, Brussels sprouts, tomatoes, salsify, Spanish onions, asparagus and spinach. If you dislike these you will be able to substitute fruits that you do like. Eat the right things, get sufficient exercise and rest and you will have no need for habit forming laxatives which eventually may do you much harm.

Sharp.

Jack—Do you know that Kitty is an awfully sharp girl? Percy—Yes; she cut me on the street the other day.—Cornell Widow.

Wonderful Siberian Railway.

The great railway of 5,000 miles in length that runs across Siberia is one of the most marvelous in the world, first because of the difficulties that had to be faced in building it and, secondly, because of its enormous length. For nearly 1,000 miles along this steel track the line crosses an almost treeless plain. All the stations along those weary miles are at least thirty miles apart, and most of the villages are a long way from the stations.

In winter this Siberian line is one continuous view of snow, stretching for miles along the seemingly endless desert. Sometimes the villages and stations are almost buried in snow, and not infrequently the train gets snowed up. Water for the stoves and the engines has to be brought steaming hot, lest it should freeze on the way, and often men at the stations in the depth of winter have to chop off long icicles from the engine and cars. But even the intense cold has its advantages, for dairy products, such as cheese and butter, can be carried by rail without having to be put into refrigerating trucks.

Baths For the Canary.

Under normal conditions most birds probably bathe daily, and canaries in captivity should be allowed the same opportunity. When individual birds obstinately refuse to enter the water, gentle spraying usually will induce them to bathe.

Small china dishes that are not too deep make good bathing pans. When a bird becomes accustomed to one dish it usually will refuse to bathe in another one of different shape and color. In winter the water should be warmed until tepid. Even in warm weather too cold water is not advisable. If the room, ordinarily warm, becomes cold temporarily, birds should not be allowed to bathe.

During molt the bath should be given not more than twice each week. When breeding the female canary should not be allowed to bathe from the time the eggs hatch until the young are three or four days old.—United States Department of Agriculture Bulletin.

A Leap Into Fame.

How many actors have begun their stage career as leading man? Probably Sir Johnstone Forbes-Robertson is the only instance. One night when Sir Johnstone was a young man of twenty-one his father, who was an art critic and journalist, went to see W. G. Wills' "Mary Stuart," and after the performance Wills accompanied him to supper. In the course of conversation the dramatist asked his host how he thought Castelard, the leading part, was played.

"Why, my son there, who has never acted, would do it fifty times better."

"The very thing!" cried Wills. "Will you try, Johnstone?"

The young artist modestly assented, went with Wills next day to rehearse and a week later made a sensational debut. Since then he has always been a leading man.—London Standard.

A Small Boy's Invention.

Sir Hiram Maxim began to invent almost as soon as he could lisp. When but a small boy he invented a sort of sextant made of wood, with sights, a piece of thread with a bullet at the end and an indicator for the thread to swing along.

On a dark night he took his instrument outside, and while he sighted it to the north star his little sister read the indicator. "Forty-five, Hiram!" she called out. This meant they were living in 45 degrees north latitude. The observation proved to be perfectly accurate.

A Turkish Riddle.

Here is an old Turkish riddle which has been handed down for many centuries and yet has never been answered. "There was once a beggar who always dreamed he was a pasha, and there was a pasha who always dreamed he was a beggar. Which was the happier?"

Bell Never Stops Ringing.

In the Clarendon laboratory at the Oxford (England) university museum is a little bell which has rung day and night for seventy-six years. It is a somewhat near approach to perpetual motion, yet its mechanism is very simple.

Seemed All Right.

"Bobbie, your face wants washing. Did you look at it in the glass this morning?"

"No, mother, but it seemed all right when I felt it."—New York Sun.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINTS.

Sore Throat.

The most frequent cause of distress or discomfort in the throat is exposure to cold and wet. Other conditions cause sore throat, such as exposure to infection. It may be of gouty or rheumatic origin. It may be excited by local irritants, such as hot drinks or the inhalation of noxious gases.

In mild cases of sore throat a gargle of a saturated solution of boric acid, used every four hours, will give relief. In severe cases the application to the neck of cloths wrung out of cold water proves grateful. Sucking small bits of ice affords much relief.

Internal treatment is needed. For this a seidlitz powder is very useful or a dose of salts upon rising in the morning. If, however, there is any fever or the tonsils are red and swollen or show tiny yellow or white spots on their surface, send as soon as possible for a physician.

Cities of Refuge.

In the tumultuous days of old, when "every man's hand was against every other man and every other man's hand against him," when the principle of "due process of law" was practically unknown and private vengeance was the rule of the day, it was absolutely necessary that there should be some place to which one could fly for safety. Such were the "cities of refuge," of which there were six in Palestine. He who succeeded in reaching such asylum when pursued by his would be destroyer was safe until his right to protection was judicially decided. In all probability there were cities of refuge in other countries than Palestine.

OBEDIENCE.

Obedience is good and indispensable, but if it be obedience to what is wrong there is no name for such a depth of human cowardice and calamity, spurned everlastingly by the gods!—Thomas Carlyle.

FROM WILL BROAS

One of Our Tecumseh Lads Who Enlisted Recently.

The following short letter was received yesterday by a friend of the family. Will enlisted at Jackson, but had moved to Albion a short time before with his parents, Mr. and Mrs M. C. Proas. We are always glad to hear from the boys who have left us and especially from those brave ones who have joined the army to fight for us.

Ft. Ringgold, Texas, May 17, 1917

Dear Friend:

Well, I passed all the army examinations and have been stationed at Ft. Ringgold, Texas. There is a town here of about 3000 by the name of Rio Grande.

I belong to I Troop, 16th Cavalry. We are all in quarantine yet and expect to be for about ten days.

This is some climate! It gets awfully hot during the day but is cool at night. Don't believe I ever felt better in my life. It makes a fellow feel like a new man. We get drilled about eight hours a day so we are right out in the hot sun.

Have a picture show here every night.

Don't know of any more to tell for this time so will close. My address is

G. A. R.—T. B. A.

The G. A. R. and T. B. A. had a social hour at the close of their business meetings last evening and a short program was given. Owing to the inclemency of the evening the attendance was small.

The first on the program was the singing of "America," all joining.

Bertram Klappic then gave a patriotic recitation in a very pleasing manner. He was followed by Master Langton who paid quite a tribute to his grandpa and the wonderful stories that he tells.

This was followed by a poem by Miss Lucy Train who extolled "The American Flag."

The cream of the evening was the dialogues of Mrs. Geo. Belding and Mrs. Fred Fagan who certainly were fine. They responded to an encore.

H. W. Stevens gave a very interesting account of his recent visit to the Soldiers' Home at Grand Rapids.

In spite of the fact that several who were to take part failed to appear, the evening's entertainment proved very good.

RED CROSS PARTY

Witherells hall presented a very fine appearance Friday night, when the company assembled for the Red Cross card party. American flags were draped every where possible, and the flags of the Allies were also used freely. Many easy chairs and cozy corners were invitingly arranged and the soft lights made the scene a charming one. About 60 guests responded to the invitations and engaged in progressive 500.

First prizes were awarded to Harry Moore and Mrs. Maynard Mulvaney and second prizes were given Mrs. Paul Bowen and Mr. Braman. Refreshments were served during the evening and all expressed themselves as having a most delightful time.

Both Were Envious.

It was in Cleveland, and the day was hot. The Mastodons had just finished their parade, and Charles Frohman, perspiring and wearing the abhorred silk hat, entered the box office of the opera house on Cleveland avenue. Sitting in the treasurer's seat he saw a sturdy lad fingering a pile of silver dollars. He slipped them in and out with amazing dexterity. Hearing a noise, he looked up and beheld young Frohman with the tile tilted back on his head. The boys' eyes met. Into each came a wistful look.

"I wish I had that silk hat of yours," said the boy at the window.

"I wish I could do what you are doing with that money," was the response of the envied one.

Such was the meeting of two men who afterward became dominant figures in the theatrical world. The boy with the dollars was A. L. Erlanger.—"Charles Frohman, Manager and Man."

Milkmaids In London.

At one time it was a common thing to see milkmaids in Fleet street. London milkmaids of past days were usually strongly built Irish or Welsh girls, mostly Welsh, but how long ago it is since one yodeled in Fleet street it is difficult to say. Yet only a few years ago a milkmaid actually practiced her calling in the open in central London. Two cows were attached to the "Milk fair" in St. James' park, near Spring gardens, and a tumblerful of milk "fresh from the cow" was a popular beverage. The "fair," which was held by a family descended from the original holders of an old privilege granted by royalty, was abolished by order of the office of works.—London Chronicle.

Untangle It.

Speaking of conversations, real or imaginary, does this one really mean anything? We've said it over to ourselves ten times since we heard it, and it gets worse all the time. But a nice old fellow whom everybody knows, but whom we will simply designate as A., said:

"Don't roast the game of golf. It has made me twenty years younger."

And a younger fellow whom nobody knows and whom we shall therefore be obliged to call B. retorted thus:

"By the time you have reached the age you are now, if you keep on playing golf, how old will you be?"—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Killing of Poets.

Poets that can be killed by the ridicule of those who do not understand them are better dead, and they have never succeeded in saving their lives by their explanations. The world will never kill a poet because he is an imagist or a vers librists, but there is one thing that it surely will do—it will kill an imagist or a vers libriste because he is not a poet.—New Republic.

MEMORIAL DAY PROCLAMATION

By the Governor

Well-nigh three score years have passed since our fathers took up arms for the cause of the union. That was a righteous war, a holy war. It was waged for unity and liberty and human happiness. Four years the conflict raged. Then came the end, and the Union was saved and the slaves were set free. Some of those who fought in that war are with us yet, though a fast diminishing company. Year by year their ranks grow thinner. One by one their comrades leave them.

For many years our people have gone forth on Memorial Day to place flowers on the graves of those veterans of the great Civil War who have gone beyond, and to pay a tribute of respect to those who still remain. It is a beautiful custom. May the time never come when it shall die out. May this generation, and the generations yet to come, never forget what they owe to the brave men who fought their battles for them.

This year Memorial Day has an especial significance. With most of us, up to this time, the observance of the day has been more or less perfunctory. We have scarcely realized its meaning. Today that meaning is brought home to us through the grim reality of war. The world at war! Three years ago we scoffed at the suggestion. It could not be. The thing was unthinkable; but the impossible happened. The great powers across the sea came to death-grips. Men's hearts melted within them. In a deep-seated earthquake seemed to heave up the basis of civil life; and the tribunals of men, and the thrones of monarchs, and the temples of God were shaken to the lowest atom of their structure. Still we hoped that our land would fare free. Neutral we would remain, and go calmly about our peaceful pursuits. It was not to be. The menace to human freedom became too frightful; and today we are at war. Our sons are being drafted. Our daughters are enlisting under Red Cross banner. From ocean to ocean the Nation is girding up its loins for the fray.

This too is a righteous war. We did not want war. We did our best to keep out of war; but there was no escape from the situation. The rights of all neutrals were being contemptuously disregarded. The freedom of the seas was being denied us. American citizens were being slaughtered in defiance of international law and all the rules of civilized warfare. Democracy was being slowly throttled, and our very existance as a free nation was being threatened. This ruthless war rang out a strident challenge to our manhood. Our cause then is a just cause. It is the cause of human freedom. We stand up for the rights of humanity and fling out a banner to the nations. God grant that out of this universal conflict, out of the sacrifice of blood and tears and treasure, the world may come forth with a cleaner, purer soul.

Therefore, that we may pay a tribute of affection and esteem to the surviving veterans of the Civil War and of the Spanish-American War, and honor the memory of those who gave up their lives in our cause, I, ALBERT E. SLEEPER, Governor of the State of Michigan, do hereby issue this, my Proclamation, and sincerely urge the observance of Wednesday, May thirtieth, nineteen hundred and seventeen, as Memorial Day.

And I earnestly request the people of our State to assemble themselves together in their various communities, and by appropriate public exercises and in other fitting ways, to observe this day as a solemn Memorial festival. I suggest, as one means of observing the day, that bells be tolled from 12:00 o'clock noon until 12:05 P. M., and that all citizens stand with uncovered heads during this period. Flags should be displayed at half-staff until noon and then hoisted to the top of the staff.

I further suggest that this day be set apart as a day in which, so far as possible the ordinary courses of business shall be suspended and in which we shall give ourselves to meditation and prayer, imploring the God of our fathers to inspire us with a steadfast faith and a watchful courage, and so to guide us by His own wise Providence, that we may be able to keep for righteousness and freedom this land which was dedicated to righteousness and consecrated to freedom.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State, this eighteenth day of May in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and seventeen, and of the Commonwealth the eighty-first.

Albert E. Sleeper, Governor.

By the Governor:

Coleman C. Vaughn, Secretary of State.

Soapstone.

In the production of soapstone the United States ranks first among all countries, and Virginia produces about twenty times as much as the four other producing states—Maryland, North Carolina, Rhode Island and Vermont. The waste from breakage in quarrying, sawing into slabs, manufacturing and final transportation is so great as to render success in the industry a matter of skillful manipulation. The value of the stone is in large measure proportionate to the work done upon it. In the rough it is valued at $2 or less a ton, but when sawed into slabs its value is increased to about $15, and when made into laundry tubs it may attain a value of about $30 a ton.

Taking Castor Oil.

The disagreeable taste of castor oil may be concealed by giving the dose in hot milk with salt and a sprinkle of black pepper. Another way of covering the taste is by using lemon juice. In either method sandwich the castor oil. Place a layer of milk or lemon juice in the bottom of the glass, then the castor oil upon this and then another layer of the milk or lemon juice. Castor oil prepared in this way is not tasted by the patient, and it can be given to him without his realizing what he is taking.

MRS. RILEY MILLER

Phoebe Swick Miller passed away at the Soldiers Home in Grand Rapids May 3d, 1917. She was born in Macon Jan. 22d, 1838. May 21st, 1860, she was united in marriage to Riley Miller who died in Tecumseh March 4th, 1894.

To this union were born four children, two sons, George and John of Macon, and two daughters, Mrs Cora Kelly of Detroit and Mrs. Susie Armstrong of Denver. Besides these she leaves 12 grand children and 14 great-grandchildren.

For many years she lived south of Ridgeway and also resided in Tecumseh a number of years. She went to the Soldier's Home three years ago.

Her remains were brought to Tecumseh Sunday night, May 6th, and taken to the home of her son George in Macon where the funeral was held the next day. A large circle of friends gathered to pay their last tokens of respect. Rev. Somers of Ridgeway officiated. The casket was borne to the grave in Ridgeway cemetery by her nephews, Sidney, John and Albert Cadmus Frank Hoagland, Walter and William Swick. She was a faithful member of the Methodist church at Ridgeway.

EPWORTH LEAGUE RALLY

The Epworth League rally held at the M. E. church Friday evening was largely attended and a most interesting time was reported. The first item of interest was the supper, served at 6:30 when every place was filled. The Adrian, Ridgeway and Tipton Leagues were represented.

Rev. Somers led in prayer. Miss Norma Woody, president of the local League, welcomed the visitors. John Taylor, Misses Edna Taylor and Ella Routson favored the company with vocal solos and Wilfred Waldron gave a trombone selection, accompanied by Mrs. Waldron.

Miss Bird of Detroit gave a lecture on Africa which was illustrated by stereopticon views, Rev Widdicomb of Flat Rock assisting. He also made a short speech.

Rev. Somers, speaking for the Ridgeway League, made a pleasing address.

The meeting was full of interest throughout and was much enjoyed by all present.

"INTOLERANCE"

D. W. Griffith's latest colossal spectacle "Intolerance" said to be the most magnificent spectacle of all time, will have its local engagement at the Bradley Opera House, this week, Friday May 25, afternoon at 2:30, evening at 8:15.

This new art creation, which comes here following its half year of popularity at the Liberty Theatre, New York, supplemented by long runs in Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Chicago, San Francisco and Los Angeles, is a tremendous representation of big historic events in three distinct periods of the world's history, placed in apposition with a story of life among the people in America of today, and with an embellishment of orchestral music and of illustrative song heightened by theatrical effects and in surroundings to suggest a flight in fancy to other times and other places.

The purpose of this spectacle is to show love's struggle throughout the ages, which Mr. Griffith does by means of four parallel stories. Ancient Babylon, Judea at the time of Christ, Medieval Paris and a modern American city are the scenes of these stories.

Such wonderful settings, it is said, as were provided for the showing of in and about the ancient city of Babylon are so massive and so complete in accurate detail as to stagger the imagination. Tremendous battles are fought, battles such as even today could not be equalled in fierceness of personal conflict. 7500 horses and 1500 chariots were used for the thrilling seige of Babylon.

When the Nazarene Himself is seen in the streets of Jerusalem there is the visualization, in reverent artistry of an actual Savior of mankind--often surpassing in beauty or in effectiveness some of the world's most famed paintings of incidents at the time of Christ. Then again the tumult attending the massacre of St. Bartholomew is set forth with the skill of a master to effects, and all in surroundings that suggest the actual period. The siege of the walls of Babylon, and of the city itself, with tremendous instruments of ancient warfare to attack the walls, and with struggling minions falling under the blow of swords, perishing by fire or going to death in the toppling and falling of lofty towers, is the achievement of one who has done big things in a big way.

Then there is the story of today, with a man brought to the gallows for a crime he did not commit and saved only through the timely intervention of a Governor, sought by the coonfessed murderess in a automobile and caught, in the nick of time, as he sat in the observation car of an express train overtaken by the motor car.

Over 125,000 people took part in "Intolerance", quite the largest cast ever assembled for any stage production. Some of this country's most prominent film stars have the leading roles among them, Mae Marsh, Miriam Cooper, Lillian Gish, Constance Talmadge, Seena Owen, Margery Wilson, Bessie Love, Robert Harron, Elmer Clifton, Alfred Paget, Walter Long and Tully Marshall.

Seats on sale at Hay's Bakery, Tecumseh, Phone 99, mail orders now. Prices matinee .50, .75, and $1.00 night .50, .75, $1.00 and $1.50.

HOUSE STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

Ligrtning plays strange freaks as was shown when it struck the house of Mrs. Mary Ives last Friday. It first went through a conductor pipe then into the house, through two rooms into the bath room and then out and into the cistern. In its course it scorched some clothing, burned the back and seat out of a chair and occupied at the time. The marvel ing a pane of glass as it made its exit. Mrs. Ives was up to her cottage at the lake and the house was unoccupied at the time the marvel was was that it was not burned to the ground.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Tuesday May 15th being the 10th birthday of Miss Helen Page, 15 little schoolmates were entertained at her home to help her celebrate the occasion. The afternoon was spent very pleasantly with games and music. She received many pretty presents from her friends and was a very happy young lady.

A three course supper was served and her guests wished her many happy returns of the day and hoped they might help her to celerbate the event again.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Saginaw Silo

is shown by the farmer who raises more stock or dairy products. Many farmers are now planting for next winter's feeding, planning for feeding more silage; planning to have less pasture and more fields for grain raising.

The best way to produce more feed is to erect a SAGINAW REDWOOD FRAME SILO.

New financial arrangements have been recently made so every farmer can erect a Saginaw Silo and pay for it out of its savings, and so produce one third more feed.

Bacon Economy

As we told you most Bacons contain an excess of salt.

They require to be freshened before being cooked.

These Bacons cost less per pound than ours, but when you figure on this salt at 40c a pound, there is a different story to tell.

The beauty of our Bacon is that there is not the least bit of waste about it.

In a pound of it there are 16 ounces that can be eaten.

We would be glad to have you try the brand we handle

We think you would agree with us that it is a superior article.

C. M. Gilbert.

To adequately describe this awe-inspiring production is an impossibility. Eminent writers have devoted columns of newspaper and magazine space in an attempt to picture its magnitude and grandeur, its marvelous spectacular effects, and acknowledge their inability to do the work justice. The reproduction of ancient Babylon, which is but one-fourth of the wonders of "Intolerance," it is said, makes a four-ring circus seem small and commonplace entertainment. To tell you that Belshazzar's gorgeous banquet hall is a mile long and thronged with thousands of beautiful girls in diaphanous oriental draperies, gives no conception of that lavish scene. In order to realize what it comprises, you must see

T. R. WILL CONTINUE WORK

Colonel Also to Serve In Liberty Loan Campaign.

New York, May 21.—Asserting that the Roosevelt division would have been ready to sail for France if it had been accepted when first offered, Colonel Roosevelt declined to direct comment on President Wilson's refusal to designate him as leader of a volunteer army.

"As a good American I shall continue to work for recruiting and then success of the liberty loan," said the colonel. Roosevelt expressed great confidence in General Pershing as leader of the first American contingent to go to France.

7,000,000 DIE IN WAR SO FAR

British Minister Estimates Casualties at More Than 45,000,000.

London, May 21.—The number of men killed in the war thus far was estimated at 7,000,000 by Arthur Henderson, member of the war council, in an address at Richmond.

He estimated the total casualties of the war to be in excess of the population of the United Kingdom. (The population of the United Kingdom, according to the census of 1911, was 45,370,530.)

BIGGEST BUDGET IS PASSED

Senate by Viva Voce Vote Accepts $3,342,300 War Measure.

Washington, May 21.—The largest appropriation bill in American history—the war budget measure carrying $3,342,300,000, including $750,000,000 for American merchant ships—was passed by the senate by viva voce vote.

Appropriations carrying many millions of dollars were agreed to by the senate with little or no discussion and with only a few senators in the chamber.

Bait For Fishing.

A fish hasn't a nose, but it can smell. Recent experiments have proved this. Anglers have laid so much stress on the need of exciting a fish's interest by the look of food that the effect of scent has been overlooked. A shark will bite at a hook containing a piece of fat pork, although the pork does not look like any kind of fish that swims in the sea.

It may be heresy in angling to suggest that a "fly" should smell like a fly. These scientific experiments show how large a part smell plays in the food pursuit of fish. Bait, such as small crabs, was found and eaten by the fishes two or three times as rapidly when the shells were broken. Bait placed inside a gauze bag was smelled within three minutes of being lowered in the water, and almost at the same time all the fishes began nibbling at the bag. When cotton was stuffed into its so called "nostrils" the dogfish would seldom observe the food that came near them.—Chicago Herald.

Other People's Money.

In handling other people's money the principal must be kept intact. If, as a trustee, those to whom you are responsible insist upon an income which you in your heart know cannot be obtained without taking some slight chance, give up the trust without hesitation, says World's Work. There is no more bitter experience through which an honest trustee or executor can pass than the rendering of an accounting for lost or depleted trust. No reason or excuse can weigh for an instant against the actual result which he faces. A single slip in the handling of funds like this may doom all future generations of that family to lives of poverty. This is the greatest responsibility ever laid upon a trustee, an executor, a banker or an adviser, and no honest man should assume it unless he is prepared to endure for the sake of the future all the criticism that may center upon him on account of extreme conservatism in the present.

Altered War Words.

An examination of modern military terms reveals the fact that very few of them possess the meaning originally assigned to them. Munitions, for example, in ancient times signified not only the materials of warfare, but also the fixed defenses of an army. Thus the translators of the authorized version of the Bible use the phrase "munitions of rocks" to translate "impregnable rock fortresses," and the defending army is charged to "keep the munitions" when the meaning is "guard the fortresses." Carriage is another word with a changed meaning. In Acts appears the phrase "We took up our carriages." It is one Greek word meaning "having packed up," and the Geneva version (1557) has "we trussed up our fardels." In those days the word's meaning was "something carried," not as now, "something that carries."—London Chronicle.

Pay Bills Promptly.

If you pay bills promptly the man you owe will be inclined to pay his debts at once. There's an old saying that "those who go borrowing go sorrowing." You'll never contract the habit of running into debt if you meet your obligations when they are due. Paying up makes for business efficiency. There are some men rated wealthy who find it hard to get credit. Other men with nothing often can borrow vast sums. Their credit is good. They always meet their obligations. You have heard it said, "I'd sooner take that man's word than another man's bond." Be one of these men with the word. Try paying your bills promptly and see how it works.

Two Classes of Debts.

"Avoid useless and unnecessary debt as you would a pestilence," advises a successful financier. "There are two classes of debts. One is constructive credit, and the other is a destructive credit. On one hand a farmer or business man may borrow to buy more land, more stock, build improvements. On the other hand, borrowing may be done simply to buy an automobile or to spend in some way that the investment itself will not pay back the loan."

Keeping Late Hours.

"Life on the farm is not what it used to be."

"How is that?"

"When a farmer motors into town every night to attend a theater you can't expect him to get up at daybreak."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Typewriter Knowledge.

"Look at this letter," said the exasperated man to his blond typewriter. "Every word in it that should have two 'p's' you've only put one."

"Well, sir," said the girl timidly, "there's only one 'p' on the keyboard."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Both Sweepers.

"Where's your father, boy?" asked the gentlemanly agent.

"Sweepin' the horizon," replied the astronomer's son.

"And your mother—where is she?"

"She's out sweeping the backyard."—Pearson's Weekly.

Valuations.

"You can't judge things by what they cost."

"True enough. An artificial limb is very expensive, and a real leg you get free."—Washington Star.

The Other Way.

"What on earth's the matter? Cut yourself while shaving?"

"No-o. I should say that I shaved myself while cutting."

Creditors have better memories than debtors.—Franklin.

Fissures In the Rockies.

In some of the high plateaus or mesas of the Rocky mountains there are to be found a short distance from the edge cracks or fissures not more than four feet wide and often as much as eighty feet deep. During the terrific blizzards that rage in the winter these crevices are filled to the level, and cattle and horses which are not acquainted with the country frequently drop into them, their struggles only causing them to sink deeper and deeper. The cracks, into which the sun never penetrates, are like refrigerators, and the hapless brutes when death has come to their relief become to all intents and purposes mummies.

Elite.

"Father," said little Johnnie, accepting his daily allowance, "I wish you wouldn't hand that nickel in such a horribly patronizing manner. Ostentatious giving is exceedingly bourgeois."—Epworth Herald.

New Zealand is said to possess alkaline thermal waters double the strength of the famous waters of Vichy and iodine waters stronger than any met with in the old world.

MAJOR A. P. GARDNER

He Quits Congress to Join the U. S. Army.

Major Gardner, son-in-law of Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, has had to relinquish his seat in the house because he has been ordered to duty as a reserve officer and assigned to the staff of Major General Wood at Charleston, S. C. He was for many years a captain and has been a hot fighter in congress for preparedness.

Don't Cross Your Legs.

"Every time a man crosses his legs he gives his heart that much extra work to do," says William Muldoon. "You know what happens to a stream of water when you squeeze the garden hose."

This widely known physical instructor attaches great importance to proper breathing. He told me of the trouble he had in making John L. Sullivan breathe properly, and he dwelt on the harm that numbers of Americans do themselves (witness the prevalence of catarrhal affections) by the bad habit of mouth breathing.

"Keep your mouths shut. Breathe through your nostrils," he is always saying to his patients.

If the nostrils are stopped up he explains how they may be made to function properly by simple cleansing ablutions, and he insists that these be performed regularly.

"We need filtered air just as we need filtered water, and the nose is our filter. You boys want to remember that."—Exchange.

Trees In Paris.

Paris maintains a municipal nursery where expert care and attention are given young trees. The forestry department of the city government is as well organized as the public health or street cleaning department, and its staff is selected carefully.

From the day it is set out in a public square or street each tree bears a distinct identity of its own and is the special ward of an expert gardener. Men who tend the trees have regular routes like lamplighters or policemen.

Every tree is numbered, and a record of its development and its condition is kept—its state of health, the dates on which trimming or pruning is necessary and all other details.

The height of each tree must bear a harmonious relation to second and third story windows, and, more important, its position so far as heat, light and wind exercise influences upon it, is studied.—Kansas City Journal.

Keep the Machine In Repair.

Think for a moment. A man who would no more run his motorcar on deflated tires or with sand in the gear box than he would use sulphuric acid for motive power will keep going right on at his business when the tread of his own physical mechanism is flattening out and the gear box of his mind is filling with the wrong kind of grit. The impatient optimism that shakes off a vague oppression with the assurance "I'll be all right tomorrow" has had as much to do with lengthening out the list of bankrupts as any other thing that could be named. You can't correct a bad condition by persisting in the things that cause it. You will only make it worse. You can easily enough, if you are obstinate enough, make it so much worse that it will "be the death of you," or, anyway, put you out of business.

Catalogue Your Books.

Have you ever made an alphabetical list of the books in your library?

Why not do it?

Either by title or author, but better by both.

A blank book will answer, but cards are better for the purpose.

It is a great joy to watch the number grow and the only practical way to know just what you have on your own shelves.

Thoreau called books "the treasured wealth of the world," and it were well for us to know at least how much of this treasure we possess.—Exchange.

Why Plates Are Round.

All our plates are circular in shape. Now, a square or oval plate would be just as convenient. Is there any reason why plates should be of their present shape? It seems that if we dip into the far past we may discover the cause. Our remote ancestors ate their food off flat pieces of wood cut from a tree trunk. The tree trunk being cylindrical in shape, the earliest plates were therefore roughly circular, and the shape has been used ever since.

Falls 18 Feet on Head.

Huntington, Ind., May 21.—George Gordon, a painter, suffered serious injuries at the A. C. Wilkerson house here when he fell eighteen feet from a scaffold to a cement sidewalk, alighting on his head.

Fires Damage Engine Rooms.

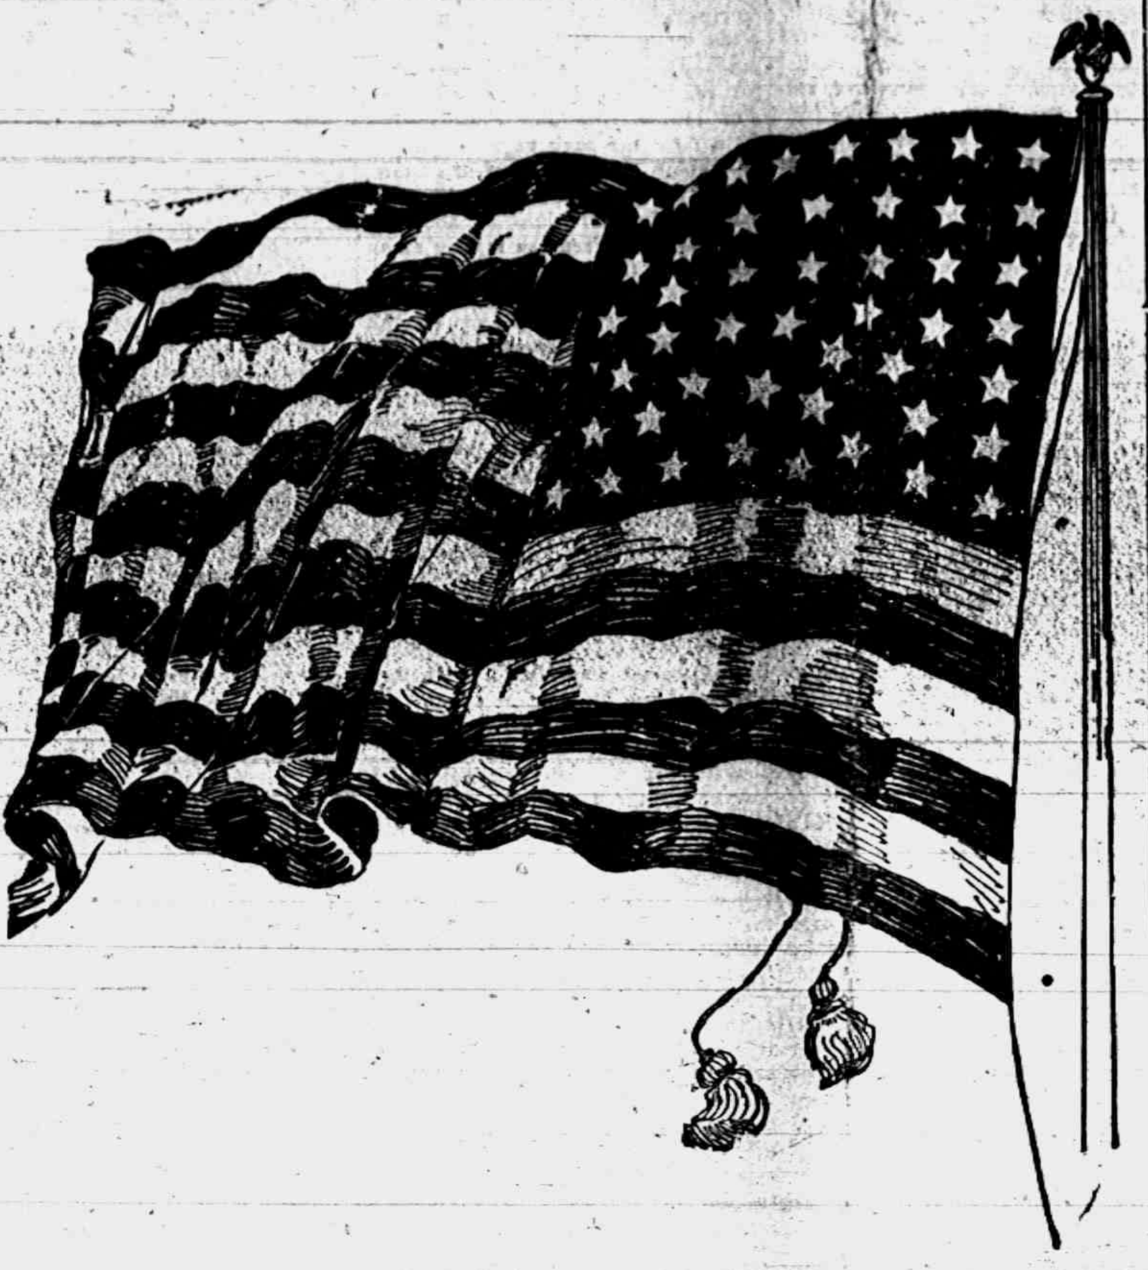
PROHIBITION FIGHT IS LOOMING OVER FOOD

Several Amendments to Bill Forecast in Senate.

WASHINGTON — Efforts to add a prohibition amendment to the food control bill were forecast by several amendments introduced in the senate proposing various plans to curtail manufacture of intoxicating beverages during the war.

Senator Thompson of Kansas introduced the Webb bill, now pending in the house, to prohibit use of foodstuffs for making liquor. Senator Cummins of Iowa introduced a similar amendment and Senator Jones of Washington offered another authorizing the President to commandeer present supplies of liquor and take over liquor manufacturing plants.

Another resolution amendment by Senator Wadsworth of New York would make unlawful the manufacture of distilled spirits during the war, except for industrial, mechanical, sacramental and scientific purposes, and limit alcohol content of beer and other malt liquors to four per cent.



It's your Flag and my Flag,
Free to every breeze;
Let never foreign despots brag,
They'll drive us from the seas.
Give them to know, if they should dare
To desecrate or bind it,
The Old Flag's pretty hard to scare,
With loyal sons behind it.

A GENERAL SURVEY OF THE WAR.

Wednesday, May 16.—As a result of the offensive begun on May 15 the Italian thus far have captured 3,375 prisoners, a mountain battery and thirty machine guns. The Italians have captured the wooded heights on the east bank of the Isonzo, north of Gorizia. They have forced a passage of the river between Loga and Bombrez, capturing the latter village. In the center of the field attack the villages of Zagora and Sacomila were taken by the Italians.

Heavy losse were inflicted on the German troops, which were sent against the British between Gavrelle and the Scarpe river. The British advance posts were forced back by the Germans, but the latter were driven out of the ground they had gained almost immediately.

Thursday, May 17.—British troops completed the capture of the village of Bullecourt, according to the announcement from the war office.

The battle for possession of Bullecourt has been going on with only brief interruptions for two full weeks, having been commenced on May 3.

Friday, May 18.—British heavy artillery batteries are co-operating with the Italian army in the Italian offensive against the Austrians on the Julian front.

Austro-Hungarian prisoners taken by the Italians in their offensive on the Julian front are known to number 6,432, including 143 officers.

Japanese soldiers are fighting on the west front in France, and Japanese warships have been added to the cordon about French ports to guard against submarines.

The British transport Cameronia has been sunk. One hundred and forty men on board are missing.

Saturday, May 19.—The apparent cessation of all except German counter attacks on the fighting front of France has centered interest on the offensive which the Italians have launched with Triest as its goal. General Cadorna's troops have reached the crest of Hill 652 in the Vodice, the key to the Austrian defenses north of Monte Santo.

On account of the strategic importance of Hill 652, the Austrians made repeated counter attacks in an attempt to push back the Italian forces.

Sunday, May 20.—British troops retained their grip on the Hindenburg line, repulsing numerous counter attacks. The latest efforts of General Haig netted ground on a front of more than a mile between Bullecourt and Fontaine-les-Croiseles. Heavy losses were inflicted on the Germans in their attempts to regain the lost positions.

The pressure which the Italians are exerting against the Austrian positions beyond Gorizia has compelled a further enemy withdrawal and General Cadorna's troops have extended their positions on Hill 652 on the Julian front.

The Petrograd statement says that German troops attacked Russian positions on the northern end of the western front east of Kalncem, but were repulsed. Teuton forces also attempted an assault on Russian trenches east of Koverka, on the Roumanian front, but the attack failed.

U. S. SHIP GUN KILLS 2 NURSES

Reality of War Is Brought to Chicago Homes.

VICTIMS ARE FROM LAKE CITY

Ammunition Explosion Fatal to Red Cross Members—Third Is Injured. Accident Causes Hints That U. S. Is Getting Inferior Munitions—Victims on [illegible]

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Two American Red Cross nurses were killed and another seriously injured when a six inch shell, fired in target practice on an armed American steamship exploded, prematurely. A score or more others standing nearby had a miraculous escape.

The dead: Mrs. Edith Ayers, thirty-seven, of 2112 Sedgewick street, Chicago; Miss Helen Burnett Woods, of 1144 Sherman avenue, Evanston, Ill. Both were killed instantly by shell fragments.

Miss Emma Natzen, of Columbus, Neb., was severely wounded.

The steamship, carrying the members of the Red Cross base hospital No. 12, recruited at Northwestern university, Chicago, en route for France, was still in American territorial waters when the accident occurred. She returned to an Atlantic port with her flag at half mast. Miss Matzen was hurried to a hospital. She may recover. The bodies of her two companions were sent to Chicago for burial. The coffins were draped in the stars and stripes.

A rigid investigation by the naval board began immediately upon the vessel's return to port. The inquiry will center chiefly on the origin of the ammunition.

The vessel will not put to sea until a fresh supply of ammunition has been taken aboard and repairs have been made to the gun.

Ammunition Scandal Hinted.

Reports are current that for some time the navy department's suspicion has been kept alive by statements from qualified men that the ammunition furnished American armed liners is far below the standard demanded by the government.

A fragment of the brass shell casing penetrated Mrs. Ayers' brain and another pierced the heart of Miss Woods. Mrs. Ayer was a graduate of Cook County hospital, and Miss Woods had received a diploma from the Illinois Training School for Nurses. Miss Matzen was struck by smaller pieces of brass. All three were sitting in deck chairs, about 200 feet from the vessel's stern.

The hospital unit consisted of sixty-five nurses, twenty-five doctors and 153 ambulance drivers and stretcher bearers. They were the first passengers to be carried on the liner in more than a year.

MASSACRE OF JEWS FEARED

Action of Turk Authorities Causing Apprehension in Palestine.

STOCKHOLM, SWE. — Telegrams from the Jewish societies in Palestine received by the secretarial department of the socialist conference here say a fresh massacre of Palestine Jews, resembling the Armenian massacres, is threatened, and appeals are made to the socialists of all countries.

The messages say the Turkish government has given orders for the evacuation of Palestine by the Jewish population and that the execution of these measures are being carried out with increasing severity. The orders, it is said, are aimed at the Jews in Judea and Jerusalem and later in Galilee.

Registration Hours 7 a. m. to 9 p. m.

ATLANTA HIT BY 5 MILLION FIRE

10,000 People Are Homeless, 36 Blocks Burn.

ROOKIES AID IN FLAME FIGHT

Fires Break Out in Different Parts of City—Negro Quarter First to Burn. Flames in Another Section Start and Are Beyond Control Before Fire Fighters Arrive.

ATLANTA, GA. — Ten thousand persons were made homeless and thirty-six closely built city blocks are in ruins, the result of disastrous fires which swept this city for nine hours, first through the negro sections and then to the palatial residences in the fashionable Ponce de Leon section. Dynamite was resorted to time and again to check the path of the flames and not until late at night was the fire practically gotten under control.

Loss Put at $5,000,000.

National guardsmen from Camp McPherson are on guard in the whole fire-swept regions. Looters will be dealt with by firm hand. The loss is estimated by insurance men at $5,000,000.

Although there were scores of minor injuries, no one was fatally hurt as the result of the fires.

The fires started, or at least one of them, at 10:30 o'clock in the morning. The fires were sweeping a block on East Fair street and in the west end. They were demanding the efforts of the city's entire appartus. The third alarm came that a fire was raging in the block bounded by Decatur, Fort, Hilliard street and Edgewood avenue. It was impossible for the firemen in the other sections to reach the third fire in time to prevent its spreading.

Aid was summoned from other cities. In special trains and in fast automobiles, firemen from nearby cities came to help the Atlanta fighters. The flames, shooting skyward and catching on nearby buildings, began to get away from the fighters. On Edgewood avenue it jumped across the street to sun dried roofs of cottages. Every shingle that caught a spark burst into flames. The fire spread northward and eastward aided by a high wind.

Flames Deceive Firemen.

The firemen were also hampered by an odd trick of fate. The flames leaped over the houses on the edge of blocks and caught houses in the middle. This made the firemen's work most difficult and helped the spread of flames. Reaching northward, the flames swept out Hilliard and Houston streets, licking their way through negro dwellings toward the neighborhoods where more substantial residences stood.

A path two blocks wide was cut across Auburn avenue and onward it swept, travelling rapidly toward Irwin street. There is was checked but only temporarily. It quickly leaped across the intervening space into another block and came on unchecked north upon Houston street.

Trees, telephone poles, fences and everything in the path of the flames began to go.

The residence of W. F. Slaton, brother of the former governor was among those in the path of the flames.

Lexington, Ky., Fire Loss $600,000.

LEXINGTON, KY. — Fire destroyed property with an estimated value of $600,000 here. It originated in a livery stable and within four hours had consumed the larger part of the property in the central business district bounded by Upper, Church, Short and Limestone streets.

BANK BLASTED, $1,200 GONE

Cracksmen Blow Safe at Area, Ill., While Town Remains Asleep.

CHICAGO, ILL. — Bank robbers blew the safe of the Citizens' State bank at Area, Ill., sixteen miles northwest of Chicago, on the Soo Line railroad and escaped with $1,200. The robbery was discovered by a farmer who saw the door of the bank opened when he passed at 6 o'clock in the morning.

Although the robbers had evidently used five charges of nitroglycerin in forcing the door of the safe, no one in the village heard the explosions, as far as the police could ascertain. They gained entrance to the bank by forcing a rear door.

Big Blow Dealt to Hindenburg.

LONDON, ENG. — The entire Hindenburg line, from the east of Bullecourt to Arras, excepting 2,000 yards of trenches west of the former place, is now held by the British, according to the official announcement of the war office. Gains made recently north of Bullecourt have consolidated the holdings of the British.

Urges Farmers to Buy Liberty Bonds.

DES MOINES, IA. — To the American farmer who, notwithstanding high prices for his products, has so far subscribed proportionately little to the $2,000,000,000 liberty loan, Secretary of the Treasury W. G. McAdoo, here, appealed to show patriotism and "buy a bond."

BALFOUR TRIP CALLED OFF

Visit to Chicago and Middle West Is Halted by Business.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Secretary of State Lansing has cancelled the plans of the Right Hon. Arthur James Balfour and numbers of the British mission to visit Chicago and the middle west. He has requested that the mission remain in Washington until the last possible moment before their visit to Canada and their final departure for home to consider immediate business connected with the preparations of the United States for war and for that dispatch of troops to the battlefields of France.

The British mission, with the stirring effect of the visit of General Joffre and Minister Viviani, of the French mission, to the great middle west were anxious to traverse the same route, but the courtesy due to the demands of Mr. Lansing will not prmit them to leave Washington until they are in duty bound to make their promised visit to Canada.

The President of the United States has issued a proclamation calling upon such persons 21 years of age and under 31 years of age to present themselves for registration on the 5th of June. Governor Sleeper has set aside the day in Michigan for a holiday and commands all men between the above ages to obey the call and present themselves upon the date named, at the place and before the officials to be designated in each polling precinct for registering and answering such questions as may be put to them touching their liability for military service to the United States.

The Governor also appoints the mayor of each city, president of each village and the supervisor of each township as chairmen of their respective communities to head committees and to prepare such form of celebration as may be deemed suitable for the observance of the day of registration.

It has been said that the people of this community are not awake to their responsibilities in this war and that they are not as patriotic as they should be. It may be true to a certain measure, but not entirely so. The calls for service have been so conflicting and hurried throughout the country that people are at a loss to know just what is expected of them. It is shown in our Red Cross work. Tecumseh people have responded nobly to Red Cross and our women are ready to begin work and every member is ready to do what they can to serve, but still no orders have been received. The membership throughout the country is now ahead of the organization and much still remains for the officers and heads of the departments to do before everything is running smoothly.

So it is with other opportunities for service. We believe Tecumseh people are patriotic and are prepared to serve when the call comes.

All men between the ages of 21 and 31 years will be required to register, in fact, are compelled to register. Those who are drawn from the registration, if fit for service, will be compelled to serve. There will be no dodging. The Government means business and whoever is called must join his colors. We don't look for any slackers in Tecumseh and we feel sure that we will be proud of our young men from Tecumseh.

The registration here will be held at the council building all day Tuesday, June 5th. The board will consist of the following: John F. Schreder, Faron S. Andeson, William Fisher, Leon Rosacran.

DECORATION DAY

Will Be Fittingly Observed in Tecumseh

Hon. Washington Gardner Will Deliver the Oration at the Opera House

This year, with the nation at war and every branch of the government working at fever heat in preparation for action, more than usual interest centers on Decoration Day.

Our boys will be required to register on June 5th and by a system of drawing a certain proportion of them will be called into service for Uncle Sam. When they don their uniforms and march away it will bring to us with a great deal of force what this war really means. During the '60s this community furnished its full quota and it will do its full duty when the call comes.

Our thoughts will be with the boys of the '60's next Wednesday, with the boys who so gallantly defended the cause of the Union. Most of them have answered the final call and many of them are sleeping at Brookside. Let everyone honor their memory and turn out to make Decoration Day in Tecumseh a day long to be remembered.

The exercises at the Opera House will commence at 1:30. Hon. Washington Gardner, ex-congressman from Michigan and past commander of the National G. A. R., will be the speaker of the day. Let Tecumseh people show their patriotism by turning out en masse to give our distinguished guest a royal welcome. The Opera House should be crowded to the doors. An invitation has been extended to the various lodges and organizations to attend. The only acceptances now in the hands of the chairman are from the K. of P. and Rebekah lodges but it is hoped the others will fall into line afterwards for the march to the cemetery.

The parade will form at the close of the exercises and, headed by the Adrian fife and drum corps, will march to the cemetery where the closing exercises will take place on the soldiers' lot. A committee has been appointed to take care of decorating the graves of our departed soldiers.

Invocation—Dr. W. B. Hartzog
Song—Mrs. Grace Heck Moore
Recitation—Miss Anna Ferguson
Song—Harold Lowry
Lincoln's Gettysburg Address — Rev. W. A. Rex
Memorial Address—Hon. Washington Gardner
Song—Fred Dickinson

COMMENCEMENT DAY

Commencement Day will soon be here when the class of 1917 will make their bow to the public and then take their places among the "has beens" of T. H. S. On the very threshold of practical life the graduates are about to take their places in the world's work. The years of preparation just closing seem insignificant when compared with the tasks ahead. It is the time when the well wishes of parents and friends count much in easing the way. Many a wish or piece of advice given to the graduate is carried deep in the heart, to bear fruit in after years and to be recalled in fond and happy association later. So let each and everyone give a word of good cheer and encouragement to these young friends who are about to start out in a new field, in the journey of life which lies before them.

Blum, Gladys Brown.

SURPRISED

The members of the M. E. Sunday school planned a surprise of Dr. E. O. Brown for Tuesday night, meeting for that purpose in the parlors of the church.

A bountiful potluck supper was served and a short program given. All joined in singing "America." Margaret Turner then gave a very fine recitation, "Barbara Fritchie", She was followed by a trombone selection by Wilfred Waldron accompanied by Mrs. Waldron.

It being the birthday of Dr. Brown he was presented with a gold watch fob by Supt. A. Taylor, and made a very feeling response.

This also being the birthday of Mrs. Lyman Howe and Arthur Harding, they were each presented with a bouquet of flowers and voiced their thanks in a very pleasing manner.

Dr. Brown is the retiring superintendent of the Sunday school having served in that position for nine years.

The occasion was a very interesting and pleasant one to the large number in attendance.

HORATIO KEYSER REMEMBERS

Horatio Keysor received a call Sunday from Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bassett and Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Green of Coldwater. The ladies were seeking information of their father, Ives G. Miles who years ago lived on what is now called the Merritt Conklin farm, northwest of town. They visited the cemetery taking Mr. Keysor with them who located the lot and gave them quite a little information of their father's early life. They were just young girls when they left Tecumseh and knew but little of the early history of their family. Despite his 93 years Mr. Keyser has a keen mind and a good memory and was an old neighbor of Mr. Miles.

The committee is in receipt of instructions from headquarters explaining that the Belgian children are in dire need of food until the Government loan is available. If subscriptions are stopped now, it will mean that the Belgian children will starve for one month. All those who have pledged monthly contributions or donations are strongly urged to pay for May and June.

If the children are without food for one month and dead or dying of hunger, the government money will be of little help.

Therefore, all who have promised, please settle for May and June and save Belgium, the most heroic land on earth from a month of dread misery.

All contributions will also be gratefully accepted by members of the committee.

Mrs. R. N. Lowe, Sec.

Belva Lockwood Is Dead.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Miss Belva Lockwood, the only woman who was ever a candidate for president of the United States, died at a local hospital. MRS. CHAS. STEVENSON

When Chas. Stevenson went home to his dinner Thursday noon, he found his wife unconscious upon the floor, she having suffered a stroke of paralysis. Her condition at last reports was considered very serious with small hope of her recovery.

Since writing the above the word comes that Mrs. Stevenson passed away at 11:30 today. She never rallied from the attack.

She leaves her husband and two sons, Will of Toledo and Lafayette of Tecumseh, also two brothers, Thos. and Ed Holdway of Tecumseh to mourn her sudden death.

As we go to press no arrangements have been made for the funeral.

PATRIOTIC GATHERING

Every Old Soldier Especially Invited.

A cordial invitation is extended to all loyal citizens to gather at the home grounds of H. W. Stevens corner Kilbuck and Oneida streets on May 30, 1917, after all exercises and decorations ceremonies are over, about 4 o'clock, for the purpose of raising a flag staff, from which will float Old Glory.

A program suitable for the occasion will be given. This effort on the part of Mr. Stevens is to instill more loyalty, more patriotism, more love for country and home in the hearts of our young men who may soon be called to defend the world's great interest, as did the boys in 61-65.

A Battalion of young men and ladies will form a Brigade and with [illegible] of P[illegible] in uniform will be led by an old fashioned fife and drum band. The ladies of the Red Cross will hold head quarters on ground especially prepared for them, hoping that many will avail themselves of this opportunity to become members or to contribute to this great cause of charity.

"INTOLERANCE"

Seats are now on sale at Hay's bakery for D. W. Griffith's four-fold spectacle "Intolerance," which is afternoon and evening.

This amazing production is said to be more than the world's greatest theatrical production; in every way it is the biggest art-work of any descripton ever created. In comparison with those gigantic structures reared by Mr. Griffith in his resuscitation of Ancient Babylon, the mighty walls, the temple of Bel, and the gorgeous palace of Belshazzar, the most imposing structures of New York or any other modern city seem unimportant. Unparalled in battle scenes is the ferocious and thrilling attack upon Babylon by the great Cyrus and his hordes of mail-clad warriors.

In this production D. W. Griffith tells four separate, complete and original human stories; Ancient Babylon, the Holy Land, Medieval Paris and an American city of the present are the scenes of the stories. A symphony orchestra and a chorus of voices are features of the spectacle's presentation. The opportunity to view what has been the present season's most important theatrical production is one that our patrons will enjoy.

THE CIRCUS ZOO

Wonderfull Menagerie Fonud at the Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus

One of the things in which the Carl Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus has always excelled is in its menagerie. Carl Hagenbeck, the noted German animal man, was the first person who ever succeeded in breaking and subduing wild animals for a public performance. He startled the capitals of Europe half a century ago with his intelligent, yet man-eating beasts. At each world's fair that has been held in the United States in the past forty years the Carl Hagenbeck wild animals have always furnished the stellar attraction.

So much interest was aroused at the St. Louis World's Fair in 1904 that the Carl Hagenbeck shows were combined with the great Wallace Circus. At first the idea looked impossible, because of their size. Each show had already reached the state that it required the efforts of only the most skilled circus officials to handle. The greatest problem was the one involved in the transportation tion. A train one mile in length, was built and divided into three sections. In this way the obstacle of moving the great institution from city to city was solved.

Yet, each year since the consolidation of the shows, the Carl Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus has grown. All of the wild animals with the show are under the direction of the Hagenbecks. Only the choicest specimens are seen, others are disposed to smaller circuses and zoos. The Hagenbeck-farm, is the world's biggest animal headquarters. As fast as rare and costly specimens are captured by the Hagenbeck hunters, scatered throughout the world, they are sent to their own show the Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus.

But the Hagenbeck animals only form one department of the combined shows. The Great Wallace Circus still excels as the "Highest class circus in the world". The performance is given in three rings and two elevated stages. More than 400 noted artists that represent almost every country on the globe will be seen with the Carl Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus in Adrian, on Thursday, May 31.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

Saginaw Silo

True Patriotism

is shown by the farmer who raises more stock or dairy products. Many farmers are now planting for next winter's feeding, planning for feeding more silage; planning to have less pasture and more fields for grain raising.

The best way to produce more feed is to erect a SAGINAW REDWOOD FRAME SILO.

New financial arrangements have been recently made so every farmer can erect a Saginaw Silo and pay for it out of its savings, and so produce one third more feed.

Don't delay in asking about this "Easy Pay Plan." WHAT makes a good corn yield? Well, here is what a veteran corn grower says on this point: "Even planting of good seed at the right depth, the same number of kernels in each hill, will do more to increase the corn crop on most any sort of soil than anything else that could be done."

For this—nothing is better than an International corn planter. It has a very simple variable drop, by means of which 2, 3 or 4 kernels can be planted in every hill. It also has a foot drop which enables the driver to space accurately the rows at the ends of the field. Another simple change, and it drills the seed in at distances ranging from 6 to 32½ inches, and it lasts because it is made of steel.

These are only a few of the features that make farmers like International corn planters. We can show you several more if you will just drop in and see the sample we have set up. Made in five styles—own the style that suits you.

Bacon Economy

As we told you most Bacons contain an excess of salt.

They require to be freshened before being cooked.

[illegible] Bacons cost less per pound than ours, but when you figure on this salt at 40c a pound, there is a different story to tell.

The beauty of our Bacon is that there is not the least bit of waste about it.

In a pound of it there are 16 ounces that can be eaten.

We would be glad to have you try the brand we handle.

We think you would agree with us that it is a superior article.

A THOROUGH TEST

One To Convince the Most Skeptical Tecumseh Reader.

The test of time is the test that counts.

The following case is typical.

Tecumseh residents should be convinced.

The testimony is confirmed—the proof complete.

Testimony like this cannot be ignored.

Mrs. Alice Burrough, W. Pottawatamie St., Tecumseh, says: "I sometimes ached all over and had such tired feelings that my energy seemed all gone. My Kidneys didn't act regularly and at times my back ached. I knew others who had been helped by using Doan's Kidney Pills, so I got some at Wright & Son's Drug store. In a few weeks, I felt much better and finally I was free from the aches and pains. I was benefited in every way." (Statement given in December, 1908).

AGAIN PRAISES DOAN'S

On July 27, 1916, Mrs. Burrough said: "I am always glad to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills, for they are good medicine. They cured me of my kidney trouble."

10,000,000 ARE IN DRAFT LIMITS

Single Men Within Age Number 5,372,400.

ESTIMATED BY LAST CENSUS

Seven Cardinal Registry Points Are Emphasized by Government—No Matter Whether Sick of Well, Sound or Unsound, Married or Single, All Must Register.

Washington, May 28.—By a census bureau estimate classifying the more than 10,000,000 men within the military draft age limit, the number of single men is placed at 5,372,400, and the number of married men at 4,545,900.

The estimate was prepared on a basis of a normal increase in population since the 1910 census, and on the assumption that the ratio between married and single men is the same as at that time.

The classification by chief occupations is given as follows: Agriculture, forestry and animal husbandry, 2,864,000; manufacturing and mechanical industries, 3,036,000; no gainful occupations, 500,500; transportation, 967,000; trade 1,054,000; public service, 144000; domestic and personal services, 441,000; professional service, 335,000; clerical occupations, 374,000; extraction of minerals, 364,000.

The government, it has been stated, will not exempt any particular classes of industry from conscription but will deal with cases individually. Individuals, however, whose work is considered necessary to preserve economic balance will be exempted. Nearly every line of industry, it is said, has appealed to the war department for exemption for its workers.

Some few classifications are not included in the figures.

Seven Cardinal Registry Points.

In its campaign to stimulate interest in registration, June 5, for the war army, the war department issued a memorandum emphasizing the seven cardinal points to be remembered, particularly by men between the ages of twenty-one and thirty inclusive, who will be required to register. The memorandum follows:

First. There is only ONE day for registration, June 5, 1917.

Second. Every male resident of the United States who has reached his twenty-first and has not reached his thirty-first birthday MUST register on the day set, June 5, 1917. The only exemptions are persons in the military or naval service of the United States, which includes all officers and enlisted men of the regular army, the regular army reserve, the officers' reserve corps, the enlisted reserve corps, the national guard and national guard reserve, recognized by the militia bureau of the war department; the navy, the marine corps, the coast guard and the naval militia, the naval reserve force; the marine corps reserve and the national volunteers, recognized by the navy department.

Third. Registration is distinct from draft. No matter what just claim you have for exemption, you must register.

Register Public Duty.

Fourth. Registration is a public DUTY. For those not responsive to the sense of this duty, the penalty of imprisonment, not fine, is provided in the draft act.

Fifth. Those who through sickness shall be unable to register should cause a representative to apply to the county or city clerk for a copy of the registration card. The clerk will give instructions as to how this card should be filled out. The card should then be mailed by the sick person, or delivered by his agent, to the registrar of his homed istrict. The sick person will inclose a self-addressed stamped envelope for the return to him of his registration certificate.

Sixth. Any person who expects to be absent from his voting precinct on registration day should apply as soon as practicable for a registration card to the county clerk of the county where he may be stopping, or if he is in a city of over 3,000, to the city clerk. The clerk will record the answers on the card and turn it over to the abstentee. The absentee should mail this card to the registrar of his home voting precinct so that it will reach that official by registration day. A self-addressed, stamped envelope should be inclosed with the card to insure the return to the absentee of a registration certificate.

Seventh. Registration booths will be open from 7 a. m. to 9 p. m. on registration day, June 5, 1917.

Airplane and Submarine Chaser Business Urged on Manufacturers.

LANSING, May 28.

Fred Z. Pantlind, of Grand Rapids, is urging furniture and gasoline motor manufacturers to consider the immediate need for the mobilization of their resources to furnish the government with airplanes and submarine chasers.

Mr. Pantlind was the organizer of the Grand Rapids branch of the Aero club and was chiefly instrumental in obtaining money and creating interest in the flying school which was started in that city a year ago. He had organized a naval reserve there.

It was Pantlind who was first to see the possibilities of furniture factories for building airplanes. The total daily output of all the plane builders in the country is 20. Mr. Pantlind has consulted furniture and motor builders and from data thus obtained points out that Michigan alone soon could be turning out 200 planes a day.

U. S. WILL PUT CURB ON SOAPBOX ORATORS

Agitation Against Draft Within Purview of Statute.

Washington, May 28.—Soap-box orators and curb-stone agitators who don't believe the youth of the country should register in accordance with provisions of the select draft law have at last come within the official notice of Attorney General Gregory. Officers and agents of the department of justice throughout the country have been instructed to watch rigidly for any infractions of the law, either in the spirit or in letter.

Attorney General Gregory said that his attention "had just been called to the propaganda against registration" and that such action was a "plain violation of the law." The department of justice, he said, is prepared to prosecute promptly any person guilty of such conduct. His statement concludes:

"In addition to the penal provisions contained in the act which makes evasion a criminal offense, section 6 of the penal code makes it a criminal offense punishable with not more than six years imprisonment for two or more persons to conspire to 'hinder, present or delay the execution of any law of the United States.'"

A short time ago a meeting of the Lenawee County bankers was held in Adrian and at this meeting it was agreed that the banks represented should stand good for certain shipments of seed potatoes which were to be sold to our farmers.

Our two local banks were represented at this meeting and agreed to stand their share of the expense of shipping in the potatoes. They were to take orders and report the number of bushels needed, the "spuds" to be sent over from Adrian when the car arrived.

The local banks advertised the fact that they would supply farmers in this locality with seed potatoes and as a result booked orders for about 200 bushels.

The car arrived in Adrian the first of last week and our banks were told that the potatoes would be sent over Tuesday morning. The farmers were notified and came in for them, but no potatoes.

Adrian was called and they stated that through some error, the tubers were not shipped, but they would see that they were sent over.

The following morning arrived and still the potatoes were not here. Again Adrian was called and again they promised, but the potatoes were never shipped. Our local freight office took the matter up and got the same kind of promises, but Adrian still hung onto the potatoes.

When the matter was finally sifted out it was learned that two cars had arrived in Adrian. The first car was rejected because of an inferior grade but the second car was kept and sold out by the Adrian people to their own patrons and they claimed that Tecumseh's share was to come out of the first car.

Naturally our local bankers were disappointed. Our farmers were out their seed potatoes and their time was wasted running in after them. The Adrian people of course were sorry, but it couldn't have been avoided, etc.

It was a shabby trick and in the future Tecumseh people will probably look out for their own wants and take care of their own patrons without the valuable assistance of the Adrian bunch.

Now She Hates Her.

Now she hates one of her oldest friends. Yesterday she was downtown with this friend, and just before noon she said to the other lady, "Well, I am going over home and catch my car." Then the other said to her: "Well, I am going home, too. I'll go over on Main and catch mine. I am awfully glad I ran across you, and I want you to come to see me real soon." Martha said she would, and the two parted. A few minutes later Martha went into a place to get a bite of something to eat, and what do you think? Yes, there she was eating lunch. "I didn't want her to ask me to go to lunch with her," Martha explained to us after she returned from town, "but I don't see why she wanted to slip away. I don't see why she wanted to pretend that she was going home. I am sure I am able to buy my own lunch, but I want her to return those patterns she borrowed, and I never expect to set foot in her house again."—Claude Callan in Fort Worth Star-Telegraph.

MEETING TROUBLE.

Difficulties and troubles, if bravely met, make strong men and women, but endless worry and anticipation of evil cannot fail to weaken the will and the character. Laugh and be glad now. If you wait till you conquer your little world you will never laugh and be glad. It is better to live in a castle in the air than to dwell in the dungeons we too often allow our forebodings to build for us.

Homemade Cold Cream.

Here is the recipe for a homemade cold cream, the kind always used by the famous Lillian Russell:

Pure lanolin, four ounces; sweet almond oil, four ounces, spermaceti, one-half ounce; white wax, one half ounce; orange flower water, two ounces; tincture of benzoin, forty drops. Melt spermaceti and white wax in an enamel vessel, add almond oil, then lanolin. Beat constantly and add orange flower water little at a time; lastly, the benzoin, drop at a time. Beat hard till all is consistency of a light cream.

The Macgregors.

The Macgregors were forbidden to use their family name in 1603. The proscription was removed by Charles II., only to be inflicted again in the reign of William and Mary. It was not till 1822 that a royal license to use the name was granted to Sir Charles Macgregor, up to then known as "Murray." In the early years of the seventeenth century every man's hand was raised against this persecuted race, and they could be mutilated and slain with impunity.—London Spectator.

The Trouble With Alice.

Value of Vacations.

Vacations, according to the New York Medical Journal, are nature's safety valves for the relief of the high pressure resulting from efficiency. Efficiency demands that throughout working hours all the faculties be taxed to the utmost without waste of material or of energy, but if properly directed it aims at making an efficient man before an efficient product. Therefore production may not exact that the man speed up beyond his endurance.

The recent application of efficiency methods makes the vacation more than ever necessary. "The vacation," says the Medical Journal, "should be the nearest approach to the simple life. It is for this reason that the country, with all its many inconveniences, is so often chosen for the place of vacation. The vacation period allows for the absorption and elimination of the fatigue products which the system accumulated in the pressure period of the work. The longer the vacation, therefore, the better the subsequent work."

Plant For a Hanging Basket.

Indoor gardeners will be interested in watching this plant grow. It follows the habit of the strawberry in sending out runners and starting new growths at the end of the stem. The strawberry, however, has the earth to establish its new growths. This indoor plant sends out the runners groping for earth where there is none. It's called the saxifrage.

It is a favorite plant for hanging baskets. A small tuft of leaves develops at the end of each vine. From this tuft other runners are sent out, and these in turn develop more tufts. By this method the saxifrage keeps on expanding until the basket is covered with a network of vines and a blanket of leaves.

The leaves, shaped like those of the geranium, are a reddish olive color, veined in white. It requires ordinary soil and a moderate amount of water and shade.—Philadelphia North American.

Real Democracy.

Before Denmark consented to sell the Danish West Indies to the United States a plebiscite was held, and the electorate voted upon the question. The people of the United States, however, were never consulted as to whether they desired to make the purchase.

The people of England vote directly on national questions whenever parliament is dissolved, and the government "goes to the country" on nearly every matter of really vital import.

Many Americans fondly imagine that the United States is the only real democracy in the world. As a matter of fact, in Switzerland, Australia and New Zealand government is more directly responsible to the people than in the United States; Canada's government is at least equally representative as ours, while England, although nominally a constitutional monarchy, probably is more democratic than the United States.—St. Paul Dispatch.

Art and Nature.

Art is the revelation of man, and not merely that, but likewise the revelation of nature speaking through man. Art pre-exists in nature, and nature is reproduced in art. As vapors from the ocean floating landward and dissolved in rain are carried back in rivers to the ocean, so thoughts and the semblances of things that fall upon the soul of man in showers flow out again in living streams of art and lose themselves in the great ocean, which is nature. Art and nature are not, then, discordant, but ever harmoniously working in each other.—Longfellow's "Hyperion."

CONCERT IN MACON

A splendidly arranged and most successful concert was given in the Macon Presbyterian church for the benefit of the Belgian Relief Fund and the Red Cross under the able direction of Mrs. Fred Wood on Sunday evening.

Mrs. Wood and Mrs. Hodges gave several classical selections on the piano, Mrs Robert Moore sang, among others, "The Flag Song" and Miss Gertrude Miller besides playing several solos on the violin, ably accompanied the singers. Mr. Fred Dickinson and Mr Harold Lowry rounded out a most enjoyable evening with several solos and a duet.

Mrs. Jenny C. Law Hardy made the appeal on behalf of Belgium and the Red Cross.

A silver collection was taken which amounted to $28.00, $14.00 for the Red Cross and $14.00 for Belgium.

In spite of the bad weather the church was crowded with a most appreciative and enthusiastic audience which warmly applauded the performers and practically encored every number.

The church was decorated with the flags of the United States and those of her allies.

The artists were delighted with their reception and the generous response to their efforts sent them all home in a happy frame of mind.

Realizing that advanced prices of practically all commodities has made it impossible for certain employes to save money from their present earnings, the Manistee commissioners have granted increases in salary to all members of the fire department, to the city treasurer and city superintendent.

Experiencing God.

The mystics in all ages have insisted that, whether the process be named "instinct" or "intuition" or "inner sense" or "uprushes," the spirit of man is capable of immediate experience of God. There is something in man, a "soul center" or an "apex of soul," which directly apprehends God. It is an immense claim, but those who have the experience are as sure that they have found a wider world of life as is the person who thrills with the appreciation of beauty.—Rufus M. Jones in Inner Life.

Caleb Cushing's Dress.

Caleb Cushing's peculiar manner of dress and his eccentricities were frequently the subject of newspaper articles. Although quite a large and portly man, his clothes always seemed to be two or three sizes too large for him and of the cheapest material. He always during both summer and winter wore a large cloth cap pulled close down on his head and altogether looked anything but the brilliant jurist and diplomat. One day, after reading an unusually caustic comment upon his dress, he remarked to a friend, "I guess by the time that fool is as old as I am he will care more for comfort than fashion."

That the President is hereby authorized to utilize the service of any or all departments and any or all officers or agents of the United States and of the several States, Territories, and the District of Columbia, and subdivisions thereof, in the execution of this Act, and all officers and agents of the United States and of the several States, Territories, and subdivisions thereof, and of the District of Columbia, and all persons designated or appointed under regulations prescribed by the President whether such appointments are made by the President himself or by the governor or other officer of any State or Territory to perform any duty in the execution of this Act, are hereby required to perform such duty as the President shall order or direct, and all such officers and agents and persons so designated or appointed shall hereby have full authority for all acts done by them in the execution of this Act by the direction of the President. Correspondence in the execution of this Act may be carried in penalty envelopes bearing the frank of the War Department. Any person charged as herein provided with the duty of carrying into effect any of the provisions of this Act or the regulations made or directions given thereunder who shall fail or neglect to perform such duty; and any person charged with such duty or having and exercising any authority under said Act, regulations, or directions, who shall knowingly make or be a party to the making of any false or incorrect registration, physical examination, exemption, enlistment, enrollment, or muster; and any person who shall make or be a party to the making of any false statement or certificate as to the fitness or liability of himself or any other person for service under the provisions of this Act, or regulations made by the President thereunder, or otherwise evades or aids another to evade the requirements of this Act or of said regulations, or who, in any manner shall fail or neglect fully to perform any duty required of him in the execution of this Act, shall, if not subject to military law, be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction in the district court of the United States having jurisdiction thereof, be punished by imprisonment for not more than one year, or, if subject to military law, shall be tried by court-martial and suffer such punishment as a court-martial may direct.

Now, therefore, I, WOODROW WILSON, President of the United States, do call upon the governor of each of the several States and Territories, the Board of Commissioners of the District of Columbia, and all officers and agents of the several States and Territories, the District of Columbia, and of the counties and municipalities therein, to perform certain duties which will be communicated to them directly in regulations of even date herewith.

And I do further proclaim and give notice to all persons subject to registration in the several States and in the District of Columbia, in accordance with the above law, that the time and place of such registration shall be between 7 a. m. and 9 p. m. on the fifth day of June, 1917, at the registration place in the precinct wherein they have their permanent homes. Those who shall have attained their twenty-first birthday on or before the day here named are required to register, excepting only officers and enlisted men of the Regular Army, the Navy, the Marine Corps, and the National Guard and Naval Militia while in the service of the United States, and officers in the Officers' Reserve Corps and enlisted men in the Enlisted Reserve Corps while in active service. In the Territories of Alaska, Hawaii, and Porto Rico a day for registration will be named in a later proclamation.

And I do charge those who through sickness shall be unable to present themselves for registration that they apply on or before the day of registration to the county clerk of the county where they may be for instructions as to how they may be registered by agent. Those who expect to be absent on the day named from the counties in which they have their permanent homes may register by mail, but their mailed registration cards must reach the places in which they have their permanent home by the day named herein. They should apply as soon as practicable to the county clerk of the county wherein they may be for instructions as to how they may accomplish their registration by mail. In case such persons as, through sickness or absence, may be unable to present themselves personally for registration shall be sojourning in cities of over thirty thousand population, they shall apply to the city clerk of the city wherein they may be sojourning rather than to the clerk of the county. The clerks of counties and of cities of over thirty thousand population in which numerous applications from the sick and from non-residents are expected are authorized to establish such subagencies and to employ and deputize such clerical force as may be necessary to accommodate these applications.

The power against which we are arrayed has sought to impose its will upon the world by force. To this end it has increased armament until it has changed the face of war. In the sense in which we have been wont to think of armies there are no armies in this struggle. There are entire nations armed. Thus, the men who remain to till the soil and man the factories are no less a part of the army that is France than the men beneath the battle flags. It must be so with us. It is not an army that we must shape and train for war; it is a nation. To this end our people must draw close in one compact front against a common foe. But this can not be if each man pursues a private purpose. All must pursue one purpose. The Nation needs all men; but it needs each man, not in the field that will most pleasure him, but in the endeavor that will best serve the common good. Thus, though a sharpshooter pleases to operate a trip-hammer for the forging of great guns, an expert machinist desires to march with the flag, the Nation is being served only when the sharpshooter marches and the machinist remains at his levers. The whole Nation must be a team in which each man shall play the part for which he is best fitted. To this end, Congress has provided that the Nation shall be organized for war by selection and that each man shall be classified for service in the place to which it will best serve the general good to call him.

The significance of this can not be overstated. It is a new thing in our history and a landmark in our progress. It is a new manner of accepting and vitalizing our duty to give ourselves with thoughtful devotion to the common purpose of us all. It is in no sense a conscription of the unwilling; it is rather selection from a nation which has volunteered in mass. It is no more a choosing of those who shall march with the colors than it is a selection of those who shall serve an equally necessary and devoted purpose in the industries that lie behind the battle line.

The day here named is the time upon which all shall present themselves for assignment to their tasks. It is for that reason destined to be remembered as one of the most conspicuous moments in our history. It is nothing less than the day upon which the manhood of the country shall step forward in one solid rank in defense of the ideals to which this Nation is consecreated. It is important to those ideals no less than to the pride of this generation in manifesting its devotion to them, that there be no gaps in the ranks.

It is essential that the day be approached in thoughtful apprehension of its significance and that we accord to it the honor and the meaning that it deserves. Our industrial need prescribes that it be not made a technical holiday, but the stern sacrifice that is before us urges that it be carried in all our hearts as a great day of patriotic devotion and obligation when the duty shall lie upon every man, whether he is himself to be registered or not, to see to it that the name of every male person of the designated ages is written on these lists of honor.

In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington this eighteenth day of May in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and seventeen and of the independence of the United States of America, the one hundred and forty-first.

MEMORIAL SERVICE

Baptist Church Sunday Evening, Rev. W. B. Hartzog Giving the Adress.

The Annual Memorial services were held at the Baptist church, Sunday evening with a good attendance. Rev. W. B. Hartzog delivered the address.

The G. A. R., T. B. A. and S. of V. made a fine showing each organization turning out in large numbers. Rev. W. A. Rex read the Scripture lesson and was followed by Rev. Dr. Balmer who gave the invocation. Special music was given by the choir the audience joining. Rev. W. B. Hartzog taking for his text "I bear thee heavy Tidings," spoke most earnestly of the terrible struggle that confronts us at this time, of the heavy tidings that are being borne to us on every breeze, and urges every one to stand for the right and do their duty at the front or at home wherever they may be called.

The Dr. was listened to with close attention, his audience fully realizing the situation and the necessity of loyality to our country and our flag.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

Miss Mabel Schreder the Victim

Respondng to invitations sent out by Miss Gertrude Kreidler, a large party gathered at her home Friday evening, the event being a surprise and shower for Miss Mabel Schreder, a bride to be, in the near future.

Games and music and most appetizing refreshments made the evening an enjoyable one to all. At a given time Miss Mabel was most generously showered with many useful articles for her kitchen outfit, also pieces of silver and linen.

Those who participated in the shower were the Misses Lelah and Bernice Blythe of Manchester, Vevia Hardcastle, Edyth Gray, Lucy Harrison, Vesta Wilson, Ethel Russell, Alice Owens, Anna and Mabel Schreder, Mesdames Florence Feight, Nellie Theilan, Rose Burrow, Florence Babcock, Ethel Snell, Olga Schreder, Florence Coller and Ethel Heidenreich.

Miss Mabel was thoroughly surprised and her friends all enjoyed the occasion to the utmost.

"INTOLERANCE"

A Tale of the Ages, from the Pen of D. W. Griffith

"Intolerance," a moving picture spectacle, a tale of the ages, from pen of D. W. Grffith, was presented at the Bradley Opera House, Frday evening. "Intolerance," in many respects is the most wonderful and thrilling production ever shown in Tecumseh and it has been creating a good deal of interest throughout the country.

The story was told in four parts and dealt wth ancient Babylon, Judea, medieval Paris and a modern American City. Ancient Babylon was seen in all its glory, the mighty walls of the city, the palace of Belshazzar and the temple of Baal.

Thousands of people were used to give the realistic picture description of this ancient city. The mighty Cyrus and his hordes were shown in their terrific attack on the walled city, the victory of Balshazzar, the feast that followed and the final overthrow of Balshazzar by the armies of Cyrus. The wonder of it all was how so mighty a production could be worked out on such a tremenduous scale. One fairly lived in these days of long ago.

Scenes of Judea, its people, Christ turning water into wine, his trial before Pilate and his crucifixion were shown.

French Court life at the time of the persecution of the Huguenots allowing the intolerance of Catherine D'Medici her influence over her weak husband, the King, persuading him to sign a decree for the destruction of the Protestants.

The modern life in one of ourgreat cities. A good manufacturer who through the influence of his spinster sister gives large sums of money for a charitable institution and takes it out of the wages of his employees, the strike which followed and the hardships endured by some of them who were forced to seek employment elsewhere.

"Intolerance" has come down through ages, it is here to-day as it was at the time of Belshazzar. Through the intolerance of kings and rulers we have been forced into a world war. The story points to the true way as exemplified by the life and teachings of Christ in his love for humanity.

The company carried its own orchestra of thirty pieces and a chorus which rendered music suitable to the theme throughout the entire performance.

PATRIOTISM.

Let our object be our country, our whole country and nothing but our country. And, by the blessing of God, may that country itself become a vast and splendid monument, not of oppression and terror, but of wisdom, of peace and of liberty, upon which the world may gaze with admiration forever.—Daniel Webster.

The British Seas.

The seas around the coast of the British isles are mostly narrow. The greatest width of the English channel is between Portland Bill and St. Malo, 140 miles. It narrows to twenty and one-quarter miles at one point in the strait of Dover. The distance between Great Britain and Ireland is even less. Tor head is only twelve miles from the nearest point of the Mull of Cantire. Between Carnsore point and St. David's head, in Wales, forty-seven miles is the least breadth of water.

CLIFFORD POCKLINGTON

Clifford Pocklington was instantly killed Friday night just north of Jackson where he was struck and ran over by an interurban car of the Michigan Railway Co. His body was frightfully mutilated.

The coroner C. H. Tibbetts and Dept. Sheriff Larabee took charge of the body which was identified by letters in his pockets. Dept. John B. Smith was notified and soon got in communication with the boy's father Cornelius Pocklington who with several other relatives went to Jackson and identified the body.

Clifford belonged to the U. S. navy and was home on a ten days' furlough. He was to have reported for duty at Norfolk, Va., Monday. He was a quiet, sober, unassuming and steady young man. Relatives are at a loss to know how he happened to be in Jackson as they did not know that he intended to visit anyone there.

MRS. ANDREW LINTON

Mrs. Andrew Linton passed away suddenly Saturday morning after a few hours illness of heart trouble, at the age of 67 years. She leaves to mourn her sudden taking away her husband, three daughters, Miss Sarah, at home, Miss Margaret of Detroit and Mrs. Maney Pryer of Fremont, Ohio and one son, Joseph Linton of San Francisco.

Mr. and Mrs. Linton have lived in Tecumseh about fourteen years and have made many friends. The funeral was held from the home Monday afternoon, Rev. Rex officiating Burial in Brookside cemetery.

JOHN H. DUNBAR

John H. Dunbar passed away at 1:30 a. m. at the home of his son, Grant Dunbar, in Adrian, aged 83 years.

Mr. Dunbar was for many years a resident of Tecumseh, where he was united in marriage to Miss Adelia Gilman. To this union three children were born, two of whom with the wife and mother have preceeded him to the better country. He was a veteran of the Civil war and always a loyal citizen.

His remains were brought to Tecumseh, Monday afternoon and laid on the family lot in Brookside cemetery.

A delegation of the G. A. R. met the procession at the cemetery and gave Mr. Dunbar a G. A. R. burial, conducting the services at the grave.

MRS. JAMES CLARKSON

Mrs. Emma L. Clarkson, wife of James Clarkson, deceased, passed away Sunday morning, May 27th. She had been in poor health the past winter, but in the last two weeks failed rapidly.

Emma L. Gooding was one of a family of ten of whom one sister, Miss Mary A. Gooding survives her. She was born May 8, 1841, in the township of Canandaigua, New York. Her education was completed in a nearby academy. She began teaching at sixteen and continued after the family moved to Michigan, settling in Macon in 1864. From the first her unusual tact and ability won the love and esteem of her pupils and became an inspiration, which in more than one instance led them to high achievements in after life.

She was married to James Clarkson from her grandfather's home in Canandaigua, New York, October, 16, 1872. They came directly to the old Daniel Clarkson homestead in Macon where they spent forty years of her happy married life, terminated by Mr. Clarkson's death, October 24 1912. They had no children, but their niece, Anna Bailey Barnes, lived with them from her childhood and filled a daughter's place in their lives

"Aunt Emma" as she was known in later years to friends and neighbors, was, in the years before her health began to fail, one of the foremost leaders in the life of the community, both in the old Reformed church and in the school affairs of her district, where she served for seventeen years on the school board.

Her unusual kindlinessand thoughtfulness for others endeared her especially to children and to young people whom she delighted to aid in procuring the education she valued so highly.

Remembering Thee,
Are we not richer than of old?
Safe in thy immortality,
What change can reach the wealth we hold?
What changes mar the pearl and gold
Thy love hath left in trust with us,
And while in life's late afternoon,
When cool and long the shadows grow,
We walk to meet the night that soon
Shall shape and shadow overflow,
We cannot feel that thou art far,
Since near at need the angels are;
And when the sunset gates unbar,
Shall we not see thee waiting stand,
And, white against the evening star,
The welcome of thy beckoning hand?"

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was suppsed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. STORE BROKEN INTO

MONEY AND GOODS STOLEN

Late Saturday night or early Sunday morning the store of W. L. Coller was entered and the cash drawer relieved of its contents. Tobacco, cigars, cigarettes, pipes and candy were also taken.

Mr. Coller stated Monday morning that when he came to his store he found the back window smashed in and a broken beer bottle on the floor some 15 or 20 feet from the window. Evidently the thieves had thrown the bottle through the window and, picking out the glass, had entered that way. He said that, contrary to his usual custom, he had left change in the drawer, some $5.00 in pennies and nickles and other silver amounting to between $8 ad $12. This was all taken. He also discovered that they had helped themselves freely to various goods about the store.

Coller's store seems to be fated as several robberies have been reported. As yet no clue has been found to locate the robbers.

"THE FOUNDLING,"

Starring Mary Pickford, was seen at Bradley's Monday evening. At the close of the picture the Camp Fire Girls marched in and formed the letter "W" which stands for "Wohelo," "Work, Health and Love."

The girls were dressed in the regalia of their order and made a fine appearance. They sang their Campfire song, then each in turn told of the object of their organization and closed by singing the "Star Spangled Banner" with the waving of Old Glory.

Miss Ethel Kenyon is in charge of the Camp.

Part of the profits from the show were given to the girls by Manager Mark. The big attendance was due to the efforts of the girls who pushed the sale of tickets.

KEEP THE KIDNEYS WELL

Many Tecumseh people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Weak kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health—the slightest delay is dangerous. Use Doan's Kidney Pills—a remedy that has helped thousands of kidney sufferers. Here is a Tecumseh citizen's recommendation.

Wm. Martin, Logan St., Tecumseh, says: "My kidneys were out of order and I had dull backaches and tired easily. I had soreness and lameness across my back and my kidneys acted irregularly. The kidney secretions were unnatural, too. I got Doan's Kidney Pills at Wright & Son's Drug Store, and they strengthened my back and put my kidneys in good order.

Married to Trees in India.

Under the very shadow of the telegraph pole we find the tree worshipers of India. Many kinds of trees are worshiped in India for many kinds of reasons. Some are supposed to be the abode of demons who must be propitiated. The sacred bo tree under which Buddha received enlightenment is worshiped by pilgrims who come in thousands.

In some small villages where there are more women than men it often happens that there are no men of equal caste to the girl whose time has come to marry. Since the tree represents a deity which can assume any rank or caste, the parents of a marriageable daughter who has become a burden to the family take her to the village tree god and marry her to him. She is bound to the tree and left either to the mercy of prowling wild beasts or to be rescued by the first [illegible] of a lower caste who is in search of a helpmeet.—World Outlook.

Defective Eyes Cause Accidents

"When we stop to reflect on the number of street accidents happening every year," says the New York Medical Journal, "does it ever occur to us that perhaps a certain percentage of them is due to defective vision on the part of drivers?"

Dr. James McHoul, a captain in the British army and ophthalmologist for a recruiting board, states in the British Medical Journal that of six chauffeurs examined by him recently all had defective eyes and four of them had had accidents, at least one of these having resulted in death. He urges that all persons applying for license to drive cars be subjected to rigid optical examination and that this be repeated about once a year. The New York Medical Journal says this idea is well worth taking up on this side of the Atlantic.

Probably.

Dreams May Be Overtime Work.

Dreams are a good test of the need of sleep and many times answer the question of overwork or idleness, according to Dr. Percy G. Stiles, who lectured at the Harvard medical school on "Sleep."

"It is possible to judge by one's dreams whether one needs sleep," he said. "If the dreams are of a rambling variety, the kind that seem to pop from nowhere or anywhere, it is a pretty good sign that you are not overtired. On the other hand, if the dreams are a continuation of the day's worries the chances are that you are overtired. Dreams remote from the day's work are a vacation, but dreams connected with the day's work are overtime.

"To go to sleep get the body and mind comfortable. The body is easier to make comfortable than the mind. A rubdown, a bath and a little bit to eat help bring that about. To compose the mind read some familiar book or poetry. That soothes the mind, for no exertion is necessary to read it."—Boston Journal.

The Actor's Indifference.

It is probable that the height of indifference is reached in the veteran actor. I saw one at the Press club recently who confirms this suspicion thoroughly.

He is in a good show, but has a small part, appearing only in the first act.

"How is the show?" I asked him.

"Pretty fair, I'm told," he answered.

"What's it about?"

"Can't say."

"How does it end?"

"Don't know."

"For goodness' sake," I asked, "haven't you ever seen the play? You are in it yourself?"

"No," he answered, with a look of being bored. "Several times I have thought of going around front to see what it was all about; but, my dear old chap, I have never seemed to get around to it."—Washington Star.

Keeps Milk From Boiling Over.

Among the various devices which are intended to prevent milk from boiling over we noticed one which solves the problem in a very simple way, says the Scientific American. It consists of a straight tube of say two or three inches in diameter at the top and expanding somewhat toward the bottom where it is provided with a flaring and cup shaped end of rather large diameter, the whole being somewhat of trumpet shape. Out of the lower part are cut, say four suitable openings, and we set the device upright in the vessel with the small end just out of the liquid. Should the milk tend to boil violently this action commences at the bottom, and the liquid is forced up the tube, then falls upon the surface again so that the boiling action will continue in this way and the milk has no tendency to leave the vessel.

Submarine Torpedoes.

Launching a torpedo from a submarine is simple. The torpedo fits closely in a tube or cylinder, with an opening at the rear made airtight when closed. At the desired moment there is a discharge of cordite and the torpedo is on its way.

When the torpedo is projected from a ship or boat into the water a lever is thrown back, admitting air into the engines, causing the propellers to revolve and drive the torpedo ahead. The torpedo travels under water at a high rate of speed. It carries a large charge of explosive, which is ignited on the torpedo striking any hard substance, such as the hull of a ship.

The distance the tube is submerged depends on the target, but the nearer the surface the more effective.

Shun "Tips" If You Play Stocks.

"Whatever you do, don't go it alone," is the advice that Harold Howland gives to women investors in the Woman's Home Companion. "Shun the financial gossip of the uninformed, the cocksure counsel of the irresponsible, the glittering generalities or the more insidious particularities of the conceited ignoramus. Beware of rumors, 'tips' and 'inside information.' Base your transactions upon the firm ground of accurate information, sound judgment and disinterested advice. Don't try to 'get rich quick.'"

Governor Sleeper vetoed the bill to repeal the presidential primary law, which was passed at the last session of the state legislature. "I do not believe it good policy to take away the presidential primary without substituting something in its place," said Governor Sleeper.

Minimum prices—$6 for beans, $1 for corn and $1 for potatoes, guaranteed by the government—would enormously increase Michigan farm production, according to scores of producers, bankers and business men to whom State Market Director James N. McBride recently sent a questionnaire on the minimum price proposition.

Professor L. R. Taft, state inspector of orchards and nurseries, has received notice that the United States department of agriculture will co-operate with him in a survey of white pine nurseries to ascertain if white pine blister rust, the disease which has been causing large losses in Wisconsin, and other neighboring states, has obtained a foot hold in Michigan.

As an explanation why the state was compelled to refuse to equip any of the units of the home guards, Major M. J. Phillips, in command of this branch, issued a statement showing the cost of equipping a unit of fifty men, not including a lot of stuff for field service, totals, $2,125.

The Michigan railroad commission has suggested to the special committee of the American Railway association, working with the national defense council, that the one—and the only way—out of the present coal shortage trouble is the complete abolition of the reconsigning privilege.

National guard units of the United States, including probably Michigan and Wisconsin as the eleventh division of the army, will form part of an expedition to be sent to Europe early in 1918, after intensive training in southwestern camps, according to an order received by Major General Thomas H. Barry, of the central department.

Marie, have purchased nearly $15,000 worth of small grain seed, turned it over to the farmers without profit and accepted noninterest bearing notes, which are due after the harvest next fall.

Lacking appropriations for employment of recruiting and examining officers, the national guard units of Michigan are the only recognized military organizations in the state not now engaged in an active campaign for recruits, and consequently are losing to the regular army and navy a large number of men who would preferably join a home organization.

SCHEME TO BEAT U-BOAT.

Connecticut Man Would Corral Torpedoes With Magnet.

Waterbury, Conn.—Fred Hemmings has invented a device to offset the danger of the torpedo in its attack from the submarine or otherwise. The device is an electric arrangement of great magnetic power attached to the side of the ship, which will attract the torpedo, bring it to the side of the ship attacked and then lift it to the deck without exploding it.

Mr. Hemmings believes it is destined to revolutionize sea fighting and will make vessels practically immune from torpedo attacks. Lawrence Addicks, chairman of the naval board, is now considering its adoption for service. Theodore Roosevelt has congratulated Mr. Hemmings in a private letter.

MARINES GO FIRST

Seasoned Veterans to Be Under Colonel Doyen's Command.

MAINLY FROM WEST INDIES.

Colonel Doyen, Fifty-eight Years Old, Is Graduate of Naval Academy—He Has Seen Service In the Philippines and Orient and In Haiti and Santo Domingo.

Washington.—A regiment of veteran United States marines, equipped as regular infantry, will go to France as part of Major John J. Pershing's command. There will be approximately 2,600 men in the regiment, probably the largest numerically that will be en[illegible] the western front.

Colonel Charles A. Doyen, at present commandant of the United States marine barracks in this city, who has been in the service thirty-four years, will command this new American contingent.

For the most part the marines will be taken from regiments now on duty in Haiti, Santo Domingo and Cuba.

COLONEL CHARLES A. DOYEN.

This means that Secretary Daniels will send the pick of "sea soldiers" with General Pershing's command. Every marine in the contingent will be a veteran who has been frequently in action. The American marines have been characterized as the peer of any fighting force on earth.

Colonel Doyen is a graduate of the Naval academy. He is fifty-eight years old, but remarkably active for a man of his years. He has seen service in the Philippines and the orient, in Haiti and Santo Domingo and in other places wherever marines have been in action.

Secretary Daniels would give no inkling as to when the big regiment will go across the Atlantic. This information will be in absolute secrecy, just as the departure of General Pershing and his staff and the force which is to follow them will be closely guarded by the military authorities.

Liquid Fuel Oils.

It has been shown that oil with a flash point of 239 degrees F. will not ignite if fired into with a shell, and if dynamite is exploded in a reservoir of this oil it only throws up jets of oil which do not ignite. The only dangerous liquid fuel oils are those which have not parted with their volatile, inflammable gases, such as absolutely crude oils.

In all ordinary commercial fuel oils these portions are removed, and the oil is safe and contains no power of spontaneous combustion. Oil with a fire test of 180 degrees to 200 degrees F. is as safe as coal, and it will not ignite when stirred with a redhot poker and when hot coals are thrown in to.

Obituary

JAMES FOSTER

James Foster was born in Tyrone Co. Ireland, June 8, 1854, and departed this life May 15, 1917. He came to America when a young man making his home in and around Tecumseh for eight years. In November 1883, he was united in marriage to Miss Lissee Mckendry leaving the same day for the West settling in South Dakota. It was in this first home their only son Albert W. was born.

He was very successful as a farmer and stock raiser, but had many a day's hard labor though in unity with his loving wife. They worked together with one aim and object in view, that of returning to dear old Michigan again if prosperity prevailed, and making a home to spend together their later days. After seventeen years of success they returned to Michigan and made their home in Macon township for some few years, then buying the Major Gillespie property, they erected their present lovely home. But sickness conquered and Mr. Foster did not enjoy the fruits of his hard labor very long.

His health began to fail a few years ago, but was still active never complaining, until six weeks before his death. During that time he was confined to his bed and all that loving hands and medical skill could do was of no avail, his work on this earth was finished and the call of the Master was heard.

Though confined to his bed, he was always patient, kind and thoughtful for the comfort of those about him, and with Christian trust on the promises of his Savior, there seemed a longing to leave the earth life and be with loved ones who had passed on to the Great Beyond. With him at the end were his wife, son Albert and wife, his cousin Mrs. Howard Goodsill, niece Miss M. McKendry and sister in-law Mrs. John McKendry

He leaves a wife, one son Albert W. and wife, two brothers and one sister with a host of relatives and friends to mourn their loss. The funeral was held on Thursday, Rev. O. J. Lyons of Clinton officiating at the home and the I. O. O. F. at the grave.

The bearers were Herbert Foster, S. Ball, Lorn Ball, Silas W. Pall, Howard L. Goodsill, cousins, and Wm. McKendry, brother-in law.

Those from out town for the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. H. Foster, Mr. and Mrs Ed Allen of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. Lorn Great, Mrs. M. Great Fayette, O., D. Foster. Mrs. Etta Parker, Walker Parker, Hudson, Mr. and Mrs. S. Ball, Mr. and Mrs S. W. Ball, Lorn Ball, Ray Passill, Mrs. Jessie Elmore, G. Knout, Manitou Beach.

Worthy of true respect was he
From those he left behind,
A better husband never lived,
A father true and kind.

Weep not for me my days are past
You kindly loved me to the last,
Prepare yourself, make no delay,
For I was quickly called away.

MRS. RACHEL N. SAGE

On the evening of May 20, 1917, from the home farm, one mile east of Macon, there passed to the larger Life beyond, the widow of Joseph Emerson Sage.

Rachel N. Marshall was born in New York State, Dec. 24, 1843. Her early girlhood was spent in the State of her birth. When her parents died she moved with her brother John Marshall to a farm home near Galesburg, Ill. Miss Marshall taught school a few years then when her older sister and family moved into a home of their own, she assumed the home duties for her brother. There, by the many noble traits of head and heart, she made his home pleasant and proved herself his most capable aid in conducting successfully his farm.

After her brother's death she came to Michigan, where she was united in marriage to Joseph E. Sage, Feb 23, 1888, and took up her residence at the Sage farm. They had no children. Mr Sage's nephew, Frank Sage, has been as a son to her since her husband's death.

"Aunt Rachel" as she was affectionately called by her neighbors as well as relatives, will be greatly missed. For her life, an expression of so many Christian virtues, stands the Master's test of true discipleship, namely, "By their fruits ye shall know them."

Card of Thanks.

We wish to thank the neighbors and friends, who by their kind acts and their words of sympathy, have comforted us in our bereavement, also Rev. Kirker for his comforting words, and Mrs. C. L. Hause for her singing.

Mr and Mrs. Frank Sage.
Lavern Sage.

MRS. FRANCES WANN

The remains of Mrs. Frances Wann of Kansas City, Mo., were brought here for burial, the service being held Wednesday morning. Mrs Wann will be remembered as a daughter of Rev. James Vincent, a former resident of Tecumseh. She made many friends when visiting here with her father during his later years.

A Quaint Introduction.

Clarence King, the ethnologist, once wrote from San Francisco to John Hay the following letter of introduction: "My Dear John: My friend, Horace F. Cutter, in the next geological period will go east. It would be a catastrophe if he did not know you. Lest I should not be there to expose Mr. Cutter's alias, I take this opportunity to divulge to you that the public are divided in opinion as to whether he is Socrates or Don Quixote. I know better; he is both."

His Version.

Teacher—What is an engineer, Tommy? Tommy—A man that works an engine. Teacher—That's right. Now, Johnny, what is a pioneer? Johnny—A woman that works a piano.—Exchange.

"Is old man Bilkins susceptible to flattery?"

"No. There's no chance [illegible] up a compliment that his own self esteem will not have anticipated.—Washington Star.

ACT AS WELL AS WISH.

Good wishes are well, but good actions are better. Anybody can wish to live well. Almost everybody does. Even a criminal at times desires goodness, but he does not carry the wish into act, and that is why he remains a criminal. It is not a few faint wishes, but a lifelong struggle that makes us valiant.

Premature Jubilancy.

Willy—I found mother the other day crying over your book of poems.

His Sister's Fiance (delighted)—Oh, is that so? (Aside) Ah, what glory! What fame awaits me! For a man to bring tears to the eyes of such a flint hearted woman as that is certainly a great achievement. (To Willy) She was really weeping, Willy?

Willy—Yes; she said it nearly broke her heart to think that a daughter of hers was going to marry an idiot who could write such rot as that.—London Tit-Bits.

PLAN HOW TO MAKE AN EGG WEIGH MORE

Simple as adding two and two is the plan launched in Chicago by the American Poultry association to increase the nation's meat supply by 100,000,000 pounds in four months. Raise chickens, is the answer. Lone egg doesn't weigh much, but in four months it can be transformed into a chicken weighing three pounds.

Steel and Iron.

Reaumur discovered the direct process of making steel in 1722 or thereabouts by immersing malleable iron in a bath of cast iron. A steel manufactory is said to have been set up by Benjamin Huntsman near Sheffield in 1740. It was about 1800, however, before steel fairly became the fashion. The greatest boost to the trade came from Bessemer in 1850.

DECORATION DAY

NEVER MORE BEAUTIFULLY OBSERVED IN TECUMSEH

Washington Gardner, the Speaker of the day.

The Opera House was packed to the doors Wednesday for the annual Decoration Day exercises. Geo. J. Keysor, as president of the day, presided and announced the program.

Rev. W. L. Balmer gave the invocation followed by an eloquent address by Mr. Keyser, who graphically told of the origin of Decoration Day.

Mrs. Grace Heck Moore sang "The Flag of the U. S. A.", gracefully waving a large flag meanwhile.

Rev. W. A. Rex read "Lincoln's Gettysburg Speech," followed by a flag song by Harold Lowry.

Miss Anna Ferguson recited "Taps" to Mrs. F. B. Wood's accompaniment. This was most beautiful and she was enthusiastically encored, responding with "I'm Going Home to Mother."

Fred Dickinson gave a vocal solo and Mr. Keyser introduced the speaker of the day, Washington Gardner of Lansing who held his audience interested for more than an hour.

He did not give the stereotyped Decoration Day address as conditions of today call for a more up-to-the-minute talk. He began with the development of democracy as seen in history of the United States, how in 1787 the Continental Congress formed a government for the Northwestern Territory giving us the ship of state which has sailed for 130 years, religion, morality, knowledge being the fundamental principles.

He said the majority of the soldiers enlisted in the Civil War, not to free the slaves, but to preserve the Union as a nation and for fifty years we have enjoyed the results of their victory.

He told how the present terrible conflict started with just a little eddy, but it has kept growing until the whole civiziled world is involved. He told how highly civilized Germany was, both in the arts, sciences and "kultur," but how now she has broken all laws of the civilized world, not even respecting boats bearing the yellow flag of hospital work, that of misery, sickness and death, which was so scrupulously regarded by the Confederates.

The procession then formed in front of the opera house, Earl Updike being marshal, aided by Floyd Bryan, Harry Waldron and Fred Davis, all on horses.

Raymond Platt of Tipton, dressed as Uncle Sam, with Arlene Gillespie as Liberty, led the procession on Raymond's Welch ponies. The music was furnished by the Fife and Drum Corps of Adrian who occupied Guy Belding's truck and the way those old fellows pounded and tooted showed they still had the energy of '61. The G. A. R. and the T. B. A. members as well as those on the program rode in autos and then came the Uniform Rank, K. of P., officered by Arthur Harding and Robt. Quackenbush. The local Rifle Club was also represented. Hayden's big truck, gay with bunting, bore a load of young ladies who were to assist the G. A. R. in placing the bright red geraniums on the graves of departed brothers. The truck load of potted plants made a gay spot in the cortege.

A long string of autos followed and at the cemetery found as large a crowd waiting the exercises there. These were conducted by Amenzo VanValkenburg, commander; Wm. Smith, chaplain; and Elwin Camburn officer of the day.

The cemetery never looked more beautiful. Few, indeed, were the graves which did not bear the token of some loving hand and all over Brookside were tulips, carnations, roses, etc., with at frequent intervals the scarlet geraniums, so when we left the cemetery it was with the feeling we had left our revered heroes' memory green and their graves a heavenly spot.

The pole and flag raising at the home of H. W Stevens was a fitting close to the Memorial day exercises. A large crowd gathered for the occasion, nearly all of those who went to the cemetery being present. Mr Stevens had all things ready, and the Sons of Veterans soon had the staff in position and the flag run up to the top, all joining in singing "America" as it was raised.

Comrade Stevens then welcomed the crowd and spoke of the motive that actuated him at this time, that it might be a means of awaking loyalty in the hearts of the young, and that when life's last hour came to him, he wanted his comrades to wrap him in the flag for his burial. In closing he gave Nesbit's beautiful tribute to the flag, "Your Flag and My Flag", as very appropriate for the occasion. He then introduced Gen. F. B. Wood, who took charge of the meeting.

He first read an address given by Premier Asquith in Parliament a few weeks ago, when he spoke at length of the action of the U. S. of A. at this crucial moment, paying deep tribute to President Wilson and the whole nation. Mrs. Grace Heck Moore then sang "The Old Flag Never Touched the Ground Boys", which was received with hearty applause. The Hon. Washington Gardner was called upon next and spoke briefly, but most eloquently on the flag and what it meant to us all. As he was to take the train, he was obliged to shorten his speech, much to the regret of his audience.

Rev. W. A Rex being called upon made a few remarks upon the great truth that those nations who believed and trusted most in God were the victorious ones, but he said he did not come before the audience to make a speech, but a prayer, as he felt an occasion such as this should be inaugurated with prayer. Following him "Michigan, My Michigan" was finely sung by the Glee club.

Hon. John D. Shull then told of the first flag raising he witnessed when Abraham Lincoln raised the flag over the State house Feb. 1861, before his inauguration. He also cited several other interesting flag events, patriotic and pathetic. As he took his seat, a courier on horseback rode in and presented what purported to be a telegram from Gov Sleeper asking if Tecumseh had any facilities for detecting aeroplanes which were thought to be sailing over Michigan. Comrade Stevens thought he had and directed the attention of the company to where several pieces of fire works disclosed balloons and search lights which could be utilized.

This closed the program and the crowd dispersed having enjoyed the hour thoroughly. The fife and drum corps filled every interval with their thrilling music instead of swelling up like a little white sponge. Then it loosens from your toe—and, glory hallelujah! the corn comes off as though you'd take a glove off your hand!"

Yes, "Gets-It" is the corn discovery of the age. More "Gets-It" is sold by many times than any other corn remedy in existence. Try it and you'll know the reason why. It takes two seconds to apply it, and it dries at once. That's all. Don't experiment—follow the experience of millions and use "Gets-It."

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was suppsed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. A Few "Becauses"

Why we ask for and expect your grocery trade.

BECAUSE as far as it is possible to determine our stock takes in all the good kinds, and leaves the others out.

BECAUSE if you are particular about eatables, our store will appeal to you.

BECAUSE we play the game of business fair and square. We makeright any mistakes thatwe may make so soon as we hear of them.

BECAUSE we try awfully hard to "get there on time." We appreciate the inconvenience of waiting for goods to be delivered.

BECAUSE in spite of all these advantages your dollar is as large here as anywhere, often large here as anywhere, often Try and prove.

BARGAIN DAY

Manager Dale Hodges of the Bar-Day committee informs us that R. E. Mack, agent of the International Vaudeville Exchange, will be here next Wednesday to conduct the first Bargain Day program. This they promise us, will be better than any they had last year and will consist of three acts:

One will be an aerial performance. By request they get back Capt. McPhail, the bag-piper who was here last year. He has a new act this season which includes another bagpiper and four girl dancers. The Tipton band will furnish the music for the evening.

The committee are disappointed in not being able to furnish a program for the Fourth of July as promised. The clerks of the town demand a holiday for July 4th which cripples the merchants.

REDS vs. BLUES

Presbyterian Men's Class Enjoy Banquet Tuesday Evening

Some time ago the men's class of the Presbyterian church divided up on a contest for new members and to raise the spirit in the class generally. They had much excitement and pleasure in the stunt and it netted them many new members.

The Reds beat the Blues by 500 points so it was up to the latter to get busy and entertain the victors. They met their obligation Tuesday night with a very happy banquet at the Grange hall. The room was decorated with red, white and blue and Mrs. Geo Blesing catered, serving a most delicious two course supper. The Blues waited on their guests generously and quickly.

Following the supper, J. M. Kent, the class president, introduced Rev. Rex as toastmaster and he did his share toward making the evening a happy one. The following were the toasts:

"How we won"—John H. Smith.
"How we lost"—Jas. Lowry.
"Being a victor"—Dr. L. G. North
"Lemons, human and otherwise"—C. A. Slayton.

Rev. Edw. Montgomery of Adrian, was introduced as the speaker of the evening, taking for his subject "The new Idea of Patriotism". That his talk was splendid, is the verdict of the whole class.

Misses Marion and Mildred Brooks gave several piano duets, and the seventy men present hope the class has contests many and often.

The dancing party given under the auspices of the Red Cross committee Tuesday evening, was a very pleasant affair and was largely attended. The hall was beautifully decorated by Lester Heesen, with flags and flowers. The dancing was interspersed with various stunts and talks.

Mrs Jenny C. Law Hardy gave the history of the Red Cross movement which is recognized by every nation of the earth, and told of the flags of the nations. Miss Camilla Hayden emphasized the fact that "It pays to Sterilize" in a humorous recitation. John Pennington of Macon, gave a solo which was heartily encored.

KEEP THE KIDNEYS WELL

Many Tecumseh people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Weak kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health—the slightest delay is dangerous. Use Doan's Kidney Pills—a remedy that has helped thousands of kidney sufferers. Here is a Tecumseh citizen's recommendation.

Wm. Martin, Logan St., Tecumseh, says: "My kidneys were out of order and I had dull backaches and tired easily. I had soreness and lameness across my back and my kidneys acted irregularly. The kidney secretions were unnatural, too. I got Doan's Kidney Pills at Wright & Son's Drug Store, and they strengthened my back and put my kidneys in good order.

A RAILROAD ARMY

Will Build Up Lines of Traffic In France.

NINE REGIMENTS CALLED.

They Will Be Part of Regular Force, and at Head of Each Regiment as Colonel Will Be Engineer Officer of Army—Construction Will Be Main Work.

New York.—Need for expert railroad men to repair the lines in France is so pressing that an urgent call has been sent out by the railroads war board to the various roads of the country for assistance in organizing nine regiments of railroad men to go at once to France. They will be a part of the regular army, and at the head of each regiment as colonel will be an engineer officer of the army.

The plans of the board call for five construction regiments, one shop or repair regiment and three operating regiments. Construction will be the main work of the men sent over, but the repair and operating needs are hardly less immediate. A notice sent out by the railroads war board says:

"The French railways are badly run down. They need more or less complete rehabilitation. France has no men who can be spared for this work. She wants all her men at the front. Before we can train men to go into the trenches we can supply France's railroad wants, and we can do it practically immediately. Any men we send over must be soldiers, so it will be necessary for the railroad forces to enter the army.

"We propose to make up five construction regiments of six companies each to do this rehabilitation. Each regiment will have an engineer officer of the United States army as colonel and another officer from the army as an adjutant. The other officers will be made up of railroad men, except that the commissary will be provided by the United States army. Each lieutenant colonel will be a chief engineer of a railroad or some one else of similar experience. The captains will be taken from the engineers of maintenance of way, the lieutenants from supervisors or road masters and the noncommissioned officers from track and bridge foremen. The privates will be track laborers.

"The pressing need just now is for officers for these regiments. They will require five chief engineers, thirty engineers of maintenance of way, ninety supervisors or road masters, sixty track foremen and thirty bridge foremen. Each company will have 150 track laborers and fourteen bridge carpenters as privates.

"The next important requirement of the French railways is for shop forces. They are short of men to repair their locomotives. It is proposed to organize a shop regiment, to be made up the same way as the construction regiments, except that the lieutenant colonel will be a superintendent of motive power, the captains will be master mechanics, the lieutenants will be shop foremen and the noncommissioned officers gang foremen. The rest of the company will be made up of boilermakers, machinists, blacksmiths and their helpers."

TOY GUNS POPULAR.

Modeled After Anti-aircraft Weapons Used by Zeppelins.

Washington.—Teddy bears and miniature anti-aircraft guns are by far the most popular toys in Great Britain, says Consul Wilson in a report from London to the United States bureau of foreign and domestic commerce. Teddy bears have always been more or less popular, but recent events seem to have created a greatly increased demand for this toy.

The toy guns are modeled after the anti-aircraft guns which were brought into prominence by the visits of the Zeppelins.

Toys that find the most ready sale are those of a military character.

NEW FORM OF "CON" GAME.

Two Inches of Butter Spread on Sand Sold to Chicago Consumers.

Chicago, Ill.—A new form of confidence game has been practised with success here during the last few days. Several storekeepers and hospitals have reported to the police that they have purchased from agents tubs purporting to contain sixty pounds of butter, but have found when cutting into the tubs that the butter extended but one or two inches from the surface and that the rest of their purchase was sand.

The tubs were sold for as high as $19.50, making the price of the butter in the neighborhood of $4 a pound.

FAVORS DAYLIGHT SAVING.

President, However, In Doubt as to Necessary Legislation.

Washington. — President Wilson expressed his approval of the daylight saving plan to a delegation headed by Representative Borland of Missouri and Marcus Marks of New York, president of the National Daylight Saving association.

The president told them the only question in his mind about legislation to carry it into operation was whether congress leaders would look upon it as war legislation, to which they have tacitly agreed to limit the session's activities. The subject will be taken up with the leaders.

Washing the Dishes.

The most sanitary way of washing dishes takes the dish towel out of the kitchen. In the best equipped hotels and hospitals dishes are sterilized by steam and dried without handling. The nearest approach to this method in the average kitchen is to wash the dishes with plenty of clean hot water and soap, to rinse them with more hot water, stack them on edge in a wire basket, pour a kettle of boiling water over them and set them aside to drain dry.

The Sea Lily.

The sea lily so exactly resembles the common lily that it is difficult to realise that it is an animal and belongs to the starfish family. It has a stalk two feet long, with a disk for a body. The tentacles close round the disk, which has a mouth, and completes the deceptive likeness. They are the oldest form of animal life on earth, and their fossils are called "stone lilies." These creatures were believed to be plants, and many people still refuse to believe otherwise.—London Standard.

CLAIMS IN MEXICO

American Citizens Seek Damages Aggregating $475,000,000.

PILING UP PAST TWO YEARS.

Mexico Will Readily Obtain Loan Through Influence of This Government as Soon as Investigations by Ambassador Fletcher Satisfy President Stable Government Exists.

Washington. — Claims against the Mexican government from American citizens for loss of lives and property amount to $475,000,000, and those of foreign governments filed with the state department bring the total against the southern republic to more than $1,000,000,000.

These claims have been piling up for the last two years, and it is believed those now presented to the state department represent about all of the valid ones. As a more stable government is established in Mexico American citizens and foreign governments are pressing their demands for payment.

The situation is one of the utmost concern, not only to the United States, responsible to our citizens for the settlement of their claims against Mexico for loss of oil property, mines and lives, but also those of foreigners. As to claims of foreign governments, the United States has no legal concern, but inasmuch as it assumed control over the situation under the Monroe doctrine it will exert its diplomatic influence to see that these claims are paid.

HENRY P. FLETCHER.

American and English capital to the amount of $1,500,000,000 is invested in Mexico, and in the last three years the revolutions have damaged the mines and oil wells, in addition to piling up claims for the loss of lives of foreigners.

Mexico needs money badly not only to begin payment on these claims, but to re-establish her domestic affairs. The new ambassador from Mexico to this country, Ignacio Bonillas, fully explained the financial needs of his country to President Wilson, when he was received here recently.

Since then this government has been considering advancing a loan to Mexico. A member of the administration expresses the opinion that Mexico will readily obtain a loan through the influence of this government as soon as investigations by Ambassador Fletcher satisfy President Wilson that a stable government exists. No other country will consider a loan to Mexico, and this government will not aid Mexico financially until a stronger government is set up.

HE FEARED CONSCRIPTION.

Worried Bridegroom Tries to Kill Wife and Himself.

Middletown, N. Y.—Fearing he would be conscripted for war and that he would have to leave his seventeen-year-old bride, whom he married on Christmas day, Harry York, twenty-four years old, shot his wife, Anna May, in the head and then fired two bullets into his own brain.

Ever since it had been announced that men between twenty-one and thirty might have to go to France York has worried about leaving his bride. She was reading the questions to be answered by those registering for the conscription aloud to him when he suddenly pulled a revolver and without a word shot his wife and himself.

Wolf Pack Rounded Up.

Okmulgee, Okla. — Twenty-one gray wolves, the largest pack reported in Oklahoma in years, was rounded up recently twelve miles northeast of Beggs, Okla., by J. A. Scott and Boyce Green. There were two old wolves and nineteen partly grown pups in the pack. Dogs ran the pack to earth, and the mother wolves killed two of the dogs before the hunters came up. The old wolves and several of the younger ones had to be killed before the hunters could take some of the pups alive.

HOPE.

Hope is the most beneficial of all the affections and doth much to the prolongation of life if it be not too often frustrated, but entertaineth the fancy with an expectation of good.—Bacon.

Mushrooms and Oxygen.

A curious way of removing oxygen from the air by the aid of a plant is thus described: Inside a glass bell jar, suspended over water, is placed a mushroom, and sunlight is allowed to fall upon the plant. The mushroom absorbs the oxygen from the air in the jar, and the carbonic acid formed during the process is absorbed by the water, which gradually rises in the jar to one-fifth of its height. The mushroom at length dries up, but its animation is only suspended, as may be proved by introducing beside it a green plant, when it will recommence to vegetate, being nourished by the oxygen exhaled from the fresh plant.

2,000 DRAFT DEFIERS UNDER SURVEILLANCE

Men Who Say They Will Not Register Face Arrest.

DETROIT, June 4.

The names of 2,000 Detroit men who have said they will not register June 5 under the new selective conscription law are in the hands of J. Herbert Cole, special investigator of the department of justice, and of the United States district attorney.

On registration day these men will be closely watched and if they fail to obey the law they will be immediately arrested. Every opportunity, however, will be given them to change their minds and avoid the prison that will be the sequel to defiance of the government.

The 2,000 names already collected have come from various sources—private citizens, the police, private detective agencies and the army of sleuths the government has in the city. It is said that never before in its history has Detroit been under such a wide spread system of surveillance as it is now.

OLD GLORY'S CALL

Don't you see those stars a-shining
in that glorious field of blue?
Don't you see those stripes a-waving for the loyal and the true?
Don't you see "Old Glory" smiling
as she beckons you and me
To come and fight for Uncle Sam
and for Humanity?

CHORUS

Yes, we're coming now, "Old Glory," quick responsive to your call,
For we know your wondrous story of true liberty for all.
From the farm and from the city, from the North, South, East and West;
Side by side we'll do our duty for the land we love the best.
We will meet our friends and brothers in the lands across the sea,
And we'll show them that our colors stand for true fraternity.
Where "Old Glory" waves her greeting, there we'll follow to the end,
And we'll prove to all Our Allies that Old Uncle Sam's a friend.

KRONSTADT MAY BE PUT OUT OF RUSSIA

Threat Is Made to Rebellious Province by Deputies.

Petrograd, June 4.—"Kronstadt will be declared morally boycotted, outlawed and cut off from the rest of the empire unless it immediately withdraws its defiance to the provisional government."

This statement was made by Minister of Justice Pereveizeff, who recently conducted negotiations with local extremists on behalf of the Petrograd government and narrowly escaped being lynched by a mob, owing to his insistence upon the release of an innocent officer who had been imprisoned.

"Kronstadt's defiance was discussed by the council of ministers," he continued. "All, including the Socialist ministers, agree that the government must not tolerate declarations of independence by separate districts. In this we are absolutely supported by the Petrograd council of deputies, proof to this effort being shown when two deputies have gone to the fortress with the aims of bringing the rebels to reason.

SLACKERS TO GO FIRST TO FRONT

Draft Dodgers Will Go on Firing Line Early.

OFFICIAL WARNING IS GIVEN

Prison Will Not Keep Militant Pacifists and Other Draft Foes from Firing Line—Exemption Rules Are Only for Those Who Go Forward and [illegible] Line.

[illegible] be forced into the army [illegible] DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE.

Chicago, June 4.—Militant pacifists and other draft objectors who hoped to avoid military service by spending a year in prison were keenly disappointed when several of the leaders were called into the office of Hinton C. Clabaugh, divisional chief of the United States bureau of investigation, and told that the vacant spots in the army were yawning for all draft evaders.

Prison for Draft Absentees.

Every man within the specified draft ages who fails to register will be sent to prison upon conviction if Mr. Clabaugh has his way. Government agents will ask the courts to pass sentences in from two to three days after conviction. Prisoners then will be turned over to military authorities and forced into the army, where they will be subject to courtmartial with penalties far more rigorous than those of the criminal law of the state or nation.

Those convicted of avoiding draft registration will be enrolled before taken to Leavenworth prison, but are almost certain of being selected. They will not be given the benefit of exemption rules.

Others Have a Chance.

Men who follow the regular course will have about one chance in twenty of being picked at the first drawing in September.

Draft Besides Prison for Slackers.

Washington, June 4.—In an official announcement Attorney General Gregory renewed attention to the provision of the army draft law, which provides that no man can choose imprisonment a sa substitute for registration, but will suffer the first and be compelled to do the latter if he resists.

"It has come to the natice of the department," said he attorney general, "that certain disloyal citizens who are themselves beyond the conscription age, are suggesting to the young men of the country that it is better o suffer imprisonment under the terms of the conscription act than to register with the liklihood of being enlisted and compelled o serve at the front. Attention is called to the fact that under section 5 of this act parties convicted on the charge of evading registration are not only punished for the crime committed, but are thereunder duly registered, with all the liability for military service resulting therefrom."

GUARDS SEEK VOLUNTEERS

DETROIT, June 4.

With six weeks intervening before the Michigan national guard will enter federal service, officers of the two battalions of the Thirty-first Michigan infantry outlined plans from which they hope to fill the ranks of the regiment with volunteers. A schedule of noonday and night meetings at factories and clubs is being outlined and will be put in effect this week.

"When we leave Michigan we want to take with us a home regiment made up of home men, not slackers who are drafted into the service," said one of the officers. "Filling the ranks with such men would have a demoralising influence. The men already in the service would dislike them and make their life unpleasant."

ROOT AND PARTY SAFE IN RUSSIA

Arrival in Slav Port Is Officially Announced.

ENVOYS HAVE LARGE POWERS

Can Negotiate Binding Poposals to New Russian Government—Aims Which U.S. Strives to Accomplish Written by President Personally to Petrograd—After War Proposals Ban Gases.

Washington, June 4.—The American mission to Russia, headed by Elihu Root, arrived at a Russian port Sunday morning. Announcement of the safe passage of the commission was made by Secretary of the Navy Daniels. He had received a dispatch from the commander of the vessel on which the journey was made.

Former Senator Root and his colleagues will proceed to Petrograd immediately. They will arrive at the Russian capital at a time when the new government is hemmed in on all sides by disorganization, royalist plots, radical uprisings and lack of power to meet the menacing situation which threatens either to force Russia into a separate peace or at the best remove her from consideration as a belligerent.

Mr. Root bears plenipotentiary powers to act for the United States. Timed to coincide with his arrival, a message from the state department outlining the war aims of the United States has been cabled to the de facto government of Russia.

Wilson Personally Typed Statement.

This statement was drafted by President Wilson. He wrote it himself—picking it out with two fingers on the old typewriter which has been the medium of so much of America's diplomatic correspondence in the last two years.

The statement sets forth clearly what the United States is fighting for and how far it will go. The statement is addressed to Russia for two main reasons—to brace the republican government of the country by assurance of the aid of the great sister republic across the seas and to convey to the liberals of Russia the knowledge that America is fighting for the same ideals which they demand as part of any peace treaty.

The Wilson statement was cabled several days ago, but has been withheld from publication in America as a matter of courtesy to Russia. The state department let it be known that the statement would be given out here on receipt of information that the Russian [illegible] tures of the statement will be incorporated in the registration announcement on which President Wilson has been working for several days. He devoted part of his Sunday afternoon to this document, which it an address to the people of the country—especially the men who have to sign their names on the dotted line as liable for war service.

The registration day proclamation will contain an epitome of what America is fighting for and what she will demand when the peace commissioners finally gather round the green table and begin work on a treaty.

America's Peace Aims.

The peace aims—or the peace demands, they might be called—of America may be divided somewhat as follows:

First—Crushing of militarism and abandonment of heavy armaments as a guarantee against junkerism again plunging the world into a sea of blood. This is the demand of the democrocy—that it may be made safe against the onslaughts of an imperial clique.

Second—Freedom of the seas and restriction of the use of submarines as a weapon of offense. Crews of merchant vessels must be assured safety. In this connection, restrictions upon the use of many implements of land war are also likely. Poison gas, liquid flame and similar weapons are regarded as too inhuman to be allowed to again be employed for the destruction of life.

Three—Guarantees that will hold that small nations and their rights will be respected. This includes the re-creation and indemnity of Belgium, Serbia and other little countries wiped out by the Germans, as well as the establishment so far as possible of borders on racial lines. A Jewish republic in Palestine may be one of the outgrowths of the war and this is favored by the United States.

Today, all over the country, our boys between the ages of 21 and 30 years are registering. From this list of names will be drawn our new army, which is expected to be increased to 3,000,000 men and without doubt many times larger as the months stretch out. Uncle Sam has his duty to perform and the task is a mighty one. He is not planning to do it in a faint hearted way, but is planning to put his whole strength if necessary, into this preparation for war, that the Imperial Governments of Germany and Austria may be crushed.

No one knows how long this war will last; it may be over before another winter sets in, many think it will, and still it may drag on for two or three years. That our boys will see service on foreign soil is almost a certainty. This summer thousands will be in the training camps learning the business of war.

President Wilson has said "To our task we dedicate our lives and fortunes." Those of us who stay at home must prepare to sacrifice and it is our duty to do so. We must not expect to let our sons go to the front and fight our battles for us and we stay at home and do nothing.

Senator John Sharp Williams from Mississippi in a speech before the Senate stated, "We are the wealthiest people in the world; this wealth ought now to serve the country." "It will be a shameful thing that those who are not fit for military service should allow those who are fit to go to the front and be maimed and mangled and perhaps killed, while they stay at home and refuse to do so much as to loosen their purse strings." Senator Williams was the first member of either House of Congress to subscribe for Liberty Loan Bonds, investing several thousand dollars in them.

We can't all invest thousands, only the few can do that, but most every one can invest fifty or a hundred dollars in Liberty Bonds. Our local banks have them and will be glad to furnish any who wish to invest with them. They have subscribed for over $40,000 worth of these bonds and have already placed a good many of them in this community. Liberty Bond should be in nearly every home.

Remember that not all can fight, not all can render personal service in other ways, but those who are denied the privilege of serving their country in person have the privilege of serving her by lending their money to win her victories.

These bonds are safe and, considering their tax free quality — free from all federal, state and local taxes (inheritance taxes excepted) and free from any war tax that may hereafter be levied—afford an absolutely net income of 3½ per cent., they constitute an ideal investment for savings.

Our farmers should subscribe liberally to the Liberty Loan Bonds. They get the safest investment in the world and their money supplies their best customers the funds with which to purchase their products. This is political economy which is plain to everyone.

By investing in Liberty Bonds we are helping Uncle Sam win. Let us do our best toward Uncle Sam's victory.

The work was followed by a dinner at 6:30, the tables being filled twice, there being about 200 present.

At 8 o'clock a program arranged by W. S. Dickinson, was given and a social visit enjoyed.

"Good Night, Beloved" — Double Quartette

The address of Dr. F. A. Perry of Adrian was along patriotic lines and was listened to with earnest attention by all present. Dr. Perry has just recently returned from Washington where he attended the National Red Cross meeting. He wove into his address much of the sentiment that was expressed at the meeting at Washington, all of which went to show that peace looks far away and preparedness measures are more urgent today than they have been at any time in the past. It was a rousing appeal to the people to be loyal and to assist in every way possible to aid the government in the coming struggle. Dr. Perry was enthusiastically applauded at the close of his talk.

Chairman Rathbun then announced that the program was concluded but he thought it would not be fitting to dismiss without calling on Companion Roscoe Swift of Adrian for "The Sword of Bunker Hill." Mr. Swift stated that, after listening to such a patriotic address as the one just closed, he thought it would be far more appropriate for all to join in singing "America" which was done, led by Mr. Swift.

Novalk was of German parentage and several of his relatives are in the German army.

GOVERNMENT ON TRAIL OF SPIES

Evidence That Insidious Propaganda Is Still Active.

REGISTRATION EXEMPTIONS

Will Be Considered by Special Boards Appointed by President—Bernard M. Baruch Said to Be Under Consideration For Biggest Financial Job In the World.

Washington [Special Correspondence].—The pressure of war time restrictions upon democracy makes the people of America squirm and protest. But steadily the government is tightening the screws and clamping down the lid of arbitrary power. The nation is in war, although nobody seems to know it except economically; hence arises much of the opposition to the dictatorships of war.

Although the government keeps strictly secret its discoveries and suspicions, there is plenty of circumstantial evidence to indicate that the German spy system and German insidious propaganda are still operating actively in this country, as it is in Russia, to undermine public sentiment and to increase friction. Apparently this is one of the most dangerous symptoms the administration has to counteract.

Only on this theory can there be accounted for some of the drastic moves and demands made by the government on congress, on the press and on the public.

Seize Upon President's Speech.

The extreme importance attached by President Wilson to a misinterpretation of his Red Cross speech indicates underlying conditions so serious as to warrant him writing two letters to congressmen and have a speech of explanation made in the senate.

Comparatively few persons gave particular attention to the president's address of May 12. Most of them regarded it as a graceful and gentle essay, intended for a feminine audience. But when the president learned that some insidious propaganda had seized upon it and was actively engaged in circulating printed copies with pacifist comments attached, he got into action immediately.

The circulars discovered by Senator Lewis in Illinois said:

"Why should we give our money and our boys when the president says we have no grievance? Why fight for Britain and die and be bankrupt? Why give Britain our money, our men and the navy to satisfy her grievance?"

Exemptions After Registration.

Exemptions from army service will be granted after registration and conscription and not before. Every one between the ages of twenty-one and thirty, inclusive, must register.

With registration day plans well under way the war department turned attention to exemptions, exclusions and discharges.

Exemption claims will be considered by special boards appointed by the president. These boards will function under the law and under regulations prescribed by the president.

No exemptions will be made until the registration is complete.

Determination of exemptions, the war department emphasized, "is a second step, quite separate from registration."

The provost marshal general said regarding exemption machinery:

"From the lists of persons registered names will subsequently be drawn by lot by the fairest system that can be devised.

"Persons whose names are drawn and others interested will be given an opportunity to present claims for exemption, exclusion or discharge from the draft and to support such claims by evidence.

"Regulations governing the determination of exemptions, exclusions and discharges when promulgated will be made available to all concerned at the offices of the local boards. Until such regulations have been promulgated further information cannot be given, as it might later prove misleading, and even after the regulations have been made public decisions concerning exemptions, exclusions and discharges in individual cases cannot be made by this office (provost marshal general) since the law provides that all such cases shall be heard and determined by the boards to be established for that purpose."

One Man May Spend $10,000,000,000.

The plan for a central allied commission to supervise all purchases of food, munitions and supplies to be made in this country by the allied governments as well as by the United States has reached the point where the discussion is centered around the selection of the man best fitted to wield the tremendous power to be lodged in the head of this commission.

Secretary McAdoo has said that the allied governments might be expected within the next year to spend $5,000,000,000 in the country and that this country might be expected to spend $4,000,000,000. The commission to be appointed will supervise the expenditure of much of this vast amount.

Formal announcement of the plan to be based on an agreement entered into by all of the allied governments awaits the return to Washington of Mr. McAdoo. The president and his cabinet have already under consideration a list of candidates. It is understood that one of those under most serious consideration is Bernard M. Baruch. Mr. Baruch has been unofficially assisting Great Britain and other governments in making what purchases they have found to be necessary pending the consummation of the plan for a purchasing commission.

End of Fiscal Agents.

With the extension of credit to these governments by the United States the old arrangements they had for making purchases in this country through fiscal agents came to an end. In the future they have expressed willingness that this government shall virtually supervise all purchases to be made here.

Some of the governments have been under no necessity of making immediate purchases. In the case of Russia, however, it has been necessary to go ahead with the arrangements for the purchasing of 1,000 steel freight cars and 500 large locomotives in order that these might be shipped while her ports were open. This is one of the matters in which Mr. Baruch has been assisting.

Mr. Baruch has been one of the most active members of the advisory commission of the Council of National Defense. Since the war began he has made his home in Washington and has given his whole time to the government. As chairman of the committee on raw materials he has conducted the negotiations whereby prducers of steel, copper, aluminium and other raw materials have reduced their prices greatly to the government. His work has been recognized as one of the most valuable performed during the present war. The fact that he had been delegated to assist representatives of the allies in making purchases recently is considered highly significant.

To Delay Tax Measure.

Another month probably will be required for congress to complete the war tax bill, although the house passed it last week. It was indicated that the senate will make so many changes in the measure as to result almost in a redrafting, particularly of sections relating to taxes on excess profits, incomes and manufactures and the increased second class postal rates.

Destroyers Are Making Good.

Definite information has reached the navy department that more submarines are being run down, captured and destroyed than ever before, and although the exact details cannot be divulged, it is known that the American destroyer flotilla, under Rear Admiral Sims, has been playing an active part in the work with the British and French fleets.

One report had it that during the week, in which twenty-seven merchant vessels were sunk, twenty-eight German submarines were captured or destroyed. It was also said that the amount of food and munitions reaching England from the United States last week was the largest since Feb. 1.

The increased success of the campaign against the U boats is attributed more to improvements in organization than to any new devices. It is said the presence of American destroyers has enabled the British and French to send some of their small craft to their bases for docking and sorely needed repairs, after virtually continuous service for the past two years.

Hereafter, it was announced at the navy department, information regarding the operations of American naval vessels in the war zone will be given out here simultaneously with publication in Europe.

The president will soon nominate Rear Admiral Sims to be vice admiral in view of his position as commander of American naval forces co-operating with the allies in European waters.

To Graduate a Year Ahead.

In order to provide officers for the navy's rapidly growing fleet of submarine chasers the graduation of the present first class of the Naval academy—originally the class of 1918—already set forward to next September, has again been advanced to June 28 next.

The former first class, which was to have graduated in June of this year, was graduated and its members commissioned ensigns last March. The class to be graduated next month has 203 members, who have been doing double work for some months in order to prepare for early graduation.

Former Albion Man Badly Hurt.

ALBION, June 4.

A message received from Shreveport, La., states that Frank Peace, an Albion man who moved to a farm in Louisiana, three years ago, is in a Shreveport hospital in a critical condition as the result of a premature explosion of dynamite while on an alligator hunt. His right arm was blown off.

Holly Train Wreckers Failed.

PONTIAC, June 4.

Following attempts to wreck Grand Trunk trains near Holly on two successive nights, five men are serving time in the county jail at Pontiac on charges of vagrancy. Ties had been piled on the tracks, but were seen in time to prevent trains being wrecked.

Will Boost Ferry Rates.

PORT HURON, June 4.

The announcement was made that the ferry boat fare between Port Huron and Sarnia would be boosted to six cents a trip. No freight is being carried on the boats crossing to Sarnia as a result of a recent government order.

Sheriff Has Druggist and Booze.

MARSHALL, June 4.

Sheriff Mallory has in the basement of the Calhoun county jail 108 pints of bottled whisky and Fay Spaulding, Battle Creek druggist, is under arrest on a charge of transporting liquor in a dry county without a proper label.

Senator Lane Very Ill.

San Francisco, May 31.—United States Senator Harry Lane of Portland, Ore., who is ill at a hospital here, was reported by the physicians in charge to be very low.

Persian Wisdom.

Do not talk about repentance to me. What is the use of regrets? Falsehood tells you repent; truth says love only. Whatever was alien to God remains not. Shut off all remembrance from yourself. We are embarrassed by traditions on our way. Speak not about the past; live in the shadow of love, and let everything else pass on.

2,000 DRAFT DEFIERS UNDER SURVEILLANCE

Men Who Say They Will Not Register Face Arrest.

DETROIT, June 4.

The names of 2,000 Detroit men who have said they will not register June 5 under the new selective conscription law are in the hands of J. Herbert Cole, special investigator of the department of justice, and of the United States district attorney.

On registration day these men will be closely watched and if they fail to obey the law they will be immediately arrested. Every opportunity, however, will be given them to change their minds and avoid the prison that will be the sequel to defiance of the government.

The 2,000 names already collected have come from various sources—private citizens, the police, private detective agencies and the army of sleuths the government has in the city. It is said that never before in its history has Detroit been under such a wide spread system of surveillance as it is now.

OLD GLORY'S CALL

Don't you see those stars a-shining
in that glorious field of blue?
Don't you see those stripes a-waving for the loyal and the true?
Don't you see "Old Glory" smiling
as she beckons you and me
To come and fight for Uncle Sam
and for Humanity?

CHORUS

Yes, we're coming now, "Old Glory," quick responsive to your call,
For we know your wondrous story of true liberty for all.
From the farm and from the city, from the North, South, East and West;
Side by side we'll do our duty for the land we love the best.
We will meet our friends and brothers in the lands across the sea,
And we'll show them that our colors stand for true fraternity,
Where "Old Glory" waves her greeting, there we'll follow to the end,
And we'll prove to all Our Allies that Old Uncle Sam's a friend.

KRONSTADT MAY BE PUT OUT OF RUSSIA

Threat Is Made to Rebellious Province by Deputies.

Petrograd, June 4.—"Kronstadt will be declared morally boycotted, outlawed and cut off from the rest of the empire unless it immediately withdraws its defiance to the provisional government."

This statement was made by Minister of Justice Perevelzeff, who recently conducted negotiations with local extremists on behalf of the Petrograd government and narrowly escaped being lynched by a mob, owing to his insistence upon the release of an innocent officer who had been imprisoned.

"Kronstadt's defiance was discussed by the council of ministers," he continued. "All, including the Socialist ministers, agree that the government must not tolerate declarations of independence by separate districts. In this we are absolutely supported by the Petrograd council of deputies, proof to this effort being shown when two deputies have gone to the fortress with the aims of bringing the rebels to reason.

SLACKERS TO GO FIRST TO FRONT

Draft Dodgers Will Go on Firing Line Early.

OFFICIAL WARNING IS GIVEN

Prison Will Not Keep Militant Pacifists and Other Draft Foes from Firing Line—Exemption Rules Are Only for Those Who Go Forward And Sign on Dotted Line.

The surest way to be forced into the army is to fail to register Tuesday— [illegible] DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE.

Chicago, June 4.—Militant pacifists and other draft objectors who hoped to avoid military service by spending a year in prison were keenly disappointed when several of the leaders were called into the office of Hinton C. Clabaugh, divisional chief of the United States bureau of investigation, and told that the vacant spots in the army were yawning for all draft evaders.

Prison for Draft Absentees.

Every man within the specified draft ages who fails to register will be sent to prison upon conviction if Mr. Clabaugh has his way. Government agents will ask the courts to pass sentences in from two to three days after conviction. Prisoners then will be turned over to military authorities and forced into the army, where they will be subject to courtmartial with penalties far more rigorous than those of the criminal law of the state or nation.

Those convicted of avoiding draft registration will be enrolled before taken to Leavenworth prison, but are almost certain of being selected. They will not be given the benefit of exemption rules.

Others Have a Chance.

Men who follow the regular course will have about one chance in twenty of being picked at the first drawing in September.

Draft Besides Prison for Slackers.

Washington, June 4.—In an official announcement Attorney General Gregory renewed attention to the provision of the army draft law, which provides that no man can choose imprisonment a sa substitute for registration, but will suffer the first and be compelled to do the latter if he resists.

"It has come to the natice of the department," said he attorney general, "that certain disloyal citizens who are themselves beyond the conscription age, are suggesting to the young men of the country that it is better o suffer imprisonment under the terms of the conscription act than to register with the liklihood of being enlisted and compelled o serve at the front. Attention is called to the fact that under section 5 of this act parties convicted on the charge of evading registration are not only punished for the crime committed, but are thereunder duly registered, with all the liability for military service resulting therefrom."

GUARDS SEEK VOLUNTEERS

DETROIT, June 4.

With six weeks intervening before the Michigan national guard will enter federal service, officers of the two battalions of the Thirty-first Michigan infantry outlined plans from which they hope to fill the ranks of the regiment with volunteers. A schedule of noonday and night meetings at factories and clubs is being outlined and will be put in effect this week.

"When we leave Michigan we want to take with us a home regiment made up of home men, not slackers who are drafted into the service," said one of the officers. "Filling the ranks with such men would have a demoralising influence. The men already in the service would dislike them and make their life unpleasant."

ROOT AND PARTY SAFE IN RUSSIA

Arrival in Slav Port Is Officially Announced.

ENVOYS HAVE LARGE POWERS

Can Negotiate Binding Poposals to New Russian Government—Aims Which U.S. Strives to Accomplish Written by President Personally to Petrograd—After War Proposals Ban Gases.

Washington, June 4.—The American mission to Russia, headed by Elihu Root, arrived at a Russian port Sunday morning. Announcement of the safe passage of the commission was made by Secretary of the Navy Daniels. He had received a dispatch from the commander of the vessel on which the journey was made.

Former Senator Root and his colleagues will proceed to Petrograd immediately. They will arrive at the Russian capital at a time when the new government is hemmed in on all sides by disorganization, royalist plots, radical uprisings and lack of power to meet the menacing situation which threatens either to force Russia into a separate peace or at the best remove her from consideration as a belligerent.

Mr. Root bears plenipotentiary powers to act for the United States. Timed to coincide with his arrival, a message from the state department outlining the war aims of the United States has been cabled to the de facto government of Russia.

Wilson Personally Typed Statement.

This statement was drafted by President Wilson. He wrote it himself—picking it out with two fingers on the old typewriter which has been the medium of so much of America's diplomatic correspondence in the last two years.

The statement sets forth clearly what the United States is fighting for and how far it will go. The statement is addressed to Russia for two main reasons—to brace the republican government of the country by assurance of the aid of the great sister republic across the seas and to convey to the liberals of Russia the knowledge that America is fighting for the same ideals which they demand as part of any peace treaty.

The Wilson statement was cabled several days ago, but has been withheld from publication in America as a matter of courtesy to Russia. The state department let it be known that the statement would be given out here on receipt of information that the Russian government had given it to the Russian press.

It is indicated that the salient features of the statement will be incorporated in the registration announcement on which President Wilson has been working for several days. He devoted part of his Sunday afternoon to this document, which is an address to the people of the country—especially the men who have to sign their names on the dotted line as liable for war service.

The registration day proclamation will contain an epitome of what America is fighting for and what she will demand when the peace commissioners finally gather round the green table and begin work on a treaty.

America's Peace Aims.

The peace aims—or the peace demands, they might be called—of America may be divided somewhat as follows:

First—Crushing of militarism and abandonment of heavy armaments as a guarantee against junkerism again plunging the world into a sea of blood. This is the demand of the democrocy—that it may be made safe against the onslaughts of an imperial clique.

Second—Freedom of the seas and restriction of the use of submarines as a weapon of offense. Crews of merchant vessels must be assured safety. In this connection, restrictions upon the use of many implements of land war are also likely. Poison gas, liquid flame and similar weapons are regarded as too inhuman to be allowed to again be employed for the destruction of life.

Three—Guarantees that will hold that small nations and their rights will be respected. This includes the re-creation and indemnity of Belgium, Serbia and other little countries wiped out by the Germans, as well as the establishment so far as possible of borders on racial lines. A Jewish republic in Palestine may be one of the outgrowths of the war and this is favored by the United States.

Would Keep Out Mexicans.

RUNS AGAINST UNDERWORLD

Detroit's Millionaire Commissioner Jailed for Enforcing Laws.

DETROIT, June 4.

James Couzens, Detroit's millionaire police commissioner and former business associate of Henry Ford, was sentenced to jail for thirty days by Justice Albert F. Sellers for contempt of court. He served sixty-one seconds in jail, when a writ of habeas corpus freed him.

The sentence came as a climax over Mr. Couzens' orders several weeks ago to close the vice district, the contempt resulting from the commissioner's refusal to honor orders signed by Justice Sellers for the release of several disorderly women.

Today, all over the country, our boys between the ages of 21 and 30 years are registering. From this list of names will be drawn our new army which is expected to be increased to 2,000,000 men and without doubt many times larger as the months stretch out. Uncle Sam has his duty to perform and the task is a mighty one. He is not planning to do it in a faint hearted way, but is planning to put his whole strength if necessary, into this preparation for war, that the Imperial Governments of Germany and Austria may be crushed.

No one knows how long this war will last; it may be over before another winter sets in, many think it will, and still it may drag on for two or three years. That our boys will see service on foreign soil is almost a certainty. This summer thousands will be in the training camps learning the business of war.

President Wilson has said "To our task we dedicate our lives and fortunes." Those of us who stay at home must prepare to sacrifice and it is our duty to do so. We must not expect to let our sons go to the front and fight our battles for us and we stay at home and do nothing.

Senator John Sharp Williams from Mississippi in a speech before the Senate stated, "We are the wealthiest people in the world; this wealth ought now to serve the country." "It will be a shameful thing that those who are not fit for military service should allow those who are fit to go to the front and be maimed and mangled and perhaps killed, while they stay at home and refuse to do so much as to loosen their purse strings." Senator Williams was the first member of either House of Congress to subscribe for Liberty Loan Bonds, investing several thousand dollars in them.

We can't all invest thousands, only the few can do that, but most every one can invest fifty or a hundred dollars in Liberty Bonds. Our local banks have them and will be glad to furnish any who wish to invest with them. They have subscribed for over $40,000 worth of these bonds and have already placed a good many of them in this community. Liberty Bond should be in nearly every home.

Remember that not all can fight, not all can render personal service in other ways, but those who are denied the privilege of serving their country in person have the privilege of serving her by lending their money to win her victories.

These bonds are safe and, considering their tax-free quality — free from all federal, state and local taxes (inheritance taxes excepted) and free from any war tax that may hereafter be levied—afford an absolutely net income of 3½ per cent., they constitute an ideal investment for savings.

Our farmers should subscribe liberally to the Liberty Loan Bonds. They get the safest investment in the world and their money supplies their best customers the funds with which to purchase their products. This is political economy which is plain to everyone.

By investing in Liberty Bonds we are helping Uncle Sam win. Let us do our best toward Uncle Sam's victory.

RETURN VISIT OF MANCHESTER CHAPTER R. A. M. TO TECUMSEH CHAPTER

Monday, June 4, 1917.

Accepting the invitation of Tecumseh Chapter, R. A. M., a large delegation of officers and members of Manchester Chapter visited Tecumseh Monday, June 4th.

At 8 o'clock the officers of the Manchester Chapter conferred the Royal Arch degree on two teams as follows: De Hodges, Hugh Hanna Jr., Charles Hanna, Floyd Juckett, Percy Heidenreich and John A. McIntyre. The work of the Manchester officers was very excellent and impressive and will be long remembered by the candidates. The work was followed by a dinner at 30, the tables being filled twice, there being about 200 present.

At 8 o'clock a program arranged by W. S. Dickinson was given and a social was enjoyed.

Address of Welcome—G. A. Rathbun
Song, "Just a-Wearyin' for You"—Temple Quartette
Song, "Hush Thee, My Babie"—Double Quartette
Selection—Ladies Quartette
Reading—Rev. W. A. Rex
Solo—Mrs. Chas. Jones
Song, "Aloha Oe"—Temple Quartette
Solo—Harold J. Lowry
Address—Rev. F. A. Perry
"Good Night, Beloved" — Double Quartette

The address of Dr. F. A. Perry of Adrian was along patriotic lines and was listened to with earnest attention by all present. Dr. Perry has just recently returned from Washington where he attended the National Red Cross meeting. He wove into his address much of the sentiment that was expressed at the meeting at Washington, all of which went to show that peace looks far away and preparedness measures are more urgent today than they have been at any time in the past. It was a rousing appeal to the people to be loyal and to assist in every way possible to aid the government in the coming struggle. Dr. Perry was enthusiastically applauded at the close of his talk.

Chairman Rathbun then announced that the program was concluded but he thought it would not be fitting to dismiss without calling on Companion Roscoe Swift of Adrian for "The Sword of Bunker Hill." Mr. Swift stated that, after listening to such a patriotic address as the one just closed, he thought it would be far more appropriate for all to join in singing "America" which was done, led by Mr. Swift.

GOVERNMENT ON TRAIL OF SPIES

Evidence That Insidious Propaganda Is Still Active.

REGISTRATION EXEMPTIONS

Will Be Considered by Special Boards Appointed by President—Bernard M. Baruch Said to Be Under Consideration For Biggest Financial Job In the World.

Washington [Special Correspondence].—The pressure of war time restrictions upon democracy makes the people of America squirm and protest. But steadily the government is tightening the screws and clamping down the lid of arbitrary power. The nation is in war, although nobody seems to know it except economically; hence arises much of the opposition to the dictatorships of war.

Although the government keeps strictly secret its discoveries and suspicions, there is plenty of circumstantial evidence to indicate that the German spy system and German insidious propaganda are still operating actively in this country, as it is in Russia, to undermine public sentiment and to increase friction. Apparently this is one of the most dangerous symptoms the administration has to counteract.

Only on this theory can there be accounted for some of the drastic moves and demands made by the government on congress, on the press and on the public.

Seize Upon President's Speech.

The extreme importance attached by President Wilson to a misinterpretation of his Red Cross speech indicates underlying conditions so serious as to warrant him writing two letters to congressmen and have a speech of explanation made in the senate.

Comparatively few persons gave particular attention to the president's address of May 12. Most of them regarded it as a graceful and gentle essay, intended for a feminine audience. But when the president learned that some insidious propaganda had seized upon it and was actively engaged in circulating printed copies with pacifist comments attached, be got into action immediately.

The circulars discovered by Senator Lewis in Illinois said:

"Why should we give our money and our boys when the president says we have no grievance? Why fight for Britain and die and be bankrupt? Why give Britain our money, our men and the navy to satisfy her grievance?"

Exemptions After Registration.

Exemptions from army service will be granted after registration and conscription and not before. Every one between the ages of twenty-one and thirty, inclusive, must register.

With registration day plans well under way the war department turned attention to exemptions, exclusions and discharges.

Exemption claims will be considered by special boards appointed by the president. "These boards will function under the law and under regulations prescribed by the president.

No exemptions will be made until the registration is complete.

Determination of exemptions, the war department emphasized, "is a second step, quite separate from registration."

The provost marshal general said regarding exemption machinery:

"From the lists of persons registered names will subsequently be drawn by lot by the fairest system that can be devised.

"Persons whose names are drawn and others interested will be given an opportunity to present claims for exemption, exclusion or discharge from the draft and to support such claims by evidence.

"Regulations governing the determination of exemptions, exclusions and discharges when promulgated will be made available to all concerned at the offices of the local boards. Until such regulations have been promulgated further information cannot be given, as it might later prove misleading, and even after the regulations have been made public decisions concerning exemptions, exclusions and discharges in individual cases cannot be made by this office (provost marshal general) since the law provides that all such cases shall be heard and determined by the boards to be established for that purpose."

One Man May Spend $10,000,000,000.

The plan for a central allied commission to supervise all purchases of food, munitions and supplies to be made in this country by the allied governments as well as by the United States has reached the point where the discussion is centered around the selection of the man best fitted to wield the tremendous power to be lodged in the head of this commission.

Secretary McAdoo has said that the allied governments might be expected within the next year to spend $5,000,000,000 in the country and that this country might be expected to spend $4,000,000,000. The commission to be appointed will supervise the expenditure of much of this vast amount.

Formal announcement of the plan to be based on an agreement entered into by all of the allied governments awaits the return to Washington of Mr. McAdoo. The president and his cabinet have already under consideration a list of candidates. It is understood that one of those under most serious consideration is Bernard M. Baruch. Mr. Baruch has been unofficially assisting Great Britain and other governments in making what purchases they have found to be necessary pending the consummation of the plan for a purchasing commission.

End of Fiscal Agents.

With the extension of credit to these governments by the United States the old arrangements they had for making purchases in this country through fiscal agents came to an end. In the future they have expressed willingness that this government shall virtually supervise all purchases to be made here.

Some of the governments have been under no necessity of making immediate purchases. In the case of Russia, however, it has been necessary to go ahead with the arrangements for the purchasing of 1,000 steel freight cars and 500 large locomotives in order that these might be shipped while her ports were open. This is one of the matters in which Mr. Baruch has been assisting.

Mr. Baruch has been one of the most active members of the advisory commission of the Council of National Defense. Since the war began he has made his home in Washington and has given his whole time to the government. As chairman of the committee on raw materials he has conducted the negotiations whereby prducers of steel, copper, aluminium and other raw materials have reduced their prices greatly to the government. His work has been recognized as one of the most valuable performed during the present war. The fact that he had been delegated to assist representatives of the allies in making purchases recently is considered highly significant.

To Delay Tax Measure.

Another month probably will be required for congress to complete the war tax bill, although the house passed it last week. It was indicated that the senate will make so many changes in the measure as to result almost in a redrafting, particularly of sections relating to taxes on excess profits, incomes and manufactures and the increased second class postal rates.

Destroyers Are Making Good.

Definite information has reached the navy department that more submarines are being run down, captured and destroyed than ever before, and although the exact details cannot be divulged, it is known that the American destroyer flotilla, under Rear Admiral Sims, has been playing an active part in the work with the British and French fleets.

One report had it that during the week, in which twenty-seven merchant vessels were sunk, twenty-eight German submarines were captured or destroyed. It was also said that the amount of food and munitions reaching England from the United States last week was the largest since Feb. 1.

The increased success of the campaign against the U boats is attributed more to improvements in organization than to any new devices. It is said the presence of American destroyers has enabled the British and French to send some of their small craft to their bases for docking and sorely needed repairs, after virtually continuous service for the past two years.

Hereafter, it was announced at the navy department, information regarding the operations of American naval vessels in the war zone will be given out here simultaneously with publication in Europe.

The president will soon nominate Rear Admiral Sims to be vice admiral in view of his position as commander of American naval forces co-operating with the allies in European waters.

To Graduate a Year Ahead.

In order to provide officers for the navy's rapidly growing fleet of submarine chasers the graduation of the present first class of the Naval academy—originally the class of 1918—already set forward to next September, has again been advanced to June 28 next.

The former first class, which was to have graduated in June of this year, was graduated and its members commissioned ensigns last March. The class to be graduated next month has 203 members, who have been doing double work for some months in order to prepare for early graduation.

Former Albion Man Badly Hurt.

ALBION, June 4.

A message received from Shreveport, La., states that Frank Peace, an Albion man who moved to a farm in Louisiana, three years ago, is in a Shreveport hospital in a critical condition as the result of a premature explosion of dynamite while on an alligator hunt. His right arm was blown off.

Holly Train Wreckers Failed.

PONTIAC, June 4.

Following attempts to wreck Grand Trunk trains near Holly on two successive nights, five men are serving time in the county jail at Pontiac on charges of vagrancy. Ties had been piled on the tracks, but were seen in time to prevent trains being wrecked.

Will Boost Ferry Rates.

PORT HURON, June 4.

The announcement was made that the ferry boat fare between Port Huron and Sarnia would be boosted to six cents a trip. No freight is being carried on the boats crossing to Sarnia as a result of a recent government order.

Sheriff Has Druggist and Booze.

MARSHALL, June 4.

Sheriff Mallory has in the basement of the Calhoun county jail 108 pints of bottled whisky and Fay Spaulding, Battle Creek druggist, is under arrest on a charge of transporting liquor in a dry county without a proper label.

Senator Lane Very Ill.

San Francisco, May 21.—United States Senator Harry Lane of Portland, Ore., who is ill at a hospital here, was reported by the physicians in charge to be very low.

Persian Wisdom.

Do not talk about repentance to me. What is the use of regrets? Falsehood tells you repent; truth says love only. Whatever was alien to God remains not. Shut off all remembrance from yourself. We are embarrassed by traditions on our way. Speak not about the past; live in the shadow of love, and let everything else pass on.

HELD AS SPIES OF GERMANY

Men Must Answer Charge of Sending Advice as to U. S. Fleet.

NEW YORK, N. Y.—United States Commissioner Hitchcock, in holding in high bail three men arrested in an allegde conspiracy to transmit military and naval information to Germany, said he understood they were connected with the sending to Berlin of advices regarding the secret departure of the American destroyers to England.

In holding two of the men in $25,000 bail and one in $20,000, Commissioner Hitchcock said: "In view of the fact that news of the departure of American destroyers reached Berlin four days before they arrived in England, and it is my understanding that the government considers the present matter part and parcel of that case, I do not consider the bail is high."

OLD GLORY'S CALL

Don't you see those stars a-shining
in that glorious field of blue?
Don't you see those stripes a-waving for the loyal and the true?
Don't you see "Old Glory" smiling
as she beckons you and me
To come and fight for Uncle Sam
and for Humanity?

CHORUS

Yes, we're coming now, "Old Glory," quick responsive to your call,
For we know your wondrous story of true liberty for all.
From the farm and from the city, from the North, South, East and West;
Side by side we'll do our duty for the land we love the best.

We will meet our friends and brothers in the lands across the sea,
And we'll show them that our colors stand for true fraternity.
Where "Old Glory" waves her greeting, there we'll follow to the end,
And we'll prove to all Our Allies that Old Uncle Sam's a friend.

DEMAND EX-CZAR AS HOSTAGE

Kronstadt Anarchists Declare Abolition of Capital Punishment Was Made Too Soon—Denounce Kerensky and Say New Government Is Bourgeois—Root Party on Way to Petrograd.

WASHINGTON — President Wilson's communication to the new Russion government on the war aims of the United States has been delivered at Petrograd by Ambassador Francis, but will not be published in this country or in Russia while the state department is clearing up what are officially characterized as "matters of detail."

Demand Czar as Hostage.

PETROGRAD — Sailors from the Kronstadt garrison, which recently declared its independence of the central government, arrived in Petrograd with the announcement that warships at Kronstadt would come to Petrograd immediately and land men to make demonstrations.

Later it was reported that sailors had landed at Gutuyeff island, port of Petrograd, and begun an attack. A visit to the Gutuyeff port quarter showed that the story of the landing and attack was untrue. However, it was sufficiently alarming to provoke excitement in the city and cause thed ispatch to the spot of a military force.

Petrograd waits for the threatened demonstrations by the Kronstadt warships and at the time passed with no such incident the announcement of the sailors who reached here came to be regarded by a majority as merely boastful talk on the part of the extremists acting in defiance of the orders of Anatole Lamanov, president of the Kronstadt council of workingmen and soldiers' deputies.

The Kronstadt sailors who came to Petrograd said the demonstrations would be for the purpose of bringing about new elections of members of the council of soldiers' and workingmen's delegates, whose present members were denounced as bourgeois.

The sailors also demanded that Former Emperor Nicholas be handed over to them. At street meetings they expressed dissatisfaction with War Minister Kerensky and the whole provisional government, especially abolition of the death penalty, which they characterized as premature.

DRAFT WILL BE PUSHED RAPIDLY

U. S. Wants 625,000 Men for Army at Once.

1,500,000 WILL BE CALLED

General Crowder Says to Get Army of Strength Needed Large Number Must Be Taken by Government as Soon as the Registration Is Completed.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Plans of the war department to draft from 900,000 to 1,500,000 men of the 10,000,000 who registered for the new army were disclosed by General Crowder, provost marshal, to the senate military affairs committee. Exemptions, he said, probably would result in reducing the number to 625,000 men for immediate service.

While the war department had planned originally to first select 500,000 men, General Crowder told the committee the plans have been revised and it now is proposed to require 625,000. To obtain this number he said it probably will be necessary to draft at least 900,000 and possibly 1,500,000 because of expected exemptions.

General Crowder told the committee the additional 125,000 will be needed to fill up vacancies in the army of 500,000 and to keep training camps in continuous operation. When the original plans for service for 500,000 men were made, he said, the department had not planned to send American forces aboard so soon. Casualties from foreign service, he believed, sickness, etc., make necessary a reserve of 125,000 men, in addition to the men on duty at training camps.

Favors Immediate Drafting.

The general informed the committee he favored immediate drafting of men registering, rather than postponement of the draft for several weeks after registration. He regards it desirable that men drafted may know and can have a few weeks to make their personal arrangements before they are called to the colors. Details of making exemptions also were explained to the committee by the provost marshal. He said the government does not contemplate any class exemptions, but that all will be personal. Farmers, factory operatives and other special classe would not be exempted as such, nor territorially, but all exemptions will be made individually.

The men drafted probably will be in training camps by Sept. 1, General Crowder said. He added that he favored beginning selections within two weeks after registration so that exemption work may be expedited and notifications of final selections made as soon thereafter as possible.

TO STAGE SHOW OF USED CARS

Detroit Dealers Put on Exhibit and Sale June 9 to 17, in Big New Garage.

Cars Will Be Up-to-Date in Looks and Equipment, Ready for Use.

Buyers of used motor cars from all over Michigan are going to have their greatest opportunity next month when the Detroit Auto Dealers' association will stage a tremendous used car exhibition and sale in Detroit's fine new Crosstown garage on John R. street at Warren avenue. The pick of used cars from most of the association members will be offered at that time and nothing but high grade machines in the best of condition, both mechanically and in appearance will be allowed in the show.

The dates have been set from June 9th to June 17th, making it an eight-day affair and the exhibit will be open to the buying public on two Sundays. This will give practically everyone interested in high-grade used machines an opportunity of inspecting the exhibit.

The board of directors of the D. A. D. A. decided upon this plan as one that will be welcomed by the public, for it gives the buyer an opportunity of inspecting practically all of the quality used cars under one roof and in this way a job that would take days under ordinary conditions, can be done in a few hours.

No car will be exhibited that is not equipped with electric lights and starter, while the finish and tires must be up to a high standard, for the association reserves the right to pass upon all cars exhibited and will allow nothing in the show that will reflect upon the good name of the organization. The Crosstown garage, which is one of the largest in the world, offers an ideal place for holding this show, as it is easily accessible and the exhibitors will have plenty of room to properly display their cars. Between 300 and 350 cars can be shown and from such a selection it will be a hard matter for anyone who wants an automobile not to find just the car he wants.

As with the annual winter show, this exhibit will be under the direction of the directors of the D. A. D. A. and every precaution will be used to provide for the comfort of visitors. Heretofore it has been a rather difficult task for the man who is anxious to get the greatest value for his money to go into the open market and pick out the car he wants at the price.

Under this plan the buyer can look the cars over as quickly as he desires and will not even have to ask questions regarding them unless he so desires, for each car will bear a tag telling the year and model of the car giving a general description of its condition and also the price. The building will be open each day from 10 o'clock in the morning until 10:30 o'clock at night and these hours, together with the Sunday openings, will give everyone a chance. Twice each day the cars which have been sold may be removed so that the purchaser does not have to wait until the close of the show for delivery. Dealers may also bring in other cars to take the place of those which are sold.

Besides gasoline cars, there will be a comprehensive exhibit of electrics, and in case of available space, a number of used trucks and delivery cars also will be displayed. This feature will undoubtedly prove interesting to buyers from the state for the commercial vehicle is becoming more and more a necessity on the farm and in the smaller cities and towns. Other features of interest will be provided.

A decorative scheme is being worked out and when the doors are thrown open on Saturday evening, June 9th, the big garage will greatly resemble one of the mid-winter shows of the past 16 years. Chicago recently held a show of this nature and it proved a marked success, the public demonstrating that it is greatly interested in used cars and only asks a fair chance to inspect them in order to buy.

The details of this show are being worked out by H. H. Shuart, who managed the show last January, at the office of the association in the Gladwin building, 270 Woodward avenue. The officers of the association who are responsible for this innovation are Charles E. Baker, W. J. Bemb, A. L. Zeckendorf, George W. Franklin and W. J. Gordon.

DIRECTIONS FOR MAKING PILLOWS FOR RED CROSS

Directions Issued by Department for the Local Chapter.

The following directions have been received for the making of pillows for the soldiers. It is suggested that each one cut this article out, and save it for future use.

First—Pillows are made of white and very light colored snippings. Don't make snippings too large. Pillow ticks must be made of new or unbleached muslins in size as follows: 10x10 inches, 12x12 inches, 10x15 inches. Above are sizes of ticks when finished. Pillows made from snippings must be fairly well filled, but not too full, as they need to be soft.

Second—Pillows made from feathers will be very desirable in size 12x18 inches. It is to be hoped that all interested in making pillows will make as many feather pillows as possible.

Ticks for feather pillows must be made of ticking or denim, and may be made of old material, if stout. All old material must be thoroughly boiled before using either for snippings, for ticks, or covers. Each of the above pillows must have two cases These are to be cut two inches wider and four inches longer than pillow, and a one inch hem turned at the bottom. These white cases may be made from either new or old muslin, but old must be stout.

Third—A pillow made 16x16 inches filled with colored snippings (not black material) will be desirable. Ticks for this pillow may be made from colored calico but cases must be white. All material used in making this pillow must be thoroughly boiled.

This pillow campaign is for the relief and comfort of the soldiers, in which so many, both young and old, are taking special interest. It is to be hoped that everyone will respond to this work. All working societies are asked to appoint a chairman to take charge of this important branch of relief work, so that in a very short time Tecumseh and surrounding towns may be able to send a goodly number of their pillows to the sick and wounded who need them so much.

GATHERING AT MITCHELL HOME IN HOLLOWAY

On Wednesday Miss Kyle's Class of the Presbyterian Sunday school enjoyed one of their jolly gatherings this time at the home of Mrs. Hobart Mitchell near Holloway. There were about 35 in the party and each put in every minute having a good time. Photographer Coller managed to "snap" the class between showers.

A big potluck dinner started off the festivities and then came a program which no listener will forget. There were singing, instrumental solos by Mrs. Waring, charades by Mesdames Willis Smith, Lynn Butrck, Fred Aylesworth and Milbourn Keyser, readings by Mrs. A. J. Montgomery and a sketch, "Advertizing for a Servant." The actresses were:

Mrs. Bray—Mrs. Jas. Cupples
Mr. Bray—Mrs. Hugh Ager
Bridget O'Tingley — Mrs. Eugene Service
Katrina Kloffenfingerminger—Mrs Will Cubitt
Lily Snowdrop—Mrs. Franc Gillespie
Mrs. Jones—Mrs. H. S. Waring
Little Freddie Jones—Mrs. Jennie Weir

After a social hour or two the autos started for home and the happy afternoon was over.

BIG CROWD WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Tecumseh Merchants Started Their Bargain Day Entertainments and Were Rewarded by Big Attendance

Good Entertainment for Opening Night. Tipton Band Furnished the Music.

The first Bargain Day of the season was ushered in by our Tecumseh merchants last Wednesday. In spite of the hard rain of the afternoon, people commenced to pour into town in the early evening and soon our streets took on a familiar look for the autos and rigs were lined up in every direction, the down town section being packed full. It was thought that the afternoon performance would have to be omitted on account of the severe storm but the weather man was on our side for once and called off the rain and the show was put on. The crowd, however, was small. The evenings entertainment was a little late in getting started and as a result lasted a little longer than usual, but everyone seemed to enjoy it and expressed themselves as well pleased.

The entertainment committee expected to have a three act program but were disappointed in one of their numbers. Two good acts were used however. The first "The Hawaiian Quarette" in native instrumental and song music and the other a bicycle act. Both acts were good and the Hawiian music which is so popular at the present time made a hit. The pair of bicycle riders did some new stunts and we heard many favorable comments.

The Tipton Band played during the evening and gave us a fine program.

Wednesday's Bargain Day was the opening of the season and started us in on our third successive year of free entertainments and from every indication these special days are as popular as ever. The merchants all report a good trade and everything points toward a successful season.

The hand bills were as numerous as ever for the editor accumulated about two dozen different varities in his machine. So we take it that Tecumseh was well advertised Wednesday night.

In lieu of the fact that a hard storm broke in this section early in the afternoon, everyone was more than pleased with the large attendance Wednesday evening and it only goes to show that our Bargain Day entertainments are popular in this section. Many drove from quite a distance to attend and a fair sized delegation were over from Adrian to take in the event.

LOWE—OSBORNE

Last Friday evening, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lowe near Ridgeway, occurred the marriage of their daughter, Purnell A., to Raymond C. Osborne of North Adrian, in the presence of 130 invited guests.

To the strains of "Lohenghrin's Bridal Chorus" played by Miss Estella Pocklington, the bridal party descended the stairs. The groom and Louis Schneider of Tecumseh as best man were followed by the bride with her sister Alice, the maid of honor.

They proceeded to the southeast corner of the parlor which was a beautifully decorated bower of pink, green and white with ropes of apple blossoms extended across the corner from either window. Below this was an embankment of beautiful foliage tinted with pink blossoms.

Rev. J. E. Somers performed the ceremony which made them man and wife.

The bride was gowned in a beautiful white satin dress trimmed with lace and pearls. She carried a shower boquet of lillies of the valley, white roses and maiden hair fern. Miss Alice Lowe was gowned in yellow silk and chiffon.

Immediately after congratulations a three course supper was served on small tables through the rooms by the Camp Fire Girls with Mrs. Iva Dixon of Tecumseh caterer. The bride's table was in pink and white with the centerpiece pink roses.

The gifts were many and beautiful including money, furniture, silver, china, cut glass and linen.

Guests were present from Detroit, Port Huron, Devil's lake, Toledo, Manchester, Saline, Tecumseh, Deerfield and Oxford, N. Y.

Both of the young people are well known here. Mrs. Osborne has spent her whole life in Ridgeway, being a graduate of the Ridgeway and Tecumseh schools and Blissfield Normal and has been primary teacher at Ridgeway the past two years. Raymond is the son of Mr and Mrs. Chas. Osborne of North Adrian and has many friends in Tecumseh.

They will begin housekeeping at once on a farm at North Adrian and their many friends join in congratulations.

Baked apples and baked or fried bananas make an excellent substitute for a vegetable and may be used with meat instead of the potato or onion and at a smaller cost. MICHIGAN REGISTERED ABOUT 330,000 NAMES TUESDAY

Lenawee's Share was a Little Over 3,000

169 Men Between 21 and 30 Years Registered in the Two Precincts in the Township.

Tuesday's registration in Michigan rolled up a grand total of about 330,000 young men of the draft age. Reports are not all in but the number is in excess of the estimate made by Government and State authorities. Lenawee Caunty's registration showed a total of nearly 3,000 of which the City of Adrian contributed 734.

In the two precincts in Tecumseh there were registered 169 names divided as follows: 1st precinct 75 and 2nd precinct 94. About half of the men who registered claimed exemptions and only six were termed aliens or alien enemies The above term is applied to all men from countries with which we are at war, including "declarants" who are citizens of a country with which we are at war, are alike alien enemies.

Supervisor, John Schreder, who was in charge of the registration, stated that he thought the list was very complete in this township and that the slackers were few if any. Those in charge of the work encountered no trouble in getting suitable answers to the questions asked. The list will be compared with the pole list later and any who did not register will be found out.

In many of our larger cities it was impossible for the boards to take care of all who presented themselves for registration and a later day will have to be designated to finish up the task.

Michigan, from the result of the registration Tuesday, will do her share towards furnishing Uncle Sam with an army.

SENIOR RECEPTION

As a fitting prelude to commencement day, the reception given by the Seniors Friday night was a decided success. Grange hall was gay with decorations of flags and flowers and the young ladies with their pretty gowns, the young men in their best attire, lent an added charm to the scene. Even the High School bell held a conspicuous place in the decorations.

A very pleasing program was given of a floral nature.

Music—Boys Glee Club.
"American Beauty"—Leslie Johnson.
Violin Solo—Gertrude Miller.

At the close of the program light refreshments were served with a group of young boys for waiters. Souveniors of American flags were given each one.

The guests of the evening were the Juniors, Supt. and Mrs. W. D. Reed, the teachers and the Principal. A delightful evening was reported by those present.

BABY KEET'S BODY IN WELL

Angry Springfield, Mo., Citizens Pursue Sheriff Spiriting Suspects Away Put Rope Around One's Neck. Manhood of Intended Victim Seems More Effective Than Sheriff.

Springfield, Mo., June 11.—The Springfield mob of many thousands of representative citizens dispersed at five o'clock Sunday morning when the light of day began to make the tired faces of the watchers look worn and haggard. The men who went to get Claude Piersol and Taylor Adams thought to have been implicated in the kidnaping of the infant son of J. Holland Keet, found Saturday morning murdered and thrown into a deep well, came back to Springfield without the men. They had decided that there would not be a lynching because they could not prove the guilt of the men and to the last they protested that they were innocent. It is learned that Piersol and Adams reached Kansas City after escaping a second mob and are in jail there.

Piersol's Gameness Stays Mob.

When a rope was drawn tight about the neck of Piersol, after the sheriff was overtaken near Stockton, Mo., he protested he was innocent, defied them to do their worst because there was nothing to confess and made them halt and listen to him. In these dramatic scenes Piersol threw his arms above his head and shouted "Now go ahead, but tell my folks I didn't do it."

The sheriff did not make the men from Springfield fight for his prisoner because he told them they could take the men provided they returned them unhurt. They promised and the sheriff gave the prisoners into their keeping.

The deputy who had Piersol and Adams in charge took them away, the sheriff didn't know where. It is learned that they were attacked by a second mob after the Springfield posse started back home, and that the deputy who had them in charge had a wild fight to get them to a place of safety. The men reached Kansas City and were locked up finally, but how long they will be kept there is not known or what the feeling in Kansas City will drive that populace to do. It is certain that the spirit of the mob says "Hang Piersol and Taylor Adams."

Baby's Body in Well.

Springfield, Mo., June 11.—Baby Lyold Keet was found dead.

The child had been drowned in a well on an abandoned farm at least four days ago, according to the findings from an autopsy, when the band of kidnapers who took him from his home Wednesday night, May 30, began to fear capture.

How His Wife Helped.

Columbus was married in 1470 or thereabouts to a Miss Palestrello of Lisbon, whose father had distinguished himself as a navigator. A part of her marriage dower was a great collection of valuable charts, journals and important memoranda. She possessed a fine education and was widely known as a brainy, brilliant woman, who was constantly urging her husband on in the path which finally brought him to the wonderful goal with which we are so familiar.

DOUBT VALIDITY OF SLEEPER'S RELEASES

Flint Druggists Not Given Indeterminate Sentences.

FLINT, June 11.

Steps will be taken by Genesee county officials to question the right of Governor Sleeper and the pardon board to parole O. W. Hendricks, sentenced to sixty-five days, and commute the ninety day sentence of John Crane to sixty days, two drug clerks convicted after a long fight at Flint against blind pigs and drug stores which violated the local option laws.

The action of the state authorities was taken without consulting Genesee county officials and has aroused considerable bitterness here where these first convictions under the local option law had given reform forces hopes for cleaning up the city of its unlawful resorts.

Major De Hull N. Travis, of this city, for[illegible]r of the pardon board, as secretary of Governor Osborn, called the attention of the county officers to the fact that the advisory board of pardons was created under the indeterminate sentence law, and that Governor Sleeper and the board therefore had no jurisdiction in the Flint local option cases, where definite sentences were imposed.

LIQUOR BRIBE IS CHARGED

IRON RIVER, June 11.

Edward Wanzer, supervisor, J. D. White, clerk, and John F. Westerberg, justice of the peace, members of the township board of the Township of Stambaugh, Iron County, were arrested on warrants alleging that they accepted $3,000 in money for the granting of liquor licenses.

Wanzer, White and Westerberg have each given bonds in the sum of $3,000 for their appearance Wednesday, June 14. The defendants have resided in the district for years.

WRECK BILL HOHENZOLLERN

Picture of Kaiser in Restaurant Is Divided Among Soldiers.

DETROIT, June 11.

Kaiser Bill Hohenzollern's likeness was divided piecemeal among soldiers of the Thirty-third Michigan infantry.

Fifty soldiers went into a tearoom owned by a Turk the night before, but they didn't go to sup, tea or to smoke. They glanced at pictures of rulers of the world, which the Turk had on the wall. The restaurant man was forced to make a vacant place where Kaiser Bill had been represented. One soldier had the mustach and another a wrinkle in Bill's cheek.

MICHIGAN IS 40,000 OVER

State's Registration Figures Far Exceed Government Estimates.

LANSING, June 11.

With nine counties missing, including Wayne, the total Michigan registration figures are 199,150. Adding unofficial figures for Wayne county and Detroit, with an estimate for the missing upstate districts, state officials predict that the grand total will reach 360,000.

Federal officials placed the probable Michigan registration at 328,691, which will probably be exceeded by 40,000.

The Castor Oil Plant.

The plant which is referred to in the fourth chapter of the book of Jonah as the "gourd," which afforded shade to the prophet before Nineveh, was the castor oil plant. This plant, a native of Asia, is now naturalized in America, in Africa and in the south of Europe.

In India the castor oil plant grows to a considerable height and is almost a tree. In England it seldom attains a height of more than three or four feet. In the United States it grows to three or four times that height in new ground or where cultivated.

HARVEST OPENS IN TWO STATES

Texas and Oklahoma Are Garnering Their Wheat.

MARKETING SERIOUS PROBLEM

Speculation on Boards of Trade Has Ceased, and No Regular Prices Are Offered—Crop Prospect Promises a Slightly Increased Yield Over 1916.

Chicago, June 11.—Harvesting of new wheat is on in Texas and Oklahoma, and every day of good weather will see the march of the reaper steadily northward. The question in the minds of the miller, the exporter, elevator man and the speculator is, "how will the new crop be handled?" There are three ways. One is to remove restrictions on speculative trading, another is to have the government fix maximum and minimum prices, and the third is to have the government fix a price at which it will take over the entire crop.

Mr. Hoover proposes to have a controlling body in charge of the handling of all products, composed of representatives of the trade, who will work voluntarily in the handling of products from the farm to the producer. It is a big proposition, one full of so many complications that it will take a long time to work out.

No Bids for Wheat.

The farmer would like to know what he will be able to get for his winter wheat. Cash handlers who are usually buyers of the new crop at this season are out of the market, and there are no regular bids for the new wheat from any class of buyers. There is an impression that high prices will prevail.

A crop of 700,000,000 bu. is regarded by experts as a limit of possibilities for the United States. With only 300,000,000 bu. in Canada, which it will do well to secure, there would be 1,000,000,000 bu. in North America. On the basis of consumptive requirements for the two countries of 680,000,000 bu., this would leave 320,000,000 bu. surplus, exclusive of the carry over from the crop of 1916, which will be small. Possibly 300,000,000 bu., or a little more, might be spared for export, but it will leave practically nothing at the end of the season.

Crop Report a Surprise.

The greatest surprise the trade has had was the government crop report issued late Friday, showing 656,000,000 bu., or only 16,000,000 bu. more than last year. The condition of winter wheat was lowered to 70.9 which, in view of the good growing conditions in the last forty days, suggests that possibly the May figures were made too high and the June returns were evened up.

In a season like the present thrashing returns generally bring larger results than suggested by conditional figures.

That there will be no surplus of wheat the world over for the season of 1917-18 is a certainty. The allies will have to be fed. They need 570,000,000 bu. of wheat, as their own crops are small and reserves light.

Afraid to Hedge Wheat.

With restrictions on buying, the wheat market has become such a small affair that wide fluctuations in prices have no specific meaning. The buying of 15,000 bu. of July put the price up 16c Saturday. Cash handlers say that they do not know what to do. They are afraid to buy new wheat in country, as it cannot be hedged. Farmers do not want to sell at prices elevator people and millers are willing to pay.

It is easier to put on a hedge than to take it off, and under restricted trading the purchase or sale of 100,000 bu. at any time might make a fluctuation of 10c, so that the risk is too great. Possibly farmers will soon wake up to the market situation when the new crop is available for movement in large volume, and demand an open market and that congress aid them. Until there is an open market no one knows what the wheat market will do, or what can be done.

The great Liberty Loan drive ends Friday, June 15 and every effort is being made to bring the amount of subscriptions throughout the country up to and over the $2,000,000,000 amount asked for by the Government. Have we all done our share here in Tecumseh?

This is not a donation entirely it is an investment. The bonds pay an interest of 3 1-2 per cent payable semi annually. You are also investing to help Uncle Sam win the war and it is the patriotic duty of every one who can to invest in Liberty Bonds.

We American people do not know how to give. In France and other countries where the war has been in full swing for nearly three years, the people have purchased their government bonds to the limit. Many have given to the last cent that their government might have funds to push the war.

Give this matter your earnest consideration and if you have not already invested go to your bank and do so at once.

In retiring from the chairmanship of the local Red Cross, Mrs. B. J. Pulver leaves behind a fine record. Mrs. Pulver gave to the work her untiring efforts and guided it through the early stages when there was little information to be had in regard to the work of the organization. She was largely instrumental for the success of the membership campaign and to her much credit is due toward increasing the donation fund. She is one of our patriotic women who was more than willing to lay aside her personal interests and devote her time to the interest of humanity.

GREAT VALUE OF TIN.

It Is Indispensable, and There Is No Substitute For It.

Nickel and tin are the only important metals that have not been found in paying quantities among our mineral resources, although the fact that we are the largest consumers of tin plate in the world has stimulated the search. [illegible] quantities has been [illegible] places in the United [illegible] of what we use comes [illegible] in England; Banka, in [illegible] and Malacca, in south [illegible]

[illegible] that has played an im[illegible] the history of the [illegible] with copper to make [illegible] doubtless the first metal [illegible] rted to his use. Weap[illegible] utensils made of bronze were used [illegible] a long period before iron and steel came in use. The United States now uses in the manufacture of tin cans as much tin plate as all other countries together use for all purposes.

There is no substitute for tin. Price has little effect on consumption, which is not true of other metals. If the cost 15 cents a pound we should perhaps put a thicker coating on our plates and make better solder and babbitt metal, but if it were a dollar a pound we should still have to use it for nearly every one of the purposes for which it is now employed.

The lack of tin is one of the few things that keep the United States from being self sufficient. If we were suddenly deprived of our supply of tin and solder we should soon have serious sanitary troubles.—Youth's Companion.

EXPERTS IN THE WATER.

The Japanese Are Masters of Many Tricks of Swimming.

The Japanese are extremely fond of swimming, and among the younger generation of students and the coast population there are some splendid long distance swimmers. Schools of natation teach the art in a systematic manner, and, although the best racing records of Japan are not equal to the western, a Japanese expert can perform some truly wonderful feats. For example, he can jump into deep water and maintain his position with the water no higher than the loins, while he fires a gun, writes on a slate, paints a picture on a fan with a brush or moves freely in every direction as if he were walking on solid ground.

The expert, while he rarely emulates the graceful high dive of the American or the European, can leap from a great height and strike the surface of the water with his chest without sinking or wetting his face and head. In some mysterious way he contrives to escape the painful consequences which the impact would inevitably cause to the foreigner who should try this feat. It is said that the old time samurai frequently made use of this trick when crossing a river or stream. In such cases they carried their armor and weapons on their heads.

The famous "crawl" stroke, which occidental swimmers first acquired not very long ago, has been known and practiced in Japan for hundreds of years.—Los Angeles Times.

A General's Last Order.

It is over a hundred years since General Mallet was shot for a conspiracy against Napoleon. The circumstances of his death, told by G. Duval in "Shadows of Old Paris," were curious. The general had asked that in consideration of his past services to the nation he might give the command to fire to the soldiers who were to execute him. "As they lifted their muskets to take aim the general's practiced eye discovered a want of unison in their movements, which he reproved, ordering them to repeat it properly, and with the word 'Fire!' on his lips he fell, pierced by the bullets of twenty muskets."

BACK TO THE SOIL.

Lure of Nature to the Country Bred Toiling in the Cities.

Life in the city is coming more and more to seem an unnatural exile, particularly to the country bred, at whose heartstrings boyish memories of farm and orchard, of wood and stream, tug appealingly, making pictures to the inner eye as of lost paradises as they sit imprisoned in their palaces, slaves to the telephone and the ticker.

More and more such men are planning to escape, vowing to themselves that they will rest satisfied with the modest competence rather than the big fortune, so that they can pull out while they still have some youth left and be boys again in the old countryside, fish the old streams and go coon hunting in the old woods. I know many men with that ambition.

For a man who has been exiled in the city for a number of years, having during that time had no more intimate acquaintance with nature than is to be snatched in his annual holiday at some fashionable beach or some luxurious hotel in the mountains—for such a one to [illegible] of spring, day after day, a [illegible] of old woodland [illegible] to be the recapture of youth, [illegible] in a world whose sole freshness and sorrow is the inescapable doom of growing old.—Richard Le Gallienne in Harper's Magazine.

FIRE ESCAPES FOR SCHOOLS.

These Serve as a Play Scheme as Well as a Protection.

Some of the California schools are equipped with novel fire escapes, which are not only a safeguard, but afford the children as much amusement as a regular playground equipment. One of these fire escapes in Tropico, near Los Angeles, consists of several long sheet metal chutes, reenforced with angle iron and secured to the walls of the building. They extend from an iron platform on the second floor, which leads from the main corridor. Separate chutes are provided for the boys and girls.

The teachers encourage the use of the slides as an amusement to accustom the children to them. Each slide ends in a slight upward curve to check the momentum of the descent. At the point where the children reach the ground a pile of loose sand breaks the fall.

In Venice, Cal., a spiral chute is employed, which is inclosed in a cylindrical metal casing. This is entered from a platform leading from the upper story. Like the straight slide, it is used as an amusement device by the pupils. A local hospital makes use of one of the same design.

Futility of "No Trespass" Signs.

In the American Magazine David Grayson comments as follows on a farmer who covered his land with "No Trespass" signs:

"I did not need to enter his fields, nor climb his hill, nor walk by his brook. But as the springs passed and the autumns whitened into winter I came into more and more complete possession of all those fields that he so jealously posted. I looked with strange joy upon his hill, saw April blossom in his orchard and May color the wild grape leaves along his walls. June I smelled in the sweet vernal of his hay fields, and from the October of his maples and beeches I gathered rich crops—and put up no hostile signs of ownership, paid no taxes, worried over no mortgage and often marveled that he should be so poor within his posted domain and I so rich without."

Combs and the Hair.

The best comb for the hair is the hard rubber coarse comb with smooth, rounded edges that will not cut the hair. A fine comb has many disadvantages; therefore the all coarse comb is to be preferred. A metal tooth comb tends to pull out good hair and is liable to wound and scratch the scalp. Never use a comb the teeth of which are broken. One should never try to save money at the expense of a good comb. The comb should be washed frequently in water in which ammonia has been added. Scrub out the teeth with a nail brush and soap. A sun bath is also good for the comb.

When Howells Was Young.

In 1884, when I went to Boston to study, Howells was the most conspicuous novelist in the city, was indeed an issue. He had just published "Silas Lapham" and was in the full tide of his powers. All literary Boston was divided into three parts—those who liked him and read him, those who read him and hated him and those who just plain hated him. The most fiercely debated question in many clubs ran something like this: "Are Howells' heroines true to life or are they merely satiric types?" And most of his feminine critics were fiercely indignant over his "injustice to woman." "He never depicts a noble woman," they declared.—Hamlin Garland in Bookman.

NEWS SERVICE

American Defense Society.

Washington, June:—For what is he United States fighting? was the question asked on the eve of the first registration under the Selective Draft law chiefly by Socialists and pacifists following the lead of those elements in other countries. Even in Germany the government has been interpolated as to its aims and objects, but the question there has been answered more plainly than in any other of the warring nations.

The United States is fighting for self-preservation. In 1776 America fought for its own independence and the self-preservation of the Colonies; in 1861, the fight was for preservation of the Union and continuance of the independence of all the States, and in 1917 the United States is fighting for its economic and its actual physical independence. Only the war of 1898 was what might be called "altruistic."

Unfortunately, however, officials and other speakers of the higest position in the land have utterly neglected to mention the real cause of America's present war, but have emphasized the "ideals" of the United States and its entry into the war for "service" and "humanity" and "democracy." The United States may be fighting for "ideals," it may be giving its blood and treasure for "humanity," but these are merely collateral phases.

The United States is fighting for its self-preservation and and independence, just as are Great Britian and France and Italy and all the other countries allied against Prussia.

"Pan-Germanism" is the enemy which the United States is fighting; the unconcealed—the avowed—object to Prussia in starting this war. First Europe was to be Prussianized, under the German program; then the Monroe doctrine would have been torn to shreds like other "scraps of paper" and Mexico and South America would have been seized, in which even the United States would have had either to fight or to surrender abjectly one ofits most cherished and self-protective principles.

Instead of impressing this fact on the people, however, speakers have devoted their attention to "ideals" and have sought to arouse enthusiasm over a war for the abstract, rather than the concrete. And few men are going whole-heartedly into a fight for "ideals," while millions would rush to the colors if informed that their country was in actual peril.

The time has come to tell the truth: The United States is fighting for self-preservation. The armies and navies of the other Allies are "the first line of defense" for the United States; if these fail, the enemy will be at America's doors and will carry into this country the same barbarous warfare that it has waged in the fields of France and Belgium.

Proof has been given by the General Staff of the War Department that Germany and Austria could land half a million men on the shores of the United States in two weeks and over half a million more in less than another month. Also, the late Admiral Dewey said in a letter to Former Representative A. P. Gardner: "It is true that a large hostile force can land on the open coast wherever the transports can get within reasonable distance of the shore, and especially so where their landing is covered by the gunfire of the naval escort, even though the landing be opposed by troops."

Furthermore, Admiral Dewey said that "hostile expedition can land upon our coast at will."

When the American people realize that they are fighting primarily for self-preservation, and secondarily for "service" and "humanity" and "democracy" the arguments of the socialists and pacifists will carry mighty little weight.

FLAG PROCLAMATION

By the Governor.

Flag Day! Why? That we may not forget that our Flag is the symbol of liberty, the national emblem of our free Republic. This broad land over which it floats has been for generations a refuge for the oppressed of every race of every clime.

We honor the Flag in times of peace. We are ready to follow it now in time of war, because we know that where it leads, injustice and tyranny and oppression cannot long endure.

"Forever float that standard sheet!
Where breathes the foe, but falls before us!
With Freedom's soil beneath our feet
And Freedom's banner streaming o'er us."

We have flung out our banner to the breeze, that its gleaming stripes and shining stars may tell to all the world that in this Nation the love of freedom still lives, and that liberty is still our watchword. Beneath its rippling folds, more than a hundred million souls proclaim their united purpose to uphold the cause of humanity.

"One flag, one land,
One heart, one hand,
One nation evermore."

THEREFORE, I, Albert E. Sleeper, Governor of the State of Michigan, do issue this my Proclamation; and I urgently request that Thursday, the fourteenth day of June, 1917, be observed as Flag Day.

I suggest not only that flags be displayed on all public buildings and so far as practicable, on all private dwellings, but that both young and old of our people wear miniature flags upon their persons.

Given under my hand the Great Seal of the State, this sixth day of June, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and seventeen and of the commonwealth the eighty-first.

Albert E. Sleeper, Governor.
By the Governor:
Coleman C. Vaughn,
Secretary of State.

SUNDAY AT THE CHURCHES

Sunday was a big day with the churches in Tecumseh. The Presbyterian people passed another mile stone in their history when their church which has recently undergone extensive improvements was rededicated. In the evening the pastor Rev. W. A. Rex preached the baccalaureate sermon to the class of 1917 T H S

At the Methodist, Baptist and St Peter's churches, the morning services were given over to the children, it being Children's Day. The churches were especially decorated for the occasion and splendid programs were given by the young people. At the Methodist church several infants and one adult were baptized by the pastor

After several months of exile from their church, the Presbyterian people reassembled at their place of worship Sunday morning for the Rededication services. The choir had prepared special music for the occasion which consisted of anthems, a number by the Temple Quartette and a solo by Fred Dickinson.

The chairman of the building committee John R. Nyland was called upon for a report and stated that the expenditures to date for improvements on the church amounted to $2,830.00 and that pledges had been secured to oover this amount with a little over $100.00 to the good. He spoke of the loyal help he had received from members of the committee and from nearly everyone in the church who had helped with labor and funds to make the building campaign a success.

The improvements which have been made cover the remodeling on either side of the organ loft, making four additional rooms, frescoing the auditorium, refinishing the woodwork, laying a new hardwood floor in the itorium, refinishing the woodwork, auditorium, study and class rooms and new runners down the aisles and a beautiful rug in front of the pulpit.

In closing the chairman stated that the work of the committee was finished so far as the work planned was concerned, but there were improvements still to be made to the church property which were very essential. These improvements were rebuilding the approaches to the church, which he recommended and suggested that the material used be of cement, also repairs at the manse, the reshingling of the house and repairing the furnace or a new furnace to replace the old one. These repairs he estimated would be more than the amount already pledged and placed the matter before the congregation for their disposal. The congregation voted that the services of the committee be continued and that these repars be made. Cards were circulated among the members for pledges to finish the work.

Rev. Rex estimated that the repairs that had been made to the church amounted to about $3,500.00 but the actual money expended was a trifle over $2,500.00. The difference of $1,000.00 had been contributed by the loyal members of the church who for the past few months had donated their time in doing all kinds of work. The spirit of co-operation had been wonderful and most helpful, and every member of the church has felt that they had a personal interest in the work accomplished. A great deal of credit is due nearly every member of the church and many who were not members, but especially to the pastor, Rev. W. A. Rex, and to the chairman of the building committee, J. R. Nyland, who as chairman of the building committee has given freely of his time and has worked entirely for the success of the undertaking.

The rededication sermon was preached by Dr. George E. Barnes of Battle Creek who took for his text, "Be thou faithful until death and I will give thee a crown of life." Dr. Barnes gave a very fine sermon and applied the text to the faithful services rendered by the members of the church during the time of rebuilding. Dr. Barnes is one of the foremost Presbyterian ministers of the Synod and the church was highly honored in having him present on this occasion.

Rev. W. A. Rex then read the dedicatory service of the church.

The regular choir was assisted by Mrs. Ed Heilman, Mrs. J. D. Service, Mrs. Dale Hodges and Burton Garlinghouse.

The usual calendar was this morning a book of unusual beauty, a 12-page booklet containing the calendar of the services of the week, a short history of the church, and an outline of the improvements just completed and the manner in which the same were started. This pretty little book was the work of Pastor Rex aided by his good wife and the Presbyterian congregation are fortunate in having a minister who knows something about "the art preservative."

Superstitions of the Sea.

The persons who sail as passengers on a ship which does not regularly carry passengers are looked upon either with favor or disfavor by the crew. The presence of a child is thought to be a good omen, while women are believed to bring bad luck. Lawyers are looked upon with greatest dislike, for they are considered particularly unlucky. The name "sea lawyer" is the worst term one sailor can use toward another.

A cat on board ship is supposed to cause the vessel to meet with gales. The old saying is, "A cat carries a gale in her tail," and the average sailor believes that when a cat frisks about the deck she is raising a storm. Pigs also have a bad reputation on shipboard.

A Pathetic Benefit.

Perhaps one of the saddest of the many benefits which have been celebrated at Drury Lane was that given on June 27, 1828, for Grimaldi, the greatest clown the stage has known, when the heartbroken old man was wheeled on to the stage in an armchair and hopelessly broke down in his endeavor to sing his once famous ditty, "Hot Codlins."

The old man's memory had completely forsaken him. On that occasion a sum of £1,700 was realized, which, for many years remained a record.—St. James' Gazette.

A TRIP THROUGH THE TORNADO DISTRICT

Hundreds of Tecumseh People Visit the Scene of the Disaster

Reports from the tornado district would seem to be exaggerated but only a trip through the devastated district can give a person anywhere near an idea of the damage done and the awful loss of property suffered in last week's storm by the people who lived in it path.

We did not leave Tecumseh until abous 4 o'clock, but on our way over to Manchester we passed 180 cars coming from the afflicted district Leaving Manchester north we passed a perfect string of autos and the nearer we arrived the more congested the traffic became.

The storm broke at a point about three miles north and a little west of Manchester and traveled northeast cutting a path through the country about the width of a city block. Our first stop was at the Sharon Valley M. E. church. Here we found the church in ruins also the town hall across the highway. A soldier's monument which stood on the corner was toppled over, nothing but the heavy base remained standing. On the monument we found the name of Ezra DuBois who was a member of Capt. A. D. Lawrence's regiment. In the burial lot next to the church the storm had played havoc. Trees were uprooted and grave stones were broken and toppled over

Our next stop was at the Marshall farm about two miles north of the Salem church on the Chelsea road. Here the storm had taken everything. The house and barns were a total wreck, nothing left but a pile of broken timber and rubbish We met the family and they told us of the wonderful escape from death of Mrs. Marshall and her two girls Mrs Marshall said she was in the house when the storm came and was just going down in the cellar with the children. She had reached for the door knob when the house was suddenly carried away, and they with it She realized nothing more until she was picked up later some little distance from the site of the house They escaped without seriour injury, only flesh bruises Mr Marshall was at work drawing gravel on the road and did not reach his home until after the storm had passed over. But little trace of furniture was found about the house and we were told that a Morris chair could be found about a mile away where it had been blown without even a scratch on it.

We next visited the Chris Grau place which is located near Rogers Corners. Here the effects of the storm was even worse than the other places visited. House and barns total wrecks, with lumber scattered about everywhere. A large house owned by a neighbor stood a short distance away which had not been touched, but the barns which stood in the rear were partially in the path of the storm, for a large barn was completely destroyed and another was half down. At the Grau place an orchard which stood near the house was ruined and a large tree which had stood near the entrance to the property was completely torn out of the ground and tossed a couple of rods from the place where it had stood. Here Mr. Grau's daughter was carried from the house and thrown against a wagon, fracturing her hip and in other ways seriously injuring her. She was taken to Ann Arbor where she lays in a critical condition. We saw the tree against which Mr. Grau's hired man was blown and where he clung until the storm had passed. Sunday he was hunting in the rubbish for his watch.

Near the corners we found a new house which had been picked up and moved nearly half way off its foundation without any apparent injury to the house.

Across the road was a house and barn completely demolished. This was the home of Joseph Werk, an old man of 74 years. His sons Joseph Jr. and Martin, lived on a cross road near by and they too had lost everything.

A church, the Zion Lutheran, stood on the corner. The front of the building came in for its share of damage. The roof was blown off the steeple down. A large bell lay on the ground in front of the church where it had fallen. The society had just completed installing a new pipe organ which the storm king kindly spared. One of the members ofthe church told us that a sum of money had already been subscribed for the rebuilding of the church and work would be started as soon as the material was on the ground. The church sheds which stood across the road were picked up and landed in the middle of the road.

On the opposite side of the corners stood two houses neither of which had been touched.

We did not follow the wake of the tornado further than this point as it was already dusk, but others who did report similar damage for miles further on. In traveling through this section it was easy to follow the course of the storm for everything in its path was taken.

Primitive View of the Bullfrog.

The frogs in America, it must here be observed, make a most singular noise, some of them being absolutely whistling, while others croak so loudly that it is difficult at times to tell whether the sound proceeds from a calf or a frog. I have more than once been deceived by the noise when walking in a meadow. These last frogs are called bullfrogs. They mostly keep in pairs and are never found but where there is good water. Their bodies are from four to seven inches long, and their legs are in proportion. They are extremely active and take prodigious leaps.—From an Old Book of Travels.

French cabinet makers use charcoal in polishing wood to give it a dead black color and present an appearance of ebony.

It is believed that the observatory at Peking is the oldest in the world, having been founded in 1279 by Kublai Khan, the first emperor of the Mogul dynasty.

THE MAKING OF PAPER.

Thrift Was the Order of the Day When Only Rag Stock Was Used.

It was in the year 1867 that the first wood pulp paper in the United States was manufactured, and it would be difficult to estimate the benefit this has conferred upon the world, for it was a step in the dissemination of knowledge, particularly current news, just as was the invention of movable types and the printing press.

It will be remembered by many still living with what care every rag was saved to be converted into paper in the days when only rag stock was used in its manufacture and how the paper, after it had served its purpose at the printer's, was carefully put aside for wrapping parcels. Those were days of automatically imposed thrift, which were followed by disregard of economies so widespread that already, after only half a century, we are confronted by a prospect of serious shortage of supply of the new raw material.

Just as the supply of rags in the sixties would not have sufficed for growing needs, so it appears that soon there will not be enough wood pulp to go around. But we have grown so accustomed to finding substitutes when we had to have them that the world is not alarmed.—Portland Oregonian.

Imprisoned in the Wind.

Butterflies may be imprisoned and uninjured in the midst of a whirlwind. Gales in a genuine typhoon are so terrible that the stoutest ships can scarcely hope to weather them, but there is a spot at the very center of the storm where something like a dead calm prevails. From the outer edge of the disturbance, which may be 300 miles across, the wind velocity increases toward the center until within a few miles of that point there comes a sudden lull. There the rain ceases and the sky often clears. In this little calm area, which sailors call "the eye of the storm," a group of butterflies has frequently been imprisoned, and their dainty, delicate forms are as safe in this aerial cage as if hovering in sunny meadows, but as helpless as if in a collector's bottle.

Soap Bubbles and Portraits.

Professor Boys of England, experimenting with bubbles, obtained some very large ones, which in the sunshine changed colors so beautifully that he conceived the idea of using them as backgrounds for photographs.

The large bubbles were blown with an ordinary bellows, says the Popular Science Monthly. The soap solution was heated and a large mouthed funnel was dipped into it. The bellows, connected with the funnel, was then worked very gently. Bubbles with as great a circumference as two and a half feet were easily obtained.

Bananas.

Bananas, if they are unripe, may be used with advantage as a vegetable. Cut the fruit in halves, stew them for twenty-five minutes in just a little water, drain, cover them with a cream sauce such as you use for cauliflower and serve them hot. The ripe fruit is a delicious garnish to meat. Cut round slices from ripe, firm bananas, fry them in butter and lay a few on the top and around a broiled steak as it goes to table.

Pure Reason.

In his essay "Perpetual Peace," published in 1795, Immanuel Kant declared that we can never have universal peace until the world is politically organized, and it will never be possible to organize the world politically until the people, not the kings, rule. And he added that the peoples of the earth must cultivate and attain the spirit of hospitality and good will toward all races and nations.—Independent.

Of Course It Can't Be Done.

Of course well informed people know better, but there are some ignorant folks who think it is possible to have a good time without spending more than they can afford.—Claude Allen in Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

Never Finished.

Ignorance is the primary source of all misery and vice.—Cousin.

Noise and a Giraffe.

Among the curious characteristics of the giraffe is its strange indifference to loud noises as contrasted with its peculiar "scariness" with reference to slight sounds. Noisy sounds, like that of a man walking near in hobnailed boots, the giraffe does not appear to notice, but should it be approached by a woman whose skirts give out but the slightest rustle the sound thereof causes the giraffe to start up with pricked ears and eyes distended in fear. Giraffes fear the lurking foe, and a big bang scares them hardly at all. To them the faint, rustling sound is a token of the greatest danger. In that respect they are like deer.

A refrigerator should be examined daily and kept thoroughly clean. Pour boiling washing soda through it once a week and remove all slime that adheres to the water pan.

THE BACCALAUREATE SERVICE

The baccalaureate service on Sunday evening at the Presbyterian church drew out an immense crowd, the church being packed clear to the back of the gallery. Most splendid was the music furnished by the double quartette, The Ladies Quartette and the Temple Quartette.

The pastors of the Friends, Methodist and Baptist churches occupied seats on the rostrum with Rev. W. A. Rex.

Rev. Hartzog announced the service, Rev. Balmer gave the invocation, Rev. Linton read the scripture lesson and Rev. Rex delivered the address.

The graduating class 22 in number) occupied the front seats which were marked with strands of green and white the class colors. The ushers were the high school Juniors.

The Rev. took for his text "The Brook which dried up." He certainly gave the young people some fine advice in caring for the brooks of life. To be true to one's self, ones friends and one's Master constitute a full life and if either "brook dries up" one's life is for naught. The talk was not so much along the lines of what they shuld do to bring success but the things through life they should avoid.

The young people can not but help but live exemplary lives if they live up to the standards given them by the clergyman.

A collection was taken up, which amounted to $9.27 and was handed over to the Red Cross.

The Camp Fire Girls will meet at Hildreth Gasner's at 5:30 Friday afternoon for Council Fire.

The Queen Esther Circle hold their annual meeting Saturday and will enjoy a picnic supper.

Now don't let the bells scare you, but sit up and take notice. They will ring three times tonight, twice tomorrow night and once Thursday night, reminding you that you have just that many days in which to buy your Liberty Bonds.

"FEELING" OUT NEW WEAK SPOTS IN WEST

Ninth Week of Battle of Arras Begun Sunday,

London, June 11.—Sunday was the ninth Sabbath in the greatest continuous battle of all wars. Both the Entente and German armies displayed an unusual degree of reverence for the Sabbath. It was of a hypocritical sort, however, for while they refrained from large infantry assaults, they were busier than ever all along the 150 mile front, putting out their "feelers" to find a weak spot in the opposing line for new attacks and new carnage.

The big guns showed utter disregard for the commandant that bids humans to be quiet on the Lord's day. They roared out their incessant monotonous sermon, scolding with particular fervor in the sectors of which last week saw the hottest fighting—below Ypres, in the Mytschaete salient, which is a salient no longer, and below Laon, on both sides of the "Ladies Road."

Raiding exploits were carried on by the French in the region of Thiecourt on the left bank of the Moselle, where they penetrated the German lines and returned with a score of prisoners after exacting a heavy toll of casualties, and by the Germans at various points of the French front including the Verdun sector.

Further ground was gained by the British south of Ypres in consolidating actions between Wytschaete and Messines.

BRITISH LOSSES ARE SMALL

10,000 Covers All Casualties Sustained in Messines Coup.

London, June 11.—Referring to exaggerated German statements in regard to the number of British casualties in the battle of Messines Ridge, Reuter's correspondent at British headquarters in France says that up to Friday evening the number of men to fall ranks who failed to respond to roll call on the British side was just about 10,000.

Judging from past experience, about sixty per cent of these men are men wounded so slightly that they are able to walk, and of the remainder many will be able to rejoin their regiments later.

NEWSPAPER MEN ARRESTED

Editors, Reporters and Printers Taken in Blue Law Crusade.

Waterloo, Ia., June 11.—The first arrest of newspaper men in Iowa under the blue laws was made at 12:30 Sunday morning, when eighteen members of the Times-Tribune editorial, mechanical and pressroom forces were taken into custody for working on Sunday. Among those arrested was William A. Reed, editor of the paper.

Each man was compelled to deposit $25 bond for appearance in court and was then allowed to return to work. Constable Graf, who made the arrests, asserts that he received his orders from the county attorneys' office. County Attorney Wenner denied this.

Fire on Seized German Liner.

New York, June 11.—The seized German steamship Koenig Wilhelm was menaced by an outbreak of fire on its upper deck early in the morning. The cause of the fire is undetermined.

He Was Sourso.

"Have you 'Love Letters of Wise Men?'" she asked timidly.

"No, miss," responded the clerk in the book department.

"And why not?"

"Because wise men never write love letters."—London Telegraph.

PAUL M. WARBURG

BARRED ZONES SHUT TO 10,000 GERMANS

That Number Fail to Apply for U. S. Permits.

New York, June 11.—At the stroke of midnight all German aliens in New York lost their last chance to receive permits to reside in, or pass through, the "barred zones." Simultaneously a cordon of armed guards from the department of justice and secret service was thrown about these zones, with orders to "shoot to kill" in case of disturbance.

It is estimated that some ten thousand subjects of the German empire residing in Great New York failed to apply for permits, although for three weeks the United States marshal's office was kept open virtually continuously day and night for that purpose.

The water front is the zone most zealously guarded. Not a person enters it who is not immediately put under close observation until his business ascertained. The guards are instructed to waste no time in parley. In some quarters trouble is expected from the thousands of Germans who have to pass barred zones but have no permit. The authorities made it clear, however, that they have no intention to harass a man just because he is German.

BISHOP MULDOON TO STAY

Papal Bull on Way Recalling Transfer Order to California.

Chicago, June 11.—When the announcement was made from Rome about three months ago that the Right Rev. P. J. Muldoon, bishop of Rockford and formerly auxiliary bishop of the Chicago archdiocese, had been transferred to Los Angeles, it was assumed he immediately would take up his new duties in the southern California diocese.

Bishop Muldoon's friends in Chicago are advised that he will remain at the head of the Rockford diocese and that the papal bull sending him to California is now on the way from Rome recalling the transfer.

BALFOUR BACK IN ENGLAND

Further Contingent of U. S. Officers on Same Steamer.

London, June 11.—A further contingent of American officers arrived at a British port on the steamer that brought Foreign Secretary Balfour. The officers were met by representatives of the American embassy.

Foreign Secretary A. J. Balfour arrived at a British port Saturday morning on his return from his trip to America at the head of the British mission. Mr. Balfour at once departed for London, arriving here Saturday afternoon.

Probing 1,000 Slacker Cases.

New York, June 11.—Fully a thousand slacker cases are being placed before the federal grand jury, it is announced. As soon as indictments are returned, there will be a general roundup of those who failed to register for the army draft last Tuesday.

A VALUABLE BIRD.

The Rough Legged Hawk Is a Helpful Friend on the Farm.

An extremely helpful friend of ours, when bird friends are few, is the rough legged hawk, saws a writer in Farm and Fireside. Unfortunately this bird is little known or valued. It reaches the United States from its northern breeding range in September and October, remaining until April.

It may be identified afield by its broad wings, its large size and the broad dark band which crosses its breast and under side of its wings. It is comparatively tame. The name rough legged or hare footed is made appropriate by the bird's full feathered legs and feet.

The coloration of the American rough leg and its more western subspecies, the ferruginous rough leg, varies from the type here described to almost solid black. In this darker phase the rough leg is commonly called the black hawk.

On such good authority as that of Dr. A. K. Fisher, under whose direction the United States biological survey made extensive field observations of this bird's feeding habits, it is stated: "The rough leg is one of man's most important allies against meadow mice, feeding on little else during its six months' sojourn in the United States. Other mice, rabbits and grown squirrels are taken occasionally."

Securing an Audience.

"And the audience, my boy, were glued to their seats," said the delighted actor.

"That certainly was a neat way of keeping them there," said the critic.—Chicago Herald.

U. S. AIMS IN WAR ARE TOLD RUSSIANS

President Sends Important Document to New Regime.

Washington, June 11.—"The war has begun to go against Germany," President Wilson declared to the Russion provisional government in outlining the war aims of the United States.

The note sent by the President and made public is one of the most important pronouncements issued since the entrance of this country in the world struggle.

Here is what the President says the American people are fighting for:

First. Liberation of peoples everywhere from the aggression of autocratic power.

Second. Self government and undictated development of all peoples.

Third. Rupture of the net of intrigue woven by Germany against the peace and liberty of the world.

Fourth. Destruction of the private projects of power which Germany has gained and which stretch all the way from Berlin to Bagdad and beyond.

Fifth. Alteration of the status quo ante which Germany is seeking to restore, to the end that "any such hideous thing" as te present war may never happen again.

Here is what the President says the American people are not fighting for:

First. Material profit or aggrandizament of any kind.

Second. Any advantage or selfish object of their own.

Say British Were Repulsed.

Berlin, June 11.—British troops which attacked on the front south of Ypres were repulsed, the war office reports. German troops penetrated the French positions at several points, according to the statement, and returned with a considerable number of prisoners.

Foundation of Japan.

Every Feb. 11 is celebrated in Japan the great annual festival of Kigensetsu, the anniversary of the foundation of the empire by the first emperor, Jimmu Tenno, B. C. 660. The Japanese reckon their present era as from this date, and it was Feb. 11, 1889, that Mutsuhito, the one hundred and twenty-first of the dynasty, promulgated the present constitution of the empire of Japan, the fundamental principle of which is clearly stated in its first article, "The empire of Japan shall be reigned over and governed by a line of emperors unbroken from ages eternal." The organization of a parliament took place in 1890.

WEDNESDAY EVENING AT THE BRADLEY OPERA HOUSE

Largest Class in a Number of Years Graduate—Ten Young Ladies and Twelve Young Men Make up the Class

The Class of 1917 T. H. S., twenty-two in number, received their diplomas at the opera house Wednesday evening. The class was the largest to be graduated from our schools in a number of years and was quite remarkable in one respect as the larger number were young men, twelve young men and ten young ladies.

The opera house was prettily decorated with flags and flowers. Suspended across the top of the arch was the class motto in blue and white letters (the class colors) "Impossible is Un-American," while in a frieze below stretched a row of United States flags. Across the front of the stage was a lattice work of white covered with flowers and foliage. Easy wicken chairs were arranged upon the stage for the members of the class who marched in and took their places during the playing of the opening march. Besides the class, Supt. W. L. Reed, Gen. F. B. Wood and Dr. W. B. Hartzog occupied seats on the stage.

Opening March—Lucile E. Conlin
Invocation—Dr. W. B. Hartzog
Salutatory—Faye A. VanValkenburg
History—Doris L. Kloffenstein
Vocal solo, "The Secret"....Scott
Kenneth N. Westerman
Prophecy—Harold J. Lowry
Class Will—Morris Palman
Violin solo, "Ballade and Polonaise," Vieutempps
J. Duaine Service
Giftatory—Lillian E. Kennedy
Presentation of the Ivy—Lucile E. Conlin
Vocal solo, "Love and Springtime,, Metcals
Kenneth N. Westerman
Presentation of the Senior Cane—Ralph D. Cuthbert, 1917
Acceptance of the Cane—Joseph C. Satterthwaite, 1918
Valedictory—Muza M. Rice
Piano duet, "Grand Polka de Concert," Bartlett
Mrs. F. B. Wood, Miss Gertrude Miller
Awarding of Diplomas—Gen. F. B. Wood
Class Song
Benediction—Dr. W. B. Hartzog

New and interesting features of the program this year were the presentation of the ivy, the presentation of the class cane by the president of the class of 1917 and the acceptance of the cane by the president of the class of 1918. The cane, which is expected to be historic in nature, was made from one of the spindles of the stair railing and taken from the old school house. This cane had the colors of the class of 1917 tied to it and it was requested that it be handed from class to class and that each class add their colors.

At the close of the program Gen. Wood, in behalf of the school board, awarded the diplomas to the class. In a few brief remarks he complimented the class upon finishing their work and gave them some helpful advice to take with them as they left for the active work in the battle of life.

SALUTATORY

Fay VanValkenburg

Faculty, Parents and Friends—In the name of the class of 1917, I bid you welcome here to-night on this occasion when we, as Seniors, drop the title of High School Students. We have reached this, our first goal, and it is with a feeling of sadness that we pause to-night, at the parting of the ways, where we have formed our most lasting friendships. But we realize that these four years have been well spent, for during this time we have gained some appreciation of the workings of physical law, in science: of the great movements among men and nations, in history; and the finest thoughts and deepest experience of the race in literature.

Tonight we are still a class, tomorrow our high school days will be a thing of the past, yet the memory of these four years will always be a source of pleasure to us.

For some this education will be their only capital to begin their new life; for others it will serve merely oas an important link in their educational career.

Whatever course we choose, we will use our high school education as a basis for that which we may attempt.

This training, the gift of our community, has for its purpose the development of the highest possible type of citizenship in its young people. This comes to us as a trust, an obligation to be discharged. We live in a democracy where there is an opportunity for all to work out their best good. We are mutually dependant. Co-operation is the key word of our age. In the most highly organized armies it is this working together that wins the day. In important naval maneuvers, through the vast net work of our railway systems in our most efficient combination in industry, the success of every subordinate part is dependent upon the success and well being of every other.

So is it in our community and national life.

Because we have received so much here in these years of our earliest educaton we shall owe to our state and our nation the best service that is possible for us to render. To some will come the call to fight for the principles upon which this nation was founded, the principle of equality of opportunity for all men. To others will fall the task of guiding home affairs, and of reconstructing our social and economic policies. Our partiotism must be intelligent, unselfish, and devoted, a thing of the mind as well as of the heart. It is to you therefore, who have made the Tecumseh schools what they are, that we take this opportunity of expressing our thanks.

The board of education have worked unceasingly for our best welfare and have freely given their time and interest in meeting the problems of better equipment and a higher standard.

Our teachers have given us the best of their minds and sympathies and by their untiring efforts have helped us over many a difficult problem of better equipment and a higher standard.

There are many friends of the school who have had an ever ready interest in its welfare and have generously supported its enterprises.

But perhaps most vitally interested in us, personally, have been our parents, who have made many sacrifices in order that we might best prepare for the work before us.

We would assure you all that the thanks of the present can be but words; for the future we pledge our deeds that they may prove the depth of our sincerity.

Andso in token of thiscordial feeling, and of our appreciation of your presence here tonight we of the class of 1917, extend to you a most hearty welcome.

CLASS HISTORY

Doris Kloffenstein.

Now we are the children of the Class of 1917, who came into high school from the grades and country schools:

Gladys Bowen—"Oh sleep thou art a gentle thing, beloved from pole to pole."

Arthur Brown—"Prithee, why so pale, fond lover, prithee, why so wan."

Gladys Bowerman—"Contentment is a pearl of great price."

Oliver Blum—"He hath more business in a day than some men in a lifetime."

Wilbur Boyce—"Thou art mild—too mild—I prithee swear."

Lucile Conlin—"Thou art so calm, so free, and such a blessed disposition."

Ralph Cuthbert—"None but the brave, none but the brave, none but the brave deserve the fair."

Russell Comfort—"The name itself explains him."

Zorah Dickinson—"Thou art among the prime in worth, an object beauteous to behold."

Zelah Dickinson—"A modest blush she wears, not formed by art."

Lillian Kennedy—"There's nothing half so sweet in life as love's young dream."

Harold Lowry—"And when he'd argue—Ye Gods—! how he would argue."

Fern Murphy—"Thou as heaven art fair and young, Thine eyes like twin stars shine."

Morris Palman—"The mind's a standard of the man."

Fred Rentschler—"Yon Cassius hath a lean and hungry look."

Muza Rice—"She reasons with a woman's logic—because it's so, because it's so, because it's so."

John Smith—"Whither thou goest Arthur, I will follow."

Evelyn VanTyne—"Her modesty is a candle to her merit."

Fay VanValkenburg—"Caesar is dead, Napoleon is dead and Fay himself is feeling ill today."

Leon Waldron—"A closed mouth catches no flies."

Amos Wilson—"A farmer's son, proud of field lore and harvest craft."

We all started to climb slowly up the heights of Mount Knowledge. We were well prepared for the steeper ascents of the last four years of our journey and if we differed at any time from our guides, we at least found out, that "Forms of Be Never take an Object."

As we ascended the hill, we came to a sign indicating a space where our preparatory work was to be done. Our tribe leader was Fay VanValkenburg who alway worked for the interest of his class. Silent always meaning consent to us, explains our incessant talking. We were a jolly crowd, and while "Freshies" we did enjoy so much entaining the dignified Seniors.

Continuing farther up the Mount we entered upon our Sophomre stretch. We would stop and quarrel and debate and one day while we were having a heated conversation, as to just how to ascend the hill the next superior tribe called down to us and said, "Don't quarrel, Sophomores, let us Juniors show you how to ascend the hill."

"No," said we, thus starting another debate, entitled, "Air planes are more beneficial than submarines in time of war." So the two tribes decided to meet and pick out their most able debaters. Burton Garlinghouse, Norma Moody, and Gordon Bachmann represented the Juniors or the positive side, and Ralph Cuthbert, Ruth Young and Fay Van Valkenburg the negative side.

The storm raged until at last we beheld a messenger approaching us carrying an announcement. It was quickly opened and read and this is what it contained—"Both sides have established good points and both have had the quality of excellent delivery, but the highest percentage has been awarded to the negative side. Thus claiming us a victory over the Juniors.

Then one sunshiny day the clan that would reach the heights in June sent down word to us asking that we join them in a class field meet. This we did and the appointed day found us all assembled at the race track and again we were victorious by [illegible]. By the wonderful (?) economy system it was decided in favor of the few competing Seniors. Thus ended the stretch called Sophomore Days.

Our Junior course had come at last and during this period of our journey, our tribe director was Muza Rice, who always went aheadand lent a willing hand, calling out to us—"Hurry up! We're going to haye a Class party out at my sisters." So leaving the main road for a little while we travelled to Mrs. Gove's, where we participated in a most enjoyable corn roast.

Traversing the main road again, we decided that we needed to increase our treasury. This we did by presenting "The Merchant of Venice" and "A Proposal Under Difficulties" at both Tipton and Tecumseh, where it met with a hearty welcome. As a result our exchequer assumed great proportions We realize that a great measure of our success on that occasion was due to Miss Pavey. We shall never forget her hours of willing service and shall always remember her with great pleasure. Our thanks are also due to those who so ably assisted us.

One evening in "the merry month of May" we requested the next superior tribe to join us. They accepted and joined us at the I. O. O. F. Hall, the event being the Junior reception. Then, a few weeks later they returned the courtesy and royally entertained us at the Grange hall. The event was carried out in a Shakespearean evening.

Then one day in June we decided to sit down by the way side and rest until the first Monday in September.

Our Senior days had come, last but not least, in the annals of the famous class of 1917. This year we have been directed by Ralph Cuthbert, whose duty it has been to conduct the Class on the last lap of their journey.

It was bleak October day, when Arthur Brown said, "Cheer up, comrades, [illegible] yet to come. [illegible] are not far off, so come up to my dwelling place and let the ghosts and goblins drive away your troubles. We accepted his invitation and decided that the result was most satisfying, so we repeated the experiment soon after at a Ford party out at Wilbur Boyce's.

Next came the Junior reception. On the evening of May 11, out at the Pratt residence where we were delightfully received.

Then on June first it was our pleasure to have as our guests the Juniors, whom we entertained at the Grange hall. We knew that they were beginning to feel sad at the thought of our departure, and we tried to cheer them up by this means.

We are here before you tonight because we have successfully completed this journey. It is but natural that we should pause on this height and look backward over the path by which we have journeyed. As we gaze, we see many landmarks to which we point with both pride and pleasure—we remember many guides to whom we owe in part our being here tonight. In particular we feel like pledging our continued remembrance of Miss Halladay, who helped us over many a steep place in the road. Our best wishes we leave with her. As we turn and look ahead, we see through the mists of the Future many peaks, uncertain and indistinct—we hope that they mean Opportunity, Service and Success.

PROPHECY

Harold J. Lowry.

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I am here among you once more upon the clamorous demands of my classmates to help them to peer into the fuure. My run is generally only to the large cities, but as there were a few members of this class whom I know personally, I consdered it my duty to come and look into the future of this grand, illustrious class of 1917. My art has long been practiced but it takes a master mind to do the work properly.

I have brought with me this magic crystal. By simply gazing into its mirrored depths I shall endeavor to explain some things in store for these young people. In this day and age in which the moving picture show has played such a great part in the development of people's minds, to a person who has attended as regularly as myself, it would be no trick at all to tell exactly just what the different characters are saying by their expressions and gestures. So do not be surprised if I tell you just what some of the different people are saying.

Ah! What is it that first crosses my view? Why the largest of course; Freddy Rentschler. I can easily recognize the grin on his face which will never come off. Back in the old school days Freddy always was a veryjolly chapand I cansee he is carried along that line now. He is out riding in his Ford and it has an extra small steering wheel; I wonder why? Freddy would make an excellent farmer for in case of a tight squeeze he is certainly all there.

He now passes out and the next I see in all the glory of a sunrise, is Leon Waldron whose shining kopf loudly proclaims his identity. Leon is still driving a taxi (Oh yes, I guess it's a Ford) and now he suddenly stops in front of a country school house, gets out and appears to be examining the ground. What can it be? Oh yes, the door opens and a Murphy pops out! Now you can see at least why Leon has taken Agriculture at school, because, he says, all Murphys appeal to him, be they 50 cents or $6.00 a bushel.

Next I see something coming out of the clouds and who could that be but little Muzy Meredith Rice, who was such a good little angel in school that her wings have already sprouted. She drops in front of a house and walks very slowly and in the most dignified manner as usual up the walk and into the house. "In which room is the patient?" stormed Muza.

"Up above," meekly replies the little man for she is a well known suffragette. "That was the place you suggested and so, he followed instructions and died."

And so it is with Ricey M. D. who has only two methods of practising medicine—kill or cure, and mostly kill.

Next I see a cloud of dust coming down the street and who could that be but Amos Wilson, in his limited flyer guaranteed to make all corners on high. He is now a garage man and holds the speed records for all points within driving distances for Fords. You eee our class ought to have been called "Fords" for short as every member has one. He has in with him Wilbur Boyce, the noted chemist who, as I have just recently read in the newspaper, has perfected a process of putting starch in "Country Davidson's" legs when that noted gentleman high jumps. We hope it will have some stiffening effect at least.

Another member of this party I see is Oliver Blum, now owner of one of the largest grocery stores in Lenawee County.

Now we leave this group and the next I see is Doris Kloffenstein who is leading the grand march at the annual ball. She is attired in the very latest of fashions as usual, and I can see by the look on her face that she is enjoying life as much as ever. She stops a minute for breath and is immediately surrounded by the attending group.

"Do you know" raves Doris "I simply adore all kinds of sports, especially Hunting, and really I am not particular which one of the Hunts it is either," at which they all nod their heads knowingly.

The next we see is "Shorty" Palman who now, by the looks of the labels on his grip must be advertising manager for the May Company of Cleveland, Ohio. He is working with the same old thoroughness as ever. He also carries as a side line the famous brand of soft drinks "Zip the Zip" which he was very enthusiastic about in high school days. I can easily see he is progressing rapidly and will soon have his fortune all made.

The next I see is Faye VanValkenburg our distinguished ex-president who is now a civil engineerin employ of the government. Faye is seated at his desk dreaming when an old Indiana native walks up to him and says,

"Young man, you sartinly do your work wall -r-done." And Faye whose mind must have been in othe channels, turns, looks up and says.

"Waldron! Yes, Yes, that's her name."

I now see the interior of a school house and the teacher proves to be Galdys Bowerman. She certainly keeps all the children under strict rules, and appears to like her work and surroundings.

Then the gym teacher comes in prancing, and who can that be but Gladys Bowen the distinguished athlete. Can you not imagine Gladys running the 100 yard in 10 seconds flat, and then giving physical training twelve hours a day? That's just what Gladys is doing and strange as it may seem, she appears to like her work immensely.

Next I see a farmhouse and as the head of the house steps out I recognize her to be Lucile Conlin, although she has changed her name from Miss to Mrs. Lucile is very busy and seems to like her work even better than she did at school.

Next I see two spots at the same glance and who can they be but the Dicky Twins! Zelah is now running a large dry cleaning shop in Detrot. You see she liked her work so well in Tecumseh that she decided to take it up permanently. Zorah is now a Red Cross nurse, for when she was in Tecumseh she was an able assistant of one of our doctors, and I am sure that all the convalescent soldiers will certainly lose their hearts to her at the first glance and if they don't there will be only one possible reason, they must have glass eyes.

The next I see is a huge brick yard and whose shingle should be out in front but Russell Comfort's. I can easily see he has succeeded wonderfully well in life which also goes to show that to succeed you do not have to put on the loud pedal but instead generally the soft.

Then I see another member of that grand old class, Evelyn VanTyne who is now an English professor in one of the universities. Evelyn has proved to be a literary genius and no doubt our descendants will be well acquainted with the writings of Evelyn.

Then two more persons acrofs my view and, Oh! I know who they are! Lillian and Cuffy, one and inseparable. Cuffy, the lively, jolly, goodhearted fellow is now one of the leading men in the community and is well known in the surrounding towns, especially in Tipton the berg

Use "Gets-It," Lift Corn Right Off

Shrivels, Loosens—and It's Gone!

"Just like taking the lid off—that's how easy you can lift a corn off your toe after it has been treated with the wonderful discovery, "Gets-It." Hunt the wide world over and you'll find nothing so magic, simple and easy as "Gets-It." You folks who have wrapped your toes in bandages to look like bundles, who have used salves that turned your toes raw and sore, and used plasters that would shift from their place and never "get" the corn, and who have dug and picked at your corns with knives and scissors and perhaps made them bleed—just quit these old and painful ways and try "Gets-It" just once. You put 2 or 3 drops on, and it dries at once. There's nothing to stick. You can put your shoe and stocking right on again. The pain is all gone. Then the corn dies a painless, shriveling death. It loosens from your toe, and off it comes. "Gets-It" is the biggest selling corn remedy in the world today. There's none other as good.

"O-O-!"
End Corn and Stop Pain Quickly With "Gets-It"

The county Red Cross meeting held in Adrian, Monday, was full of interest to those who attended and we wish that every member of the Tecumseh Red Cross could have attended and heard the talks given by Robert Darnton and Dr. Perry. These men were filled to the brim with enthusiasm. Dr. Perry told of the Red Cross Congress which he recently attended in Washington and what some of the biggest men in the country are doing.

The Red Cross of Europe are being taxed to the limit to carry on the work they are called upon to do, the people are even knitting while attending church, so anxious are they that they should not loose a minute. The Red Cross nurses, who have been in the hospitals of Europe, are becoming exhausted and many of them are wrecks and are being cared for themselves in the hospitals. Our duty is not only to provide for our own soldiers, who will soon be in Europe, but to push the work for enough that we may relieve the workers, who are already on the ground.

We don't yet realize what this work really means. We must wake up and give of our time and money that this great work may be pushed forward.

Our local Red Cross will be given space in each issue of the Herald and all information given over the signature of Mrs. Jenny C. L. Hardy, Chairman of the Publicity Committee, will be authentic. Instructions for work, as the orders are received, will be given from time to time through this department.

We have busy days ahead of us and our Tecumseh Red Cross, we are sure, will do their full share.

GET THAT SPY, IS DANIELS' ORDER

Secret Traitor Traced to U. S. Ordnance Department.

NAVAL SECRETS ARE DIVULGED

Secretary of Navy Produces Letters That Could Have Been Written by Person Having Access to Confidential Files—Necessary to Run Him Down, Says Cabinet Head—Letter Postmarked Detroit.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Either a spy or traitor has been divulging confidential information of the bureau of ordnance, Secretary Daniels told the senate naval affairs committee.

When the committee resumed investigation of the Mongolia shell accident Senator Frelinghuysen produced some letters which Secretary Daniels said contained information which could have been obtained only from the confidential files of the ordnance bureau. He asked to have them turned over to the secret service.

Seeks to Find Author.

Senator Frelinghuysen said he had no desire to shield any one, that he had attempted to find out something about the author and could not.

Secretary Daniels said it was absolutely necessary to run down traitors or spies in the navy department and that the person who furnished the information was one or the other. He urged the committee to uncover the author of the letters and make him disclose everything.

One Letter from Detroit.

Secretary Daniels contended that charges of incompetency were made in the letters against inspectors and contained grave reflections upon the basic defenses of the country. One of the letters was postmarked Detroit, Mich.

GARDENER ACCUSED IN PLOT

Iowa Man Charged With Trying to Send Another to Prison.

CEDAR RAPIDS, IOWA — A supposed plot to send an innocent man to the penitentiary was disclosed here when Charles Everett Louwesre was arrested by federal authoritis.

Louwesre, who is landscape gardener for Colonel W. G. Dows of the Iowa state council of defense, is charged with having written a letter, ordering poison, and signing thereto the name of Emil F. Scheibe, manager of Colonel Dow's farm. The letter was directed to Sears, Roebuck & Co., who turned it over to the federal authorities. The arrest of Scheibe and his wife was ordered. Colonel Dows insisted they were innocent. Louwesre then was arrested and his handwriting and that of the letter were declared to be identical.

AT THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Fellowship Night.

Tuesday was Fellowship night at the Presbyterian church and there were many in the audience from other churches. The ministers of the town were present to add their congratulations to those of their people and each gave short addresses. Dr. Balmer and Dr. Hartzog praised the workers and the pastor. Rev. Linton took for his subject "The Manly Man" and his address was most excellent. Then followed Rev. J. G. Widdifield of St. Peters church who told of "The contributions of the Episcopal church to the world." The church people were glad to welcome Rev. Widdifield in his first public meeting with the other clergymen of town and especially appreciated his address telling of the work done by his church. In the audience were Rev. C. M. Brown of Joilet a former pastor of the Tecumseh church and Rev. Stone of Holloway both of whom took part in the service.

Indoor Picnic.

Last night the congregational indoor picnic was a very pleasant occasion. There must have been nearly 200 people present and nobody went away hungry, we will wager. After supper the crowd adjourned to the auditorium where they enjoyed a program of speeches and patriotic music when Mrs. Elmer Slayton of Adrian played the piano. The various speakers complimented the congregation and pastor on the work accomplished this last winter, when everybody "did his bit" to make the church so beautiful.

The speakers were Rev. C. M. Brown of Joliet, Ill., Rev. Clyde Hawkins of Lansing, John Richards and Elmer Slayton of Adrian, J. R. Nyland, C. A. Slayton and A. W. Mills.

Ernest McAllister, six years old, was probably fatally injured at Fenton as the result of being run over by an automobile driven by Mrs. J. K. Burr.

Miss Florence M. Hoes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hoes, well known residents of Hastings, was married to Thomell M. Paulsen, of Minneapolis.

The congregation of St. Joseph's Catholic church has purchased the athletic field at Port Huron and will erect a new structure. The site cost $10,000.

The cantonment camp site for the Michigan-Wisconsin division of the new national army will be at Battle Creek, according to a dispatch from Washington.

J. C. Sherman, a pioneer publisher of Eaton county, is dead at his Charlotte residence. For many years he was theproprietor of the Vermontville Echo.

Miss Harriet L. Taylor, a teacher of Bay City Eastern high school for the last thirty years, died at Saginaw at the home of her sister, Mrs. Webster Cook.

Mrs. Joel Moselander, pioneer resident of Dowagiac, has been taken to the state hospital in Kalamazoo after she had stabbed a neighbor with a pair of shears.

Demos Laporte, sixty-nine years old, a pioneer resident of Morton township, near West Branch, was found dead in his barn, having been a victim of heart disease.

Mrs. H. T. Dunn requests that all material suitable for pillows be left either at her house, or at Mrs. Hardy's. Peices not suitable for pillows like heavy marseilles spreads, hems of garment, etc. will be sent to the knitting mills at Adrian to be converted into wool.

Snippings should average about 1½ inches square, or a little larger and need not necessarily be uniform in size.

People can leave their white and colored snippings in barrel at Headquarters.

Those snippings will find the work easier by winding handle of shears with soft material. Donations of shears for use at headquarters of Red Cross will be gratefully accepted.

It is suggested that clubs and societies, Sunday school classes and others form snipping parties.

The following Directors of Departments will gladly give information regarding their particular lines, and their names will appear repeatedly in the Herald, please cut them out, and paste where you can refer to them.

COOK BROS. CIRCUS

The definite announcement is made that Cook Brothers wild animal circus, the largest and most complete exhibition of its kind will be in tihs city, Monday June 25.

This will be good news for all who thoroughly enjoy displays of trained animal intelligence. The Cook Brothers show, it is announced, is not the ordinary, conventional animal exhibition, made up of a diluted program of tame acts and tamer animals, but colossal congress of wild beasts, captured in the jungles by intrepid hunters, and taught by equally daring trainers to perform the most astonishing feats.

American circuses, as a rule, carry large or small menageries, as the case may be, but the Cook Brothers show is credited with being the only circus in America where every animal in the big zoological display contributes to the infinite variety of the performance. While the menagerie in itself is notably interesting and educational because of the number and diversity of the wild animals, its vaule and interest are enhanced by the fact that, without exception, they have been trained to the limit of animal intelligence. There is a lion that sails aloft in a big ballon, while balancing upon a narrow trapeze; there are tigers and pumas that perform in unison, despite the fact that they are so ferocious as to constitute a perpetual menace to their trainers; there is a school of remarkably trained and human-like bears, there are educated leopards and jaguars and hyenas; there are big and little elephants that betray an almost uncanny intelligence; there are high-jumping horses and acting ponies and clown donkeys; there are troupes of acrobatic and bicycle-riding monkeys, and numberless other wonderful trained beasts.

But, it is announced, this is not all the Cook & Wilson show offers for the entertainment of the public In addition to the trained animal displays there is a high class arenic performance, in which many notable champions of the triple ring circus appear. These embrace world-famous somersault riders, daring experts on the flying trapezes, acrobats, iron jaw and bar performers, and many other clever artists. The performances are given in mutiple rings, on especially constructed elevated stages and in what is said to be the largest and best constructed steel arena ever utilized for a wild animal exhibition. There will be two complete performances in this city, the first at 2 in the afternoon and the final one at 8 in the evening. Doors will be opened one hour earlier to permit the public to inspect the various displays and to enjoy the preliminary concert by Al. J. Missey's big military band. The preliminary street parade takes place at 10:30 in the morning of the exhibition.

PATRIOTIC CONCERT AT CLINTON

GOOD SHOWING MADE BY THE AMERICAN STEEL & WIRE CO.

That the men employed at the American Steel and Wire Co. are patriotic and willing to do their share towards helping the Government win the war, is shown by the fact that out of the 37 men employed, 27 of them took Liberty Bonds. In all 37 bonds were taken by the men which amounted to $2500.00.

This is a fine showing and if Tecumseh people had been as loyal to the cause as these men, there would have been a much larger amount turned in from Tecumseh.

from which the M. D. hails. I can easily see they have made a success of life, and why shouldn't they? If there were anything that Cuffy missed, Lillian would be sure to have it, and so we leave them to the enjoyment of life.

Ah! What's that? Here they come—the teachers' express! I can plainly see the face of Arthur Brown who now, when he isn't pulling teeth for people is out riding with—an—any one of the many.

And who, who can that be in the back seat but John Smith, the early riser who is now much interested in the local flour mill. His famous brand is 1900 and he is always shrieking, "1900 forever! ! ! !"

And now I will stop for I have done my duty and have told each of you, to the best of my ability, just what is in store for you. Keep these words in Mind, my children, because they are a direct gift from the Gods, and always remember,

CLASS WILL

Morris Palman

As I had been chosen to act in the humble capacity of will-maker for the Class of 1917, I searched for a very reputable law firm to draw up a will for the purpose of disposing of our property, among the remnants of a high-school that one time flourished meaning of course the years from 1913 to 1917. Finally the task was given to the firm "Ketchum and Skinnum."

Their first step was to send an embassy on special mission to find the exact will that had been made for us. It was found at the oracle of Delphi, whose decisions are as the laws of Medes and Persians, that alter not.

The embassy on its return met in the Pacific Ocean a nest of friendly inviting German Undercraft. The Americans were as anxious to meet them as a mouse is to get introduced to a cat. Three or four aeroplanes flying the flag of the United States appeared in sght at the psychological moment, dropped several bombs on the Kaiser's war fish and smashed them as if they only were eggs.

Several days later the long and wordy document was received containing the inspired message, which is as follows: The Class of 1917 of T. H. S. about to be ushered out into the big wide world have assembled here and do declare and maintain that this is their last legal will and Testament. First to the Class of 1918, is given the school's tradition, its splendid history with the class spirit, triumphant victories and brave defeats. It is hoped that they will keep it white and unsullied.

It quite often happens that little vacations in the midst of school life are thought to be just the thing. The Tecumseh Kandy Kitchen is considered an ideal place for this purpose. In fact students will be found here 5 out of 7 school periods a day, experimenting on chocolate sodas, bitter-sweets etc. The popcorn stand is also a point of interest and as corn is rich in food value and cheap in price, journeys here are quite frequent. These institutions are left to the Sophomores with the advice that they spend seven school periods a day there and then only can school life be perfect.

The old High-school bell can probably be compared in many ways with the famous Liberty Bell. As our high-school bell rang lustily each day urging the loitering boys and girls to school, it has stood as a symbol for education.

The Liberty Bell has been considered since the time it first pealed out its joyous message in Independence Hall an emblem of Liberty.

Education and Liberty go hand in hand, because free gov't can only exist, where there is education and liberty. The bell is left in possession of the Freshmen, who are to see that it awakens the sluggish student, slowly and idly sauntering schoolward until it acting as a magnet, draws him finally to dizzy heights of fame.

We leave five and half days of the school year to the entire body students to be spent at the moving picture shows. The five and half days to be considered as a snap. Editors and professors are enthusiastic of such types as "Alice in Wonderland." If the pictures are monotonous, nobody is to blame but yourself probably due to poor taste on your part or a defected intellect.

The members of the school board are given as a monument, the Van Doma, the ancient ruins of centuries Let them preserve it so that their descendants may be fully impressed and wonder, ponder, be amazed and even admire the heroic attempts of those to struggle for a high school education at the risk of sore eyes.

To the town is presented a most beautiful and modern logic chopping machine to be known as T. H. S. Fortunately it won't take as long to build this institution as it did to secure the votes necessary to raise the funds no not even half that amount of time, else it is doubtful whether the great grandchildren of the grandchildren of the parents who are here tonight would even see it.

An important part of the new High school will consist of a fine auditorium. Those students who will desire to debate and speak here in order to develop themselves into public speakers are left some of the oratorical ability of Muzt Rice and Ralph Cuthbert, who by the way are excellent examples of the polishing refining and manufacturing of the schools of this great and glorious town.

The best plans for conducting the government of the town should be discussed here. Men, who have thought deeply on the various phases of modern living should be hired to speak here in order to bring in new and better ideas, that will result in the advancement of civilization. Make the auditorium the meeting place of the entire community. Each member of this town should be expected to attend the meetings in the auditorium as well. It is expected that every boy and girl of school age should attend school. This should be done if you believe in progress and improvement of the community life.

As it is not desirable to break off friendly relations with the University of Michigan, the inhabitants of this village have been generous enough to donate a library for the new high school. The position of school librarian is given to Edna Taylor. It is suggested that she take as her model Miss Widney, the ideal librarian. Who it is that has taught the school chldren how to use the encyclodidia? Who is it that has found facts of a distant past for the high school debates? Who is it that finds Articles of every description? It has been Miss Widney. The Class of 1917 wish you the best of success and thank you for the interest and helpfulness you have shown them.

Though Joe Satterthwaite has stood a great deal of hard wear as president of his class for two consecutive years and an active member in athletics, we ask him to take the burden of making the swimming pool in our modern temple of learnnig a success. For instance, if a student falls accidently asleep in his classes probably thinking it is night (for students will make mistakes) then, Joe, gently take the person who is in the land of dreams down to the swimming pool. Bring him into contact with the cold water. He should rapidly discover it is broad daylight.

The next year will probably see a great change in school affairs here. At least in the work of the janitor. In order to make Charlie Saul feel at home in the new arrangement of conditions we leave him a number of tools, a hammer in particular so he can knock.

What to leave Mr. Goodrich? That's the question that troubled us most. But due to the fact that we are compelled to economize for potato dust is selling over $4.00 per bushel, bean pills over $12.00 per bushel and onions skins at 10c per lb. and there is even danger that these will soon become relics of a past age, we bestow upon him a case of his favorite food the kind he served at the Van Doma Hotel or in other words Grapenuts "Ther's a reason."

Besides being kept busy teaching the pupils the difference between a typewriter and a piano, we confer upon Mr. Duguid, the position of hospital keeper of Tecumseh's up to date Cathedral of teaching or in other words he is to have charge of such tools as a perpetual whipping machine, electric paddle, and self-starting flogger. Even if he isn't as good a farmer as Mr. Reed it is thought an educated crop should blossom forth that will make the turnips, carrots and beets turn pale in comparison.

The Class of 1917 are sincerely sorry that Miss Rood will not be back for another year, because they have appreciated the high standard of work of the history teachers of their high school days, Miss Rood and her predecessor, Miss Halladay. If the high school of this town is to hold a prominent place among schools of this kind it must have teachers of the type of these two. Instead of leaving you both a physical gift, it is asked that the class of 1917 be remembered by the thought that they believe you have successfully upheld the best traditions of T. H. S. teachers.

Perry Hayden is a very industrious and energetic worker. Take his school work for example. He continually studies, not even stopping to eat. Even doctors and specialists gave him up as a hopeless case. Finally it was found that the musical chimes of the Lilley State Bank had a soothing effect upon him. As this is the only thing that can cure him from overwork, lubricating oil and other materials are bestowed upon Perry to keep this instrument in good running order.

We leave to Robert Moore the enjoyment of spending the late hours of night and early dawn, now don't think we are referring to parties, dances, girls, autos, etc, nothing like that. It is meant that they are to be spent in profound toil and study. When only the gnashing of your teeth or the crackling of your brain can be heard in the still quite air, but Oh! well it is not necessary for you to burn the midnight oil as you are a live wire you ought to furnish a good current for the electric lights.

Being progressive and due to the railroad congestion and the necessity for the teachers to come and go quickly and speedily from the school house, the Teachers Express has been established. We leave this artery of our school life to any aspirants.

Mr. Reed is the only member of the faculty bravely to endure the presence of the Seniors of 1917, during four important periods of their lives namely; a period of ignorance, styled the Freshman year, a perod of insanity to which is applied the name Sophomore, a period during which we knew it all having the better known title of Junior, and last a period which is remembered for our dislike of all kinds of sciences, physics in particular and a genuine hatred for Mathematics, Languages, History, English and Commercial subjects. Otherwise we liked school very much. This period is termed in school life as the dignified Seniors.

You probably all know that Mr. Reed's office resembles a far sized barn or a miniture manufacturing plant. It was necessary for him to use his imagination to the utmost to realize that he really had an office. He is left a real office in the new school house including all modern furniture such as a swivel chair where he may sing lullabys to his hearts content.

Chief Justice White of the U. S. is made executor of this will. Finally the following claim this to be the last legal Will and Testament of the Class of 1917 and in the presence of each other subscribe their names.

Dale Hodges, Tecumseh's famous Wednesday vaudeville man.

Harold Tribolet, who lives where the dimes and nickels grow.

Tyrus Cobb, who lives on diamonds of the baseball variety.

John D. Rockfeller, residing at Cleveland Ohio.

Woodrow Wilson, residing at the White House.

Theodore Roosevelt, Oyster Bay, N. Y.

Henry Ford, Detroit, Michigan.

Herbert C. Hoover, Food dictator of the U. S.

The Kaiser of Germany residing temporially on a planet known as the earth, residing permanently in Hades.

VALEDICTORY

Miss Muza Rice.

As we enter an old Cathedral, we love to look upon the ruins of its ancient beauty, to study with care its massive stones, from whose rude inscriptions in a foreign tongue, we glean the history of its time. So tonight, as we stand at the portals of life it is only natural that we should indulge in a glimpse of the past four years. Our high school days!

How long and empty they stretched before us, but how short, how full and how bright they are now that they have passed into the beautiful land of memories.

What these years have given us we measure not by the credits received, or the marks on our report cards, but rather by the victories we have won over ourselves, the disappointments we have borne well and by the marks on our characters. So tonight we are not asking ourselves "how much do we know?" but instead, are we ready for life, ready to live faithfully and usefully in this age of sacrifice.

As we look back, we see ourselves as freshmen and hardly realize that only four years ago, we were those mere children dazed by all the intricacies of high school life, feeling no responsibilities, no place in school activities and relying on others for everything.

As Sophomores we gradually felt an awakening of energies and a slight sense of individuality, but still we were only a mass of people studying books.

With the Junior year we began to come into our own, and to find our places in high school life. Our influence we felt, realized and looked forward to the joy of being Seniors

With this title came duties, responsibilities, and honors but we had grown and we took them up gladly. We have tried faithfully to keep the trust that was given us and tonight we surrender our title unmarred.

The friendships formed through daily associations we enjoyed from from the first, but it was only as our senior year slipped quickly by that we began to appreciate and realized the value of this comradeship. Now we must part, but to all that is best and dearest to us, there is no farewell; For with our growth we have interwoven all the finest and most ideal of these friendships, until they are a part of our very being and with the memories that we carry away they will remain with us always.

While we feel a little sad when we realize that our class leaves no gap in high school, that others take our places and we are forgotten, we can only wish that future classes may hold the standard high, that they may enjoy New T. H. S. as much as we have the old and hope that our high school will indeed fare well.

Now to the teachers who have ever been an aid and inspiration to us, to our under classmen, and most important, to each other; we say farewell for on the morrow we shall step forth from this sheltered nook, into the busy whirl of life, where we shall take up our share of the nations burdens and do our small part to keep unstained the glorious banner of—

"This Blessed land of room enough—
Beyond the ocean bars,
Where the air is full of freedom
And the flag is full of Stars."

COMPLIMENTING FRED RENTSCHLER

Mr. and Mrs. D. I. Oliver, Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Gallup of Pontiac motored to Tecumseh Wednesday to attend the Commencement exercises, congratulating Fred Rentschler, a member of the class, a nephew and grandson of the parties named. Sudden illness prevented the presence of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Williams of Birmingham. Mr. Williams was principal of the Napoleon high school for eight years, under whose tutoring Mrs. J. F. Rentschler and Mrs. D. I. Oliver received their early schooling.

Mrs. Oliver, in behalf of the parties named, presented Fred J. Rentschler with a gold watch as a token of love and esteem and best wishes for a bright and prosperous future.

Mr. Williams, until Sunday, very active, though at the age of 78 years, wrote the following poem on his sick bed:

Your Graduation Day

At your time of graduation,
Looking forth with exultation
And with fond anticipation,
To some useful avocation
That will bring remuneration,
Please accept our commendation
And our heart's congratulation
And our warm appreciation
And our willing acceptation
Of your loving invitation
To be there on this occasion.
Thru those years of cultivation
You have toiled without cessation
For a rich accumulation
Of a fund of information
That will build your reputation
And will bring you admiration
In the public estimation.
We rejoice with jubilation
That you've reached this happy station
In your life's continuation.
May God guide your contemplation,
Hold your life in conservation,
And your health in preservation,
Fill your mind with inspiration
And with rightful education,
And a deep solicitation
For the welfare of your nation,
And a thorough consecration
To the cause of reformation
For the moral elevation
Of the rising generation,
And a fixed determination
For a constant agitation
That will know no termination
'Till each greedy corporation
Whose infernal domination
Would enslave our population,
Shall be driven from our nation.
Then the men of each vocation,
Free from all intoxication,
Free from want and dread's starvation,
Will receive new inspiration
To unite in combination,
That will place our reputation
Far above contamination;
Then the head of our great nation
Will receive a transformation
And enact such legislation
As shall drown all dissipation
And each evil machination,
And each foul abomination
In complete annihilation.
May your life in each relation
Be a perfect imitation
Of that glorious Incarnation,
God and man in concentration,
So that at life's termination
You may have an invitation
To that glorious coronation
Of the Prince of our salvation,
'Mid that holy convocation,
Bringing praise and great oblation
To the Lord of all creation,
With a loving adoration
Which shall have no termination.

"Of all the flags upon the breeze,
There is not one we see,
So graceful in its folds of silk,
The banner of the free!
The spirit born at Lexington,
That fought at Bunker Hill,
And stood through tears and greater strife,
Shall bear thee onward still!"

ILLINOIS LEGISLATURE CLOSES 50TH SESSION

Reverses Itself in Early Morning on Several Bills.

Springfield, Ill., June 18.—When the Fiftieth Illinois general assembly ended its work at 7:30 o'clock Sunday morning it had reversed its program in the hours after daynight on several bits of legislation. The assembly declined, however, to recess until fall.

The Gurnsey bill creating a state censorship of motion pictures was whipsawed to its death between the two houses. Another upset occurred when the Denvier bill placing taxicabs under control of the state public utilities commission was rescued and sent to the governor for signature. One of the last bills to get through the house was Senator Dailey's measure providing a means for soldiers to vote when absent from their homes. Illinois may have many thousands of voters in the trenches or in training camps when the next state election takes place in 1918. The soldier vote probably will decide the United States senatorship, as a successor to Senator Lewis will be elected at that time and the conduct of the war at Washington is likely to be the vital issue in the minds of the troops.

WOODEN SHIPS BOB UP AGAIN

Denman Says Goethals Would Pay Too Much for Steel.

Washington June 18.—William Denman, chairman of the United States shipping board, announced that he has refused to approve contracts for steel ships made by General George W. Goethals, general manager of the Emergency Fleet corporation. He says $95 a ton for steel is an extortionate price for General Goethals to pay, when the navy is able to buy it for $65.

This is the first open break between Mr. Denman and General Goethals since the shipping board squabble began to come to a head a week or more ago. aVrious predictions are made regarding the widening of the breach.

SLACKER SMART ALEC HERE

Loudly Proclaims He Did Not Register Then Shows Birth Certificate.

LANSING, June 18.

A new sort of slacker who isn't a slacker, but is just plain freshness personified, has been discovered.

In all cases he is a man who is just a few days or months beyond the age of thirty-one years, but looks younger. Since the draft registration he hangs out in public places and in stentorian tone declares that he was one who missed in the registry. He impresses everybody with the fact that the "government isn't such a much after all" and that anybody with a little bit of brains can beat it. Ultimately, of course, the talk causes somebody to report him to police headquarters or to the recruiting officers. Then Mr. Smarty furnishes his star performance. Loudly proclaiming his age, he produces a transcript of his birth certificate from the state department and laughs.

BIG FRENCH FREIGHTER SUNK

Submarine Sents Mississippi to Bottom—One Is Lost.

New York, June 18.—News of the destruction of the big French freight steamship Mississippi by a German submarine, with a loss of one of the Merchantman's crew, was brought here by officer of a German freight vessel that arrived from a French port.

The Mississippi, of 6,677 tons gross, was torpedoed and sunk about 145 miles out from the port of Brest, France, on June2, according to officers of the British ship, which rescued forty-seven officers and seamen from open boats. They had been afloat only a short time.

'CHANGE MEN, WE'LL CHANGE'

Roman Girl's Reply to Editorial Critic of Fine Clothes.

Rome, June 18.—Regarding editorial criticisms of women who continue to wear fine clothes, despite the war, Miss Elvira Spina has protested to the editor of the Giornale D'Italia in a letter as follows:

"The simple and sad truth is that it does not pay to be a modestly dressed woman. Let me make a confession. The woman who forces herself to live quietly, to dress unattractivly, goes unobserved. The woman who makes an elaborate toilette, whowears flashy clothes, is admired, courted, loved, married. These days husbands are scarce. So what are we to do, how can we resist temptation? Peace time, war time, men are the same. Change the men and then we too will change."

Hammond, Ind., Man Undergoes Enough to Kill Four; Still Lives.

Hammond, Ind., June 18.—Charles Nelson has used up four of his lives and still lives. He jumped from the third floor of St. Margaret's hospital and was not hurt, turning a somersault and landing on his feet.

On Tuesday his wife secured a divorce. On Wednesday she shot and killed herself. He then cut his throat with a razor. As the police arrested him he fired at his heart but got only a flesh wound. On the way to the hospital he tore bandages off his throat and tried to tear out his wind pipe. While policemen on guard left the room for a moment he jumped from a window.

ORDERS RUSS TO TAKE OFFENSIVE

Duma Demands That Army Get Busy and Fight.

TO EXPEL GERMAN PACIFISTS

Root Commission Holds Conferences With Russian Leaders—Former Secretary of State Busy Man at Petrograd—Big Congress of Workmen and Soldiers Endorses War Movements.

Petrograd, June 18.—A resolution, calling for an immediately offensive by Russian troops, has been adopted by the Duma in secret session.

This information was made public at about the same time that notice was given that the Pan-Russian congress of all councils of workmen's and soldiers' delegates had ratified the action of the provisional government in expelling from Russia Robert Grimm, the Swiss Socialist, reported to be the medium through which the Germans attempted to arrange a separate peace with Russia.

The duma statement declares a separate peace with Germany or prolonged inactivity on the battle front to be ignoble treason toward Russia's allies, for which furture generations never would pardon the Russia of the present day.

For Safety of Russia.

"The duma, therefore, considers," the resolution adds, "that the safety of Russia and the maintenance of the liberties which have been obtained lie in an immediate offensive in close cooperation with Russia's allies."

Grimm's case was taken up by the pan-Russian congress, upon which depends the immediate destiny of Russia in regard to both international and domestic questions, when it assembled Saturday evening, immediately after the delegates had elected as their president N. C. Tcheidse, president of the Petrograd council of workmen's and soldiers' delegates.

Grimm's expulsion was approved by the passage, with a vote of 640 to 121, of a resolution indorsing the action of M. Tseretelli and M. Skobeleff, Socialist members of the cabinet, who investigated the activities of the Swiss Socialist and brought about the order for his expulsion.

The congress expressed the view that the action of the ministers corresponded perfectly with the interests of the Russian revolution and the Socialist internationale. It welcomed the decision of the ministers to publish the full details regarding the Grimm affair.

The announcement last week that the cabinet had decided to suggest a conference of the Entente allies for examination of treaties was followed by the publication of the note sent to the other governments in question.

The note suggested a conference to revise the agreements existing among the allies as to war aims, with the exception of the London agreement which provides that none of the signatory powers shall conclude a separate peace.

Root Meets Guchkoff.

Members of the American commission devoted Saturday to informal conferences with prominent Russians. Elihu Root, head of the mission, met Alexander J. Guchkoff, chief of the munitions bureau.

Ambassador Francis is arranging other small dinners and luncheons to enable the members of the American mission to meet the Russian cabinet ministers.

The Americans are arranging for visits to Moscow, Kiev and Odessa and possibly to Roumania. Rear Admiral Glennon and other naval officers will visit the Russian naval centers independent of the commission's movements. Major General Scott and the officers of his staff will make independent visits to military places.

Indications are that the commission will remain in Russia three or four weeks.

Telegram to Grimm.

Stockholm, June 18.—Additional details of the German peace offer to Russia are contained in the Social Demokraten's translation of the telegram, said to have been addressed by A. Hoffman, a member of the Swiss federal council, to Robert Grimm, a Swiss Socialist, who has been in Russia for some time. The newspaper's version of the telegram contains the following:

"I am convinced that Germany and its allies would immediately take up peace negotiations at the wish of Russia's allies. As to what concerns the German war aim, you can read articles in the Norddeutsche Allgemeine Zeitung. There, after consultation with Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg, the declaration has been made regarding annexation to the effect that Germany does not desire increase in its territory, or any economic or political expansion."

Italians Take Stronghold.

Rome, June 18.—Italian forces have carried Corno Cavento, a strongly fortified Austrian position in the eastern trentino, says the official statement issued by the Italian war department.

The Governor of Michigan has designated this week as Red Cross week and his proclamation is printed elsewhere in this issue. President Wilson is asking for $100,000,000, for Red Cross and Lenawee's share of this amount is figured at $32,000.

The calls on the purse strings of our people have been coming often and in the future they will probably come much oftener for the needs are most urgent. The Patriotic League of Lenawee County, realizing this, called a meeting in Adrian, Friday evening, which was attended by representatives from every town and township in the county. The League organized on a permanent basis and have laid their plans for a financial campaign to cover every home in this county. Realizing that the calls are bound to come thick and fast, the League have decided on a plan to raise enough funds to cover the counties estimated needs for a year, thus doing away with constant calls for money.

People, while they may be perfectly loyal, are likely to get tired of being called on every week for this fund and that, and to do away with this, the League will start a drive this week to raise a large fund, some $60,000 which is to be paid in in one year's time on a monthly payment plan.

Last week a committee of Adrian men, representing the League, came to Tecumseh and met with the local committee. The matter was gone over and later the executive committee was called together. Chairman Burridge, in lieu of the fact that he was actively interested in the county and local Red Cross work, resigned as local head of the Patriotic League and H. S. Temple, cashier of the Lilley State Bank, was chosen and will act as local chairman of the League. He will appoint a committee to make a house to house canvass this week. It is hoped to raise a fund of $500. per month in this township which will mean the sum of $6,000. for the year.

So be ready to receive these men when they call and remember that these men are not begging, but are trying to do their duty. They get nothing for this work and are taking their time from their business that the urgent need of these Government calls may be met. Whether the amount be large or small, be prepared to give something. Nothing unpatriotic is looked for in this township, but we cite a case which occurred in a neighboring city not many weeks ago. Red Cross men called upon a grocer to get subscriptions to the fund and were flatly turned down. They asked this man if he didn't think it was his duty to contribute to the fund. He said he did not, he was not in sympathy with the war, thought it was entirely unnecessary, etc., and proceeded to try and throw the fellows from his store.

A rough and tumble scrap followed. The affair was reported to the authorities and the groceryman was hauled up before the federal authorities and placed in jail pending the hearing.

The affair was finally settled by the man publishing a statement in the paper in which he apologized for the statement he had made, acknowledged his loyalty to the Government and stated that he had given to the Red Cross fund.

The Government will not countenance any disloyalty at this time and those who show feeling of disloyalty are apt to find themselves in serious difficulty. Our people, we believe, are loyal and it does not mean that to be loyal we must give beyond our means, but it does mean that we must be willing to do our best in time and money to aid Uncle Sam in this great struggle that he finds himself drawn into.

Our sewer crock, which has adorned our fore-corners for the past year, is doomed and the Council have voted to erect a 60ft. flag pole to take its place. While the old silent policeman has not been a thing of beauty, still it has answered the purpose, and has been a constant reminder to the traveling public to keep to the right.

Old Glory will soon be flying from this flag pole in the heart of our Village to signify that Tecumseh's heart is loyal to the core.

AVERY—UNDERWOOD

A very pretty June wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Underwood, 1123 Michigan Ave., Ann Arbor, Saturday, June 16, in the presence of about seventy relatives and friends, when their daughter Eula V. was united in marriage to Ralph J. Avery.

At 9 o'clock to the strains of Mendelsshon's March played by her sister Miss Winnifred Underwood, the bridal party, led by little Alice Underwood, followed by Charles Underwood and Kenneth Easlick as ushers, Arlene Underwood, Miss Ellen Smith, ten girl friends of the bride, David Underwood and Rev. Somers descended the stairs. As Miss Ellen Smith sang "I Love You Truly," the bride and groom entered and took their places under a wedding bell banked by ferns, where Rev. Somers of the Ridgeway M. E. church, with the ring ceremony, pronounced them man and wife.

The bride was very prettily dressed in white crepe de chene with silk net overdress and trimmed in pearls. She carried a bouquet of bride's roses caught up with loops of white ribbon.

Directly after the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served in the dining room which was decorated in pink and green. The bride's table at which twelve were seated, was lighted with pink candles. The center-piece was of beautiful pink roses. The remainder of the guests were served at small tables through the house by the Misses Wylma Wood, Mary Scarlett, Hazel Laudenslager, Rayola Gilmore, Alice Low Gertrude Baker, Rosalind Andrews, Ida Gibson, Edith Haviland, Pearl Wood and the bride's brother David Underwood.

They left Ann Arbor for a short trip to Alma, Mich.

They received many beautiful presents including money, furniture, linen, cut glass, china, silver and a piano from the bride's parents.

The bride is well and favorably known in Ridgeway, having been a successful teacher in the public schools. She is a graduate of the Ridgeway, and Tecumseh schools and at Ypsilanti. Both young people are active members of the Ridgeway M. E. church. They go to housekeeping in their farm home about two miles north of Ridgeway with the best wishes of a host of friends.

RED CROSS CONCERT IN CLINTON

Besides those mentioned in the program, Mr. and Mrs. DeWolf of Detroit rendered a much appreciated number.

A silver collection resulted in $29.05 which was divided between the Tecumseh and Clinton Red Cross societies and the Armenian Relief Fund.

The members of the Concert Company wish to announce that they are ready to accept any engagements for the same cause.

ECONOMY URGED IN THE USE OF POSTAGE STAMPS

The third assistant postmaster general has issued the following:

As a measure of economy postmasters and post-office employees are directed to encourage the public to use stamps of the highest denominations suited to the amount of postage required on all mail. For example, a 2-cent stamp instead of two 1-cent stamps should be affixed to letters needing 2 cents postage, and a 10-cent stamp instead of five 2-cent should be attached to parcels requiring 10 cents postage.

Co-operation between post-office employees and the public in the sale and use of stamps of the higher denominations will effect a large saving to the Government in the cost of producing, transporting and canceling them, and will benefit the public in minimizing the number of stamps handled and affixed to mail. This benefit will be especially important to business concerns mailing large quantities of letters and parcels, and postmasters are directed to bring the suggestion particularly to their notice.

MEXICO IS WITH U. S., CARRANZA DECIDES

Letter from Southern Republic Head Announces Stand.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Mexico has given the United States assurances of her warmest friendship—amounting to practically a declaration of sympathy for the cause of the allies. This is expressed in an autograph letter from President Carranza to the government of the United States. This was received here by Ambassador Ignacio Bonillas, of Mexico and was presented to secretary of State Lansing by the ambassador.

Ambassador Bonillas is authority for the statement that Mexico will seek to continue her policy of neutrality in the world war, but he does not deny that sentiment in the southern republic is with the allied cause.

While President Carranza's letter is intended as an official announcement that Mexico has returned to normal conditions, and states that the provisional government is in full control of the situation, the expressions of friendship for President Wilson personally and for continued friendly relations with the United States is taken in diplomatic circles here to mean that Mexico's sympathies are entirely with the allies.

T. H. S. ALUMNI DAY

June 16, 1917

June 16, 1917, was a bright and beautiful day, and the members of T. H. S. Alumni gathered from far and near for another of their joyful reunions which are dear to the heart of every Alumnus. A general reception was held in the morning in Odd Fellows' hall, and the hearty hand shaking and words of greeting attested to the delight of meeting one's friends of the long ago, on this occasion

As the hour of noon drew near, the call came for the company to fall in line by classes for the march to the dining room. The room was decorated with the flags of the allied nations and Red Cross emblems. The tables presented a very fine and inviting appearance, and after the invocation by Rev. J. S. Widdifield, and the singing of America by the Alumni, every one did ample justice to the bountiful banquet served by the ladies of the Presbyterian church.

At the close of the banquet, the president, Miss Asenath Hosmer, made a few introductory remarks and in referring to two of our number, Mrs. Etta Wilson Freeman and Mrs. Mattie McClure-Gillen, asked that all stand for a few moments with bowed head in memory of these and the many others of our circle who had been called higher. She then read a number of cards received from those who were unable to be present with us in the body, but would be with us in spirit for this meeting.

She introduced the toast mistress, Jane Harris Crane, who in a most pleasing manner called on those who took part in the program. Her speech was enlivened with many witty repartees. The first on the program was a piano duet, "Stars and Stripes", by Mrs Wood and Mrs Hodges. This was followed by a piano solo "Dance of the Hours", by Burton Garlinghouse, who responded to an encore.

Mrs. Franc Gillespie in a very jolly and happy manner, welcomed the class of 1917 into the Alumni circle. Of course, being a woman, she could not resist a few words of advice, but they were so mixed with wit that they were warranted not to leave a very deep impression, but the class were well satisfied that their welcome was assured. A duet, "The Two Beggars", by Fred Dickinson and Harold Lowry, received hearty applause. Miss Muza Rice, in behalf of the class of 1917, gave a very fine response to the welcome given them.

The Alumni rising then sang "The Star Spangled Banner" with the spirit and understanding of loyal citizens and the hall echoed to the grand old song. Dr North, with a cane, without which he is lost, then gave a talk on the subject and in a very neat manner advertised the souvenir canes from the old T. H. S., giving a brief history of the cane which he says was first used by the monkey.

Royal DeWolf in his most happy manner then sang "Who Knows"; "My Own United States", and an encore. The Boys' Glee Club sang a Gypsy song and responded to an encore.

The closing number on "Ideals" by Mrs. Claud VanTine, was exceptionally good and proved to us all how lacking we were in the higher ideals as a nation a community, and a family. Her advice to those who have just started out on life's highway to cultivate ideals and strive for the higher education, was fine.

A short business session followed and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:—

Pres.—A. O. Howard
Vice Pres.—Mrs. Franc Gillespie
2nd Vice Pres.—Mrs. Eunice Davidson.
Sec.—Mrs. Pauline Bredow.
Treas.—E. J. Lowry
Advisory board—Robert Moore, Lora Cairns Billington, Harry Walton, Leona Anderson Barber, Nellie Nyland Raymond

The meeting then closed with the singing "Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean", and it was wonderful to see the patriotic enthusiasm that was manifested when this song was sung. Every one saluted Old Glory as the president waved its folds of red, white and blue. Thank God, we are a loyal people, and willing to do and to dare that our Country and our Flag shall be preserved inviolate.

And now goodbye dear friends of the Alumni until another year rolls by. May we all be permitted to meet again, with our ranks unbroken, is the heartfelt prayer of

A Member.

RED CROSS NEWS

The Executive Committee of the Lenawee County Chapter held a meeting in Adrian on Saturday evening. Mr. Chas. Burridge and Rev. Widdifield were present from Tecumseh.

The concert held under the direction of Mrs. Fred Wood in Clinton by Tecumseh talent, netted $29.05, of which one-third went to the Clinton Red Cross, one-third to the Tecumseh Red Cross and one-third to the Armenian Relief fund.

Miss Hosmer wishes to bring to the notice of all intending workers that there are thousands of wounded soldiers in France needing attention today, some of them American citizens and all of them fighting our battles. Our great demand is for Sanitary Sponges, the directions for which are as follows:

Amber or wooden needles No. 4 or 5. Cast on 35 stitches. Knit two ribs on one side and one on the other, or across three times. Knit one stitch, thread around the needle, knit next stitch and repeat to end of row. Knit the knitted stitches and drop the thread around the needle and repeat instructions until there are ten of the double rows and nine of the single large mesh rows, and bind off.

The cotton and needles can be found at Miss Hosmer's Art Shop, and if workers are not financially able to pay 6c for a ball, it will be furnished free by the Red Cross.

Mrs. A. W. Mills wishes to meet all ladies who will knit socks. She has needles and yarn to supply all comers.

Department Heads

Knitted washcloths and sponges—Miss A. B. Hosmer, director.

Pillows, all kinds—Mrs. H. T. Dunn, director

Knitted socks—Mrs. A. W. Mills, director.

Membership and Subscription—Dr. Hartzog, director.

Pillow covers, all kinds—Mrs. R. K. Anderson, director.

Surgical shirts—Mrs. T. C. Harris director.

Publicity—Mrs. J. C. Law Hardy: director.

Mrs. Dunn announces that through an error the size of the snippings was printed larger than required. The snippings should be about one-half-inch square. Please leave white or light colored snippings in barrel at Headquarters.

It is most important that all work should be done exactly to specifications. Take instructions from no other source except your own department.

We need workers very badly. Millions of American men are to go to the battlefields of Europe. It depends upon us all individually if these men shall have the comforts of life, or die for the lack of the most elementary conveniences. Each one of us can do his or her bit, no matter how small it be.

For every soldier that bleeds to death for want of dressing, for every one that dies of infection, for want of medical attention, YOU are responsible, if you do not bring what help you can.

Shall it be said in taunt by the Hohenzollerns, in sorrow and anguish by heroic Belgium, chivalrous France, invincible England, that the richest nation on earth lets her sons perish for lack of work and supplies?

If you do not help America, you are working for the Kaiser, inactivity on the part of America is what he has been working for, come let us disappoint him! for the love of your country, for the love of your sons, select your department, and offer your services to the director you select.

Everyone who has any bills against the Red Cross, please send them to Mr. Chas. Burridge.

Jenny C. Law Hardy.
Publicity Director.

RED CROSS WEEK

A Proclamation by the Governor

The National Red Cross has designated the week of June 18th to 25th as "Red Cross Week" and I hereby call upon the mayors of cities and the presidents of incorporated village to join with the officers of the Red Cross in securing the funds which will enable that organization to carry out its plans for the care and protection of our soldiers and their dependents during this great war.

In the days to come the soldiers of the United States will rely on the Red Cross to care for them when wounded and sick. Think of the great service which subscriptions to their funds will enable the members of the Red Cross to give the fighting men of this Nation. In no other way can adequate preparation be made for the stress and strain which will come when the men of America are on the battlefield, and the money should be provided now. Only by generous giving can we assure ourselves that the soldier whom we send to the trenches will have proper care and attention when sick and wounded. Every man, woman and child should stop and think of the need which makes necessary this request, and give accordingly.

I trust that the people of Michigan will consider the importance of this enterprise and do their full duty to the Nation and the men who serve it.

Therefore, I, ALBERT E. SLEEPER, Governor of the State of Michigan, do issue this my Proclamation, and I urgently request all our citizens, according to their ability, to contribute of their means to this most worthy cause.

ALBERT E. SLEEPER,
Governor.

COOK BROS. CIRCUS

A circus without clowns would be like the play "The Fool's Revenge" with the role of the jester eliminated. Traveling shows from time immemorial have had their Merry Andrews, whose grotesqueries contributed their full share to the enjoyment of the crowds. The king's jester who was always wiser than the monarch and his court, for whose amusement he "made a fool of himself," has always had his counterpart in the "people's Jester" of the circus. Under the grotesque motley of the clown there have masquered many clever minds and actors of surpassing ability. Dan Rice was a man of unusual mentality, and commanded a salary of $500 a week. William Frederick Wallett, the English clown, commanded a very large salary for his ability to sink his individuality into the grotesque character of a "fool." The history of the canvas show is full of instances in which brainy men, have been paid very large sums of money to become seemingly "witless clowns."

In modern clowning, some of the best specimens of which may be seen during the visit of the Cook Bros. Wild Animal Circus to Tecumseh, Monday, June 25 individuality has been somewhat subordinated to numbers, and the Merry Andrews of the arena have become to a great extent burlesque, "hitting off" the foibles of the day and depending upon make-up, costuming and facial expression to entertain, instead of indulging in topical songs and spoken humor as was the custom a few years ago. The great size of the modern circus like that of Cook Brothers make this impossible—the voices of the clowns, no matter how clever they might be as singers or declaimers, would not be heard. Nevertheless, their humor is of a wholesome laugh-creating character, and they add a great deal to the enjoyment of the performance.

The Cook Brothers circus is evidently a show of infinite variety, for the program promises not only a novel and up-to-date circus performance with riders of distinction, aerialists, acrobats and other specialists of well known reputation, but also a display of trained wild animals superior to anything hither to seen in this country. The preliminary interest in the coming of the show is pronounced.

WAR DEPARTMENT

Statement by the Secretary of War

The Cavalry, Engineers, Coast Artillery, Signal Corps, and Quartermaster Corps of the Regular Army have already been brought to war strength.

45,000 recruits are needed at once to complete the new regiments of Infantry and field artillery.

25,000 additional recruits are desired at the earliest practicable date to fill vacancies in order that the war strength of 300,000 men may be maintained.

Facilities are in readiness for placing these 70,000 men under proper training.

Any delay in obtaining this number will necessarily cause the loss of invaluable time.

It is the earnest desire of the War Department that 70,000 single men between the ages of 18 and 40, who have no dependents and who are not engaged in professions, businesses, or trades vitally necessary to the prosecution of the war, be enlisted in the Regular Army before the 30th. of June, 1917.

NEWTON D. BAKER,
Secretary of War.

Use "Gets-It," Lift Corn Right Off

Shrivels, Loosens—and It's Gone!

"Just like taking the lid off—that's how easy you can lift a corn off your toe after it has been treated with the wonderful discovery, "Gets-It." Hunt the wide world over and you'll find nothing so magic, simple and easy as "Gets-It." You folks who have wrapped your toes in bandages to look like bundles, who have used salves that turned your toes raw and sore, and used plasters that would shift from their place and never "get" the corn, and who have dug and picked at your corns with knives and scissors and perhaps made them bleed—just quit these old and painful ways and try "Gets-It" just once. You put 2 or 3 drops on, and it dries at once. There's nothing to stick. You can put your shoe and stocking right on again. The pain is all gone. Then the corn dies a painless, shriveling death, it loosens from your toe, and off it comes. "Gets-It" is the biggest selling corn remedy in the world today. There's none other as good.

"O-o-!"
End Corns and Stop Pain Quickly With "Gets-It"

Sold in Tecumseh and recommended as the world's best corn remedy by B. J. Pulver. adv

Swiss Military System.

With a population of less than 5,000,000 Switzerland can put in the field an army of 500,000. How does the Alpine republic do it?

In the first place, every ablebodied male citizen serves. Those not ablebodied pay a military tax, graduated according to income, and there is no buying immunity from service. Training begins early, schoolboys from seven to fifteen years old spending from four to eight hours a week in compulsory gymnastic drill and physical training without arms. In the summer comes work in the cadet corps, 100 to 200 hours, where marching, map reading, etc., are taught and also target practice with the rifle. The rifle used is a miniature of the regular army weapon.—Outing.

Euphemisms For Death.

"Decease" is now a regular form of word for death. But it began as a gentle euphemism, "decessus" (departure) seeming much less harsh to the Romans than "mors." All languages abound in euphemisms of the kind, which go back to a superstitious reluctance to mention death plainly that gradually passed into a kindly desire to soften the idea. "Passed away," "departed," "gone," "expire" (breathe out), "no more," "demise" and even "the late" are expressions of this nature. Most striking of all is the Roman euphemism for "he is dead," "vixit" (he has lived).

Frilled Lizards.

Some lizards are able to walk on their hind legs, of which the most remarkable example is the frilled lizard of Australia, a powerful form, which attains a length of about three feet. Should danger threaten it scuttles off on its hind limbs with considerable speed for as far as thirty or forty feet in a half crouching attitude, with the fore limbs hanging down and the remarkable frill folded up.

GREAT PUNCH OF WAR PREPARING

Both Sides "Stalling" for Opening to Break Through.

ATTACK MUST BE SURPRISE

Facility for Shifting Reserves to Points Against Prolonged Offensives Makes Such Ineffective to End War. Whole Line Deluged by Shells. French Beat Back German Attack in the Making.

London, June 18.—All the way between the North sea and the Swiss border the allies and the Germans are "stalling."

The big battles of the year are still to come. Everybody knows it. But nobody knows where. This is the lesson the Germans learned in Yser and at Verdun, the allies in the Champagne, on the Aisne, and at Arras—that no offensive can be pushed home to its ultimate purpose, the big "breakthrough," unless it comes absolutely and completely as a surprise—so much so that the opponents cannot find time to throw his reserves in men and guns into the sectors attacked.

Not the slightest inkling must be given the enemy precisely on what front the great breach is to be effected. Therefore, practically the whole front must be continuously bombarded with equal force until everything is ready for the big blow.

That's what is going on in the west today. Hindenburg is doing it on the French front, in the Champagne and on the Aisne, Sir Douglas Haig on the front between Ypres and Lens. Now and then local attacks are launched, a "kink" in the line is straightened out, and all the while reconnoitering parties are darting forward into the opposing line, returning with prisoners from whom, even when they are unwilling, some valuable pointers are always obtained.

Interest has centered upon the Franco-German front. There the Germans gave signs of showing their hand—but signs may have been part of the bluffing game both sides are now playing. This front is about forty miles long, from Cerny, southeast of Laon, to Auberive, eastern pivot of the Champagne sector. There are three sub-divisions; first, from Cerny to Berry-au-Bac; second, from Berry-au-Bac to Nauroy; third, from Nauroy to Auberive. In each of these the crown prince's heaviest artillery has been displaying its top capacity ever since the French drive was checked. In one of these sectors the French look for a big counter thrust.

"75's" Squelch Attack In Making.

I twas the eleven mile front between Cerny and Berry-au-Bac that the Teutons in the last twenty-four hours developed more than ordinary activity. They were massing troops to the northeast of Carny, under cover of terrific gunfire. But the French observers were on the job. Without a moment's delay the "seventy-fives" were put into action. Their murderous hail squashed the Teuton organizations in the making. No infantry attack developed. A little later the crown prince's cannon, as if to get even for the check at Cerny, let loose on earth shaking drumfire on the French positions on Hurtebise farm. This farm, the real key to the "road of the ladies" is a sore spot with the Germans. There is every indication that they mean to get it back.

Late in the afternoon the guns were still roaring. The French, however, answered shell for shell.

Farm Where Ney Defeated Bleucher.

Incidentally the farm is the same from which Marshals Ney and Brouot 103 years ago ejected Bleucher while Napoleon looked on. The French mean to live up to the tradition. Petain's scouts made quick dashes into Teuton positions in the Woevre and in the Vosges, returning with prisoners.

Atlanta and Minneapolis Only Cities Below Their Quotas.

Washington, June 18.—Up to Sunday evening only one federal reserve bank—that in Atlanta—had finished its tabulation of liberty loan subscriptions, The government's estimate of over subscriptions remains unchanged.

The most conservative guess of figures among the officials is that the sum will not run below $2,700,000,000 while the more hopeful say it will reach a round $3,000,000,000. Atlanta and Minneapolis are the only cities below their quota.

J., who was the wife of the late president. Miss Cleveland has been a student here at the teachers' college, Columbia university, for two years. SIXTY-SEVENTH YEAR NO. 63 TECUMSEH MICHIGAN, FRIDAY, JUNE 22, 1917 WHOLE NUMBER 4230

The Call Has Come!

Our Boys are on Their Way to the Trenches--- Lenawee Must Mobilize Her Money and Resources; We Must All Follow the Flag to France.

American Soldiers are on their way to the trenches in France.

In a few weeks, possibly days, they will be fighting side by side with our allies.

The American Red Cross must follow these boys. American Hospitals, American Surgeons, American Nurses and American Money must follow them to the battle field.

The American Red Cross MUST be back of the firing line, prepared to render every assistance that is humanly possible.

When our boys come back from the firing line, sick or wounded, we must be on the ground, prepared to nurse them back to life and health.

The Red Cross will not only have to meet the needs for relief abroad, but it will have an enormous work here at home. We must not only help to restore the stricken in France, Belgium and Russia, but we must care for dependent families of our soldiers and sailors in America.

The work is so big and the demand so pressing that there is no room for shirkers. Every one must "Do his bit."

Following is a list of the chairmen of committees representing the wards, towns, cities and townships:

Adrian City—First ward: Amos Wilcox; Second ward, Wm. A. Cutler; Third ward, W. H. Goff; Fourth ward, Loyal Calkins; Fifth ward, Philip Eberline; Sixth ward, Amos Kells. Adrian Township, Wm. H. Ruesink; Blissfield, John Riley; Clinton, E. L. Parker; Cambridge, J. B. Daniels; Deerfield, R. H. Munson; Dover, John Vorhees; Fairfield, Lyman Baker; Franklin, Charles Evans; Hudson City, Edward Frensdorf; Hudson Township, Frank Lawrence; Madison, E. R. Illenden; Macon, Everett I. Collins; Medina, John A. Poucher; Ogden, Elmer Beamer; Palmyra, Charles Fogelsong; Raisin, John Calhoun; Ridgeway, Charles Foote; Riga, Otto Wegner; Rollin, Jno. Hawkins; Rome, Warren Shepherd; Seneca, E. B. Root; Tecumseh, H. S. Temple; Woodstock, John Binn.

Get in touch with these men — they need your help. Every man, woman and child in Lenawee county must sacrifice something for this cause—We must give both time and money.

President Wilson, head of the American Red Cross, has sent out a call for 100,000,000 volunteers—$100,000,000.

Not all of us can volunteer to fight, but none of us are so poor but that we can give a few dollars for this great humanitarian work.

Every one of us wants to do something to help win this war. We want to do everything possible to insure the comfort and care of the fathers, brothers and sons who go to the front.

Lenawee's share of this $100,000,000 fund is $32,000, but it is estimated that it will require twice that amount to take care of our patriotic obligations during the next year.

We have set our mark at $60,000, and we know that rich, prosperous and patriotic Lenawee will respond as she has always responded in the past.

Giving a few dollars is the very least we can do. Some of our boys are willing to give life itself, for this great cause—we must not hesitate to furnish the funds which may be the means of saving hundreds of lives.

Red Cross subscribers are not expected to perform any personal war service; nor do they assume any financial obligations, other than the payment of their subscription.

But the aggregate of these subscriptions, paid by millions of grateful men, women and children all over the land, will make possible the work of relief upon which the soldier, sailor and his family DEPEND.

THIS IS NOT CHARITY—it is a privilege to take your place in the ranks of the Red Cross.

HELP
The Patriotic League
Raise the Money for The Red Cross

The Patriotic League of Lenawee County was organized for the purpose of centralizing all of the patriotic activities into one body.

It has aided in the organization of the local chapter of the Red Cross and has had charge of the campaign of public meetings; it has had charge of the raising of funds for the Army and Navy Y. M. C. A. and now its whole membership is putting their efforts in to raising Lenawee's quota for the Red Cross.

A complete county organization was formed at a meeting held June 15th. Chairmen were appointed for every township and ward in the county. These chairmen will organize their localities and arrange to solicit every home in the county for contributions to the Red Cross fund.

Every man, woman and child in Lenawee county will be given an opportunity to help in this great work, and in order to make it as easy as possible, it is arranged that the pledges may be paid in monthly installments. Each subscriber agrees to pay a certain amount each month for the year.

By this plan every one can help. Every one of us can spare a little each month—at least a dollar or more—and in this way every one can feel that he is doing his part to carry aid and comfort to those who cannot help themselves.

Below is a copy of the pledge card. If your ward or township chairman does not reach you, write to him for one of these cards and fill it in. This work must be gotten under way at once. Lenawee must not lag behind in doing her patriotic duty. Many communities are subscribing millions. WE WILL DO OUR SHARE.

NEW TRAINING CAMPS FOR RESERVE OFFICERS

Open August 27

Application Blanks Now can be Secured of Gen. F. B. Wood—Men of Mature Age Will be Given the Preference

The United States Government, in announcing its plans for the second officers' training camp, makes a special appeal to men of mature age. The war department strongly desires men who, by virtue of their ripe judgment and that force of character which come with years, are able to lead others.

Men of 31 and over, and up to 44 years of age, are particularly wanted—professional men — men now holding responsible positions and business executives and men of special military training up to 50 years. The military officials point out further that the more mature men, who are ready to serve their country at war, should consider it a solemn duty to apply for positions as officers rather than to be content, through modesty, with a place in the ranks.

Gen. F. B. Wood, Tecumseh, in charge of the local officers' recruiting headquarters of the Military Training Camps Associaton, emphasizes the words of the Washington office. "Since the best ideal of service is for every man to do what he is particularly fitted for, men of maturity should consider that they are fulfiling their plain duty by qualifying as officers; that they are serving their country most efficiently by serving as commanders."

This is the final call for older men from civil life, who have a fund of real, personal experience. Younger men can rise from the ranks. The training camp is primarily for those over 31 years of age.

The war department makes it very clear that when the men, who secure commissions at this last camp, have taken their places as leaders of the first 500,000, all promotions will be from the rank and file.

Qualifications

In brief, the following are the qualifications for admission to the new training camps:

An intelligent, trained mind. Executive business ability. Previous military training is an asset—but not necessary. The maximum age limit is 50 years; the minimum, 20 years, 9 months. However, in order to obtain the experienced class of men desired, preference will be given to those over 31 years of age, other being equal.

The war department expressly states that because of the anticipated large number of applications, it will probably be difficult for men under 31 years to qualify, except in instances where the applicants have pre-eminent qualifications or unusual military experience.

The government will pay civilians in training at the rate of $100 per month and will also furnish transportation, subsistence and uniform. Men who receive commissions will be paid, while in active servce, at the same rate as regular United States army officers, which is as follows:

Second lieutenant	$1,700.00
First lieutenant	2,000.00
Captain	2,400.00
Major	3,000.00
Lieutenant-colonel	4,000.00

Immediate Response Necessary

Applications for the second training camp will be received between June 15th and July 15th at the local officers' recruiting headquarters. Under no circumstances will an applicant be considered after July 15th. Upon the termination of this period, army examiners will visit various points, to be announced, in each state. An applicant selected for personal and physical examination will be notified to appear before the regular army officer in person, at a convenient point, for inquiry into his record, capacity, leadership, and qualifications in general.

The obligation involved is "enlistment for a period of three months only. Applicants will agree to accept, at the end of the training, such commission in the Army of the United States as may be tendered by the Secretary of War. The enlistment, however, obligates one to service in the training camp only.

Sixteen Camps.

The training camps are to be held in the South. The war department announces locations as follows:

Fort Benjamin Harrison, Ind. (3 camps). For Division Area IV (Pennsylvania Congressional Districts not included above in Area III) Divisional Area VIII (Ohio and West Virginia) and Divisional Area IX (Indiana and Kentucky).

Fort Logan H. Roots, Ark. (2 camps) or other place to be desig- (Wisconsin and Michigan) and Divisional Area XII (Mississippi, Louisiana and Arkansas).

Loon Springs, Texas. (2 camps). For Divisional Area XI (Illinois) and Divisional Area XV (Texas, Arizona, New Mexico and Oklahoma).

Fort Riley, Kansas. (2 camps) North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska and Iowa) and Divisional Area XIV (Kansas, Missouri and Colorado).

BRITISH YIELD POSTS IN NORTHERN FRANCE

Advanced Ground Given up, but Main Positions Held.

LONDON, ENG.—The developments on the western front tend strongly to bear out recent information that Hindenburg proposes to make a titanic effort to force a decision in France this summer.

Upon the heels of his partly successful infantry attack against the French below Laon Sunday, preceded and followed by continuous, terrific gun fire, he brought his reorganized forces on the northern front into play Monday. He tackled the British where they are most menacing to his Wotan line, to the east of Monchy le Proux. Here Sir Douglas Haig's Arras drive thrust a deep wedge into the Bavarian Crown Prince's lines protecting Donai. On June 14 the British smashed even further eastward.

British headquarters admit that after a bitter combat the Teuton storming columns succeeded in penetrating some advanced positions. The main position, in Infantry hill, remained in British hands, however.

Simultaneously the Teutons launched a violent cannonade against the British lines below Ypres, where General Plumer crashed in the Wytschaete salient eleven days ago.

A GENERAL SURVEY OF THE WAR.

Wednesday, June 13.—Mutual raiding along the greater part of the British front was reported by Field Marshal Haig, with repulse of a single German counter attack.

Destruction of German submarine by the American steamship Kroonland was reported by the merchantman upon her arrival in an American harbor.

Twenty-two British merchantmen of more than 1,600 tons were sunk in the past week. Ten merchantmen of less than that tonnage also were sunk, together with six fishing vessels.

The South Atlantic liner Sequana, with 550 passengers on board, has been torpedoed and sunk with a loss of 190 men.

Thursday, June 14.—Important sections of the German front between the Lys river and St. Yves of two miles have been abandoned by the Germans. British troops followed the retreating Germans closely and made considerable progress east of Ploegsteert wood.

The Messines offensive was the most successful attack which the British have yet made, every single objective that was marked in the preliminary plans having been attained, said Major General F. B. Maurice, chief director of military operations at the war office.

Friday, June 15.—The British forces delivered an attack upon and captured further portions of the Hindenburg line northwest of Bullecourt, notwithstanding the resistence of the Germans, who suffered heavy casualties. The British now occupy the former front trenches of the Germans from the River Lys to the River Warnave. The British have advanced their lines from 500 to 1,000 yards on a front of seven miles.

Saturday, June 16.—Italian forces have carried Corne Cavento, a strongly fortified Austrian position in the Eastern Trentino.

The British attacked again in the Bullecourt region on the Arras front and along the Arras-Cambrai road, according to the Berlin official statement. The repulse of British attacks in Belgium and on the Artois front is claimed.

The French are increasing their fire both in the Aisne and Champagne regions.

Sunday, June 17.—An attempted German attack northeast of Cerny, on the Aisne front, was broken up by the French. Extremely violent artillery fighting occurred near Hutebise.

News of the destruction of the big French freight steamship Mississippi by a German submarine with the loss of one of the merchantman's crew, was brought to the United States by officers of a British freight vessel that arrived from a French port.

RED CROSS NEWS

The ladies of Tecumseh have started their Red Cross work in good earnest, and satisfactory reports are coming in from a number of the departments.

Mrs. F. S. Anderson reports 96 sheets, of which the Ever Ready (Baptist) Sunday-school class made two dozen and a party of young girls working at Mrs. Levi Hayden's residence another two dozen.

Little Mary Eleanor Anderson and Alice and Burford Barber, to do their bit, collected old newspapers, which they sold for 54c, turning over the money to the Red Cross.

Mrs. T. C. Harris has her committee in good working order. They made 12 surgical shirts last week, finishing up all the material on hand. This committee is planning to make 25 shirts weekly as a starter, and has visions of 50. Mrs. Harris appeals for machine workers. The shirts are very easily made, and nearly all of the work can be done on the machine. Telephone 184.

Mrs. A. W. Mills has been fortunate in securing 25 patriotic ladies to knit socks. She requests the workers to please wash and press the socks before returning.

Mr. Herbert Temple reports a total of 771 members, and he turned over to the county treasurer at Adrian last Saturday the sum of $815.00 for 766 members.

We are going to publish shortly the names of all the members of the Tecumseh Red Cross, and we want to have everybody's name on the list. We want YOUR name too, so please come and join at once.

Mrs. Raymond Mills drove Mrs. Sena Crane and Miss Mattie Caldwell to Adrian on Tuesday, and brought back materials for pajamas. They plan to make 15 pajamas a week with their staff of 12 industrious workers. Mrs. Mills appeals for more helpers, who ought to be good needle-women, as the pajamas must be made exactly like sample. Please 'phone 267-2r, if you can join. Mrs. Sena Crane, Miss Mattie Caldwell judges of the work.

Chairman—Charles Burridge.

Please send all items of Red Cross work to Mrs. Hardy on Monday's and Thursday's, for publication.

34th. ANNIVERSARY OF BEERS POST, MONDAY EVENING

The 34th. anniversary of Beers Post was held at the G. A. R. hall, Monday evening, with H. W. Stevens acting as Master of Ceremonies.

The program was opened by all rising and singing America, after which Dr. J. W. Balmer gave the invocation. Mr. Stevens followed with a short history of the first meeting, its organization and mustering in. A piano duet by the Brooks twins was heartily encored. Ernest Church gave a vocal solo and responded to the encore. In the absence of Col. F. B. Graves, who was unable to be present, Rev. Dr. Balmer gave a stirring address. He was followed by Dr. L. G. North, who made a very pleasing speech. A. W. Mills, oldest acting Past Commander of Beers Post, gave a fine talk to the "boys." H. C. Daniels followed with a talk on "Why I left the farm." He enlisted in 1861. J. D. Shull made the closing speech which met with the usual appreciation.

H. W. Stevens and H. J. Sweet are the two surviving members of the first organization.

THE WISEST DECISION

Any housekeeper can come to is to resolve that from now on she will serve her family with nothing but the very best eatables that she can buy.

If she will make that decision, and will stick to it, she will be dollars ahead every month.

Because that's only REAL eatable economy.

Any housekeeper who makes such a decision can make the working out of it a success by getting her supplies HERE.

Our kind of eatables cost no more than others, but if they did they would still be the cheapest.

OWEN—LINDSEY

Wednesday afternoon a very pretty wedding occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs J. W. Owen, when their daughter Adah of Ann Arbor, was united in marriage to Roy Lindsay of the same place. To the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Alice Tice of Ann Arbor, the bridal couple took their places before a bank of flowers and ferns and the American flag, when the Rev. J. G. Widdifield using the beautiful marriage service of the Episcopal church, pronounced them husband and wife, the bride's father giving her away.

The bride wore a gown of white satin and georgette crepe and carried white roses and forget-me-nots. After congratulations had been given a dainty wedding supper was served. The table was prettily decorated, a large boquet of roses as a center piece. The bride is one of our Tecumseh girls and though she has been in Ann Arbor for the past seven years, she has a large circle of friends who extend their best wishes for her future life.

Mr. Lindsay has been a salesman for the Ford Motor Co. in Ann Arbor and is a member of Co. C, U. of M. ambulance corps, and while the company were enjoying a social visit in the evening, a telegram came ordering him to report Thursday afternoon for duty, cutting short the honeymoon in a most unpleasant manner. He expects to leave for France in the very near future. Mrs. Lindsay will remain in Ann Arbor for the present.

Those from out of town who were present for the wedding ceremony were Mesdames (Dr.) Dumock, Earl Eisaman, Max Goldman, Harry Gillen, Lavern Cushman, Mark Snyder, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Stofflett and Ruth, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Stofflett, Mr. and Mrs. Helendinger, and the Misses Mabel Pilbeam, Flora Skidmore, Irene Deffey, Alice Tice, and Harry Rettick of Ann Arbor; Lyman Lindsay, father of the groom, from Monroe, Mrs Victor Carson and little Beth and Miss Jennie Owen of Jackson. The bride received many beautiful presents of cut glass, silver, linen and money.

BARGAIN DAY

Record Breaking Crowd in Tecumseh Last Wednesday

Tecumseh's third Bargain Day was a big success. For once the weather man did his best and gave us a clear day. The afternoon performance was given as usual with a good crowd on hand to witness it, but in the evening the streets were a mass of people, autos and rigs. It was one of the largest crowds that has yet visited Tecumseh for our Bargain Day entertainments.

The program given consisted of fancy roller skating by Turner and Turner, wrestling and other gymnastic feats by the Spartan Trio, and xylophone numbers by Wylie & Blackburn. The Clinton band led by Charles Skinner furnished the music for the evening.

Long after the hour for closing the entertainment, the streets were still full and the stores did a thriving business. Coller's dance was not neglected for 75 couples attended and helped round out an evening of fun.

Next week in addition to the program there will be a balloon ascension. The time and place will be announced later. We understand that a second ascension will be made on Saturday so our friends who plan to visit Tecumseh next week will find the old town alive and with plenty of entertainment for the visitors.

BAILEY—PRESTON

A very quiet wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride Tuesday, June 19, 1917, when Mrs Emma Bailey became the bride of Floyd Preston. Promptly at noon, to the strains of the wedding march played by Miss Preston a sister of the groom, the bridal couple unattended entered the room, taking their places before a bank of ferns. Rev W. A. Rex pronounced the words that made these two one. Miss Butrick a sister of the bride singing "I Love Thee Truly".

After congratulations, a dinner was served, the bridal party being seated at a large table, the others being served at small tables through the rooms. Those waiting on the company were the Misses Carol Kemp of Gobleville, Blanche Curtis of Onsted, and Nellie Preston and Doris Butrick of Adrian. The newlyweds will make their home on the farm of the groom's father, who with his wife will later make their home in Adrian.

Since coming to Tecumseh, Mrs Preston has been an ardent worker in the Presbyterian church, and has made a wide circle of friends who will unite in congratulations and best wishes.

Use "Gets-It," Lift Corn Right Off

Shrivels, Loosens—and It's Gone!

"Just like taking the lid off—that's how easy you can lift a corn off your toe after it has been treated with the wonderful discovery, 'Gets-It.'" Hunt the wide world over and you'll find nothing so magic, simple and easy as "Gets-It." You folks who have wrapped your toes in bandages to look like bundles, who have used salves that turned your toes raw and sore, and used plasters that would shift from their place and never "get" the corn, and who have dug and picked at your corns with knives and scissors and perhaps made them bleed—just quit these old and painful ways and try "Gets-It" just once. You put 2 or 3 drops on, and it dries at once. There's nothing to stick. You can put your shoe and stocking right on again. The pain is all gone. Then the corn dies a painless, shriveling death, it loosens from your toe, and off it comes. "Gets-It" is the biggest selling corn remedy in the world today. There's none other as good.

"O-o-!"
End Corn and Stop Pain Quickly With "Gets-It"

Sold in Tecumseh and recomemded as the world's best corn remedy by B J. Pulver, adv

COOK BROS. CIRCUS

The courageous exploit of Mlle. Mathilde Zira, the petite and daring animal trainer with the Cook Brothers' circus, which this city will see Monday, June 25, in escaping from Paris the day after the declaration of war with her troupe of educated forest-born leopards, is one of the many thrilling episodes for which the great European struggle has been the occasion.

Mlle. Zira and her leopards were the topliners at the small but popular Cirque Medrano, in the Batignolles district of the French metropolis. The imminence of the war was not realized by the public, and no one thought of escaping from the city. The day after war was declared the government issued an order laying under requisition for military use all the automobiles, horses, dogs and other "animals of whatsoever description" in the city. While there could be no possible public use for Mlle. Zira's leopards, except for food in case of a siege, the little trainer was notified that the animals could not be removed and must remain at the disposition of the Perfect of Police.

It happened that Mlle. Zira's pets not only represented several years of hard work in training, but they also constituted in normal times a very remunerative source of income, and she decided not to submit to the mandate of the authorities.

As the circus was immediately closed, instead of sending the animals to an animal garage for safe keeping, she had them conveyed to her apartment on the Rue de LaFayette, not far from the principal railway station to the west, the Gare St. Lazare. Mlle. Zira, with true feminine instinct, had several trunks full of handsome stage costumes, as well as street gowns. These were emptied out, breathing holes were bored in the sides and bottoms of the trunks; the leopards fed until they were stolid and sleepy, were placed inside; the lids fastened down, and the trunks rushed to the station.

Fortune was with the little trainer. The leopards, overfed and stupid, slept through the ordeal of passing the inspection of the bureau de baggage. In a few hours the train was at Dieppe, where passengers and luggage were transferred to an English Channel steamer and in a short time, but not before the leopards had become aroused and were creating consternation among the stewards and deckhands by their mysterious and muffled growling in the trunks, Mlle Zira and her valuable pets were safely landed at Newhaven, on English soil.

The leopards, thus cleverly saved from confiscation, constitute one of the many interesting trained animal features of the Cook & Wilson wild animal circus, which also offers an arenic performance in which many well known riders, acrobats, aerialists and other circus stars participate.

WHAT THE FLAG SAYS

The American flag says: "I stand for liberty, I proclaim equality, I detest tyranny, I favor justice and demand it of the weak and strong alike, I am the badge of fair dealing and the enemy of graft, high and low. As I offer no affronts, I tolerate no insults on land or sea. I am patient, but inflexible. I cherish honorable peace and accept war when necessary to maintain it. To me life is precious, but subject to the sacred demands of patriotism. If a man is a hero for the public welfare I never ask his nationality. I know he is for the highest type of exclusive Americanism."—A. T. Brewer.

FRENCH LOSE NEW GAINS, SAYS BERLIN

Foe Thwarted, Is Report Sent Out by Paris.

Berlin, June 25.—Concentrated fire from the German artillery has forced the French to evacuate the ground they captured June 18 and 21 east of Mont Cornillet, in the Champagne, army headquarters announces.

The artillery battle has continued along the Aisne front and there has been considerable firing on the front held by the British near Warneton and south of the Scarpe.

Paris, June 25.—The French war office issued the following official statement:

"The activity of the two artilleries has been somewhat lively in the region of Hurtobise and Craonne. South of Juvincourt our counter batteries stopped a violent bombardment of our lines, and a German attack which was in preparation in this region was prevented, the troops being unable to leave their trenches because of the violence of our fire.

"In the Champagne we easily repulsed an enemy attack northeast of Mont Carnillet. In the direction of Auberive we carried out a surprise attack and brought back some prisoners."

The situation is somewhat confused and represents a mood and not a settled preference for the hopeless program of armed insurrection over constitutional movements. Regarding the war over there, Britain is more than ever united and hardened for the conflict. She will fight to the finish."

AT THE END OF FIVE WEEKS

"High or low, all must go!

War! War! War!

The first five weeks at the Officers' Reserve Training Camps throughout the country are past, and already the government is laying plans for sixteen new camps to be held in the southern states from August 27th to about December 1st. "More men over 31 years of age" is the cry of the War Department in asking for volunteers who can qualify as officers. Men whose executive experience and business ability especially fits them to be leaders are wanted for the first 500,000 of the New National Army. Applications for men in Tecumseh and vicinity are in the hands of Gen. Fred B. Wood, chairman of the Military Training Camps Association.

"But how do the older men stand up physically under military training?" is the question on the lips of every man between 31 and 44 years of age, who considers it his plain duty to enlist for the three months' training camp "How do they take the gaff?"

To answer this universal query, I traveled out to the long, low line of wooden barracks at Fort Sheridan where 5,000 future reserve officers are quartered.

I started to find some older men—and I looked, and looked, peering in to sun-burnt faces with little dark mustaches, following khaki clad figures that swung along the roads to the Post Exchange.

"Older men? There aren't any!" I said to myself. Then I stopped a young fellow.

"How old are you?"

"Forty-three," he replied, and stared at me, wondering what affair it was of mine anyway.

"I used to be an army man," he said, when I told him my mission. "Had an ankle shattered in the Philippines years ago. Haven't done a tap of physical work for seven years—but I can go through these exercises like a kid of 21. Oh yes, it was hard the first three days. I was stiff and sore and lame. But in just two weeks after I struck this camp I never felt better in my life."

"Say, it's not cold today!" he said standing there in rolled-up sleeves, shirt unbuttoned at the neck, while I turned up my coat collar and started off to find an "older" man.

Then I was introduced to one of the regular army officers in charge of a company of rookies.

"We've got a young company," he told me. "Average age only 24; but there are older men here, too. Just look at this list."

All Occupations

I ran over the occupation cards and saw the names of 20 men over 30 years of age. Here was an electrical engineer; next a farmer; then a salesman; one man owned a big apartment hotel in Chicago; then followed a mining expert, lawyer, civil engineer, writer, public accountant, and so on down the list.

"Well, can these men keep up with theboys?" I asked.

"Everyone of 'em," said the captain. "Why, this training puts the men in better physical shape than ever. It's bound to do it. Most of them gain weight out here.

"Now, we want more of the mature fellows for the next camp. This is in no way a reflection upon the younger generation enlisted in the present series of camps. The government realizes, however, that young men can rise from the ranks, competing for commissions with their fellows. But older men are not so likely to become leaders in this way. Consequently we want those over 31 to have a final chance to qualify as officers by means of these last training camps, opening August 27th."

I left the captain and hailed a six-foot chap who appeared to be in the neighborhood of 35.

"I'm twenty-two," he said and smiled when I told him my guess on his age. He was young in years, this boy, but he gave me something that was worth a dozen trips to Fort Sheridan.

"We know what we are up against out here. There isn't much reading of magazines and papers at this camp. If a fellow's got any time to read, he bucks the army pamphlets.

"Why, don't you know that our own life and the lives of the men under us will depend largely on our own personal efficiency as officers? It would be criminal to waste time out here over magazines and story books."

There you have it! The serious, sober business of making—not just officers—but leaders of men.

And whether in bayonet drill, sticking dummy figures; in learning to draw military maps, or in cleaning up the barracks on Friday afternoon, the same grim spirit of "getting there" pervades the Fort Sheridan Camp.

The young men from the schools and universities have responded and are making good. Now, the government gives older men their chance through this last Officers' Training Camp. Gen. Wood, Tecumseh, is in charge of the local officers' recruiting headquarters.

The call goes out from Washington for men who possess that force of character and solid experience that comes only with the weight of years.

Application Blanks Here Now

Application blanks for admission to the second camp have just been received by Gen. Fred B. Wood, Tecumseh, who is in charge of the local Applications will be received up to July 15th. No one will be considered after that date.

Regarding the question of the age limit, Gen. Wood makes the following announcement:

"The minimum age limit for all applicants is 20 years and 9 months However, in order to obtain the experienced class of men desired, preference will be given to men over 31 years of age, other things being equla, because of the anticipated large number of applications it will probably be difficult for men under that age to qualify except in instances where the applicant has preeminent qualifications or unusual military experience. The maximum age is 44 years, but men with special military experience may apply up to 50 yers of age."

A drive is being made in Tecumseh township this week for yearly pledges to the Lenawee County Patriotic League. Most of our people are familiar with the plan which the Patriotic League has adopted, but in order that all may be prepared for the men who will call on them for their pledge, we will state it again.

Last week throughout the length and breadth of our country a drive was made of $100,000,000, the amount asked for by President Wilson for Red Cross. From all parts of the country word is being received that the response has been even larger than hoped for.

Lenawee County's share of the $100,000,000 is $32,000. The Patriotic League realizing that a drive would have to be made for this amount and realizing that in the future other calls would be made upon the people of the county, got their organization together and perfected a plan for making a drive for a larger sum of $60,000 or more to create a fund whereby the $32,000 could be met and also to take care of the future calls which are sure to come. Pledge cards have been printed and our people are asked to make a yearly pledge to be paid in on a monthly basis, with the understanding that it would do away with future patriotic calls in this county for the period of a year. After the $32,000 has been paid to the Red Cross, the balance of the fund raised will be held in reserve for future calls.

The idea is original and, we believe, should meet the hearty support of all our people.

Our township is represented on the county board of the Patriotic League by Mr. H. S. Temple, cashier of the Lilley State Bank, and, as chairman, Mr. Temple is asking that our township subscribe $7,000. We believe that our township will do it.

Many of our men from the village and township will give their time to this work this week and every house in the township will be visited, that each will have an opportunity to pledge.

Many pledges have already been received and the people seem to have subscribed gladly. Remember, this is not a campaign of begging, it is a call to duty just as surely as if a call had come to you to report for active duty the army or navy.

he men are donating their time will ly to the campaign for raising the scriptions and get nothing in the y of money for their services. No e in the Patriotic League gets one penny for the time they devote to the work, excepting the assistant secretary of the county organization and as he has a mass of clerical work to perform and devotes his full time to the work, gets not more than $50.00 per month.

As you have prospered, have been given the privilege of living in the greatest country on earth, have been given a free school education, opportunity to worship by any creed, without any disturbance, protected by the courts and laws of the country and all of the advantages that a free and independent country can give you, so may it be large or small, as he or she has been prospered.

Therefore when these men call upon you for your pledge, make it your duty to respond willingly as much as you feel you can for your country's sake.

Many of our boys will soon be leaving for the front. We who cannot go must do our duty for all must work that our country may win against the Imperial German Government. Your country calls you. Answer the call and do your duty to the Patriotic League who are only acting in response to a call from the President of the United States.

England's Uncrowned King.

Of the long line of kings which have ruled England since the days of William the Conqueror, nearly 900 years ago, there has been only one uncrowned king. King Edward V., the boy king, who met an untoward fate in the Tower of London in 1483, is the only monarch who reigned without receiving the church's blessing or the formal homage of his subjects.

Some people are inclined to include Lady Jane Grey among England's monarchs. If this doubtful claim is allowed, then England's only uncrowned queen ranks with Edward V. and deprives him of one distinction.—London Telegraph.

Having Eyes, He Saw Not.

One day in summer a tourist drove hurriedly up to the home of Enos A. Mills at the foot of Longs peak, leaped out and approached the naturalist. "Mr. Mills," he said brusquely, "I have been told that there is fine scenery in Estes park. I want to get you to show me some of it."

The naturalist's eyes turned toward the hundred mile sweep of snowy mountains that cut the blue sky, then swept the valley below and rested on noble crags and streams that wound among groves of pine and aspen. Slowly he shook his head.

"I guess you must have been misinformed."—Youth's Companion.

BE READY.

Every man and woman who has achieved a real success in any way, from the forging of a horseshoe to the saving of a soul, succeeded through being ready when the call came.—Robert Collyer.

AN APPEAL TOTHE HOUSEWIFE from the RED CROSS

In the dark corners of the closets of every household some valuable Red Cross material lies waiting for a useful purpose. Every old sheet, pillow case or bed spread, every worn collar, cuff or shirt bosom, every hem or seam which has been cast aside because it would not answer some other purpose; every old linen napkin or table cloth, every old linen or Turkish towel, in fact, every piece of white or very light colored linen or cotton goods, no matter how small how large or what shape, has a value for some Red Cross purpose.

While thousands of dollars are being expended for new materials by the Red Cross and while willing fingers are flying every day to put it in to condition for use by the surgeons who are attending more than one hundred thousand of our brave but wounded and dying boys at the front, there is still an opportunity for us to do much with this old material, which, through feminine thrift has been saved for some unknown future purpose.

Knowing the value of and the need for this material, the Local Branch of the Red Cross is instituting a systematic method by means of which it may be quickly located and gathered together at Headquarters where persons informed in regard to the different requirements, will carefully sort it. The small pieces will be converted into snippings for pillow filling for which there is pressing and immediate need. Other pieces will be sent to the knitting mill at Adrian where, without charge, they will be run through a picking machine which reduces them to a very fine condition resembling cotton batting, also used for pillow filling and very much needed by our local workers right now. The larger pieces will be washed and ironed, without charge, through the generosity of the Tecumseh Steam Laundry, and will then be cut into small pillow ticks, pillow covers, napkins, wash cloths, handkerchiefs and many other articles which are used in enormous quantities in the ambulances and hospitals.

Upon Monday, July 2nd, a Red Cross representative will call at every household in the village to explain more in detail just what kinds of goods can be used, and between today and Friday, July 6th, it is hoped and most urgently solicited, for the benefit of thousands of suffering soldiers, that every housewife do her utmost to gather together from every available source, the greatest possible quantity of this material. Tell your friends about it, and get them to help. We cannot possibly get too much. Wrap the material in bundles and have them ready between two and five o'clock p. m. upon Friday, July 6th, when they will be gathered up. If you are going to be away from home that afternoon, mark the bundles "Red Cross" and leave them outside the front door. At sometime before 2 o'clock, p. m. on Thursday, July 5th, call Mrs. J. H. Smith phone No. 104 or Mrs. Ella Hodges phone No. 132 and leave word for the collector to call, giving your street and number.

Please do not put it off. Get it done and have it over with. If you know you will have some quantity of material no matter how small, telephone right away so the collection routes may be established as much in advance as possible.

Remember the collection date, Friday, July 6th, from two to five o'clock P. M. and in the name of God and humanity give us your assistance.

All farmers or others living outside the village are requested to kindly leave their bundles at Mrs. Hardy's house, as it will not be possible for the canvassers to reach all those living outside the corporation.

CHILDREN'S DAY AT THE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Sunday was certainly "Children's Day" at the Presbyterian church. In the morning the little people of the Primary and Junior Departments of the Sunday-school gave their exercises of songs and recitations and the Junior girls a floral drill which took much practicing, surely, to make so perfect. The singing of the songs by the school, under the guidance of Fred Dickinson, was very enthusiastic.

One feature of the service was the payment into the birthday fund of one cent per year of those fortunate enough to have a birthday in he past three months since the school has been scattered. It had been promised that each donor would receive a birthday cake, candle and all, but they came so fast that the supply of cakes was exhausted and, of course, the candles could not hold out when Mrs. Rector, Hugh Ager, John Boyce, Mrs. Weir, Miss Kyle and the others all descended at once upon the elder.

Diplomas were given the youngsters passing into higher departments and the new teachers named. Each appointment seemed to give the little people pleasure. Rev. Rex told the little folks about "Habits," illustrating his talk with cut-outs from paper.

In the evening a stereopticon lecture on "The Children of the World" was read by Mrs. Rex, in the absence of the minister. The colored plates were most beautiful and showed the cunning little people of over-seas as well as our own and the great good accomplished among them by the missionaries of Christ.

BREWER BASEBALL TEAM ORGANIZED

The employees of H Brewer & Co. have organized a baseball team for this coming season and will play their first game with a strong Clinton team, which has been organized by Rev. Lyons, on the afternoon of July 4th in Clinton.

Many of the members of the Brewer team are former members of the Tecumseh independent team and a good game is looked for.

FIGG—TRASK

Married at Ann Arbor, Thursday, June 21st, 1917, Dr. N. D. Trask of Tecumseh and Ethel O. Figg, daughter of John S. Figg of Mt. Pleasant. The ceremony was quietly performed at the home of Rev. L. A. Barrett.

The bridal couple made a hurried trip to Detroit and Flint returning to Tecumseh, Friday evening. Dr. and Mrs. Trask will make their home with Mr. and Mrs. George Harriott.

Mrs. Trask is a nurse and has been located in Charlotte and Jackson. Congratulations.

CORRECTION TO COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

In error, we left out of the Village Council Proceedings, which appeared in our last issue, the sentence pertaining to the water bonds of Satterthwaite Bros. as follows:

"Motion made and supported that the water bond of Satterthwaite Bros. be accepted. Motion carried."

CLASS REUNION

The annual reunion of Mrs. Hurry's class of the M. E. Sunday-school was held at the home of Mrs. Emma Ford, a former member of the class, in Blissfield Friday, June 22d.

There were 22 in attendance, 18 going from Tecumseh, the others joining them there from their homes in other towns. Each one went laden with well filled baskets and boxes and a bountiful pot-luck dinner was served.

A short business session was followed by a social afternoon, every one contributing their mite to make the meeting a success. The officers of last year were re-elected.

As the hour of five drew near the company bade "Good bye" to their hostess, thanking her for her entertainment and wended their way to the depot for their return home. Each year we think the meeting is the best ever, and for the past forty years it has been looked forward to as a day set apart for loving remembrances.

Among those who went from Tecumseh were Mesdames B. Hurry, A. J. Bigelow, Clara Boynton, Jennie Knouase, Myron Conklin, D. Swift, Jacob Mull, Wm. Anderson, Wm. Waldron, Annette Crossman, Thos. Wyrill, Cynthia Hoag, Martha Vedder and Miss Emma Rogers.

THOMAS D. MARK

Thomas Dixon Mark passed away at his home Sunday, June 24, 1917, about abut 1 o'clock, after a brief illness. He had been in feeble health for some time seldom appearing on our street where once he was a familiar figure, for who of the older citizens do not remember "Tommy" Mark, our drayman for so many years. Faithful and upright in all his dealings, his memory is pleasant to everyone.

He was born in Clinton December 28, 1842, and when a small boy came to live with his uncle and aunt Mr. and Mrs Thos Dixon. At the age of 24, in 1866, he was taken into the Masonic fraternity in which lodge he has since been a consistent member.

March 1st, 1882, he was united in marriage to Mary Elizabeth Rudiseiler. To this union three children were born: Edward, Roy and Florine who died when but four years of age. The widow, two sons and one grandson are left to mourn.

The funeral will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2:30, Rev. W. A. Rex officiating. Burial in Brookside. The funeral will be under the auspices of the Masonic lodge.

MRS. DAVID BRENGAN

A telegram was received by Henry McClure Monday, announcing the death of his aunt Mrs. David Brengan of Seattle, Wash., who passed away Sunday, June 24.

The body will be brought to Tecumseh for burial. The funeral will be some time Saturday.

Just a few short weeks ago Mrs. Brengan was here for the burial of her son Samuel and seemed in good health, but since that time has been in failing health, the loss of her son having been a great blow to her.

MRS. HALSEY LEWIS

Mrs. Halsey Lewis died at her home in North Adrian Saturday at 5 p. m. after an illness of six weeks at the age of 88 years. She is survived by eight children, four sons and four daughters. The funeral was held at the home this (Tuesday) afternoon with bural in Gurnee cemetery.

LIBRARY NOTES

Gardening and housecleaning, summer vacations and the war have not caused the Public Library to be utterly neglected, and although it seems in the estimation of some, rather too bad to invest in fiction at its present high price, nevertheless story books are still being added at needed intervals. Occasionally something a bit deeper is also added in order that our library may not be utterly lacking in mental back-bone. Below we list purchases and gifts of the last month:

"Our Islands and Their People." We are indebted to Mrs. Rice for these two handsomely illustrated volumes.

"Notes of a Busy Life" by Joseph B. Foraker. This work is of general political interest and is being presented to libraries.

"The New International Year Book." This book is purchased annually and is very helpful for reference work along the line of political and inventive progress.

"Getting Together," Capt. Ian Hay Beith. This and "The First Hundred Thousand" by the same author are being read by many of the thinking men of the town.

"Mademoiselle Miss." This little book consists of letters written by an American girl doing hospital work in France. These letters are exceedingly interesting and "human."

"The Chosen People" by Nyburg, and "God's Remnants" by Gordon are two recent books designated to give us a more intelligent view point of our Jewish people. They are considered books worth while.

"The Way of All Flesh" by Samuel Butler is almost a literary necessity in a library, but readers seeking a mere good time will not care for it.

"Within the Prison Walls" by Thomas Mott Osborne will prove valuable to anyone interested in prison conditions.

"Justice to All" by Mayo deals with the Pennsylvania State Police.

"Mary Slessor of Calabar" by W. P. Livingstone is what might be called a missionary book of Africa, but it is one of those rare works which has succeeded in combining religion and education with popularity, for in a favorite book contest conducted by "The Interior," "Mary Slessor" received a winning number of votes.

The following light fiction needs no explanation:

The Mannequin	Lippmann
Jan and Her Job	Harker
Piccadilly Jim	Wodehouse
Good Morning, Rosamond	Skinner
The Madness of May	Nicholson
The Brown Study	Richmond
Mistress Anne	Bailey
Those Fitzenbergers	Martin
The Girls at His Billet	Onions
Bringing Out Barbara	Train
Our Next Door Neighbors	Maniates
Cindrella Jane	Cooke
Out of a Clear Sky	Daviess
Jerry	Pier
The Law of the North	White
Comrades	Dixon
Martin Eden	London
In the Wilderness	Hichens
Eben Holden	Bacheller

For the Little Folks

Chatterer	Burgess
Danny Meadow Mouse	"
Grandfather Frog	"
Sammy Jay	"
The Goody Naughty Book	"
The First Book of Birds	Miller
How to Attract the Birds	Blanchan

The two bird books are to replace old copies lost through scarlet fever, which reminds us to state that the individuals who refrain from drawing library books for reasons of hygiene need have no great fear. Books out in scarlet fever families are either not returned at all, or if returned, are burned. There is probably less danger from books than from money, for no matter how dirty they may look, the books are occasinally cleaned or destroyed, and certainly children don't carry them home in their mouths!

PYTHIAN CONVENTION

The twelfth annual convention of Pythian Sisters was held at Waldron Friday. The morning session was called to order by District Deputy Nellie Scattergood. The Grand Temple officers were then received, after which all joined in singing The Opening Ode of the Temples. This was followed by the Lord's Prayer in unison.

A duet was then given by Miss Myers and Mr. Moine of Waldron.

Mr. Yagar of Waldron K of P Temple brought greetings from his Temple. Grand Chief Mrs. Addie Kemp responded.

The address of welcome was then given by Mrs. Edna Kipp M. E. C. of Waldron Temple. Response by Mrs. Harriot Line of Adrian. Roll Call of delegates. Quotation responses.

After the minutes of 1916 convention were read by the Secretary, greetings were read from absent Grand Temple Officers.

A paper, "A Challenge for Pythianism," was read by Mrs. Anna Rhead of Hudson.

The memorial service was given in a most impressive manner by the Hudson Temple, after which the convention adjourned for dinner.

The afternoon meeting was called to order at 1:30. Music was given by Messrs. Moore, Gleason, Coman and Winans.

The Temple reports came next and all the reports showed the Temples in a prosperous condition.

The ritualistic work was then given, the Tecumseh Temple officers having the opening, the Tipton officers the infiatory work and the closing by Waldron Temple officers and all the work was done in a most creditable manner.

The invitation was extended and acepted to hold the 1918 convention at Seneca.

Singing "America." Good-Byes.

GARDENS MAY BE MADE TO PRODUCE CROPS ALL SEASON

Planting of Late Vegetables Will Provide Household with "Green Goods" Almost Till Snow Flies.

East Lansing, Mich.—A word for Michigan citizens who are trying gardening this season for the first time, is offered in a bulletin from the department of horticulture of the Michigan Agricultural College. The bulletin corrects the notion entertained by many amateur gardeners that when their present garden crop matures the garden is done for the summer, for according to the horticulturists there are numerous vegetables which can be planted all through July.

"Not all vegetables have the same season of maturity," it is pointed out. "Some reach edible maturity in a few weeks, but others occupy the ground the whole season. To insure a constant and continuous supply, it is advisable to make several successive plantings of the early quick-maturing crops. When these have been removed there may be spaces in the garden which can be utilized by some of the late crops. Make plantings of Golden Bantam corn and snap beans now. These should reach edible maturity before any severe frosts occur.

"Plant seeds of Chinese cabbage, kohl rabi, winter radishes and turnips late in July. Plants of late celery, cabbage and cauliflower should be transplanted not later than July 10. Other crops which may be planted late are peas, spinach, lettuce, endive and kale. These all require cool, moist weather for proper development, and do not thrive during the heat of summer. Try a late planting of onion seed. Leave the bulbs in the ground for a crop of green onions next spring."

At 6:30 a balloo ascension will be made from the main street. Good band music will be provided as usual for the evening.

You're missing something if you don't attend these Wednesday gala days. Last week's entertainment was witnessed by the largest crowd we have yet had this year. It is hoped that the weather will be good and every one should make it a point to be with us Wednesday. If you want to visit with your friends come to Tecumseh for these Bargain Days for they will all be here.

Entertainment furnish free by the Tecumseh business men who are making Tecumseh the "Biggest little Town on Earth."

COOK BROS. CIRCUS

Cook Bros.' circus arrived in Tecumseh narly Sunday morning and pitched their tents in Athletic Park. Sunday being a day of rest, plenty of time was taken in getting the big tents up. The grounds were visited by many who took a good deal of interest in the big family who were making Tecumseh their home for a couple of days. Many voiced a desire of partaking in a Sunday dinner with the circus people for they were having a big feed of chicken and 'all' of the trimmings, a regular once a week affair with them, the management tells us. "Our people work hard and we give them the best," he says.

Monday noon a free street parade was given which was witnessed by a good crowd. Two performances, afternoon and evening, were given. The afternoon attendance was fair, most people preferring to attend in the evening.

The performance given by Cook Bros was all that they advertised with the exception, perhaps, of the animal show. Many difficult feats were performed and some of them new to circus goers. Instead of a concert a wild west show was given after the performance.

The show people did not neglect their church duties while in our village for a whole family of the performers attended St. Peter's church Sunday and partook of Communion.

THE PATRIOTISM OF THE AMERICAN PRESS

The service rendered to the Government of the United States in the sale of the Liberty Loan Bonds of 1917 by the press of the country is record evidence of the generous patriotism of the newspaper men of America. It is reported in the pages thousands of American newspapers, many of them printed in foreign languages, from the largest daily to the smallest country weekly. The newspapers of the country "came across" with liberal donations of space in news, editorial and advertising columns.

Newspaper men have observed with deep and peculiar pleasure the whole-hearted activity of the men of their fraternity in the country in promoting the sale of the Liberty Loan Bonds. The influence and assistance of all publications in making the loan a success are simply incalculable. Their efforts greatly contributed to making it a double success in that it was not only largely oversubscribed but the Liberty Loan Bonds were placed in every community in the United States, in cities and in remote country districts, in mining towns and manufacturing centers, among farmers and country merchants as well as city bankers and large commercial and manufacturing houses.

It was a great educational campaign. Readers of their county paper in their country homes, and new American citizens from papers printed in their old language, and others just learning our language, who in the evening spelled out the news in the great daily papers, were informed of the purposes and objects of the Liberty Loan and instructed in the nature, value and terms of Governmen bonds, especially the Liberty Loan Bonds of 1917. The whole Nation has made a long stride forward in financial education through the Liberty Loan campaign of 1917 as conducted through the press of the country.

The country press which without compensation gave liberally of its limited space is equally deserving of praise with the larger papers. In their respective spheres all classes of publications in the country covered their field thoroughly and well. The press of America can look back on the work it performed for the Liberty Loan as a great public service, ably, thoroughly and unselfishly performed.

"THE SILO MORE THAN EVER."

(From the Dealers Gazette of May 10, 1917)

"The corn planting season will have a late opening and over this crop will hang the threat of a shortened ripening season. THE MAN WITH A SILO HAS TAKEN OUT INSURANCE AGAINST COST. If untimely cold catches his crop he can preserve a far greater portion of it's nutriments in a silo than in any other manner,—always the menace of frost hangs over a late planted corn crop."

We have sold a great many SAGINAW Steel Built Silos this year. Those who still intend to buy will save money by buying before the July advance. It may soon be not a matter of price but a matter of getting a silo. We still are able to make the terms reasonable. Call us by phone and allow us to name a price and term.

An old gentleman 82 years of age, by the name of West was on our street, Saturday and when on the corner by the Methodist church was seen to stagger and fall to the walk. James Clark and Dept. Smith ran to his rescue and carried him in a fainting condition to Dr. Hardy's office. When he was sufficiently recovered so he could speak, he said he came from a town in Maine and was enroute to Ind., where he had friends. He had bought his ticket as far as his money would go and was practically penniless having only 74 cents in his possession. Mrs. Hardy and John Smith interested themselves in his case and called John Schreder, when he was taken to Adrian and the poor commission raised funds to send him on his way to Bluffton, Ind., where he had a friend who will try to get him in the soldiers home in Virginia, he being a confederate veteran.

PACKERS CO-OPERATE TO CONSERVE SHEEP

Ewes and Ewe Lambs to Be Put Out for Resale.

Chicago, June 25.—Agreement of the big packers of Chicago to a plan which will save from slaughter for replenishing the sheep stock of the country on a big scale immediately is forecast by a call for an important conference following preliminary ones, which will be called in Chicago during this week (June 23-30) by the national sheep and wool bureau.

The plan contemplates wholesale distribution of sheep by purchases made through commission men in all market centers through the bureau's activities, thus making a cash market for ewes shipped by western flockmasters, with the farms of the central states as the destination for the ewes.

The proposals made to the packers by the bureau asked whether they would show their patriotic interest in the need for wool "by ceasing to kill such ewes and ewe lambs, turning them over for redistribution through this bureau to the farmers, railroads, woolen mills and railroads which cooperate."

$337,385,777 INCOME TAXES

Total Receipts to Reach $345,000,000.

Ten Millions Above Estimate.

Washington, June 25.—Income tax payments so far have surpassed the highest figure — $335,000,000 — upon which officials based their estimates, when the law was amended last September. Receipts show a total of $337,385,777 for the fiscal year. Indications are that the total receipts for the year will reach $345,000,000.

With a week to go before the fiscal year closes, receipts from that source are pouring into the treasury at the rate of nearly $2,000,000 a day. The bulk of the income tax, however, was paid last month. These receipts and other increased revenues have advanced the total receipts from ordinary taxation for the fiscal year up to $1,079,238,995, a new record, and more than $400,000,000 more than the amount received this time last year.

FALL OF LIQUOR IS MADE NEARER

House Puts Drastic Dry Clause in Food Bill.

MEASURE IS SENT TO SENATE

Passage by House Is By an Almost Unanimous Vote—Senate Believed to Be Hostile—Opposes Food Dictatorship and Also Cutting Off Revenue by Prohibition Provision.

Washington, June 25.—The food and fuel control bill, amended so as to provide for drastic nation-wide prohibition, passed the house of representatives. The vote was 365 ayes to 5 nays.

Thus the President won, hands down, his fight in the lower branch of congress. He is now preparing to transfer his pressure to the senate.

That body at this moment is opposed to granting to the chief executive the extensive control over food and fuel which the house bill contemplates. Its opposition is directed first against the establishment of a food and fuel dictatorship, and secondly against depriving the government of the hundreds of millions of dollars which could be obtained through taxation on alcoholic beverages.

Powers It Gives President.

The bill gives the President power:

First. To regulate transportation, storage, distribution and sale of foodstuffs.

Second. To suspend operation on exchanges and boards of trade in foodstuffs.

Third. To prohibit further distribution of alcoholic beverages made from grain and to seize present stored supplies.

Fourth. To prevent willful destruction of food products or hoarding.

Fifth. To prevent withholding of fuel from the market or hoarding.

Sixth. To prevent control for monopoly of shoes, clothing and other necessities of life.

Seventh. To establish a license system to regulate manufacture and exportation.

Eighth. To commandeer all storage and food supply plants, and fuel mines, if necessary.

Ninth. To appoint any agency or person to make effective the provisions of the bill.

Provision on Liquor.

The bill regulating the use of food products for alcoholic beverages is:

"No person shall use any food, food materials of feeds in the production of alcohol or of alcoholic beverages, except for governmental, industrial, scientific or sacramental purposes. Any person who wilfully violates this section shall upon conviction thereof be punished by a fine not exceeding $5,000 or by impisionment for not more than two years or both.

* * * * * *

"The President is authorized, if in his opinion it is necessary to conserve necessaries, to require any person having control of alcohol and distilled spirits to turn over to the government use or redistillation such proportions of said alcohol or spirits as the President may deem necessary to meet the requirements of the government in the manufacture of munitions and other military and hospital supplies in so fra as such use or redistillation would dispense with the necessity of utilizing products and materials suitable for foods and feeds in the future manufacture of alcohol or distilled spirits, for the purposes herein enumerated.

"Upon the ailure of the person to comply with the President's requirement, the President is authorized to requisition and take possession of the alcohol and distilled spirits required to be turned over and to pay for the same a just compensation, to be determined by the President, and if the price so determined be not satisfactory to the person entitled to receive the same, such person shall be paid the amount prescribed by the President and shall be entitled to sue the United States to recover such further sum as added to the amount so paid will be just compensation."

Soap as Medicine.

Soap has played a large part in medicine. Medicinal soap when pure is said to be made of caustic soda and either olive or almond oil. It was much employed in the form of pills intended to have a gently aperient, anti-acid action. While there are many kinds of soaps, it is said that those commonly used may be divided into three classes. The first class comprises fine white soaps and scented soaps, the second class the coarse household soaps and the third class the soft soaps.

U. S. RESOURCES ARE MOBILIZED

Titanic Task Noiselessly Done by Defense Council.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT ISSUED

Every Sphere of Nations Activity Has Been Co-ordinated and Brought Into Play in the Vast Plan of Universal Readiness—Work Done at Comparatively No Cost to U. S.

Washington, June 25.—Mobilization of the nation's resources on a scale undreamed before has already been accomplished by the council of national defense, according to the first official statement of that body just made public.

Millions of dollars have been saved in contracts.

Railroads, mines, telegraph and telegraph companies, great industrial establishments, manufacturers, inventors, scientists and plain business men have been drawn into a common movement of preparedness for the country's present emergency. The nation has been placed on a preparedness footing almost startling in its magniture.

Some Things Accomplished.

Mobilization of the 262,000 miles of railroads in the country for the government's defense. Great saving of time has been figured out for movement of troops and equipments.

Close knit organization of the telephone and telegraph companies of America to insure the government the most rapid and efficient wire communication.

Settlement of recent threatened railroad strikes.

General acceptance by labor and capital of the suggestion of the council that existing labor standards should not be changed until the need for such action has been determined by the council.

Procurement of 45,00,000 pounds of copper for use of the army and navy at less than one-half of the current market price—a saving to the government of approximately $10,000,000.

Similar accomplishments as to steel, zinc and aluminum.

Completion of the inventory, for military purposes, of 27,000 American manufacturing plants.

Money saving to the government through appointment throughout the country of committees of business men to assist the quartermaster generals department of the army in the economical and efficient purchase of supplies.

Saving to the government of milmions of dollars by proper co-ordination of purchases through the agency of the general munitions board of the council.

Creation, under the medical section of the council, of a general medical board, consisting of many of the most highly qualified surgeons and physicians in the country.

Selection by the medical section of thousands of doctors, especially qualified for membership in the medical officers reserve corps and the standardization, far on its way to completion, of surgical instruments and supplies.

Creation by the council of the aircraft production board which is setting out to make 35,00 0airplanes and to train 6,000 aviators this year.

Definite results obtained by the council's committee on coal production in the procurement and expeditious shipment of coal, both in federal and civilian interests.

Successful initiation of a movement to co-ordinate activities on the part of the various states for national defense.

Organization of a railroad committee to be sent to Russia.

Enlistment of reserve engineer regiments to aid in rehabilitating the railroads of rFance.

All Done at No Government Expense.

All of this immense volume of work has been accomplished without expense to the government, with the exception of salaries to less than one hundred persons, mostly stenographers and clerks. More than a hundred men, whose names are known from end to end of the country, have given up a large portion of their time and allt heir experience to the government without compensation, and several hundred other specialists in various parts of the country have similarly volunteered their services and experience for a part of each wek, and wholly at anytime the the government may need them.

Held Under Antilobby Law.

Springfield, Mo., June 25.—Joseph Crites, an attorney of Rolla, Mo., gave bond in the criminal court to answer to an indictment returned by a Greene county grand jury charging him with having violated the state antilobbying law in connection with the optometry bill before the last legislature.

Boy, 13, Kills Brother.

Elkhart, Ind., June 25.—Wendell Phillips Reid, seventeen year old son of L. S. Reid, was accidentally shot and killed by his thirteen year old brother, Hubert, at their home here.

Matches Play May Kill Child.

PORT HURON, June 25,

As a result of playing with matches with a playmate, Willie Hudson, three years old, is dying at Port Huron. The lad's clothing was ignited and he suffered burns from his chest to his knees. His mother, who is deaf, failed to hear his screams for help and his condition was not discovered until a neighbor saw smoke issuing from the Hudson home and inquired as to its cause.

Believed Lad Drowned.

MANISTEE, June 25.

The police and sheriff departments and members of the coast guard have been dragging Manistee lake to recover the body of Barnie Mastey, eighteen years old, who is believed to have been drowned. Nothing has been hear of the boy since he started from East Lake to Oak Hill in a rowboat after having attended a dance.

The trouble with most men is that they want to be at bat all the time and are never willing to do any fielding.—Chicago Herald.

JASSY, ROUMANIA. — Germany has imposed a fine of 250,000,000 francs ($50,000,000) on the occupied territory of Roumania.

"I forgot my orders, I guess I am to blame," was the statement of Motorman William Plotzke, who had charge of the southbound local Rapid railway car which collided with a northbound double-header limited train near St. Clair June 9, which resulted in the death of four and injury to more than a score of passengers.

WHAT THE FLAG SAYS

The American flag says: "I stand for liberty, I proclaim equality, I detest tyranny, I favor justice and demand it of the weak and strong alike, I am the badge of fair dealing and the enemy of graft, high and low. As I offer no affronts, I tolerate no insults on land or sea. I am patient, but inflexible. I cherish honorable peace and accept war when necessary to maintain it. To me life is precious, but subject to the sacred demands of patriotism. If a man is a hero for the public welfare I never ask his nationality. I know he is for the highest type of exclusive Americanism."—A. T. Brewer.

LT. C. R. WIDDEFIELD IN FRANCE

The following letters have lately been received by Rev. J. G. Widdifield from his brother Lieut. C. R. Widdifield who is in the trenches in France with the Canadian troops.

Mr. Widdifield's home is in Peterborough, Canada, and he is serving in the 21st Canadian Infantry Battalion.

Because of the close censorship no soldier is allowed to tell his location or give a description of any battle in which he has been engaged, but we feel that these letters will be of interest to the public.

France, May 16, 1917

My dear Brother:

It is over a month since I have received any mail of any kind; however I know that there are many letters for me, if I could only locate them. To-day I sent a tracer to see where they were and hope that it will bring good news.

I have had many varied experiences since I saw you last, especially in the last few days, but they are the same as everyone experiences in this country, especially when he is in the firing line. At present I am having a dandy chance to learn the French language.

Nobody realizes what it means to the poor French people, until one has been over here and has seen just what is taking place. They sure work hard, but at the same time think that there is no such thing as an everlasting peace.

It is now nearly two years since I have been in the army and you can take it from me that I sure wish that the whole game was finished and I could return to God's country, Canada. Last night I started to dream that I was just getting off the train at Montreal, only to be awakened by the machine fire of an aeroplane. It is sure no fun to be so far away from home, but at the same time one always wants to remain to the bitter end, which I hope will come soon.

Your loving brother,
Russell Widdifield.

France, May 27, '17.

Dear Jim:

Just a line in answer to your letter adressed to France. I am very glad to hear that you arrived in your new home safe and sound and that the kiddies are O. K.

Things are going on here in the same old way and I still enjoy the life very much. I imagine that the chaplains who have been out here will, in the future, find many texts for their sermons.

I am glad to see that the Americans are taking this game in earnest as they should be a lot of help to us, both on land and sea.

Mother writes that she is coming to see you soon. I wish that you would let me know how she is. I am hoping to be home in a year or so when we can all have a grand jubilee and I can enjoy myself with the kids.

Love to all. Russell.

CANADIANS GET NEW GRIP ON MINE GENTER

Storm and Hold 400 Yards of German Trench.

LONDON, ENG. — The Canadians are knocking at the gates of Lens again. Since April 14 they have been virtually in the outskirts of the queen city of France's mining district. They have kept their grip on it against all Teuton counter attacks and in the face of steady shelling. Sunday night they served a painful reminder upon the Germans that they have come not only to stay where they are, but to take the city.

In a brilliant noctural charge the dominion troops stormed 400 yards of a German first line trench and held it fast. It was another local but important step toward the investment of Lens.

While this advance of the Canadians was the only major action of the last twenty-four hours on the Anglo-German front there was a decided increase in activity all along the 120 mile line, with the British on the initiative. Fully a score of raids were executed against the Teuton lines at vital strategic points. All were successfull, according to the British day report. Berlin asserts they were repulsed.

VENIZELOS TO FORM CABINET

Former Premier Reported Called to Leadership by New King.

ATHENS — Ex-Premier Venizelos of Greece, according to a general report, has been asked by King Alexander to form a new ministry.

The Zaimis cabinet is said to have resigned following a long conference between Senator Jonnart, the Entente's representative plenipotentiary here, and the king.

Dozen Suffragists Arrested.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—More than a dozen suffragists were arrested by the police when they marched in front of the white house, lined up against the fence and unfurled suffrage banners. A crowd of hundreds watched the arrests, but there were no disorders.

Guns Fell Sinn Feiners.

CORK, IRELAND — Machine guns were used on the Sinn Feiners in the disturbances here. One rioter was killed and another severely wounded, while a dozen were treated in hospitals for bayonet and other wounds.

Boy, 13, Kills Brother.

In the dark corners of the closets of every household some valuable Red Cross material lies waiting for a useful purpose. Every old sheet, pillow case or bed spread, every worn collar, cuff or shirt bosom, every hem or seam which has been cast aside because it would not answer some other purpose; every old linen napkin or table cloth, every old linen or Turkish towel, in fact, every piece of white or very light colored linen or cotton goods, no matter how small how large or what shape, has a value for some Red Cross purpose.

While thousands of dollars are being expended for new materials by the Red Cross and while willing fingers are flying every day to put it into condition for use by the surgeons who are attending more than one hundred thousand of our brave but wounded and dying boys at the front, there is still an opportunity for us to do much with this old material, which, through feminine thrift has been saved for some unknown future purpose.

Knowing the value of and the need for this material, the Local Branch of the Red Cross is instituting a systematic method by means of which it may be quickly located and gathered together at Headquarters where persons informed in regard to the different requirements, will carefully sort it. The small pieces will be converted into snippings for pillow filling for which there is pressing and immediate need. Other pieces will be sent to the knitting mill at Adrian where, without charge, they will be run through a picking machine which reduces them to a very fine condition resembling cotton batting, also used for pillow filling and very much needed by our local workers right now. The larger pieces will be washed and ironed, without charge, through the generosity of the Tecumseh Steam Laundry, and will then be cut into small pillow ticks, pillow covers, napkins, wash cloths, handkerchiefs and many other articles which are used in enormous quantities in the ambulances and hospitals.

Upon Monday, July 2nd, a Red Cross representative will call at every household in the village to explain more in detail just what kinds of goods can be used, and between today and Friday, July 6th, it is hoped and most urgently solicited, for the benefit of thousands of suffering soldiers, that every housewife do her utmost to gather together from every available source, the greatest possible quantity of this material. Tell your friends about it, and get them to help. We cannot possibly get too much. Wrap the material in bundles and have them ready between two and five o'clock p. m. upon Friday, July 6th, when they will be gathered up. If you are going to be away from home that afternoon, mark the bundles "Red Cross" and leave them outside the front door. At sometime before 2 o'clock p. m. on Thursday, July 5th, call Mrs. J. H. Smith phone No. 104 or Mrs. Ella Hodges phone No. 132 and leave word for the collector to call, giving your street and number.

Please do not put it off. Get it done and have it over with. If you know you will have some quantity of material no matter how small, telephone right away so the collection routes may be established as much in advance as possible.

Remember the collection date, Friday, July 6th, from two to five o'clock P. M. and in the name of God and humanity give us your assistance.

All farmers or others living outside the village are requested to kindly leave their bundles at Mrs. Hardy's house, as it will not be possible for the canvassers to reach all those living outside the corporation.

RED CROSS NEWS

Please do not forget that on Monday, July 2nd, the canvassers will visit every home in Tecumseh to solicit material for bandages, dressings, pillows, etc. Everything can be used.

On Friday, July 6th, the collection will take place by volunteer automobiles. Mrs. J. H. Smith, telephone 104, and Mrs. Ella Hodges, telephone 132, earnestly solicit offerings of automobiles between 2 p. m. and 5 p. m. on July 6th. Mrs. Frank Turner was the first to offer her machine, who will be the next? Drive now for the U. S. and you will not have to drive for the Kaiser. Please leave all bundles on the porch ready for the collectors, if you are not going to be at home.

Mrs. T. C. Harris' visions are being rapidly realized. Her committee is making 30 surgical shirts weekly, and the ladies hope to reach their goal of 50. They are still sending out an S. O. S. for more volunteer workers.

Mrs. Lavern Bidwell is director of comfort pillow covers.

Mr. Guy Nemire reports $265.51 in the bank from donations.

Miss Asenath Hosmer, although feeling proud of having 35 knitters at work on sponges and bed socks, would feel still happier if she could find any more, as the demand for these articles is ever increasing.

Directions for Bed Socks

Cast on 52 stitches and knit two and purl two for 10 inches. Bind off and fold and sew up the sides. Crochet a finish around top through which a narrow rubber tape can be run. Tape should be 11 inches long. Put a moth ball in the toe of each.

The crocheted finish may be of any contrasting color you my have on hand, thus conserving the supply of yarn, as it is hard to meet the demand.

Those who have finished sponges, please turn them in to Miss Hosmer, as she desires to send in a supply not later than Monday.

In making sponges, please do not make knots. Lap the ends and sew with needle and thread.

On July 1st, a concert will take place at the Presbyterian church at 7:30 p. m. It will be a union service.

Mrs. Fred Wood has simply outdone her own record as musical directress in arranging for this concert, and it is hoped that Tecumseh will not be behind the other towns where this concert has been given, in patriotism and generosity, but that a large crowd and a generous offering will reward the performers and swell the coffers of the Red Cross and the Armenian Relief which will divide the proceeds. Program:

NAVY RELIEF SOCIETY

A Proclamation by the Governor

The Great Lakes Auxiliary of the Navy Relief Society has asked me to issue a proclamation calling attention to the work and needs of its organization.

The object of the Auxiliary is to assist financially and otherwise the widows and orphans and mothers of men of the Navy and Marine Corps, who die leaving their families in need.

Relief is given in every necessary case. When a death occurs in the Navy or Marine Corps, steps are taken immediately to ascertain if any relatives are left in need of assistance. This is usually given in the form of a monthly allotment and continues until such time as other means of support can be provided. The Auxiliary also advises and assists dependent relatives in obtainng pensions and takes the necessary steps to insure the education of the children left fatherless. It will, therefore, be seen that the Auxiliary will care for the families of those men from our own communities who have offered their services and their lives for the protection of the Nation. The scope and work of the Auxiliary are wide-spread and its needs are immediate.

The Society believes that it is the duty of every American citizen, particularly at this juncture of national affairs, to assist in this excellent work.

THEREFORE,I, Albert E. Sleeper, governor of the State of Michigan, do issue this, my proclamation, and I earnestly request our citizens to respond, as liberally as they are able, to this urgent appeal.

ALBERT E. SLEEPER,
Governor.

AT REST

The funeral services of the late Thos. Mark were held at his home Wednesday afternoon with a large attendance. The service was conducted by Rev. Wm. A. Rex.

A large number of the Masonic fraternity were present and acted as escort to the grave. His casket was borne by brother Masons, Channing Beebe, Don Wright, Leon Rosacrans, F. S. Turner, B. J. Pulver and John McIntyre.

The burial service was in charge of the Masons, John Nyland giving the ritualistic work in a very impressive manner. Rev. Rex gave the prayer. One by one the links of the chain were broken and the brothers, marching around the grave, dropped their spray of evergreen and left him with the certain assurance that, though

"Cold in the dust, the perished heart may lie,
The soul which warmed it once,
can never de."

Card of Thanks.

We wish to extend our sincere thanks to the many friends and relatives and especially the Masons, for their kindness, sympathy and the many beautiful floral pieces which have been so kindly offered in the hour of our bereavement over the loss of a kind and loving father.

"The New York Central track is really perfect"—JOSEPH CARLIER, Assistant Professor of Railways, Liège University, Belgium.

Professor Carlier was recently in this country making an official study of American railways as a model for Belgium.

In an interview in the New York Times he made the statements reproduced herewith concerning the New York Central Lines.

But a railroad, however perfect to-day, will be inadequate to perform its functions to-morrow without constant heavy expenditures of new capital.

Rising prices for fuel, labor, materials and equipment make it imperative that the public and governmental authorities afford fair treatment, and permit compensating rates, in order that it may maintain that stability of credit which is necessary to attract new capital in competition with world-wide international borrowing.

"My trip on the New York Central was made in a splendid new electric locomotive of 2,000 horse power. I have visited many railroad shops in England and have seen many electrifications. I found the working of the New York Central electrification really wonderful. The stability of the locomotive, the working of the engine—I was quite surprised. It was really splendid. I cannot say too much for the motion, in a word, I did not feel any disturbance which would indicate a fault in the track or a wrong conception in the locomotive. The maintenance of the track for the section traveled by me is really perfect, as compared with similar tracks on European railroads. It is not necessary to speak of the terminal. It is a work of genius. It is the only work in the world of its kind. Every one knows that. Is it not so?"

A low priced car you'll be proud of!

Sounds funny to make a statement like this, because you are so accustomed to thinking of an inexpensive car being a mere make-shift—a uniform some people call it.

But the Maxwell compares with any car in appearance, comfort, convenience, and general serviceability.

It's a real car—with built-in service quality—a car that will give you the mileage at the utmost economy—a car you'll be proud to be seen driving.

Looks like the Maxwell is the car you ought to buy if these statements we have made are true.

So now, let us prove them to you!

"THE SILO MORE THAN EVER."

(From the Dealers Gazette of May 10, 1917)

"The corn planting season will have a late opening and over this crop will hang the threat of a shortened ripening season. THE MAN WITH A SILO HAS TAKEN OUT INSURANCE AGAINST COST. If untimely cold catches his crop he can preserve a far greater portion of it's nutriments in a silo than in any other manner—always the menace of frost hangs over a late planted corn crop."

We have sold a great many SAGINAW Steel Built Silos this year. Those who still intend to buy will save money by buying before the July advance. It may soon be not a matter of price but a matter of getting a silo. We still are able to make the terms reasonable. Call us by phone and allow us to name a price and term.

At a meeting of the stockholders of The Uncle Sam's Macaroni Company held in Tecumseh last Wednesday, it was voted to sell the plant and the matter of closing the deal was left in the hands of the board of directors.

NED CUTTING SOME SHOT

The many friends of Ned Cutting, son of Mr and Mrs. H. D. Cutting, and an old Tecumseh boy, will be interested in the following clipped from a Los Angeles paper:

A team of experts from the Beverly Hills Rifle Club drove to the Seven Hills Club range yesterday where they fought it out on 300 and 500 yards. Although the shoot was staged for 40 shots for each man, owing to the boiling sun, the scores were cut to 20 shots each. The Beverly club, shooting the latest United States Springfield up-to-date rifles, proved that they had too much advantage over the Krag shooters, and even Mr. Chales Poole, their best shooter, who has a record on their own range of 21 straight bulls eyes, had to acknowledge he had a partner shooting against him, the champion shooter of the Seven Hills Club, Mr. Ned Cutting of Los Angeles

"I shall not soon forget the benefits I derived from the use of Foley Kidney Pills."—Al. A. Godfrey, Forest Grove, Oregon.

Too much work and too little work seem to have about the same effect on persons past middle age. Proper action of the kidneys is necessary to good health. They act as a filter and remove from the blood poisonous waste matter which if permitted to remain in the system leads to many complications.

Many nervous, tired, run-down men and women suffer from pains in the back and sides, dizzy spells, bladder weakness, sore muscles and stiff joints and fail to realize that rheumatism, diabetes or even Bright's disease may result.

If you have cause to believe that your kidneys are weak, disordered or inactive you should act immediately. Foley Kidney Pills have been used by young, middle aged and old with complete satisfaction. They act quickly and surely and have given relief in cases of ten years' standing.

SAY FREAK CURRENT CAUSED BOAT DEATH

Life Loss on Whaleback May Reach Score More.

Milwaukee, July 2.—Twelve identified bodies and three unidentified is the number recovered from the wreckage caused by a water tank falling on the excursion steamer Christopher Columbus, filled with excursionists Saturday. Police are dragging the river in a futile effort to raise the debris of the great tank which crashed through the forward decks of the whaleback.

Authorities stand by their estimate of Saturday night and express their belief that two score persons are dead under the wreckage.

A sudfden current in the Milwaukee river is blamed for the disaster. The explanation was made by H. W. Thorp, general manager of the Goodrich Transportation company, owners of the boat, after he had talked with Captain Charles E. Moody.

TO BUILD GREAT NAVAL BASE

Largest in History of U. S. Will Be Created at Hampton Roads.

Washington, July 2.—Secretary of the Navy Daniels has taken the first step toward the creation in Hampton Roads of the greatest base in the histor yof the American navy.

Under authority of a presidential proclamation, Rear Admiral Walter McLean, commandant of the Norfolk navy yard, was instructed to take possession of the property included in the Jamestown exposition site and Pine Beach section, adjoining Sewell's Points. Persons at present residing thereon must move by August 1.

INDIANAPOLIS MAN IS KILLED

Chicago, July 2.—Henry Lavy, treasurer of the Capital Rattan Furniture company of Indianapolis, was instantly killed when he fell or jumped from a fifth-story window of the congress hotel. His room was on the fifteenth floor, but he walked down to room 530 before the fatal plunge.

One of the cleaners working in the hotel at the time heard the body hit the sidewalk. Before anyone could reach Mr. Levy he was dead.

Raise in Decatur Mines.

Decatur, Ill., July 2.—Decatur coal operators again raised the price of coal here. This makes the price of $4 delivered or $3.40 at the mines. J. M. Corsin of the Decatur Coal company stated that further increases are contemplated.

50,000 Still Needed.

Washington, July 2.—Total enlistments June 30 in the regular army were 1,290, leaving the force more than 50,000 short of war strength.

Glass Windows.

The first glass window in England was put up in an abbey about the year 680. Glass windows, however, did not become general for many hundred years, and as late as 1570 the glass casements at Alnwick castle, the Duke of Northumberland's seat, were regularly taken down when the family was away from home.

WHAT THE FLAG SAYS

The American flag says: "I stand for liberty, I proclaim equality, I detest tyranny, I favor justice and demand it of the weak and strong alike, I am the badge of fair dealing and the enemy of graft, high and low. As I offer no affronts, I tolerate no insults on land or sea. I am patient, but inflexible. I cherish honorable peace and accept war when necessary to maintain it. To me life is precious, but subject to the sacred demands of patriotism. If a man is a hero for the public welfare I never ask his nationality. I know he is for the highest type of exclusive Americanism."—A. T. Brewer.

AMERICAN GUN CREW FIGHTS TWO U-BOATS

Commanding Officer Reports a Periscope Shattered.

London, July 2.—The gun crew of an American liner fired upon two German submarines during her voyage from the United States to England. Both targets were at a considerable range, but the report to Washington of the commnading officer will express the belief that one periscope was shattered.

Rotterdam, July 2.—After five months of idleness the Holland-American liner Neiuw Amsterdam sailed from this port on Saturday without cargo or mail. There were only one or two Americans on the passenger list, which contained the names of 240 in the first cabin, mostly en route for the East Indies, and 330 in the second cabinet. There were 340 persons in the steerage.

Notwithstanding the increased passenger rates, official say, the liner does not pay expenses. Great difficulty was experienced in obtaining a crew.

The Holland-American line does not intend to use the steamship Rotterdam, which has been definitely laid up until the end of the war.

U. S. HAS BEEN FEEDING BOSHES

Large Food Leaks Into Germany Revealed by Hoover.

SMALL NEUTRALS GROW RICH

New Name Is Invented for Men in Countries Adjacent to Germany and German Waters Who Have Thrived Selling Fats for Coal—They Are Known as the "Goulash Millionaires."

Washington, July 2.—The United States, unwittingly, has been furnishing Germany with the most valued of the food products she herself lacks for the successful prosecution of the war.

Fats in sufficient quantity to ration all of Germany's 7,700,000 men under arms are entering the Teutonic empires from Holland and Scandinavia. Holland and Scandinavia get these products, directly or indirectly, from the United States. Hence the desire for speed on the part of the administration in making effective the embargo authorized by congress.

While these fats are of the same amount as the fats supplied to the whole German army, they contain the same number of calories as the whole ration of all the 2,500,000 men on the western front. They contain for each individual in the German empire 120 calories per day, or six per cent of the per capita diet according to the regulation ratios. These imports furnish about ten per cent of Germany's protein; they contain five half pounds of fat per year per person, one fourth of an ounce per day, or about a quarter of the total daily fat ration for each German at the present time.

"Goulash Millionaires" Spring Up.

Herbert C. Hoover, food administrator, made public for the first time the definite figures in this trade which have impelled the United States to hasten the rigorous control of exports to these countries. The figures come from English sources. They are regarded as conservative.

Supposedly neutral merchants have amassed vast fortunes out of this illicit trade with our enemies. A generic name has been coined for them. So extensive has their business become that scores of men in Holland, Norway and Sweden are known through all the cafes and places of resort as as the "goulash millionaires."

Congress has already provided for the exports council consisting of Secretary Lansing, Secretary Honston and Secretary Redfield. Secretary Redfield is the executive officer of the council. Its orders, requiring all exporters of food from the United States to secure a license under which their business with the Teuton feeding ports can be absolutely controlled, may be expected to be made effective during the week through a proclamation by the President. All the council is waiting for is to complete the list of items to be embargoed and develop the machinery for catching them before they leave this country.

Indicative of the importance of this have to Germany, experts here have figured that the calories contained are the equal of the calories in the entire ration of 2,500,000 German soldiers. This is about the number of men which Germany now has on the western front.

Some Figures of German Purchases.

How the United States has been feeding the German armies is illustrated by these figures of exports from Holland and Scandinavia into Germany during 1916. The figures are metric tons:

Butter, 32,000 tons; meat, 115,800 tons, pork products, 68,800 tons, condensed milk, 70,000; fish, 407,000; cheese, 80,800 tons; eggs, 46,400 tons; potato meal, 179,500 tons; coffee, 58,500 tons; fruit, 74,000 tons; sugar, 12,000; vegetables, 218,000.

TRESTLE SUPPORTS GIVE MAY

Many Dead and Injured Swept by Current Into Rapids Further Down Stream—Rescuers Chop Way into Car Upside Down When It Is Lodged Against Obstruction.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., July 2.—No less than forty persons were miserably drowned when a Great Gorge route car was hurled into the Niagara river. A large number of other persons were injured.

Only a few persons escaped death or injury by jumping and all were carried into the swirling waters.

The accident occurred this side of Lewiston shortly before 4 o'clock in the afternoon and was due to a landslide under a trestle. The car was overturned by the slipping of the earth and then rolled into the lower Niagara river rapids. The washout was due to recent heavy rains which had undermined the track supports.

A number of persons on the Canadian side of the river witnessed the accident and saw a number of bodies carried down in the whirlpool rapids.

Immediately after the accident a rescue party was organized. It consisted of city firemen, national guardsmen on guard duty at the bsidges, student officers from Fort Niagara, policemen and citizens.

Chopped Way Into Car.

The capsized car, after its roll into the river, came to rest between the cribbing of a disused water power system. It is completely upside down and resting on the roof. The flooring had to be chopped away to rescue the injured and recover the bodies of those drowned.

Some of those who were uninjured or only slightly hurt, managed to crawl out of the water and to safety before the rescue party arrived. A number of others of the passengers managed to keep themselves from drowning or being carried away by the rushing water by clinging to the overturned car and keeping their heads above water until the rescuers arrived at the spot.

The rescuers worked in the swift current with the water in some instances almost reaching their chins. They had ropes about their waists, one end being held by persons on the lower bank.

The rescuers worked with frantic haste in the battle to save the injured from the clutch of the current, and many instances of individual heroism were displayed. In a number of cases, however, injured and dead were just to be grasped by willing hands when snatched away and carried down the river.

Three Killed, 3 Hurt.

Butler, Pa., July 2.—Three persons were killed and three injured when an automobile in which they were riding was struck by a fast interurban car near here in the afternoon. The dead are:

Mrs. John H. Keck, Thelma Keck, aged five, her daughter, and Gellart Goehring, a wealthy retired farmer.

TWO MEN DROWN, 16 CHILDREN FATHERLESS

Elks Rapids Fishermen Perish When Boat Upsets.

TRAVERSE CITY, July 2.

Sixteen children were made fatherless when Nels Anderson, seventy, and John Pink, thirty-five, drowned in Birch lake, north of Elk Rapids, when a boat from which they were fishing overturned.

Everett Derocher, the third member of the party, was saved. Anderson, who is a small fruit rancher on the shores of the lake, leaves a wife and twelve children, and Pink, who recently arrived from Grand Haven, had a wife and four children.

The accident happened when Pink who was fishing from the boat lost his balance and well into the lake, overturning the craft. Pink and Anderson sank immediately. Derocher started to swim ashore, but saw the task was too great and swam back to the boat, where he was rescued in an exhausted condition. Anderson acted as a guide all his life, and had taken thousands of fishing parties about the lake.

Within a few weeks many of our boys between the ages of 21 and 30 years will be called into the service. By then the drawing will be over and we will see the boys from our township and county leaving for the various training camps where they will be trained for the business of a soldier. Then it will bring home to us just what this war business means. After a few months of training they will be taken to France or to some other field of action where they will take their part in the terrible conflict that has grasped Europe by the throat. Here on the firing line they will take their places under the flag of our country. Their business will be to conquer the German foe. Month after month we have been reading of the terrible fighting which is going on across the water and know that thousands are killed and wounded upon these battle fields.

Constant fighting has been going on for the past three years and how much longer no one knows. Our boys will soon be in the thick of it; they will bleed and die as American soldiers have never bled and died before.

Hundreds and thousands of these boys will be picked up wounded and taken to the hospitals and hundreds of hospitals must be provided to take care of the wounded. These hospitals are being provided and equipped by the American Red Cross.

Our Red Cross have appealed to the people for funds and the people all over this broad land of ours have responded to the call. The call has come to Lenawee county. Shall we answer it?

They are asking Lenawee county for $32,000 and will Lenawee county respond? Hudson has responded nobly and there has been but few refusals. Seneca township reports $4000 subscribed. Good reports are coming in from all over the county.

We are told of a man in Macon who had served in the Spanish-American war, who has subscribed $5.00 per month because he knows what the Red Cross should mean to the boy who goes to the front. This is patriotism. How many in Tecumseh township will give $5.00 per month? We need many of them and a good many of our people should respond. Don't give a $1.00 or $2.00 per month if you are able to give more and think you have been liberal, but do your best for the funds are needed far more than you have any idea of.

This work of raising the fund in this township is being done by the Lenawee County Patriotic League, whose business it is to assist in doing their duty at home and to answer any call that may be made by the Government. It is composed of men all over the county who are giving their time and money in their country's service, most of them too old to be drawn into the army and navy but all willing to aid and to do their full duty.

They are asking of the country a fund of $60,000 or more and are saying to the people that it will cover all calls of a patriotic nature for a year. $32,000 of this fund is our share of the big Red Cross fund that the nation has been raising and will be paid over to the Red Cross as soon as collected. The balance will remain in the treasury to be used for future patriotic calls. If the war continues for some time, as every indication points now, a vast amount of money will be needed and our fund in the treasury will be put to good use.

The papers say that the $100,000,000 fund has been over subscribed. Well, we are glad the people have responded so nobly, but is that any reason that we in Lenawee county should be slackers and say that the fund has been over subscribed and we won't have to give? If our people took this view of it and closed up their pocket books with a bang, we would be ashamed of them and would call them cowards, not worthy of the citizenship of the country that has protected them and allowed them to prosper. No, we must prove our worth as American citizens in this township and respond to the drive that is being made here.

We are being asked for the sum of $6,000 or $7,000 for the year in this township. Lets over subscribe this amount and show the country and State that we are really the "biggest little township" in the whole country.

Many of our men will make a house to house canvass this week. Expect them, be ready for them and give them the best pledge that you are able to make. Lets make a record and put Tecumseh township at the head of any township in the county.

Your country calls you.

Port Arthur's Harbor.

Getting into the harbor of Port Arthur is something like an Alice in Wonderland trick. One sails through a picture frame—the rocky bluffs at the mouth, barely wide enough for a stout ship to squeeze through without touching, wondering how there can be room for a ship to anchor between the frame and the picture itself, a small hamlet somewhat Swiss or Norwegian in homelikeness. But once behind the frame the wonderland unfolds. The small basin of water becomes a lakelike body, delightfully protected behind sheltering cliffs. The little hamlet reaches out into two big towns, one on either side.

The Mysterious Sun Spot

It Contained an Important Message.

By RICHARD MARKLY

On the South Carolina coast stands one of those imposing colonial edifices for which that state is famous. It was built during the times when the southern settlers requiring laborers to work on their tobacco plantations, were importing large cargoes of African negroes, who were held as slaves. It is of brick, with large pillars in front, and, considering its age, is in a remarkable state of preservation. This is because a recent owner has put it in repair.

Like other houses of its kind dating back to the seventeenth century, it was built out of the proceeds of negroes captured in Africa and sold as slaves in America. But the slave trade and its twin brother, piracy, were not in that day deprecated as they are, or, rather, would be, today. He who built the house referred to became one of the most prominent men of his time. Richard Granville was not his name, but in bringing out the antecedents of his descendants it is a far safer name to use than his own. He began life as a sailor, visiting every country where there was trading to be done, and a few of his older slaves, who were house servants and thus enabled the more readily to become conversant with his secrets, handed down a tradition that their master started his fortune in piracy.

Be this as it may, up to the middle of the last century his descendants did not deny that much of his money had been made in the slave trade. In his old age his conscience troubled him, and those who were nearest him said that he desired to make some reparation for his misdeeds. He had a statue of himself made of bronze and set it up on a pedestal in a bay window of his library. The left hand rests on an anchor, and the right holds a sextant—not a mock sextant; a real one, though not of brass, but of the same material as the statue. He left orders that no headstone should mark his grave, and it was supposed that he intended the statue as a substitute for one. At any rate, no one now knows where he is buried.

Different generations of his descendants discussed the statue and wondered at the whim which led their progenitor to erect it. One thing about it excited special attention. Every morning the sun, shining in upon it, strikes the eyepiece of the sextant and, passing through the tube, casts a solar image on the opposite wall. The track of this round spot of light changes with the season, traversing a slightly different path each day. There is another thing that puzzled the owners of the Granville estate. The only inscription on the statue, or, rather, its pedestal, is the date of Richard Granville's birth. And not only is the date given, but the hour and minute.

Of all topics connected with the statue probably the giving of this minute information was most discussed. No one who saw it could remember having seen any memorial giving either the hour and minute of a birth or the hour and minute of a death. But one generation after another passed away, and no plausible reason for either the statue or its singular inscription was suggested.

During the civil war Elwood Granville, the owner of the estate at that time, fought for the maintenance of the system in the introduction of which his progenitor took so important a part. Colonel Granville was a religious man and one of those who traced authority for slavery from the Bible. After the war he returned to his plantation and began to run it anew under the system that had been born during the struggle.

A few papers that had belonged to the original Granville were handed down through his descendants. They had been preserved time and again by different persons, but appeared to contain nothing to throw any light on the puzzles connected with the writer or receiver. One day Colonel Granville, while amusing himself with these documents, read a letter from the founder of his house to a clergyman, in which the former said that he would like to leave at his death a fund for the benefit of the negro race in America, but the time would not come for perhaps one or two centuries when such a bequest could be utilized.

Probably the statement had been read a hundred times by Richard Granville's descendants without making any marked impression. But Colonel Granville read it at a time when the negro slave had been just emancipated and called, in all the ignorance induced by his condition, to citizenship. The meaning of the statement, "The time would not come for perhaps one or two centuries," was plain to him. More than one century had passed and brought the changed conditions. This led Colonel Granville, who was eager to help the negro, now that he had become a freeman, onward and upward, to think of the benefits that would accrue from such a bequest as was mentioned in the letter.

Then suddenly two connected ideas entered Colonel Granville's brain. The first was: Might not the writer have secretly carried out his intention, leaving a fund for the purpose that would turn up a century or two after his death? And might not the statue have something to do with its location?

Though he did not know it, he had made a mental leap bridging a century since his ancestor's death. He determined to make a study of the statue and everything that pertained to it. Every morning he devoted an hour to sitting before the bronze, looking at it and thinking about it. Perhaps he fancied that by thus mentally dwelling upon it through some spiritual process the secret would be imparted to him. The inscription engaged his attention, but he could make nothing of it. And yet there must have been an object in putting it there alone, and especially with the hour and minute of birth.

One morning Colonel Granville was sitting, as usual, studying the statue. The sun spot was crawling slowly over the wall as it had been traveling year in and year out for 100 years. The colonel was watching it as he had often watched it before. A third new idea came to him. Might not this sun spot have some meaning?

There seem to be two kinds of ideas in the human brain those that are original or parent ideas and those that are offspring. The present case is an illustration. The conception that the sun spot might have some meaning was in a measure original (though everything, after all, is but a link in an eternal chain), and it suggested another idea—viz, Might not there be a connection between the sun spot and the date of birth on the statue?

Colonel Granville sprang from his chair. He was confident that he had made an important discovery. What that discovery would lead to was another matter. He had little expectation that it would work out his first conceptions which had come from the letter he had read, but he hoped it might solve the mystery of the statue and the date inscribed upon it. He was not long in inferring that on the day, hour and minute recorded on the statue the sun spot would rest on a part of the wall which would give some information or injunction intended by the man who had erected the statue.

The inscription gave the year, which could be of no importance since the sun traverses the same apparent path annually; the day, June 17; the hour, 10 o'clock, and the minute, the twenty-fifth. In other words, if this were the true explanation, on June 17, at twenty-five minutes after 10 o'clock, the position of the sun spot would mean something. It could not refer to 10 o'clock at night for an obvious reason.

It was early in April when Colonel Granville hit upon this possible explanation. Nearly two months of waiting would be necessary before the spot would reach a position corresponding with the date. The colonel, too impatient to defer investigation for what seemed to him so long a period, was eager to get a computer to come and calculate where the spot would be on the given day. But he knew of no one at hand who would be able to make the calculation. Besides, he had no desire to suffer the obloquy such an act would cast upon him, for when he stopped to think he was forced to admit that no more chimerical idea could enter the brain of man.

So he was obliged to wait and while waiting planned an excuse for what he proposed to do. He determined to make a hole in the wall where the sun spot rested on the 17th of June at twenty-five minutes past 10 in the morning, and he proposed to tell the household that he was looking for a convenient location for a chimney he was thinking of building. Every day after that the colonel watched the movement of the spot with keen interest, and at the end of a month he could calculate pretty nearly where it would fall on the 17th of June. However, he waited till the date came round.

Now, on the 17th of June the sun stands very high, practically at the highest point during the year. Consequently the spot was at the lowest point. In fact, it rested on the floor. The colonel bored a hole in the flooring, inclining it from the sextant to the point of the spot's contact, and, inserting a tube, noted a place in the cellar where the line of vision prolonged would strike. Then one night when the household was asleep he went into the cellar with a lantern, a pick and a spade and began to dig.

He had cut through the cement bottom of the cellar and dug down exactly ten feet when he struck masonry. It was not very well put together, and he soon loosened the upper stones, coming to an open space. In this was an iron box or safe, such as was used many years ago. A blow of the pick knocked off the cover, and there lay a mass of gold coins. On the coins lay a paper, which Colonel Granville read.

His idea derived from the letter written by his ancestor was correct. Here was a chest containing a mixture of English, Spanish and other gold pieces, with a will bequeathing the treasure to found an institution for the amelioration of the negro race.

Colonel Granville replaced the earth over the treasure and left it to think out the problem before him. Such a bequest coming from the original testator would be absorbed in legal technicalities. Besides, Granville would not like the notoriety attached to bringing out so many old coins—coins that he knew came from the price of slaves and probably the loot of piracy. He resolved to say nothing about this strange request, but to dispose of it piecemeal and erect in his own name the institution for which it was intended. This intention he carried out, and many a negro is now being educated with the money derived from the sale of his ancestors.

HANGING UNMOUNTED FLAGS.

Correct Position of the Union to the Eye of the Observer.

It is sometimes a bit puzzling to know just how to hang a flag—just what is, the correct position of the union. A letter to the New York Tribune tells exactly how it should be hung:

"All rules for hanging against a wall a flag which is not attached to its staff are in reference to the right or left hand of the observer. The union will be in the upper right hand corner if the stripes are perpendicular. Thus on a street running north and south the flags on the east side will have their unions toward the north and those on the west side will all have their unions toward the south unless some of them are hung with stripes horizontal, when the position of the union will be reversed. As one drives down the street this may give at first the impression that there is no uniformity, though all the flags may be correctly hung, but every flag will be right side out despite the diversity."

The writer adds that a street banner should be hung across the street at an equal distance from both curbs; that a flag not attached to a staff hung upon a wall should have the union at the top; that the union should be at the left of the observer if the stripes are horizontal; that the union should be at the right of the observer if the stripes are perpendicular.

TO SUCCEED IN BUSINESS.

Find Out Whether You Are a Promoter or a Caretaker.

In the American Magazine a writer says:

"All the world of men is divided into two classes—caretakers and promoters. The most important decision a man can make in his business life is to determine in which one of these two classes he belongs.

"Really I have come to believe that at least half of the sorrow and failure and heartache in the business world comes simply because men won't recognize that law. Square pegs in round holes—what are they? Just promoters in caretakers' jobs, that's all, or vice versa. Brilliant subordinates who fail utterly in business on their own account? Simple enough. They are caretakers—splendid, efficient, successful caretakers—and they get the wrong idea that they are meant to be something else. A great big business suddenly begins to stagger and fall apart, and everybody wonders why. But apply the same law and it's easy—too many promoters or too many caretakers, not the proper working mixture of each.

"Alexander was a promoter of the first order. He conquered the world. But where were the caretakers to conserve and consolidate and solidify? They just weren't, that's all, and Alexander's empire fell to pieces almost before his ashes were cold. A few hundred years later Caesar conquered the world, and his empire stood for generations. Why? Because Augustus, one of the great caretakers of history, followed Caesar."

EYES IN PORTRAITS.

Why Some Always Seem to Gaze Right at You and Some Never Do.

You probably have noticed that some faces in pictures seem to follow you; also that in other pictures there are faces which are not looking at you, but no matter where you walk, even though it be in the direction in which they seem to be looking, you will never find the face looking at you. Indeed, faces in pictures are either looking at us from wherever we look at them or else they never look at us from wherever we look at them. The same is true of photographs.

The rule is very simple. If the person who was being painted or photographed was looking at the painter or the camera, then wherever you stand he will seem to be looking at you. If he was looking on one side, then wherever you stand he will seem to be looking on that side of you. This works very queerly if you have a group of people who were all looking at the camera when they were photographed. If you look at the photograph from one side they all seem to turn to follow you and then to turn back if you look at it from the other side. But if they were not looking at the camera you can never get them to look at you.—Kansas City Star.

Blind Dogs and Rats.

Canines born blind or that become blind by accident are able to smell and paw their way into the most inaccessible and out of the way places. It is practically impossible to starve them, lose them or trap them. Furthermore, blind dogs learn as quickly as those that see. Loss of sight in no way interferes with their ability to learn tricks, acquire habits or find their bed.

Rats, as a matter of fact, if they use their eyes at all—a doubtful matter—can see little or nothing of the world. The retina of these creatures has no point of perfect vision such as is found in the higher animals and man; hence their noses, muscles, touch and hearing give them information about the world they live in.

Rice Culture.

The culture of rice is alluded to in the Talmud, and there is evidence that it was grown in the valley of the Euphrates and in Syria before 400 B. C. It was taken into Persia from India and later into Spain by the Arabs. Thence its culture was introduced into Italy about 1468 A. D. The Spaniards are also responsible for its introduction into Peru and other sections of Spanish America during the early colonial period, but the exact date has not been definitely determined. The first introduction of rice culture in the Americas seems really to have been in Brazil.

His Worst Book.

In "A Last Memory of Robert Louis Stevenson," by Charlotte Eaton, this curious incident is recorded: "What do you consider your brightest failure?" the novelist was asked. "'Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde,'" he replied without a moment's hesitation, adding, "That is the worst thing I ever wrote." Yet in a standard book of brief biographies this is the one book title given under the name of the author.

When Real Acquaintance Began.

"When did you first become acquainted with your husband?" asked one woman.

"The first time I told him that I had overdrawn my housekeeping account," answered the other.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Reason.

"The feminine anti-matrimony clubs generally come to grief."

"Of course they do. Naturally they are miss-managed."—Baltimore American.

Touchy People.

Beware of touchy people. There are always some about ready to pester you in some way. Hurry on past so you cannot hear them and above all refuse to deny what they say. Just keep sweet and go ahead and let their unkind words swelter in the gloaming. How much time and patience are wasted on touchy people! And yet such people think they are the salt of the earth and everybody else dirty water. It is a real wickedness to be touchy. It is as bad as lying and cheating. It does the world as much harm. We knew a touchy person one time whose touchiness struck in on him and he died. We hope all our gentle readers will escape so sorry a fate.—Ohio State Journal.

History Made Palatable.

Joseph Salvador, the French historian, and Jules Sandeau, a novelist, made their meeting at a public reception the occasion for a dispute as to the respective places which they occupied in the world of letters.

"The reading of history is like a pill—it needs the sugar coating to make it palatable," argued the novelist.

"Ah, but it is the ingredient which cures, not the coating," remarked the historian.

"Then let us divide the honors," said Sandeau, "for if it were not for my sugar coating your historical facts would dry on the shelves."

RED CROSS NEWS

Commencing Tuesday, July 10th, we intend to publish an alphabetical list of all members of the Tecumseh Red Cross. And we earnestly desire to have this list as complete as possible. We want to have the name of every man, woman and child in it.

We want Your name and your influence! Will you give them to us? Everyone who joins before the Lilley State Bank closes on Monday, July 10th, will be included in the list.

Remember that unless you are a member you cannot even work for the Red Cross, for unfortunately we have been warned that we must be careful to whom we give the supplies that are to go to our sick and wounded soldiers.

It is an honor to belong to the Red Cross. The very name is sacred. There is hardly a spot on the globe where the Red Cross does not meet with honor and reverence. There is not another organization that carries out more fully the injunction, to love your enemies, and do good to those who despitefully use you, for the Red Cross worker knows no enemy; he only sees a wounded, helpless soldier, who must die without his aid; and he saves and nurses him regardless whether he be a German, an Englishman, an Austrian or a Belgian.

It is little enough we who stay at home can do, we can at least deny ourselves some little luxury to save those who are giving everything that we may escape the fate of Belgium and France.

Had Belgium and France tarried as long as we have, then we would have suffered what they are now undergoing.

For your own honor's sake, answer your country's call. It is the first time she had asked one single thing from you. Come and join the Red Cross NOW and do not wait.

Mrs. J. H. Smith, Tel. 104, requests all donors to have their parcels ready on the porch at 2 p. m. on Friday as the colectors have a great deal to accomplish. Mrs. Frank Turner and Miss Jennie Gillespie have donated their autos for the afternoon, but more are urgently needed. Please come and loan your cars for just three hours on Friday, or it might happen that some of the ladies would have to carry the parcels to Headquarters.

Mrs. T. C. Harris, visions are fast becoming a reality, her very industrious committee finished forty surgical shirts in one week, out of 49 they had on hand, and sent them to Adrian. They are however still open for more volunteer workers.

Mrs. Raymond Mills and Mrs. Sena Crane sent 9 pajamas in this week, and expect to take 30 the coming week.

Mrs. Raynor K. Anderson, Tel. 86, requests all ladies who want to work on pillow cases to communicate with her.

Mrs. Faron S. Anderson's committee made 60 sheets, which went to Adrian.

Mrs. Dunn reports 60 pillows, filled with snippings, sent to Adrian.

Mrs. L. I. Bidwell's committee has six dozen covers for comfort pillows. She needs workers badly and has plenty of material ready at her house Tel. 241.

The Methodist Episcopal Sunday-school had a special service for the observance of Patriotic Sunday under the leadership of Dr. W. J. Balmer. Arthur Brown read President Wilson's letter to the Sunday-schools asking their help for Red Cross work. Miss Vie Snedicor followed with Lincoln's reply, congratulating a Methodist delegation on their work for wounded soldiers, and Mrs. Jenny C. Law Hardy made an appeal on behalf of the Red Cross. The collection yielded $7.79 which went to the Methodist Red Cross Fund.

The concert given by the Red Cross Concert Company at the Presbyterian church on Sunday evening was one of the most successful events that has taken place in Tecumseh. Visitors came from Manchester, Clinton, Brittton, Tipton, Onsted, Adrian and Norvell and the church was crowded.

Mrs. Fred Wood was musical director and accompanist, ably assisted by Mrs. Fred Dickinson.

All the performers were in fine shape, many numbers were enthusiastically encored, the church was decorated with Old Glory and the flags of the Allies, and the collection yielded $55.10, the Red Cross and the Armenian Relief Fund each receiving $27.55.

The next concert by the same company will be in Manchester.

Do not forget the Ice Cream Social tonight at Mr. Billy Gibson's farm on the Saline road. Come and bring all your friends.

The ladies to take care of the Red Cross headquarters in the afternoon are:

Thursday—Mrs. Chas. Kemp
Friday—Mrs. Mary Smeltzer
Saturday—Mrs. Joe Hanford
Saturday evening — Miss Alice Cutting
Monday—Mrs. Florence Bower
Tuesday—Mrs. Sanford Cutting

If you cannot come, please send a substitute.

Jenny C. Law Hardy,
Publicity Director.

Reassuring Her.

He worshiped her, and with all his youthful ardor he begged her to marry him.

"That's all very well, Jack, all very pretty, but do you think we can live on love and kisses?"

"It's much the safest—everything else is either adulterated or poisoned or tainted!" he exclaimed.—Everybody's.

RE-OPENING OF MACON M. E. CHURCH

Sunday, June 24th, was a day never to be forgotten in the Village of Macon, the occasion being the re-opening exercises in connection with the Methodist Episcopal church in the village which during the past months has been undergoing extensive and splendid remodeling which has resulted in a beautiful little temple of God, well equipped to do the larger work demanded of rural churches in this day.

The old one room church has been converted into a many-room one with a magnificent basement to accommodate social functions, the real worth of which was realized by the community a few weeks ago when it was opened with a men's banquet—the first ever held in the village—with 167 men present.

Thursday, June 21, a reopening supper was given by the ladies and over 300 people enjoyed a good time and an excellent supper.

It was a happy occasion on Sunday, the 24th, when three former pastors, now all leading and prominent preachers in the conference came back to render excellent service on the occasion and renew the much enjoyed fellowship of years ago.

In the morning Rev. E. M. Moore, now located at Ypsilanti, brought a message never to be forgotten.

In the afternoon a platform meeting was conducted and all enjoyed remarks by D. H. Ramsdell, district superintendent, Rev. Moore and Rev. E. Stevenson of Saline. The pastor also read letters of praise and appreciation from former pastors, Revs. Halladay, Pollock, Johnson and Jones.

In the evening A. W. Stalker, D. D., of Ann Arbor delighted the large audience in his usual way and brought a message laden with good things. Excellent music at each service added much to the occasion.

The improvements have cost $5000.00. Of this $1000.00 is represented in donated material and labor. Of the balance $2500.00 had been subscribed before the reopening. The balance of $1500.00 was asked for at the morning and afternoon services and the people splendidly and hilariously responded and to the joy and delight and surprise of all gave the grand sum of $1900.

It was a big undertaking for a society of the size, but a fine testimony to the loyalty, heroism and real sacrifice of the members and friends of the church. It was a happy conclusion of a splendid task.

Sunday, July 1st, over 300 people enjoyed an excellent program by the children of the village and community, it being Children's Day.

BALLOON ASCENSION

As noted in a former issue of the Herald, we had another balloon ascension Saturday about 7 p. m. Mr. Hastings did not make the ascension at this time but his helper, Mat McConnell, a street car driver of Jackson, made his first trip, which proved a very fine one. He made a very neat parachute drop, landing about 2½ miles north of town.

The merchants were well pleased with the crowd of people who gathered in the afternoon, coming to see the ascension and incidentally to do a little trading.

Mr. Hastings has worked up quite a business in his line and expects to make an ascension in Manchester after the Fourth.

A Comet Scare.

Joseph Jerome Lafrancais de Lalande, the popular French astronomer of the eighteenth century, differed from Newton's view that Providence had so arranged matters as to make collision of the earth with a comet impossible and wrote a paper to prove that it was only very improbable. This paper, which was to have been read with others before the French academy on a certain day in 1773, got crowded out, but the Parisian public, hearing of it, made up its mind that Lalande had predicted the impending destruction of the earth, and such panic ensued that the police had to order the publication of the paper to reassure the public mind. But even then it was popularly believed that the paper had been deliberately toned down, and comet panics ensued for a quarter of a century.

Cold Feet.

Persons afflicted with cold feet, instead of taking a hot flatiron or brick to bed with them, as was once the custom, may now wear either "bed shoes" or "feet envelopes" of elderdown flannel. The latter are easily made. Take a yard and a half of elderdown flannel, a yard wide. Fold this together envelope style, the fuzzy side within, leaving eight or ten inches for the flap. Bind it all around with ribbon to match.

Sacrifice Unrecognized.

"Some of our greatest sacrifices bring us little credit."

"That's right," replied Senator Sorghum. "When I suppress my natural inclination to arise and waste time in speechmaking nobody ever takes me by the hand and congratulates me."—Washington Star.

Supplanted.

"What has become of the old fashioned political boss who used to sit back and put people into office?"

"He has retired," said Senator Sorghum, "to make way for the man of dominating personality who insists on putting himself into office."—Washington Star.

Their Quarrel.

Mrs. Dasher—No, dear, you really must not invite the Fannings and the Jeromes for the same evening. The two families don't speak. Dasher—Fell out over the children, I presume. Mrs. Dasher—No; their cooks quarreled.—Life.

Very Telling.

"Your friend Mrs. Gaddy has rather a downright manner, hasn't she?"

"I must say she has some telling ways."—Baltimore American.

Do not judge of the ship while it is on the stocks.—Italian Proverb.

Penny Wise.

Be not penny wise; riches have wings, and sometimes they fly away of themselves, sometimes they must be set flying to bring in more.—Bacon.

RED CROSS CONCERT COMPANY

Give a Splendid Entertainment at Presbyterian Church Sunday Evening

Church Crowded—Many Attend from Out of Town

Sunday evening a rousing ovation was given the Red Cross Concert Co at the Presbyterian church. Mrs. F. B. Wood had arranged the program which was given as printed in our last issue with but few changes. Mrs. R. S. Moore announced the numbers and her genial informality gave a happy tone to the whole affair. The numbers were secular rather than sacred and very delightful. Truly we are proud of our local talent and Sunday night's concert was another proof that we have the best of any town of our size or larger in the state.

It would be a hard matter to pick out any special number as better than the rest, but we must mention the organ solos of Burton Garlinghouse, the Japanese song by Miss Edna Taylor, dressed in a real Japanese kimona, the violin solos by J. D. Service which of course were excellent, the piano solos with explanation of the theme by Miss Camilla Hayden, the songs by the members of the Temple Quartette and Mrs. Moore who are always favorites.

Mrs. Jenny C. Law Hardy gave a very strong appeal for the Red Cross and also explained the flags of the Allies which adorned the choir rail. She told the use to be given the silver collection asked for, which was to be divided equally between the Red Cross and Armenian Relief Fund. This collection taken by the church ushers amounted to $55.10. Mrs. Moore sang one of her grand flag songs and Dr. Hartzog followed with a talk telling of the drive to be made for the Patriotic League.

That the audience enjoyed the concert and listened appreciatively to the appeals for the Red Cross and Patriotic League was evident by the astonishment voiced when the people found they had been in the church 2½ hours.

SHOTS FROM THE SKY.

Meteors That Bombard Us and the Puzzle of Their Origin.

Most persons have no comprehension of the actual bombardment to which the earth is continually subjected from the heavens. Millions of small meteors enter the atmosphere every twenty-four hours, and in addition to these it has been calculated that on the average not less than a hundred large meteorites strike the earth somewhere every year. The small meteors are totally consumed by the heat and friction, and only their slowly settling dust ever touches the earth's surface, although any one of them if not resisted by the air would hit with from twenty to a hundred times the velocity of the swiftest bullet.

The big meteorites, on the contrary, which frequently consist of solid iron, often get through the airy shield with enough of their original velocity left to bury themselves many feet in the hardest soil. They constitute a real peril. Although the chance of anybody being hit by a meteorite is almost infinitely small, yet the annals of mankind show that a few persons have actually been killed by these strange shots from the sky.

Whence do they come? The small meteors are apparently the debris of those hardly less mysterious bodies, comets, but nobody has yet suggested a satisfactory origin for the great meteorites.—Garrett P. Serviss in New York Journal.

HEROES OF THE SEA.

They Calmly Awaited Death With a Song Upon Their Lips.

The British transport Tyndareus struck a mine off southernmost Africa. She began to settle by the head. Immediately "assembly" was sounded the men put on their lifebelts and stood at attention till the roll was called. Then the order "Stand easy" was given, and they began to sing as fervently as though marching homeward on leave through a lane of France or Flanders.

They were perfectly sure that most of them would find a grave in the sea that engulfed so many of their fellows. They had no hope of rescue. They stood exactly as the men of the Birkenhead stood when they went to their doom and their imperishable renown off the same coast sixty-five years before.

But the sequel by a modern miracle was happily otherwise. Two steamers summoned by wireless came and towed to port the foundering vessel, with a display of seamanship on the part of the crews of all three ships that has maintained the British navy's proud traditions.

The bravery of those who had already given up their lives as lost was just as sublime as if that ultimate forfeit had been required. Wherever the deed is known it will stir the pulses of men, this story of heroism quite as exalted as any that Homer or Plutarch immortalized.—Philadelphia Ledger.

HOW TO WIN SUCCESS.

Have Confidence In Yourself and Do Not Lean Upon Others.

Power is the goal of every worthy ambition, and only weakness comes from imitation or dependence on others. Power is self developed, self generated. We cannot increase the strength of our muscles by sitting in a gymnasium and letting another exercise for us.

Nothing else so destroys the power to stand alone as the habit of leaning upon others. If you lean you will never be strong or original. Stand alone or bury your ambition to be somebody in the world.

The man who tries to give his children a start in the world so that they will not have so hard a time as he had is unknowingly bringing disaster upon them. What he calls giving them a start will probably give them a setback in the world. Young people need all the motive power they can get. They are naturally leaners, imitators, copiers, and it is easy for them to develop into echoes or imitations. They will not walk alone while you furnish crutches; they will lean upon you just as long as you will let them.

One of the greatest delusions that a human being could ever have is that he is permanently benefited by continued assistance from others.—Orison Swett Marden.

MILK AS A FABRIC.

Chemistry Can Convert It Into Many Useful Materials.

Although any one will concede that man cannot live by bread alone, it has been thought possible to get along rather nicely if milk were added to the diet. But it remained for two French chemists, Francois Lebrell and Raoul Desgeorge, to conceive an idea whereby milk may also be made to yield a fabric which may be converted into clothing and ornaments.

The curds of the milk are subjected to a chemical treatment by means of which the mass is converted into a plastic substance which may be rolled into sheets resembling celluloid, from which buttons and other articles such as combs, umbrella handles, bric-a-brac and even imitation leather may be made, all of which are of attractive appearance and of excellent wearing qualities.

The milk is first robbed of its fat, after which it is warmed with rennet so as to form curds. It is then parboiled and exposed to the air and then is treated with acetone to give it the required hardness, plasticity and transparency. The product may be made so soft that it can be used as a substitute for silk in the manufacture of fine underwear, or it may be made solid enough to serve as a good imitation of ivory.—Popular Science Monthly.

PRESERVING EGGS.

Water Glass Will Keep Them Fresh Six Months or Longer.

Eggs are much cheaper in the spring than they are later on in the year, and spring eggs can easily be kept over until the high price season by putting them down in water glass, which can be purchased at drug stores for about 25 cents a quart.

A quart of water glass mixed with twelve quarts of water that has been boiled and then cooled will be sufficient to preserve about fifteen dozen eggs. A stronger solution should be used for eggs that are to be held six to eight months or longer.

Stir the water glass and water mixture until thoroughly mixed. Use a stone jar that has been thoroughly cleaned. The eggs should also be cleaned. Cover the bottom of the jar with eggs stood up on end, the small end down. Pack the eggs so they will cover the bottom. The eggs can all be packed at one time, one layer upon another, or the packing can be done from time to time. Pour in the mixture so the top layer of eggs will be covered fully two inches. A thin coating of paraffin poured over the top of the water glass mixture when the jar is filled will prevent evaporation; otherwise the mixture will require replacing as often as evaporation makes it necessary. Store the jar in a cool cellar.—New York Sun.

MULVANEY—BRYAN

At high noon on Saturday the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Mulvaney, 108 Union Street was the scene of a quiet yet very impressive wedding, when their accomplished daughter, Minnie became the wife of Mr. Charles H. Bryan of Detroit. The bride was charmingly attired in white silk and carried a shower bouquet of pink rosebuds, the entire color scheme being carried out in pink and white. Only the immediate relatives were present.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. F. Jaquess, D. D. of Detroit an old friend of the groom.

The bride was at one time a teacher in our schools and was a prominent figure in the social life of Tecumseh, where she won a host of friends who will all unite in congratulations and best wishes for a long and happy life and hope that she may often be a visitor at her old home.

JACKSON BRANCH DISCONTINUES TWO TRAINS

Tecumseh people as well as people all along the Jackson branch are up in arms because the railroad people have discontinued Train No 111 southbound due in Tecumseh at 7:03 a. m. and Train No 124 northbound due in Tecumseh at 9:06 p m.

The reason for dropping these two trains is not known, but local railroad men tell us that they believe it is a war measure and that train service all over the country is being cut down to provide the government ways and means of transperting vast quantities of supplies and large numbers of troops

This all may be necessary but to our people it is going to work a great hardship People here have for years depended upon the early train to bring them their mail and papers. Now mail cannot arrive until a later train. One of our factories depended upon this train to bring them their orders for the day's work.

Many business men and others were in the habit of taking this train for Toledo and many for Detroit that they might have a full day in the cities to take care of buying, etc., and be able to return on the train due here at 9:06 in the evening.

What chance have they now of spending a full day in Toledo? They would have to leave Tecumseh on the 11:17 and it would be afternoon when they arrived in Toledo. Then to get back the same day, they would have to turn around and leave for home somewhere in the neighborhood of 4 o'clock. No trian after this time would get them nearer than Adrian.

Our mail service in now bunched in the middle of the day, no train carrying mail in earlier than 9 o'clock in the morning and none later than the 5:35 at night.

Many important letters written after 5:35 in the afternoon will have to lay here until 9 o'clock in the morning before leaving Tecumseh. This is nothing new, however, for this condition existed before the present change in train service, in regard to mails leaving later than 5:35 p. m. We were in hopes that mail service would be improved instead of cut down.

Every town along the Jackson branch should join and send in a vigorous protest on this change of service. We understand that our Commerce Club has already sent in a protest and we hope that every other town along the Jackson branch will get busy.

The Jolly 16 were very pleasantly entertained last Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Ziehr. There were four tables of players and prizes were captured by Mrs. Wm. Powell, Mrs. W. C. VanAntwerp and Mrs. Oscar Lidke. A fine two course luncheon was served by the hostess.

MACARONI COMPANY SELLS TO QUAKER OAT COMPANY OF CHICAGO

Deal Closed at Midnight Saturday Night.

The Quaker Oats Company of Chicago became the owner of The Uncle Sam's Macaroni Company at midnight Saturday. Through the deal the Quaker Oats Company became the sole possessor of the plant and factory site, covering some five acres of land lying south and west of the buildings, all equipment, trade marks and the good will of The Uncle Sam's Macaroni Company. The price paid for the plant is not being made public but was cash.

No change is expected to be made in the personnel of the employees, but in line with the policy of the Quaker Oats Company, there will be far more people employed by them as it is probable that the factory will be operated on a night and day basis.

The Quaker Oats Company probably have as large a distribution around the world as any other food producing company in this country. In addition to having sales representatives in all parts of the world, they have large producing plants in Canada as well as in countries abroad. This is their first move in the macaroni game although they have been investigating it for the past five years.

The Tecumseh plant will probably be a producing unit only, as all of the sales will be taken care of at the head office of the company at Chicago. No change is expected to be made in the name of the macaroni. It will still be called "Uncle Sam's" and "Made in Tecumseh, U. S. A." will be on each package going out. Thus Tecumseh's name, through the medium of the Quaker Oats Company, will travel into almost every corner of the world.

The company, we learn, expect to enlarge the present plant as soon as the sales end of the business has been pushed and developed, so that before many months pass there will be something doing in the south end of our village.

FOOD RETRENCHMENT

Much is being written for the papers of late on the matter of food saving. This is as it should be, in a measure, but the working people must have a full meal else they cannot do their part in the world's work in a proper manner.

Why not begin by saving in another direction? Not a lodge meeting, not a social affair of any kind, not a card party in the afternoon, but what a supper or light refreshments must be provided and then, after these afternoon functions, the regular meals for the family must be prepared And we cannot see why it is necessary to have a supper at the close of the lodges late in the evening, not only consuming a large supply of food but assuring a sleepless night or a headache for the next day, for so many of the participants.

Let us have our regular meals without the frills and do away with these extras. And we can see where much can be saved. "Consistency is a jewel" and it would be well if everyone had one to wear.

Inactive Kidneys Cause Disease

"I shall not soon forget the benefits I derived from the use of Foley Kidney Pills."—Al. A. Godfrey, Forest Grove, Oregon.

Too much work and too little work seem to have about the same effect on persons past middle age. Proper action of the kidneys is necessary to good health. They act as a filter and remove from the blood poisonous waste matter which if permitted to remain in the system leads to many complications.

Many nervous, tired, run-down men and women suffer from pains in the back and sides, dizzy spells, bladder weakness, sore muscles and stiff joints and fail to realize that rheumatism, diabetes or even Bright's disease may result.

If you have cause to believe that your kidneys are weak, disordered or inactive you should act immediately. Foley Kidney Pills have been used by young, middle aged and old with complete satisfaction. They act quickly and surely and have given relief in cases of ten years' standing.

ADMIRAL VON TIRPITZ

Father of U-Boat Warfare Is Reported Seriously Ill.

It is reported from Geneva that Admiral von Tirpitz has arrived at St. Blaise, in the Black forest. He is suffering seriously from diabetes. He has been Germany's chief advocate of unrestricted submarine warfare. He had much to do with the building of Germany's great fleet and is known as "the father of the German navy."

The Irish Jig.

The jig is peculiar to Ireland, having been danced there from time immemorial. Thence it spread to Italy, the Italian musicians copying the old Irish national music. Even the English country dances are founded on the Irish national one, and the hornpipe, which is merely a variety of the jig, has been not inaptly described as the national dance of England.

CROPS DAMAGED BY RAINS

Shiawasee, Saginaw and Genesee Counties Report Heavy Loss.

OWOSSO, July 2.

Not only has heavy damage been done to beans and corn by rains flooding fields on heavier ground in Shiawasee, Saginaw and Genesee counties; but from some localities in Shiawasee and Saginaw reports come that in many fields potato vines affected by the blight are dying.

County Agent A. B. Cook said that the agricultural outlook in Shiawasee, which was only fair before the heavy rain of last Monday, does not look promising although oats and hay are flourishing and the wheat crop is showing remarkable improvement. Similar conditions prevail in adjoining counties.

THE FOOD PROBLEM.

One Way to Meet It Is Through Simple Habits and Meatless Days.

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley told the Economic club of New York that if he could get the laboring men to listen to him he could double their wages for them by telling them what to eat. He cited his own boys, two and four years of age, as "more cheaply fed and better fed than any other two boys in the United States." Whole wheat and milk are the principal features of their diet.

The twenty-five cent a day diet demonstration with thirteen New York policemen was an unqualified success. Nearly all gained in weight, and all enjoyed their meals during the entire three weeks. This is not an altogether remarkable achievement, for many a workman's family of six members is compelled to spend less than $1.50 a day on the table. The chief value of the demonstration was the well balanced diet that was provided, a feature that does not usually characterize the meals of those who are compelled to live cheaply.

What we need to offset the high prices are education in the fundamentals of nutrition and a revival of the simple habits that prevailed a generation or two ago. We are the biggest meat eating nation in the world. If the meat supply continues to decrease while the population increases we shall have to change our habits. Government reports show a decline of 10,000,000 in the number of cattle other than milk cows and of 5,000,000 in the number of sheep in the last ten years, while the population increased 15,000,000. The American family should inaugurate meatless days.—Leslie's.

HISTORIC BAGDAD.

"In Ancient Times It Was the Finest City In the World."

Bagdad is known in ancient history as the capital of the mighty Saracen empire, over which the descendants of King Nebuchadnezzar ruled for many centuries. The population of Bagdad is uncertain, but the best authorities estimate it at about 150,000.

The bulk of the people are of Arab blood, but there are thousands of Jews and a large admixture of other races, especially Persians. The Turks are comparatively few and are mostly government officials.

The entire city is surrounded by a brick wall five miles in circumference and forty feet high, but in some places broken down, and by a deep, dark ditch.

The houses of Bagdad have, in general, no windows toward the front and are built of old yellowish red brick, which has been known to become red hot during the heat of the day. The interiors of the houses are gorgeously decorated with vaulted ceilings, rich moldings, inlaid mirrors and massive gildings.

The domes and minarets, of which there are no fewer than 2,000, the earliest dating from the twelfth century, are ornamented with glazed tiles and paintings in green and white and are considered to be the finest in the world.

When Bagdad was the home of the caliphate in the eighth century it was the finest city in the world, possessing a population of over 2,000,000.—Pearson's Weekly.

The Old, Old Story.

"What did you do when your husband told you the old, old story?"

"I told him to shut up before he was half through."

"Why, what a funny way to reply to a confession of love!"

"Oh, is that what you mean? I thought you meant the story he told last night when he came home from a time with the boys."—Houston Post.

All the Words Are There.

"The trouble with you," remarked the blunt friend, "is that you haven't improved your opportunities."

"That's the trouble with most people," replied Mr. Grump. "The whole dictionary full of words has been at everybody's disposal, but nobody else put 'em together the way Shakespeare did."—Washington Star.

Fire Caused Spontaneously Destroys Much Pathe Property.

Chicago, July 2.—Damages to the extent of $350,000, panics in several loop hotels and the overcoming of a man and a woman by smoke followed a fire in the Consumers building, State and Quincy streets.

W. H. Yeager, the night watchman and Mrs. A. F. Swisher, with a studio in the Consumers building, were carried from the blazing structure unconscious, but were revived within a few minutes. The loss of the Pathe Film Exchange, in whose vaults the fire started, was estimated at $300,000, and damage to the adjacent Baltimore building was said to amount to $50,000.

The cause of the fire, according to Chief Deputy State Fire Marshal A. A. Bach, was the spontaneous combustion of films in the Pathe exchange vaults.

SAY FREAK CURRENT CAUSED BOAT DEATH

Life Loss on Whaleback May Reach Score More.

MILWAUKEE — Twelve identified bodies and three unidentified is the number recovered from the wreckage caused by a water tank falling on the excursion steamer Christopher Columbus, filled with excursionists Saturday. Police are dragging the river in a futile effort to raise the debris of the great tank which crashed through the forward decks of the whaleback.

Authorities stand by their estimate of Saturday night and express their belief that two score persons are dead under the wreckage.

A sudden current in the Milwaukee river is blamed for the disaster. The explanation was made by H. W. Thorp, general manager of the Goodrich Transportation company, owners of the boat, after he had talked with Captain Charles E. Moody.

Dr. C. H. Judd, of the School of Education, Chicago university, and George Fairweather of the university business office, identified the two remaining bodies of women of fifteen recovered were as those of Bertha M. Comstock and Adelia Swanson, both of Kenyon, Minn.

HELLENES JOIN THE ENTENTE

Greece Follows Lead of Venizelos. Breaks With Kaiser.

LONDON, ENG.—Greece is in the war on the side of the allies. Venizelos, the Entente's "man of the hour," is in full control of the situation.

Actual declaration of war on the Central powers is only a question of time and form. The Greek government already has made it known that it considers a state of war exists. It has recalled, through the Greek minister in Switzerland, its envoys to Germany, Austria, Bulgaria and Turkey. Holland will represent Greece in these countries. The formal reason given for the break is that Greece cannot maintain diplomatic relations with powers carrying on war in Greek territory.

WHAT THE FLAG SAYS

The American flag says: "I stand for liberty, I proclaim equality, I detest tyranny, I favor justice and demand it of the weak and strong alike, I am the badge of fair dealing and the enemy of graft, high and low. As I offer no affronts, I tolerate no insults on land or sea. I am patient, but inflexible. I cherish honorable peace and accept war when necessary to maintain it. To me life is precious, but subject to the sacred demands of patriotism. If a man is a hero for the public welfare I never ask his nationality. I know he is for the highest type of exclusive Americanism."—A. T. Brewer.

AMERICAN GUN CREW FIGHTS TWO U-BOATS

Commanding Officer Reports a Periscope Shattered.

LONDON, ENG.—The gun crew of an American liner fired upon two German submarines during her voyage from the United States to England. Both targets were at a considerable range, but the report to Washington of the commanding officer will express the belief that one periscope was shattered.

ROTTERDAM, HOL. — After five months of idleness the Holland-American liner Neiuw Amsterdam sailed from this port on Saturday without cargo or mail. There were only one or two Americans on the passenger list, which contained the names of 240 in the first cabin, mostly en route for the East Indies, and 330 in the second cabinet. There were 340 persons in the steerage.

Notwithstanding the increased passenger rates, official say, the liner does not pay expenses. Great difficulty was experienced in obtaining a crew.

The Holland-American line does not intend to use the steamship Rotterdam, which has been definitely laid up until the end of the war.

TRESTLE SUPPORTS GIVE WAY

Many Dead and Injured Swept by Current into Rapids Further Down Stream—Rescuers Chop Way Into Car Upside Down When It Is Lodged Against Obstruction.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. — No less than forty persons were miserably drowned when a Great Gorge route car was hurled into the Niagara river. A large number of other persons were injured.

Only a few persons escaped death or injury by jumping and all were carried into the swirling waters.

The accident occurred this side of Lewiston shortly before 4 o'clock in the afternoon and was due to a landslide under a trestle. The car was overturned by the slipping of the earth and then rolled into the lower Niagara river rapids. The washout was due to recent heavy rains which had undermined the track supports.

A number of persons on the Canadian side of the river witnessed the accident and saw a number of bodies carried down in the whirlpool rapids.

Immediately after the accident a rescue party was organized. It consisted of city firemen, national guardsmen on guard duty at the bridges, student officers from Fort Niagara, policemen and citizens.

Chopped Way Into Car.

The capsized car, after its roll into the river, came to rest between the cribbing of a disused water power system. It is completely upside down and resting on the roof. The flooring had to be chopped away to rescue the injured and recover the bodies of those drowned.

Some of those who were uninjured or only slightly hurt, managed to crawl out of the water and to safety before the rescue party arrived. A number of others of the passengers managed to keep themselves from drowning or being carried away by the rushing water by clinging to the overturned car and keeping their heads above water until the rescuers arrived at the spot.

The rescuers worked in the swift current with the water in some instances almost reaching their chins. They had ropes about their waists, one end being held by persons on the lower bank.

The rescuers worked with frantic haste in the battle to save the injured from the clutch of the current, and many instances of individual heroism were displayed. In a number of cases, however, injured and dead were just to be grasped by willing hands when snatched away and carried down the river.

Three Killed, 3 Hurt.

BUTLER, PA. — Three persons were killed and three injured when an automobile in which they were riding was struck by a fast interurban car near here in the afternoon. The dead are:

Mrs. John H. Keck, Thelma Keck, aged five, her daughter, and Gellart Goehring, a wealthy retired farmer.

The police and sheriff departments and members of the coast guard have been dragging Manistee lake to recover the body of Bernie Mastey, eighteen years old, who is believed to have been drowned. U. S. HAS BEEN FEEDING BOSHES

Large Food Leaks Into Germany Revealed by Hoover.

SMALL NEUTRALS GROW RICH

New Name Is Invented for Men in Countries Adjacent to Germany and German Waters Who Have Thrived Selling Fats for Coal—They Are Known as the "Goulash Millionaires."

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The United States, unwittingly, has been furnishing Germany with the most valued of the food products she herself lacks for the successful prosecution of the war.

Fats in sufficient quantity to ration all of Germany's 7,700,000 men under arms are entering the Teutonic empires from Holland and Scandinavia. Holland and Scandinavia get these products, directly or indirectly, from the United States. Hence the desire for speed on the part of the administration in making effective the embargo authorized by congress.

While these fats are of the same amount as the fats supplied to the whole German army, they contain the same number of calories as the whole ration of all the 2,500,000 men on the western front. They contain for each individual in the German empire 120 calories per day, or six per cent of the per capita diet according to the regulation ratios. These imports furnish about ten per cent of Germany's protein; they contain five half pounds of fat per year per person, one fourth of an ounce per day, or about a quarter of the total daily fat ration for each German at the present time.

"Goulash Millionaires" Spring Up.

Herbert C. Hoover, food administrator, made public for the first time the definite figures in this trade which have impelled the United States to hasten the rigorous control of exports to these countries. The figures come from English sources. They are regarded as conservative.

Supposedly neutral merchants have amassed vast fortunes out of this illicit trade with our enemies. A generic name has been coined for them. So extensive has their business become that scores of men in Holland, Norway and Sweden are known through all the cafes and places of resort as as the "goulash millionaires."

Congress has already provided for the exports council consisting of Secretary Lansing, Secretary Houston and Secretary Redfield. Secretary Redfield is the executive officer of the council. Its orders, requiring all exporters of food from the United States to secure a license under which their business with the Teuton feeding ports can be absolutely controlled, may be expected to be made effective during the week through a proclamation by the President. All the council is waiting for is to complete the list of items to be embargoed and develop the machinery for catching them before they leave this country.

Indicative of the importance of this have to Germany, experts here have figured that the calories contained are the equal of the calories in the entire ration of 2,500,000 German soldiers. This is about the number of men which Germany now has on the western front.

Some Figures of German Purchases.

How the United States has been feeding the German armies is illustrated by these figures of exports from Holland and Scandinavia into Germany during 1916. The figures are metric tons:

Butter, 32,000 tons; meat, 115,800 tons, pork products, 68,800 tons, condensed milk, 70,000; fish, 407,000; cheese, 80,800 tons; eggs, 46,400 tons; potato meal, 179,500 tons; coffee, 58,500 tons; fruit, 74,000 tons; sugar, 12,000; vegetables, 215,000.

Well Met

A Man Kindly Takes Another's Risk.

By F. A. MITCHEL

A man dressed like a gentleman alighted from a train at a suburban station, asked the agent when the next train to the city would pass, then set out to walk to a residence which bore evidence of having been shut up for the winter. Entering, he went upstairs. Half an hour later he looked out through a window and saw a handsomely dressed woman emerging from another country residence a few hundred yards distant. She was carrying a suit case.

The man's face took on the expression of one who had discovered something interesting. He kept his eyes on the woman, who was approaching, till she passed the house he was in; then, taking up a suit case he had packed, he went downstairs and hurried after the woman. Lifting his hat politely, he said:

"Will you permit me to assist you with that suit case?"

"Thank you very much; it is very light. Do you know when the next train leaves for the city?"

"In ten minutes."

"In that case I shall have just time to reach the station and buy my ticket."

The two walked on together and by the time they reached the station had established an acquaintance. On boarding the train the man helped the woman on to the train, and on seating herself she made room for him beside her.

"I saw you leaving Mr. Lawrence's country house," he said.

The woman started.

"I supposed Mr. Lawrence's family in the city and the house was unoccupied."

"I am Fanny Lawrence," was the hesitating reply.

"Oh!"

"I needed some things and came out to get them. They're in my suit case."

"My case exactly. My country house is shut up, and we're all in the city. I needed some things and came out for them."

"And they're in your suit case?"

"Yes; they are."

There was a pause in this dialogue. It was evident the lady was ill at ease. Presently the man said:

"The next station is Cloverton. Another road crosses this one there. I'm going to leave this train and take another on the other road."

"Why do you do that?"

"This train enters the city at the Union station. The other stops at several small stations before reaching the terminal, at one of which I shall leave it."

"For what purpose?"

"It will be more convenient for me."

The lady was silent. She seemed to be thinking. Presently she asked her companion at what station he would stop. He said Arlington avenue. Then, after a few questions as to the location of the Arlington avenue station, she said that it would be a more convenient stopping place for her too. The man said that perhaps she had better leave the train there and he would be happy to secure her a conveyance. The lady thanked him and said she believed she would do so.

"Would you mind," she said after a period evidently devoted to deliberation, "when we reach the Arlington avenue station, getting out on the car platform and seeing if there is any one apparently looking for some person?"

"Of course I will."

"I suppose you will think it strange my asking you to do so. I think I shall have to give you my confidence. I am engaged to a young man to whom my father objects."

"I see you are going to elope with him."

"Yes."

"But how is it that you expect to meet him at the Arlington avenue station? You did not intend to stop there till I spoke of doing so myself."

"You don't understand. I don't expect to meet him there. You see, I am a bit nervous lest father or my brother has learned what I am about to do and may stop me."

"I see."

Shortly after these travelers had left their respective country homes a lady living opposite the house from which Miss Lawrence emerged called up Julian Lawrence in the city on the phone and gave him a bit of information that produced in him a sudden activity. When the train reached the crossing a man in a striped waistcoat was standing on the platform. He was about to board the train when he saw the couple step down from it, whereupon he scrutinized them closely and let it go on without him. When they boarded a train on the other road he got on, too, and took a seat in the rear of the car they occupied. But they failed to notice that he appeared to be interested in them. As soon as the couple were seated the man turned to the lady and said:

"If you are trying to avoid capture by your father it behooves you to exercise your wits. Unless some one on the watch for you knows you by sight you may throw him off the track. One looking for a runaway couple will not be likely to suspect one whose appearance gives evidence of having been long married. I would recommend you to join me in playing such a couple."

The lady agreed, and they at once began to show that outward indifference that contrasts with the behavior of a pair of lovers or a newly married couple.

"It won't do," said the man, "for me to go out ahead of you on arriving at Arlington avenue station and reconnoiter. That would give you away at once. We must step out unconcernedly. I'll let you carry your suit case, just as if we had been married twenty years, and go my way, leaving you to follow me without looking back for you."

The couple descended from the train. The man watching them left it a moment later and, keeping them in sight, went out after them to see them take a cab together. They were being driven away when the shadower called another cab and, getting into it, bade the driver follow the one that was leaving.

"Now, see 'ere," said the man playing the part of the husband, dropping into a vernacular that was natural to him. "You ain't Miss Lawrence nohow. What d'ye want to put up a job like that for? You're the 'ousemaid at the Lawrences."

"'Ow do you know I am?" asked the woman, paling.

"'Cause I'm the Tookers' butler, the next 'ouse to the Lawrences. I've seen you in the Lawrence back yard a-'angin' up the wash. Wot y' got in your suit case anyhow?"

"Wot's that to you?"

"You and I are in for it together. If one gets hoff 'tother gets hoff. I reckon y' got some valyables in your suit case, hain't you?"

"Reckon you've got some in yours."

"I don't mind lettin' you know that I've got some gold plate."

"Well, I've got some jewels."

"Now we're gittin' on to an understandin'. 'Ow would y' like to git rid o' your jewels till there's no danger of you're bein' found with 'em on you?"

"Like enough you want me to trust 'em to you."

"Well, if you don't like that, 'ow would you like to take my haul?"

"I don't want it. I've got enough risk now without takin' any more."

"What you goin' to do with the sparklers when you git 'em safe?"

"I don't know. Sell 'em if I can."

"You're purty enough to wear 'em yourself. They're none too good for you."

This compliment put a different complexion upon the treatment by the woman of the man. She preferred to rely upon him, as most women prefer to rely upon a man.

"What would you do with 'em if I turned 'em over to you?" she asked in a tone that denoted a disposition to yield.

"Oh, I'd take care of 'em till I could turn 'em back to you. If you were caught with 'em on you you'd git sent up for somethin' like five or six years, and that wouldn't pay since you've got a feller as is willin' to take the risk on hisself."

She being the weaker sex, he succeeded in persuading her to cast her burden on him. She handed her suit case to him. The expression on his face as he took it was, to say the least, crafty. What was passing through his mind was, "Might as well hang for a sheep as a lamb, and two sheep is better than one."

"When'll I get 'em back?" she asked.

"Let me see. This is Friday. A week from today you meet me—do you know the fountain in the park?"

"Yes."

"Well, you meet me at the fountain at 12 o'clock and I'll give 'em back to you."

He called on the driver to stop, and she got out of the cab.

The shadower was disconcerted at this division. He could not follow both of them in different directions, and, seeing that the girl was without her suit case, he concluded the man had it, so he directed his driver to still follow the cab. It finally brought up at the entrance to an alley. The man in it alighted with two suit cases and, having paid the fare, was about to enter the alley when he felt a hand on his shoulder and, turning, saw a man who threw open his coat and showed a badge.

"'Ow did you get on to it?" asked the culprit.

"Never mind that; come with me."

An hour later there was an investigation at the police office. The two suit cases were opened. One was found to contain valuable plate, the other jewels. The police had been put on to the track of the housemaid and were not looking for the butler. However, the culprit explained the matter of the double theft and how he had come to be in possession of all the loot. Since he had nothing to gain by telling that the maid might be captured on a certain date at the park fountain he did not mention the fact.

However, the next morning on taking up a newspaper she saw an account of the capture of the man who had become responsible for her share of the plunder and kept away from the rendezvous. Several weeks later a member of the family she had robbed met her on the street and turned her over to a policeman.

On her trial the prosecuting attorney found it difficult to convict her, since no stolen property was found in her possession and she was not known to have disposed of any. Since she was very penitent her former mistress forgave her and she was set free.

As for the man who had so kindly relieved her of the risk of being caught with the stolen goods, he was given three years for each robbery, making six years in all.

Advice For the Bespectacled.

An optician, writing in the New York Sun, gives some information that may benefit the wearers of spectacles.

To prevent scratching the lenses, never lay your glasses down so that they rest on the glass. Instead, turn them so that the frames have the weight. It is equally important to clean the lenses in the right way. Always use a cloth made for the purpose, and be sure that your method is correct. Take your glasses in your left hand and the cloth in the right and rub the lenses gently. Be careful never to twist the glasses. Hold them firmly and do the twisting with the hand that holds the cloth. Then you will not work the lenses loose in the frames.

It would only require a little thoughtfulness on your part, but it would be an immense help to us.

Mr. Billy Gibson's Ice Cream Social

A big crowd assembled on Mr. Gibson's lawn on Tuesday evening, but there would certainly have been twice as many there, if the weather had not been so bitterly cold. A long string of autos lined the road on either side, and ropes were hung from tree to tree holding lanterns, which were visible a long way off.

Everybody, from all the neighboring towns seemed to be there, and they all enjoyed the excellent ice cream, and very large slices of cake, even if it was cold. The cake was all donated by the farmers wives in the vicinity.

There was a musical program furnished by our ever willing Mrs. Robert Moore, who is so generous with her talents, Miss Margaretta Gibson, the Brooks twins, the Temple Quartette, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Denniston, Mrs. Ella Hodges and Mr. Ernest Church.

Mrs. Jenny C. Law Hardy introduced the speaker of the evening, Rev. J. S. Steininger, pastor of the Methodist church of Adrian.

He enumerated the causes that had forced America into the war, the Belgian atrocities, the sinking of the Lusitania, the submarine question and other acts of vandalism and cruelty against us by Germany. He made clear the point, that this is a war of defence, and that Germany made war on us. He said that the Germans were educated in the principle of world dominion from schoolroom to throne, and that there preparations were so perfect, that even a drink of cold water was ready for every soldier who came to his barracks. He continued that Germany had tried to put a girdle of steel round us, and that it was time to wake up, and realize that we are fighting the arch enemy of humanity. To win we need soldiers and money, if you cannot go, break your purse strings, "I can give, if I cannot go." There are three things we must support, the Red Cross, the Army and Navy League, and the Y. M. C. A. We must raise $60,000 for the Patriotic League of Lenawee. It is a great problem to support and care for the large number of soldiers we will have to send and we will have to cultivate a national spirit. Instead of singing that cowardly song, "I Did Not Raise My Boy to be a Soldier," announce "I Did Not Raise My Boy to be a Coward."

"You who go to the front, do not disgrace your mothers and you who stay at home, pledge not less than $1.00 a month, or some day you will be ashamed when your children ask what you have done."

He was glad to say the Red Cross was receiving splendid support too. the others must receive support too. Men had become unfit through the scarlet women in Mexico, others had gone raving mad in prison camps, through having nothing to do. We must save them through the Y. M. C. A., which alone can protect them in the trench and in the prison camp.

Let us stand by our guns.

The speaker said he was of pure German extraction on both sides, but he realized that for the good of Germany herself, the Kaiser and the clique with which he was surrounded must be beaten.

Tickets unmbering 488 for the ice cream were sold and the gross receipts were $51.15.

HIRAM WESTCOTT STRICKEN

Hiram Westcott was stricken in a peculiar manner on the evening of July 4th when a severe pain took him in the throat, partially paralyzing it. He is unable to take any nourishment or to speak and suffers intense pain in his throat and head. He is very weak and cannot stand, lying in a semi-conscious state from which he rallies at times and recognizes those around him.

FLAG RAISING

As a fitting celebration of our national holiday, a goodly company gathered at the home of James McKinney on the afternoon of July 4th, to assist in the raising of a flag staff and to salute Old Glory as it floated on the breeze. The Sons of Veterans of which association Mr McKinney is a member, were on hand to do their part and the G. A. R. were well represented

After the staff was firmly planted and the flag run to the top, the company rose and joined in singing "America." This was followed by prayer by Comrade Wm. Smith, after which a short program was given. A duet by Mrs Ed Heilman and Miss Metta McKinney was very nicely rendered and reminded us of the times when these two sang together so often. Hon. J. D Shull gave a very fine address and paid special tribute to Mr McKinney as the son of an old soldier who fought valiantly for his adopted country. Miss Lucy Train then read a short history of the flag which has floated over our nation for 140 years, closing with Nesbitt's beautiful poem "Your Flag and My Flag".

Rev. Lawrence Linton of the Friend's church then gave an earnest appeal for the preservation of our flag, not alone from the devastation of war, but from the nest of moths, immorality, impurity intemperance etc., that are undermining the staff. His remarks were right to the point and had too much of truth in them to be set aside hastily The company now sang the "Star Spangled Banner" This was followed by Jas McKinney, who by special request, gave one of the most beautiful tributes to the American flag, from its earliest history to the present time.

H. W. Stevens announced that the flag raising that was to have taken place later in the afternoon at the cemetery, had been postponed, as Rev Rex had been called to the bedside of his mother. He was to make the presentation speech for the occasion. Several others also were out of town The singing of "The Battle Cry of Freedom" closed a very interesting afternoon's entertainment.

The Solar Plexus.

The Scriptural expression "bowels of compassion" is justified by the discoveries of modern science. Whenever anything affects our nerves we feel it more or less in our "innards." It is the solar plexus which is concerned in such emotionalism. Of course in itself it cannot feel, but it sends messages to the brain, which interprets them as coming from there. The solar plexus is a mass of nerves and nerve structures in the abdomen at the back of the stomach.—New York Tribune.

PATRIOTIC LEAGUE MEETING

Robt. Darnton of Adrian and Edw. Frensdorf of Hudson to Speak

At Opera House Sunday Evening at 7:30 O'clock.

There will be a rousing patriotic meeting at the Bradley Opera House Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock. There will be no evening services at the churches and all are invited to attend the big meeting at the Opera House.

The committee on arrangements have secured Robt. Darnton of Adrian and Edward Frensdorf of Hudson to speak. These men are filled with patriotism and are as well posted on war conditions as anyone in the county The committee are trying to get special music from Adrian so a fine program is assured. Gen. F. B Wood will introduce the speakers and a treat is in store for everyone attending.

It is hoped that every seat will be filled Sunday evening. There may be some things that are not clear in the minds of our people about the Lenawee County Patriotic League and, if so, your minds will be set at ease after attending this meeting.

These are days when patriotism is running high. The Government is speeding up to fever heat and the big job of pushing the Kaiser to the last ditch is getting under way rapidly. At the end of this month our boys will be in the training camps where they will be taught the business of war. We people at home must be taught how it is possible to back up our Government forces and open up a way for a glowing success for Uncle Sam.

The lines are drawn close these days and people are either with the Government or against it—there is no middle ground. On which side are you? Go to the meeting Sunday evening and show what side you stand on.

To succeed in this war it means that all of us will have to give of cur means whether we want to or not We must work and plan to do everything in our power to help Uncle Sam win.

"United we stand, divided we fall." People in our country are uniting and are being drawn closer and closer together by the strong bands of patriotism. Our flag is now on the firing lines in France and, with thousands of our troops going later, our success will be sure

We must take care of the boys when they get on the firing line. give them the Red Cross hospitals, doctors, nurses and medical attention that is most important for success and provide them with the benefits of the Army and Navy Y. M. C. A.

This is some of the work that we must be willing to do and it is our privilege to assist in every way possible. Be sure to attend the meeting.

THE FOURTH AT THE LAKES

Immense crowds are reported at the lakes for the 4th and Tecumseh was well represented.

The Wit and Wisdom Club, some 51 strong, went to Sand lake for their annual picnic. A fine basket lunch was served at noon and, strange to say, everyone was on hand to do ample justice to this part of the days' doings. The Club had for ther guests Rev. B. R. Weld and family of Toledo. Rev. and Mrs. Weld being former members of the club. A very pleasant time was enjoyed by all.

Wamplers' lake was perhaps the more popular on the 4th and a large crowd was reported there. In the evening a dance was given which was a big drawing card. Among the Tecumseh people who attended the dance were Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Anderson, Miss Doris Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Pulver, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Rathbun, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Burridge and Ralph Bidwell.

Auction by Candle.

Sale by candle, a method of auction that was once very common through England and Scotland, still survives in the north of England.

A "judge" and his secretary take their seats at the appointed place, attended by a crier and a servant provided with a box of tiny candles, each of which will burn one minute. At a given signal a candle is lighted, and the bidding for the object offered begins. At each offer from a would be purchaser the burning candle is extinguished and a new one lighted, and the article is disposed of only when a candle burns itself out ere a fresh bid has been announced by the crier.

Asbestos Rope Test.

Tensile tests of asbestos rope by two Russian experimenters indicate that it is unsuitable for life lines at fires and that it is less reliable under heating and wetting than hemp rope, though its endurance may be somewhat greater. The ropes were made of a variety of asbestos from the Ural mountains. The rope was merely dried out on heating up to 200 degrees C.; then up to 500 degrees there was large loss in weight from the burning out of organic matter, and at higher temperatures up to 700 degrees the loss of combined water so loosened the fibers that the strength fell to less than 10 per cent of the original. Wetting likewise weakened the rope by separating the fibers.

487 Tickets Sold

Did you go out to Billy Gibson's Tuesday night? And did you have a good time? These questions have been passed out on the street and invariably the answer is in the affirmative. Autos from every direction were parked in every available place and the crowd of people adapted themselves to circumstances and were propelled over the lawn in an irresistible manner.

A program was given during the evening as follows:

Violin Duet—Tom Dennison, Margretta Gibson

Vocal Solo—Ernest Church.

Piano Duet—The Brooks twins.

Solo—Mrs. Grace Moore

Patriotic Address—Rev. Steininger of Adrian, who made a strong plea for the Patriotic League and its work.

The whole program was heartily encored, and was certainly a fine one. After the program came an old fashioned barn dance and it was midnight before the last ones left for home.

The total amount received was $51 15 leaving a balance of $25 00 after all expenses were met. The 3d of July at "Billy's" will long be remembereo.

Mr and Mrs Gibson were kept busy receiving their guests and making every thing pleasant for them. They are noted as royal entertainers, and surely they proved themselves as such Tuesday evening.

DIGNIFIED DOZEN

The Dignified Dozen with their families yea, unto the fourth generation, enjoyed a splendid good time yesterday afternoon at the home of one of their members, Mrs. Mary Smeltzer. Many of the daughters of the D. D. ladies are home right now so it seemed an opportune time for the annual affair and a happy one it was. Mrs. Smeltzer was also happy to have with her her daughter, Mrs. Samuel McClure of Erie, Pa., who had been her guest for a week.

Tables were spread on the lawn and a bountiful supper was no small part of the festivities. The children put in a big time playing and the elders in visiting and admiring each other's baby grandchildren of whom there were several. The guests numbered 66.

MEETING OF THE ATEN BURIAL GROUND ASSOCIATION

The trustees of the Aten Burial Ground association met Wednesday evening at the school-house. S. W. Boyce qualified as treasurer and gave his bond.

The committee for soliciting funds for perpetual care, reported five hundred seventy-three dollars and fifty cents raised and twelve dollars subscribed to the general fund.

Inactive Kidneys Cause Disease

"I shall not soon forget the benefits I derived from the use of Foley Kidney Pills."—Al. A. Godfrey, Forest Grove, Oregon.

Too much work and too little work seem to have about the same effect on persons past middle age. Proper action of the kidneys is necessary to good health. They act as a filter and remove from the blood poisonous waste matter which if permitted to remain in the system leads to many complications.

Many nervous, tired, run-down men and women suffer from pains in the back and sides, dizzy spells, bladder weakness, sore muscles and stiff joints and fail to realize that rheumatism, diabetes or even Bright's disease may result.

If you have cause to believe that your kidneys are weak, disordered or inactive you should act immediately. Foley Kidney Pills have been used by young, middle aged and old with complete satisfaction. They act quickly and surely and have given relief in cases of ten years' standing.

It is a matter of a great deal of regret that more of our towns people did not turn out Sunday evening to hear Robt. Darnton and Edward Frensdorf. These men are filled to the brim with enthusiasm and gave all who attended a boost to their enthusiasm. In the audience were a great many who had driven miles to attend this meeting. Where were our own people? When the subscription cards were passed only a few signed where there ought to have been many.

Tecumseh township's share of the county fund of $60,000 which the Lenawee County Patriotic League is raising for patriotic purposes is $6000 and this amount will be raised in this township. The League are protecting you from further calls of a patriotic nature for one year.

Every home in this township will be called upon, nobody will escape and all will be asked to pledge.

These collectors are not begging, they are presenting your country's call to you and it is your duty to respond. All who can and do not will be recorded and their reason for not giving will be taken and their names sent into headquarters. There will be no room for slackers in this township.

Many have already pledged and pledged liberally, many have seen how little they could pledge and still get under the wire. As your Government has given you the opportunity to prosper as no other people on the face of the earth has prospered, so deem it your opportunity and pleasure to give of your means liberally, to the cause of freedom and democracy. France, England, Germany and other countries abroad have given and given and given until many have given their all that their governments may win in this struggle. It may be that America will be forced to do likewise. No one knows how long this war will last, but win we must and win we will.

Must our boys be brought home from the trenches of France mangled, maimed and wrecked for life before our people realize the kind of a war that we are engaged in? They are already at the front and in a few weeks thousands of our young men will answer the draft and will be in the great training camps of our country preparing for the hell that is awaiting them across the water. This is no vacation or outing that they will be forced into, the greatest and must horrible war that humanity has ever known.

"So, friends, you must do your duty. Your honor and loyalty is being appealed to. It is your duty to respond and respond liberally. Consider this matter earnestly and be ready for your solicitors when they call. They will be at your home, without doubt before the week ends.

GERMAN CRISIS PUTS HOLLWEG IN BALANCE

Kaiser Considering Dismissal of His Chancellor.

Zurich, July 9.—A serious political crisis has arisen in Germany.

A Berlin telegram to the Koelnische Zeitung says it is probable the kaiser will dismiss Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg.

The German government's semi-official mouthpiece, the Norddeutsche Allgemeine Zeitung, mentions Vice Chancellor Dr. Karl Helfferich, who was the first German food dictator, as the most probable successor to Hollweg should the latter fall.

Minimum Wage Bill a Law.

San Francisco, July 5.—The state industrial welfare commission adopted a minimum wage scale for women and minors in mercantile industries under which experienced employes must be paid a minimum wage of $10 a week. Those under eighteen years of age must receive a wage of not less than $6 a week.

Parker Takes Pershing Post.

San Antonio, Tex., July 5.—Brigadier General James Parker has been designated as commander of the southern department by the secretary of war. General Parker has been acting as department commander since General Pershing was called to Washington.

Fortunes In Picture Frames.

The finest and costliest frame ever made for a picture is that which incloses the "Virgin and Child" in Milan cathedral. It is made of enameled gold, with an inner molding of lapis lazuli. The corners of this valuable frame have hearts designed in large pearls and precious stones. Some idea of its value may be gained when it is stated that the frame is eight feet long and six feet wide. Its estimated worth is $125,000. One of the pictures in the Vatican at Rome is in a frame studded with jewels. The picture is a valuable one, but the frame nearly equals the value of the painting.—London Telegraph.

Enduring.

"I suppose you and your wife can remember your first quarrel," said the meddlesome person.

"Remember it!" returned Mr. Growcher. "I should say so! It isn't over yet!"

DEATH OF ROBERT SMITH

Veteran of Civil War and Well Known Farmer Called Suddenly

The sudden death of Robert Smith, which occurred Thursday at his home in Newburg, came as a shock to this many friends. Although 73 years of age, Mr. Smith was very ambitious and took a great deal of pride in what he grew. On the above mentioned day he had been working in his corn field and after supper, as there was a small patch which needed cultivating, he went to the field to finish it and it was while there that he was stricken.

Although a man of a quiet disposition, Mr. Smith was highly respected and had many friends. He was born November 30, 1844, in Ridgeway and was married to Anna Kanath February 8, 1868 in St Dominic church, Clinton. He was a Civil war veteran, serving his country as a member of Co. B. 9th Michigan Cavalry three years.

PATRIOTIC MEETING

AT OPERA HOUSE SUNDAY NIGHT

Robert Darnton and Edward Frensdorf the Speakers

A rousing patriotic meeting was held at the Opera House Sunday evening with a good attendance. Two fine speeches were given by Robert Darnton of Adrian and Edward Frensdorf of Hudson in the interests of the Lenawee County Patriotic League and much enthusiasm was shown.

The meeting was called to order by Gen. F. B. Wood who acted as chairman and upon the platform with him were seated the two speakers of the evening, Dr. W. B. Hartzog, Dr. W. J. Balmer and Rev. W. A. Rex.

The chairman called upon Dr. Balmer for the Invocation and requested the audience to remain standing until after singing "America."

Gen. Wood, in a few well chosen words explained the nature of the meeting and introduced Col. Robt. Darnton of Adrian, president of the Patriotic League of Lenawee County who, while claiming that he was not an orator, gave a most interesting speech with nothing lacking in oratorical effect.

He said that in his affiliating with the League he had hoped to act only in a business capacity, but, much against his wishes, he had been drawn before the public as a speaker and he would try to do his best in this direction. He went on to explain the object of the Patriotic League and what it stands for. It is an organization of patriotic men in every township, town and city in this county, with the object in view to do any and all work of a patriotic nature.

When the call came for $1,000,000 to be raised for the Army and Navy "Y," the Patriotic League raised Lenawee County's quota of the amount. When the call came to raise $100,000,000 throughout the United States for the Red Cross, the executive heads of the League and County Red Cross conferred and decided on a campaign to raise $32,000 as Lenawee's share, but, knowing that the calls for patriotic work would be frequent, they decided upon raising a fund of $60,000 in the county which they deemed large enough to cover the patriotic calls for a year, and this is the campaign or drive that is being made throughout the county.

The $100,000,000 that the National Red Cross Association has called for, the speaker said, is estimated to carry the wants of the organization through for a year. The Patriotic League, while it is closely allied to the Red Cross in much of its work, is entirely a separate organization. The Red Cross organization does not permit work to be done by anyone who is not a registered member.

He also said that the $1.00 paid to become a member of the Red Cross was just the initiation fee and that each one can make donations to the local chapters at any time. He spoke of the great work that is being done by the Red Cross and the duty of everyone to do all in his power to provide funds that the soldiers at the front might have the proper medical attention and care in the hospitals. He emphasized the fact that those who were doing the Red Cross work were doing it in the cause of humanity and not for pay.

The work of raising the $60,000 in this county is progressing and it will be raised.

At the conclusion of Mr. Darnton's speech the chairman introduced Edward Frensdorf of Hudson who spoke of his long acquaintance with Tecumseh, dating back to the days when he used to visit his old chum Capt. Will Hayden. He paid a glowing tribute to the captain and said that in those days the patriotism of the peopde of Tecumseh appealed to him strongly and he felt that at this crisis there would be no doubt of the patriotism of Tecumseh.

He said that his parents were German, his grandparents were German and that as far as he could tell all of his family were imported from Germany, but that his people left Germany to get away from the military oppression that is holding down the German people today. They came to America to enjoy the liberty and peace enjoyed by the people of this country. That without exception his father was the most rabid Yankee he ever knew.

He spoke of the good success of the drive which is being made, citing a number of towns and townships which had responded so nobly, especially our neighboring township of Macon who shows $2,400 already subscribed and the town not all covered.

He emphasized the necessity of people who are too old to enter the service to give of their means that the boys who go to the front and do our fighting should have every attention and comfort that it is possible to give them.

He spoke of loyal and sympathetic giving and as an example of this told what the inmates of the Jackson prison have done, that on one of his trips to the prison, he filled the place of the chaplain who was unable to be present. Not knowing what to speak about and being most conversant with the war, he took that for his theme and emphasized the condition of the boys at the front and the needs of the Red Cross work. He also touched on the Liberty Bond question, stating that they were a good investment and if the United States won they would be worth a premium, but if she lost they would not tbe worth the paper they are printed on and to his astonishment, when the subscriptions were totaled it was found the prisoners had purchased $6,000 of bonds. The result was so good on the Liberty Bonds that he touched them up on the Red Cross and the amount received was $462 which he said was not so bad for prisoners and, though they were prisoners they were not paupers as they had the sum of $60,000 to their credit in the bank.

He enforced the fact that this was to be a hard struggle, that England and France had reached the height of their man power and that Uncle Sam must step in in order to win the war and that those at home must aid by giving of their means, that many were doing their bit to aid and that many who could give were doing nothing and" many are so very good that they are good for nothing." And he wished that there was some kind of serum that could be inoculated into their system whereby it would force them to reach for their pocketbooks.

He remarked that many people had an idea that if the war did not last but a few months their money would be lost, but he declared that it were better that all these bandages and supplies for the use of the soldiers be dumped into the ocean rather than that there should not be enough to take care of the sick and wounded at the front. In his closing remarks he made a strong plea for this community to respond freely to this cause.

Both speakers were most enthusiastically encored and at the close of Mr. Frensdorf's remarks Mr. Wood announced that the fund had been increased by a subscription of $50.00 per month from each of our banks.

The committee in charge then passed cards through the audience for further subscriptons.

The meeting closed with singing "The Star Spangled Banner" with Mrs F. B. Wood presiding at the piano, Dr. W. B. Hartzog giving the Benediction.

SCHOOL MEETING

The annual school meeting of District No. 7 was held at the library building last evening, July 9th. The attendance, as usual, was small, only 44 being present to look after the business of running their school affairs for the coming year and to approve of the business transacted during the year just ended. A good deal of interest was shown, however, by those present.

President J. H. Smith was in the chair. The secretary, C. F. Patterson, read his reports for the year 1916-1917 which were approved. The treasurer, Dr. E. D. Brown, gave his report for the year which agreed with the secretary's report and was approved.

The secretary's report will be printed in full in Friday's issue of the Herald.

The report recommended that there be raised by taxation upon the taxable property of the district the following amounts:

Teachers wages fund	$ 7000
General fund	10000
Building and site fund	3300
Library fund	1200
Total	$21500

The work on our new high school was reported to be progressing nicely and it was hoped that the building would be completed by Jan 1st, 1918.

The terms of offices of J. H. Smith and C. F. Patterson having expired, a vote of the district was taken to elect trustees to succeed them which resulted as follows:

To succeed Trustee J. H Smith—Total number of votes cast, 43; J. H Smith received 36; scattering, 7

To succeed Trustee C. F. Patterson—Total number of votes cast, 44; C F Patterson received 41; scattering 3

Trustees Smith and Patterson were declared elected to succeed themselves for the term of three years.
